Universalist Profession of Belief and Conditions of Fellowship

I. The Profession of Belief adopted at the session of the General Convention at Winchester, N. H., 1803, is as follows:

Article I. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

Article II. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is Love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of Grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

Article III. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to be careful to maintain order and practise good works; for these things are good and profitable unto men.

II. The conditions of fellowship shall be as follows: (Adopted as an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the General Convention, at its session in Boston, Oct. 23, 1899).

1. The acceptance of the essential principles of the Universalist Faith, to wit: 1. The Universal Fatherhood of God; 2. The Spiritual authority and leadership of His Son, Jesus Christ; 3. The trustworthiness of the Bible as containing a revelation from God; 4. The certainty of just retribution for sin; 5. The final harmony of all souls with God.

The Winchester Profession is commended as containing these principles, but neither this nor any other precise form of words is required as a condition of fellowship, provided always that the principles above stated be professed.

2. The acknowledgment of the authority of the General Convention and assent to its laws.

Sixty-third Annual Report of the Board of Trustees

To the Members of the Universalist General Convention:

Your Board of Trustees presents herewith its Sixty-third Annual Report for the period October 1, 1927 to September 30, 1928.

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD

Three regular meetings have been held during this year, October 17-21, 1927, Hartford, Connecticut; November 15 and 16, 1927, New York City; May 7, 1928, Washington, D. C.; and one special meeting, September 24, 1928, New York City.

OFFICERS AND COMMITTEES

The Officers for the past year have been: President, Rev. F. D. Adams, D.D.; Vice-Presidents: Alfred Pillsbury; Carl F. Henry, D.D.; Mrs. George Inness, Jr. Chairman of Board, Louis Annin Ames; Secretary, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., Treasurer, A. Ingham Bicknell; General Superintendent, Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D.

The Board of Trustees has lost some valuable members by death during this past year. At the time of the Hartford Convention the resignation of Mr. Arthur Nash of Ohio was received. Rev. Effie McCollum Jones, D.D., of Iowa was elected to fill his unexpired term. Soon after the Convention Mr. Nash passed away. Thus the Convention lost the vision and advice of one who preëminently applied his Christian faith to his business organization.

Dr. Joseph M. Tilden of Illinois was re-elected at the Hartford Convention as trustee for a third term. Stricken during the Convention with the illness from which he never recovered, he was not able to render any active service during the months which intervened before his death. Always a practical optimist and a hard worker to realize his optimism, Dr. Tilden's long service on the Board was a constant inspiration to his fellow-trustees.

Rev. George F. Fortier of Vermont was elected at Hartford for a four year term but the illness from which he was suffering at the time of the Convention rapidly developed so that he was not able to attend any Board meetings. He helped in the work of the Board through constant correspondence. No man among us was more interested in or conversant with the problems of the churches in the smaller communities. He could have rendered great assistance to the Board through his keen insight into their problems and his long experience in working them out.

The vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Tilden was filled by the election of Rev. Walter Macpherson, pastor of St. John's Universalist Church of Joliet, Illinois; that of Mr. Fortier by Mr. George E. Danforth of Nashua, New Hampshire, the President of the New Hampshire State Convention.

FINANCES

The Treasurer's Report printed elsewhere in the Year Book gives the detailed financial statement for the past year together with a statement of the funds of the Convention and their allocation as provided by the donors.

This report shows a total deficit carried on the Convention books of $22,337.30. This is an accumulation over a long period of years. The accounts for the current year show deficits of $4,465.32 in the General Administrative Department, due to the fact that practically all of the income for this Department is from invested funds which are not sufficient for the purpose; $1,718.18 in the Educational Department due to the large excess of payments for Theological Scholarships over the income available for this purpose; $6,995.43 in the Foreign Missions account. The Church Extension account shows net income of $309.88 in spite of the fact that quota payments were less than the previous year, as is always the case in a non-convention year.

Payments have been coming in during this year on the Five Year Program, many churches having completed the total of their apportionments. An increase in repayments of Scholarship Loans is noted although there is still a large amount outstanding in this account, some of which is overdue.

The most serious deficit is in the Foreign Missions account, the records showing that over $3,000 less was received this year through the Secretary's office than during the corresponding period last year. Last year some special funds for literature swelled the total but the contributions of churches for the regular work of the Mission are woefully small. With consistent support of this important work by our parishes this part of the deficit can easily be eliminated.

Your Board of Trustees has given serious study to the finances of the Convention and hopes during the coming year to make progress toward clearing up the accumulated deficit.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE HARTFORD CONVENTION

The Board has taken the recommendations adopted at the Hartford Convention as its guide for the past year's work.

Five Year Program.

The Convention again endorsed the Five Year Program and its objectives. Reference has been made above to payments received on this Program. All such payments as received have been allocated to the various funds which make up the Program. Churches which started at the beginning of the Program have completed their apportionments and many others will do this during the current year.

Ministers' Pensions.

In accordance with the vote of the Hartford Convention the Board put into operation on April 1, 1928 a Ministers' Pension Plan for the first time in the history of the General Convention, using such income of funds as was available for this purpose. Fifty-seven ministers in our fellowship are qualified to receive pension payments under the requirements adopted, namely, having reached the age of 68 or over and having served at least 25 years in the Universalist ministry. Two quarterly payments have been made during this year. In this connection, an attempt has been made to work out some plan of co-operation with the State Conventions which hold funds for Ministerial Relief or Pensions and with some success. The Massachusetts Convention voted to turn over to the General Convention $1800 of the income of its funds to be used for payments to pensioners in Massachusetts. Maine voted to turn over any balance in the income of its fund for payments to residents of Maine. Other states have signified their willingness to co-operate as far as is legally and financially possible. The prospects are that payments can be increased during the coming year. Efforts are being made to increase the permanent funds for this purpose. Gifts, bequests or annuities will be welcomed.

Universalist National Memorial Church.

The campaign for the Universalist National Memorial Church in Washington, D. C., has gone steadily forward during the year. Dr. Lowe, acting under the instruction of the Board, has continued to give most of his time and energy to securing contributions from individuals and churches in the form of memorials. He has met with an encouraging response and increased interest. Payments on the Five Year Program by local churches have been credited to this fund as noted above.

In August, 1928 contracts for the building of the church were signed. In September the wrecking of the buildings on the site of the church was commenced and actual building activities were started. Work is progressing rapidly so that the corner stone will be laid in the near future. In the meantime, the canvass for the necessary funds to complete the project is being prosecuted.

COMMISSIONS

The various Commissions of the Convention have been carrying on the work assigned to them. The Commission on Foreign Affairs and World Peace has been particularly active, the Chairman representing the Convention on important interdenominational committees. The Commission on Comity and Unity, carrying out the vote of the Hartford Convention, has been seeking to further co-operation toward a wider liberal fellowship of Christians. The Commission on the Church and Education has been studying some matters of common interest to the church, the colleges and the Theological Schools.

JAPAN MISSION

The Board of Foreign Missions has been active in attempting to increase contributions from local churches and individuals for the work in Japan. To this end literature has been sent to the local churches, teachers and lecturers have been furnished at Summer Institutes, stereopticon lectures and speakers have been offered to churches, State Conventions, and other group meetings. In spite of the fact that the work in Japan is growing and making a bigger place for itself, response to appeals for larger contributions from the churches have not been as great as desired. Your Board of Trustees has gone on record as backing up the Board of Foreign Missions to the largest possible degree and appeals to all for adequate support of this most worthwhile department of work.

Because of the large deficit the Board of Foreign Missions has not deemed it wise to undertake the additional work in Palestine as suggested by the Hartford Convention.

CHURCH EXTENSION FIELD

The work in the Church Extension field in this country has been carried on as in past years. New policies in this connection are being worked out and gradually will be put into operation. In Florida, the plan of practical co-operation with the American Unitarian Association is being carried out in the United Liberal Churches in Jacksonville and St. Petersburg.

DR. LOWE

At the special meeting of the Board held September 24, 1928, Dr. Lowe presented his resignation from the office of General Superintendent which he had filled for nearly twelve years, to accept a call to the ministry of the Church of the Redemption, Boston, Mass. With deep regret and resolutions of appreciation for the service rendered, the Board released him to take the place of large denominational responsibility offered to him. The Board records its debt of gratitude for the service rendered the church by the long, untiring and unselfish service of Dr. Lowe as General Superintendent.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS ANNIN AMES, Chairman,
ROGER F. ETZ, Secretary.

Report of the Board of Foreign Missions

During the past year, the Board of Foreign Missions voted to return to the Quota Plan in seeking contributions from the churches for the support of the work in Japan. This method was used previous to the special denominational financial campaigns and it brought forth the largest offerings from churches and state conventions in our history. For the year beginning October 1, the States have been asked to attempt to raise as a minimum the following amounts:

Alabama	$100	Michigan	$300
California	$200	Minnesota	$200
Colorado	$25	New Hampshire	$250
Connecticut	$1,000	New Jersey	$200
Florida	$100	New York	$3,000 (additional)
Georgia	$100	North Carolina	$50
Illinois	$600	Ohio	$600
Indiana	$300	Pennsylvania	$400
Iowa	$100	Rhode Island	$600
Kansas	$100	Texas	$25
Maine	$1,200	Vermont	$250
Massachusetts	$4,000	Wisconsin	$200

The Foreign Mission Board Budget is $18,320. The Women's National Missionary Association requires approximately $5,000 for its Japan Budget. The combined budget calls for an annual contribution and income of $23,000. We have every reason to believe that this amount can and will be raised when the motive of universal brotherhood is really in the hearts of our people.

The thrilling religious event of the year in Japan was the remarkable "Three-Religions Conference" where Christian, Shinto and Buddhist fraternized. An editorial in a Tokyo newspaper commenting on the assembly said: "Christian influence was strong, if not the strongest in the convention and it is commonly admitted that though by numerical standards Christianity is ludicrously weak—212,000 all told, according to the Japan Year Book—its influence has gone deep. The moral and humanitarian side of Christian teaching makes a powerful appeal to the Japanese mind. That is essentially a practical, constructive mind, more easily reached by a message which points the way to a better life here and now than by one which speaks of Nirvana. * * * * It is significant that many of the younger Japanese Christians are ardently proclaiming the social gospel of Christianity which they hardly distinguish from politics."

In Universalist circles, there has been the satisfaction in proper recognition which came in the invitation to the National Christian Council.

The invitation came primarily through the influence of the Congregationalists.

Our missionaries, native ministers and congregations are enthusiastically doing their part. There has been the joy in the return of Miss Hathaway to the Blackmer Home and there has been the anxiety over the poor health of Dr. Tsuga, which has necessitated surgical attention. Miss Bernice N. Kent has returned to the homeland after a notable service in kindergarten work. Rev. and Mrs. Clifford R. Stetson and family of Shizuoka, with a record of efficient service, will observe their year of furlough beginning not later than May. Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Cary and family with Miss Georgene E. Bowen are giving their usual consecrated service to the cause.

The Board of Foreign Missions has the following members: Chairman, Rev. Fred C. Leining; Secretary, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D.; Candidate Secretary, Rev. C. Guy Robbins, D.D., Henry C. Morris, Rev. Josephine B. Folsom, Miss Mary Slaughter, Rev. Stanley Manning and Mrs. John I. Zoller.

The receipts for the past year were as follows: Endowment Income, $2,363.91; from churches and individuals, $6,357.31; from the General Sunday School Association, $737.50.

It is hoped that the State Conventions will urge upon churches and individuals the support of specific objects as their particular part in the work of the Japan Mission. The Board will gladly provide the expense of each item as it applies to the support of an American missionary, or a Japanese minister, or a church or a Sunday school.

FRED C. LEINING, Chairman.

Report of the Commission on National and International Relief

Our people give promptly and generously whenever need arises for philanthropy either in their own communities or in distant fields. That is in accordance with the whole teaching and genius of their Church. Most of their benefactions are quietly made, or even secretly made, but that they are very large there can be no doubt.

Your Commission does not intrude except in cases of particular importance. Since the last issue of the Year Book we have urged a continuance of support for the Red Cross, a further and final offering for the Near East and special contributions for the sufferers from the Chinese famine.

Some gifts are sent through the office of the General Convention, but the great majority are paid through some local agency or are forwarded direct to some national headquarters.

In the case of our Church Schools, however, the money passes through the General Sunday School Association and is accurately recorded. It is a great satisfaction to report that the schools, besides contributing several hundred dollars for Chinese relief are supporting the work in the Near East with unabated generosity. It is expected that the final gift toward the liquidation fund of the Near East Relief, representing the offerings of Christmas, 1928, and Christmas, 1929, will amount to over eight thousand dollars.

We are grateful for interest and helpfulness of the Universalist public.

GEORGE E. HUNTLEY,
JOHN VAN SCHAICK, JR.,
FREDERICK W. BETTS.

Report of the Commission on Foreign Relations and World Peace

Of tangible results the commission can report but little. However, there seems to be a growing conviction in our constituency that war is an anomaly in a 1929 civilization, that a world which permits another great war is as much disgraced as a community which allows an epidemic of typhoid fever.

Yea—even more, we are coming to realize that another war would be a confession of bankruptcy in our Christianity: and that Universalism especially to be consistent and true to itself must recognize the sinfulness of war, must preach and practice good will toward nations as well as individuals, must earnestly even enthusiastically help to forge indissoluble chains of amity, and must support every effort and seek to strengthen every medium designed to substitute law for war in settling the disputes that will arise between nations.

Your Commission is unable to hold meetings; correspondence is the only medium for interchange of ideas and suggestions and its members are all busy people whose main job is with a local church.

However, we endeavored to arouse interest in a general observance of Good Will Sunday last May and Armistice Sunday in November. We urged our ministers to secure signatures to the resolution of the Federal Council soliciting approval of the Peace Pact by the United States Senate. Reports indicate that many hundreds of names were secured and we rejoice in the almost unanimous approval of the Pact by the Senate, a signal evidence of the irresistible power of aroused public opinion.

We hope to be represented at the Study Conference of the Churches to be held in Columbus, Ohio in March 1929.

The General Convention allows our Commission $100. which we endeavor to expend wisely and again we wish to express our gratitude for the co-operation of Dr. Etz.

HERBERT E. BENTON,
Chairman.

Report of the Social Welfare Commission of the Universalist General Convention

Health is a large part of the social gospel. In all his visits about the country the Chairman has, as everyone will remember, enforced on the individual and community wisdom of the practice of periodic health examinations on the part of all. Since social welfare, like every other good, begins at home, and being driven to it by the necessity of a personal crisis, he became consistent and had the half dozen experts of the Life Extension Institute take him in hand. This is an association, of the highest standing, which gives only the thoroughgoing examination and tries to show its high motives by declining to take cases for treatment, and it may be trusted to do anyone a good service and help him to get out of some trouble and to keep out of a lot more.

So the year has not been a busy one, that is so far as actual work is concerned. However, a few things have been done, and, though very little has been planned, the chairman has not failed to respond to information requests of college professors and students, and various writers and workers. He has done a little speaking. He and others have been the means of letters being sent to Washington and elsewhere, in behalf of prohibition, law enforcement, child welfare, civic liberty, abolition of capital punishment and prison reform, industrial justice, peace and kindred causes. There has been attendance at some church conferences, denominational and interdenominational. At the time of the presidential election some non-partisan suggestions were sent out for independent consideration by the churches, in full and expressed loyalty to everyone's duty to think honestly for himself. Attention was specially called to the security of the public schools and to the place of prohibition as part of the constituted law of the land.

Letters of practical inquiry from the churches have been and are always specially welcome. In a word, let us say again: Studies may be at first hand by visiting social agencies and by surveys and there may be group discussions and debates. Support means giving financial aid to causes but it means far more the giving a fair hearing to all causes and taking a stand on some issues when honestly and commonly convinced. But actual service is the greater thing, whether by individuals, by groups or by all together, and in both city and country there are endless opportunities to connect with definite need, providing volunteer help, always realizing that the personality is more than any external aid and that most everyone can render some kind of assistance somewhere.

In line with the renewed tendency toward greater decentralization of authority and fuller distribution of leadership in our denomination, and in keeping thus with our very congregational tradition and genius, it is fitting that the speaking and writing and advising of social welfare should be the responsibility of many and not merely of a few. The different members of the Commission have been chosen, too, because they have had more or less training and experience in this or that particular line. Some of these members have served in numbers of ways this year, both in our churches and interdenominationally, in this country and abroad. Among these are Dr. Frank O. Hall, who attended Church Peace meetings in Geneva and Prague, Dr. Clarence R. Skinner who made observations anew in Germany, Russia and elsewhere, Dr. Arthur W. Grose who studied life in different parts of Europe, Mrs. E. W. White and others. In fact, much has been done by these and others that we cannot now adequately report. It is planned to somehow have a yet more successful meeting at the next General Convention in Washington and possibly also a conference before then. The chairman has been pleased to be invited to specially use Team Work for publicity and he will respond again and again. He always co-operates where he has a chance and with all.

The doctors advised a complete change and the chairman made plans to do so but meanwhile fulfilled his local church contract. For the second time in two years he spent a good part of the year in Europe, specially visiting the countries this time that he had not seen in 1926. He was official delegate from the National Conference of Social Work and the American Association of Social Workers to the first International Conference of Social Work in Paris, and other congresses there. He attended the Universal Religious Peace Conference at Geneva. He also looked in on the Conference of the International Entente of Liberals, Radicals and Democratic Parties at the National Liberal Club in London and the International Historical Congress in Oslo, Norway, heard debates in the parliaments of the various countries, was in the midst of a little revolution in Spain and heard the speeches and discussions in the assembly, council and four commissions (politics, social welfare, economics and disarmament,) of the League of Nations in Geneva. He made observations in countries so different as Finland and Portugal. He did some speaking in England and a little in Geneva and Paris. He gave several addresses before the Congress of the International New Thought Alliance in London. He crossed the English Channel ten times to make lecture and preaching appointments at Free Church, Methodist, Congregational, Quaker, New Thought, Psychological, League of Nations Union, social welfare and other meetings. He was entrusted with missions in America from Les Amitiés Internationales, Church Liberty Defence League and other movements. He has continued in touch with the various movements of social work and social reform both in this country and abroad, and carries on considerable correspondence with leaders in the United States and Canada and with quite a number in Europe.

While abroad and since returning the chairman has been giving thought to the enterprise of readjusting himself for a yet greater life work. His thought travels have been the greater. He now better understands the science and art of spiritual healing and the place of a vital faith in the real making of individuals and of society.

Yours for the Freedom and Fellowship of the Fuller Faith,

CHARLES H. PENNOYER

Report of Commission on Religious Education

The matter of closer co-operation between some of the auxiliary bodies of our denomination has received much consideration. At our request the General Sunday School Association and the Young People's Christian Union have appointed representatives to serve on a committee with a member of this Commission and with him to give careful study to the whole problem. Rev. Lee S. McCollester, D.D., our representative, is the chairman of the committee and Rev. John M. Ratcliff serves for the General Sunday School Association and Miss Myrtle Belyea for the Y. P. C. U. Several meetings have been held, questionnaires have been sent out, and practical recommendations are expected in the near future.

We believe that in the matter of religious education our Church is respectable, its work comparing favorably with that of other denominations. We understand, however, that it would not be respectable if it were not altered and enlarged to meet the changing demands of twentieth century civilization.

Report of the Commission on Comity and Unity

On the General Convention page of the LEADER for March 3, 1928 appeared an article by the Chairman of the Commission on the "Doings of the Commission on Comity and Unity" since the Hartford Convention. It covered two important conferences, one with representatives of the Congregational and the Christian Commissions and one with the Unitarian Commission.

As was stated in that article, we were invited to counsel with representatives of the Congregational and Christian Commissions, who were endeavoring to work out a plan for the virtual amalgamation of their respective bodies. They believed we would be interested because the avowed basis of the proposed union was not only the spirit but almost the very language of the basic principle of the Joint Statement adopted at Omaha and Hartford, viz.—that vital unity grows out of the acceptance of the Christian way of life as the unifying power, with freedom in subsidiary matters of doctrine and ceremonial practice. While the plan contemplated an actual demoninational fusion in which we could not join, we rejoiced that it had been made possible by the ideal of unity which we had part in shaping and proclaiming to the Christian world. Since that conference the negotiations between the Congregational and Christian fellowships have been made public. The newspapers of May 4 reported the adoption of the proposed plan of union with the Congregationalists by the convention of the Christian body at Richmond, Va. If these two bodies decide to effect organic union, it will be on the platform that we had a share in establishing.

The other outcome of this conference was a plan to have the Chairmen of the three Commissions there represented call a wholly unofficial gathering of representatives of various denominations, conservative as well as liberal, to see how far the principles of the Joint Statement might be considered a real basis for the closer fellowship of forward looking Christians. That at once brought to the front the question of including the Unitarians. The representatives of our Commission very clearly stated that our common attitude toward this question was the acid test of the genuineness of our professed adherence to the basis of unity which the Joint Statement announced. Until the Unitarians had been given the chance to join us we were unwilling to go further, not because our adoption of the Joint Statement was contingent on the Unitarians' acceptance of it, but because setting up an anti-Unitarian test would be invalidating the very essence of the Statement and an act of self-stultification. The members of the other two Commissions agreed, and the chairman of our Commission was asked to interview the Unitarian officials and ascertain their attitude toward entering such a larger conference as was proposed.

After a number of personal interviews with Dr. Cornish, now President of the American Unitarian Association, and with Dr. Eliot, former President and former chairman of the Unitarian Commission, a meeting of a small group representing both bodies was held in Boston on February 20, a brief account of which is given in the LEADER article already referred to. A proposed conference was explained to our Unitarian friends and we expressed the earnest hope that they would accept our invitation to participate. We urged the opportunity it offered of fostering a principle of unity that combined fellowship with freedom and was in accord with their genius as well as ours. They agreed to accept the invitation and to send delegates when such a conference should be held.

Our Commission has been in close touch with leaders of other Churches interested in the great problems and opportunities in connection with the subject of Christian Unity. Its members hope to have some share in whatever forward movement results from past efforts. Whatever happens will be largely the outcome of the spirit and pronouncement of the Joint Statement.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERIC W. PERKINS, Chairman.

The opening session of the 16th Annual Convention of the General Sunday School Association of the Universalist Church was called to order promptly at 7.30 P. M. on Thursday, July 26, 1928, in Rowland Hall, Ferry Beach Park, Maine, President George E. Huntley, D. D. in the chair.

The convention prayer was offered by Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D. The song service was led by Rev. Hazel I. Kirk, the convention song leader. The Keynote Address was delivered by Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., General Superintendent of the Universalist Churches, in which he placed strong emphasis upon the value of religious education.

The attendance was 132 and in a very unique way, President Huntley introduced everyone to his or her neighbor. He then introduced the faculty and convention speakers to the assembly. On a roll call, there were 2 General Convention officers present, 4 State Convention officers, 4 General

Sunday School Association officials, 8 State Sunday School officers, 28 local Church School officers, 58 teachers and 6 from other denominations. Roll Call by states showed 23 from Maine, 3 from New Hampshire, 5 from Vermont, 60 from Massachusetts, 5 from Rhode Island, 22 from Connecticut, 7 from New York, 2 from Pennsylvania, 1 from Indiana, 1 from Iowa, 1 from Minnesota, 5 from Michigan, 1 from District of Columbia, 1 from Alabama, 1 from New Jersey, and 2 from Japan. The assembly then indulged in a grand march in which Rev. and Mrs. Frank D. Adams, D. D. and Rev. and Mrs. George Magraw were honored upon their wedding anniversaries with gifts of wedding cakes.

The evening closed with a bonfire on the beach, followed by a friendship circle.

The first business session of the convention was called to order promptly at 10:40 A. M. on Friday morning July 27, 1928, in Rowland Hall, Ferry Beach Park with President Huntley, in the chair.

After the singing of a hymn, Rev. Isabella MacDuff offered prayer. The official call was read by Secretary Hempel.

The President announced the sessional committees as follows:

The following report of the Executive Committee was read by Vice President Laura Bowman Galer and referred to the Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions.

To the Members and Friends of The General Sunday School Association:—

Our organization is growing old, God grant that it may grow also strong and wise.

There are certain times that are appropriate for candid self-examination, for humble appraisement of things done, for honest recognition of things not done, for prayerful re-consecration and re-adjustment. Every anniversary is such a time. A fifteenth anniversary especially is such a time.

It is now a decade and a half since a little band of Christian aspirants met at Utica, New York, and did what they had no intention of doing, did what they were forbidden to do, did what they were strongly resolved not to do. Preferring at first any other course, they yielded to what seemed a divine leading and formed a national organization for the furtherance of religious education in the Universalist Church.

The General Sunday School Association has passed through many vicissitudes. It has been treated with kindness, however, and has been given a remarkable measure of support. We, as its present officers, tender sincere thanks to the thousands of generous friends who have given money, encouragement, counsel and service.

Now, at the end of fifteen years, it is proper to ask what former activities, if any, should be dropped, what policies should be altered, what new methods should be introduced, what larger ventures should be undertaken. Perhaps it is time to ask what changes should be made in personnel.

In looking over the past we can find enough facts to impress the saying of Barrie that "Life is one long, long, lesson in humility." For always we have come far, very far, short of our dreams.

Yet it is well for everyone, others and ourselves, to remember that the period of our labors has been one of new problems and difficult situations for all branches of the Christian Church. There has been a world war, followed by a time of moral and spiritual confusion and retrogression. There has been an astonishing increase in discovery and invention, yielding luxuries faster than they could be assimilated. Children and parents, money-mad, amusement-mad, or labor-mad, have been absorbed in a wild effort to keep up with a civilization in metamorphosis. There have developed a materialistic science and a groundling philosophy which have led the unthinking to smile and sneer at the religious interpretation of the universe.

In such a changing society the Church Schools of all denominations have had to do their work. It has been no small effort to maintain even previous strength and efficiency, while to make advance in any part of the Church has required unflinching faith and unremitting toil.

Remembering all this it is gratifying to receive such testimony as comes from those who occupy our denominational watch-towers and thus are able to speak with some authority. For instance, the Superintendent of Churches in one of our largest states declares that our schools to-day are in the best condition he ever has known. And the Trustees of the General Convention often express such comforting sentiments as are embodied in the following letter recently received from their secretary:

"I was glad to call especial attention of the Board of Trustees at the recent meeting to your report for the General Sunday School Association and to the fact that it is in the nature of a review of the Association for the past fifteen years. I am sure that I express the sentiment of the members of the Board when I say that they appreciate the leadership that has been given to the development of religious education in the Universalist Church and the best wishes which they send to you for a continued progress in your work. They also appreciate very much the co-operation which all of you connected with the Association have given to the denominational projects. We know we shall always find a responsive attitude on your part when work is put up to you."

We may disregard, as kind exaggerations, the statements of some international leaders that, everything considered, Universalist Church Schools are the best in existence; and rejoice if they really occupy an honorable place among the most wide-awake, worshipful and efficient.

What is important now is that after fifteen years of experience, some sad and some glad, we shall come open-minded to face the future. A beginning has been made, but only a beginning. May we have a profound gratitude for whatever of good has been accomplished and at the same time a moving dissatisfaction with these attainments which we regard as only preliminary and prophetic.

What next? That is the question.

I. Financial. Our financial situation gives cause for either optimo-pessimism or pessimo-optimism according to the disposition of the student. The members of your Board are all persistent optimists and they conclude that matters are not half as bad as they might be, that in reality they are quite favorable. It is true that we must report another deficit. But it is very small and is accounted for by well-known facts.

The treasurer's report, believed to be clear and complete, has been printed and copies are available for all attendants at the Ferry Beach convention. Questions will be answered to the best of our ability.

In connection with the report of the treasurer we give the estimated expenses from July 1, 1927, to July 1, 1928, (our fiscal year), as they were prophesied at the Hartford convention, the actual expenses for that period, and our estimate of expenses for the year to come. We do not give a hard-and-fast budget, but we believe that our official estimate will be sufficient guide for clear thinking and wise action.

We present also corresponding figures regarding income from various sources.

1. At Hartford we estimated that our expenses for the fiscal year would be $14,672.07, which would have been $1,240 less than those of the previous twelve months. As a matter of fact, they proved to be $14,399.79 or $1,512 less than those of the previous twelve months.

2. We estimated (or at least hoped) that our receipts would be $14,672.07. They proved to be $14,127.61. This was an increase of $211.26 over the income of the previous year.

3. It should be understood that we are now running with a much smaller appropriation from the General Convention than we formerly received. From 1925 to 1926 we received from that organization $7000; from 1926 to 1927 $4874.98; from 1927 to 1928 $4000.00. This cut does not imply any decrease in interest or good-will on the part of the trustees of the General Convention.

4. It will be seen from the above that our actual deficit for this year is but $272.18.

5. Moreover this amount would have been almost wiped out had it not been necessary for us to close our books somewhat before the actual end of the year.

6. We shall have to remember, however, that there have been several points financially favorable to us during the past year that are not likely to be repeated. The insurance company paid Miss Earle's salary for one month and we hope it never will be called upon to do so again. Miss Slaughter accepted a reduction in salary for a few months while she took part-time work at Boston University. More important was the fact that we sold several bonds which we had carried on our books at their cost price and on them realized a profit of $756.06.

7. Your Executive Board faces the future with confidence and believes that activity should be continued, with a proper economy, of course, but without reduced efficiency. We especially ask the attendants at this convention to be very generous when the time comes for "financial replenishment", pledging as freely as possible both for themselves and for their home schools.

II. Regular Offerings. Our schools gave away through our office last year $10,876.01. We hope that this will be interpreted as a sign of life and a reason for joy. We trust also that the primary purpose of the offerings, that of educating the givers in Christian generosity, has been in some measure attained.

1. International Friendship Offering. From this offering we received $1591.53. We pay through the Women's Missionary Association the salary of Miss Bernice Kent and through the General Convention the salary and house-rent of Mr. Aishi Terazawa, the total cost being $1970. We urge our schools to exert themselves so that hereafter we may receive as much as we are under obligation to pay. It should be said, however, that the decrease of $450 in this offering was undoubtedly due to the fact that our schools were being asked to give for more causes than in any previous year.

2. American Friendship Offering. From our February offering for the work at Sunburst and the work at Suffolk we received $1254.83, which was but $211.85 less than the amount given a year ago. We account for the decrease in the same way. We pay $1300 for these two causes.

3. Philanthropic Offering. Our schools continue to take very seriously the work of the Near East Relief, having given this year $4226.88. The national officers assure us that our gifts are maintained in far larger proportion than those of most denominations and are enthusiastic in their gratitude. The Near East Relief is now making its final appeal to the American people, asking that $6,000,000 be contributed with which to complete its task. That amount would provide for proper care of all dependent orphans until they came to self-support. The $6,000,000 is about twice the annual contribution usually received by the Near East Relief. Everyone, therefore, is asked to make a final offering of double the usual size. Toward our final offering the amount received last Christmas is counted; so if we can duplicate it next Christmas we shall have fulfilled the requests of the national body and shall have completed our duty in a matter which has brought great credit to our young people. We recommend that another offering for the Near East Relief be taken in December of the present year.

It is not too early for us to be thinking about the time when the appeal of the Near East is no longer made. What about our philanthropic offerings? It would be a denominational tragedy to have it abandoned, inasmuch as it is a means of most important spiritual culture. Shall we substitute some other great cause for the Near East Relief? Or shall we substitute a group of causes, representing different parts of the country and different phases of human need? A decision will have to be made by the time of the Washington convention.

III. The Leonard Memorials The General Convention offered to the Church Schools the privilege of contributing to the Universalist National Memorial Church, in Washington, a memorial or memorials to Dean Charles Hall Leonard, originator of Children's Day in the Christian Church. In the spring of 1927 coin collectors were distributed to individual members of the church schools and in 1928 so-called "building stones" were offered for sale to individuals, classes or entire schools. Between July 1, 1927, and July 1, 1928, the sum of $3790.77 was received at our office in response to these appeals. It is too early to judge what returns may come in from the building stone campaign of the present year, but it seems probable that our total will reach $5000. This sum, though very helpful to the General Convention, is a good deal less than was in mind when it was proposed to name both a baptistry and the rooms for religious education in honor of Dean Leonard. Just what will be done in the matter we do not know, but we are certain that the trustees of the General Convenion will prove both appreciative and generous.

IV. New Schools. The list of new schools organized since the founding of the General Sunday School Association is 156. This means that since the convention at Hartford 3 schools have been added to our roll. These are located at Macomb, Illinois; North Turner, Maine; Cumberland Four Corners, R. I. Some of these, it will be seen, are in parishes which had schools in former years while others are in absolutely new territory. We wish that we could say that every school meant a net increase; but, alas, with us, as with other denominations, both churches and church schools sometimes pass out of existence. We intend to keep alert and active so that every year the number of losses may be more than offset by the number of new organizations.

V. Membership. At the Hartford convention we were instructed to urge special effort for increase of membership and, being greatly interested in the matter, we have obeyed. Through the Search Light pages in the Leader, through the superintendents' note-book, and through letters to state officers and local leaders we have emphasized the fact that our gospel ought to be given, not to the few only, but to the many. Some state associations have joined with us in stressing this matter. In spite of the fact that certain schools, due to unavoidable circumstances, have lost rather than gained, there has been a net increase. We must keep on pushing.

VI. Field Work. We are increasingly impressed with the value of our field work, a form of service not duplicated, we believe, in any other denomination. Because the members of our staff come into close contact with our schools, see their buildings, observe their equipment and material, get acquainted with their leaders, we are able to understand their needs and to offer service that really helps. Thus we avoid an error largely prevalent, that of talking to and about schools that have no actual existence. We continue to send our representatives for special meetings, for single night conferences, for eight-day periods and, to a limited extent, for full month engagements. Our workers are now all on full time and we expect that during the coming year we can increase this form of service. We are often asked about financial arrangements and we always answer frankly that they differ according to the ability of the schools that are visited. Strong parishes usually assume payment of the worker's salary for the period of service. Others pay part. Some pay nothing at all. In this matter we co-operate constantly and most happily with the State Associations.

VII. Radical Change. The work done for many years by departmental superintendents, loyal men and women giving freely of time and energy, has been and will ever remain a matter for profound gratitude. Yet your Board has felt the disadvantage of having responsibilities divided among many workers, widely separated from each other and far distant from the home office, to be very serious. During the past year the labor has been centralized, the members of the employed staff consenting to take over most of the duties previously allotted to the superintendents of departments. This has made it possible for each staff worker to have full knowledge of all phases of the work and has resulted in saving time, money and nervous energy.

VIII. Standards. The new system of standards, adapted for our denominational needs from the suggestions of the International Council of Religious Education, has been received by local workers with respect and interest. The response has been as large as was expected during the first year. Particularly pleasing has been the submission of "improvement programs" by schools both large and small. The committee will report for itself during the present convention.

IX. Superintendents' Notebooks. Our weekly, dated programs for worship services are used generally and increasingly, with a result that the opening periods in our schools are becoming educationally profitable and spiritually uplifting. We receive many requests for these services from workers of other denominations and we are always glad to have our material given the wider use.

X. Institutes. The good work goes on. Every institute in 1927 showed advance in ideals and growth in numbers. Undoubtedly the same happy report will be possible at the close of the present season. The institutes now offered are at Barre, Vt., Camp Hill, Ala., Galesburg, Ill., Ferry Beach, Maine, and Murray Grove, N. J. As far as local conditions make it possible we offer courses that lead to credit with the International Council of Religious Education.

XI. The Curriculum. With a higher educational ideal, our schools are introducing lessons, intelligently graded and well fitted to the needs of their special constituency. In the selection of proper material the General Sunday School Association is of daily service. The pamphlet entitled "A Graded List of Text Books for the Church School," prepared by Rev. Laura Bowman Galer, has been used with eagerness both by Universalist schools and by those of other denominations. At the Philadelphia convention of the Religious Education Association it attracted wide and favorable attention. A revised edition has been issued and is ready for distribution at this convention. Not only does the Association give counsel in regard to suitable lesson material but it lends the textbooks for examination, so that no school needs to purchase in the dark.

XII. Slogans. The requests for slogans have been as numerous as ever and our travelling workers find that these unique helps to good cheer and good will are used in one way or another in most of our schools. As directed at Hartford, your Board is preparing a set for 1929.

XIII. Loan Library. We can repeat the following sentence from the report given at the Hartford convention: We continue to lend more books and better books.

XIV. Programs for Special Days. We issue programs for special days in the Church School, the hope being to make these occasions something more creditable and profitable than mere entertainments. "Christmas Everywhere" by Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, and "The Radiant Life" by Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing, were widely used and thoroughly enjoyed. Our program for next Christmas, "In the City of David" by Mrs. Mabel K. Gay, is now ready for publication. Certain schools find some of our programs somewhat too elaborate and difficult. For them we usually can suggest satisfactory modifications or substitutions.

XV. Weekday Religious Education. The situation in various parts of the country is very different. In some states pupils are excused from the public schools in order that they may spend certain hours in the care of the churches of their preference; in some Biblical instruction is given in the public schools themselves. Practice in regard to credits is widely various. We believe that our churches may wisely adapt themselves to their particular situations, taking advantage of such opportunities as are offered. In some places it is feasible to unite with other denominations in holding community schools.

XVI. Daily Vacation Schools. We recommend that our schools in both city and rural surroundings consider the possibilities of service through Daily Vacation Schools. Here is an opportunity to turn the vacation period from one of idleness and mischief into one of very great profit. We have had a few schools of our own, mostly highly efficient; while in more cases we have co-operated with other denominations. Our Mrs. Mabel K. Gay, for several years in charge of Daily Vacation Work in Waterbury, Conn., representing thirteen denominations, now assumes a much larger task at Springfield, Mass.

XVII. Leadership Training. With all our interest in the very best curriculum, we remember that what is taught is likely to be far less important than who teaches it. The finest lessons ever issued will not be effective if used by teachers who are ignorant, indolent or tactless. And out of almost any material a first-class teacher will get something that will be useful and inspiring. We urge the organization of classes for leadership training; we urge participation in the community classes; we urge the use of correspondence courses when nothing better is available. Miss Mary Slaughter has assumed general charge of this branch of our work, being supported, of course, by the other members of the staff. She is eager to give counsel and assistance wherever there is a possibility of training classes. The correspondence courses continue in the hands of Mrs. Frank A. Ober, of Nashua, N. H. We recommend that in intermediate and senior classes, the probability of future leadership be remembered and instruction be shaped accordingly.

XVIII. Free Pamphlets. The General Sunday School Association never sells anything. It does give away many things. This year it has issued for free distribution several pamphlets of great value, including those on the curriculum, the new standards, leadership training, the Home Department and the programs for special days. Of particular helpfulness is one by Rev. Dr. Frank W. Merrick on "The Finances of the Church School". In addition to these publications of our own we have purchased for presentation to any applicants copies of several tracts on science and religion issued by the American Institute of Sacred Literature.

XIX. A New Book. It will be remembered that at the Hartford convention your Board was instructed to arrange for the writing and publication of a brief volume presenting the essential facts that ought to be known by young people looking forward to church membership, facts in regard to the history, doctrine, work and symbols in the Universalist denomination. We are happy to say that Mrs. Stanley Manning is now at work on such a book and that the Universalist Publishing House has consented to issue it as soon as it is ready. We expect that this valuable work will be available early in the fall.

XX. Recruits. As usual the great majority of the new members gained for the churches have come from our church schools—seemingly 80 or 85 per cent. Every year we urge the superintendents and teachers to remember their opportunities for co-operating helpfully with pastors in securing these recruits for the church. From the schools also come practically all the students for our theological schools, both those preparing for the ministry and those fitting themselves to become assistant pastors, directors of religious education or other parish workers. We ask all friends to be alert for the discovery of young men and women of such gifts and consecration as are necessary for success in the Kingdom.

XXI. The Sunday School Helper. The Universalist Publishing House, being forced to excuse Judge and Mrs. Galer from their arduous service on the Helper, is to be congratulated upon securing Miss Martha Fischer as editor-in-chief. Knowing her heredity and her environment, we expected work of a very high order. The early issues of the magazine under her direction prove that there is to be no disappointment. The Intermediate Helper, edited by Rev. Helene Ulrich, and the Home Department Helper, edited by Mrs. Mary I. Chamberlain, are excellent in their respective fields.

XXII. Interdenominational Relationships. As far as friendly fellowship and helpful co-operation are concerned, our relations with the workers of other denominations leave little to be desired. Speakers from other churches come to us and our speakers are sought at their gatherings. Literature is exchanged and every possible courtesy is shown. While we are not recognized by the International Council of Religious Education, we are granted most of the privileges that are extended to the elect. Some State Councils grant complete co-operation. In the Religious Education Association, which is an organization for deeper study of fundamental problems, we have full membership.

XXIII. New Occasions.

New occasions teach new duties;
Time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still and onward
Who would keep abreast of truth.

For such good as may have been accomplished in the first fifteen years, we are devoutly thankful. The proper expression of our gratitude to the guiding and sustaining Father is not, of course, a smug and idle satisfaction; it is an eager outreaching for larger tasks and wiser administration. To those who may come after us in service we, earnestly hoping that their usefulness may be far greater than our own, promise the full measure of sympathy and support.

Now we repeat the question with which we began. What next? We solicit your criticism and your constructive suggestions. We ask also your prayers.

With high optimism, we renew our pledge that wherever we are placed, we will do our best in a cause that to us seems superlatively great. We accept as an expression of our own confidence the noble poem of Edwin Markham.

We men of earth have here the stuff
Of Paradise. We have enough!
We need no other thing to build
The stairs into the Unfulfilled—
No other ivory for the doors,
No other marble for the floors,
No other cedar for the beam
And dome of man's immortal dream.

Here on the paths of every day—
Here on the common human way
Is all the busy gods would take
To build a heaven, to mould and make
New Edens. Ours the stuff sublime
To build eternity in time.

Rev. John M. Ratcliff, chairman of the Committee on Standards read the report of that committee. This report urged co-operation of the plan to place improvement goals for all schools and as their work is completed that they be discharged. The report was referred to the Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions and the committee was discharged with thanks.

A letter from the Commission on Religious Education of the General Convention was read by the secretary. This letter called attention to the serious overlapping in the work of the Young People's Christian Union and the Church School and asked that we appoint a representative to sit with representatives of the Young People's Christian Union and the Commission to search out for opportunities for further co-operation. The letter was referred to the Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions.

Rev. A. Gertrude Earle of Headquarters reported upon the work of the Departments under her supervision, namely the Home Department, Department of Standards and that of Missionary Education. These reports were received with applause.

Miss Mary F. Slaughter reported for her departments—Leadership Training and Fine Arts and she also received applause for her work.

President Huntley paid tribute to the loyalty and co-operation of these, his two colleagues in the work.

The convention adjourned at 12:15 P. M. until 10:40 A. M. Saturday morning July 28th.

The convention was again in session on Saturday morning, July 28, 1928, being called to order promptly at 10:40 A. M. by President Huntley. The song service was led by Mrs. Huntley and prayer was offered by Rev. Stanley Manning of Maine.

The credentials committee submitted a partial report showing 74 delegates to date.

The auditor's report was read by the secretary and accepted. This action also automatically accepted the report of the treasurer. The president spoke words of appreciation of the work of our treasurer, Albert H. Homans and the secretary was instructed to send greetings and thanks for his services to Mr. Homans.

The Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions through its Chairman, Rev. Charles Kramer, then submitted its report. The report was read as a whole, then the convention voted acceptance of the resolutions as a whole and ordered the recommendations read one by one. The resolutions were as follows:

We are living in a changing world; society is not static; neither is the age in which we find ourselves merely transitory merging itself with an even tenor from one proven and established condition and philosophy of life into another. This is the day of radical change and rapid transit from one idea to another. It marks the dawn of new things; untried experience is clamoring everywhere for the right and expediency of recognition. The new republic of a greater experience awaits the travail of its soul. Experiment is everywhere and in everything rife.

Contending with these new problems and dealing with these difficult situations we readily recognize the extreme difficulty of carrying any conceived or delegated work to a successful conclusion. Yet we have reason to rejoice because of the progress and success of the General Sunday School Association of the Universalist Church and the excellency of its work in the almost limitless field of Christian service and Religious Education; and to this end we beg leave to offer for consideration the following resolutions and recommendations:

RESOLUTION NO. 1. Be it resolved that we most heartily appreciate and eagerly endorse the constructive and eminently helpful program of the General Sunday School Association as carried into effect during the past season and that we commend the officers and workers in this great cause for their devotion, for their gracious and magnanimous spirit, their persistent optimism and undaunted faith: and that properly to assist them in still further achievement we do pledge our help and co-operation.

RESOLUTION NO. 2. Resolved that we strive to appreciate the genuine helpfulness and co-operation of all contributing agencies; the individual or group of individuals; the schools and organizations; the General Convention; State Convention; the Universalist Publishing House and the Christian Leader.

RESOLUTION NO. 3. Resolved that we heartily endorse that most excellent and substantial work being wrought by our faithful Field Workers, Dr. Huntley, Miss Mary Slaughter and the Rev. A. Gertrude Earle in establishing new schools and giving assistance to others that in being strengthened and enriched they may grow and prosper.

RESOLUTION NO. 4. Resolved that we endorse the work of week day religious education.

RESOLUTION NO. 5. Noting with pleasure the net increase in membership this year, be it resolved that we continue this objective for the next year. To this end we urge our schools to study their local fields recognizing their responsibility to families not definitely known as Universalists.

RESOLUTION NO. 6. Whereas the sessions of this Convention have been made more enjoyable, profitable and inspiring by reason of our entertainment here in this sacred shrine and hallowed grove of the Ferry Beach Park Association: be it resolved that we express our sincere appreciation of the hospitality and co-operation thus afforded us.

Action was taken on the following recommendations:

RECOMMENDATION NO. 1. We recommend the adoption of the budget for the ensuing year as estimated by the Executive Committee, the amount of which is $14,695.00

Recommendation No. 1 was amended to provide $330.00 for Board Meetings instead of $25.00 making total budget of $15,000.00 and adopted. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 2. We earnestly recommend that our schools so far as is locally practicable give strict heed and immediate attention to all appeals for missionary offerings which come from the office of the General Sunday School Association and that instruction be given the schools concerning the project for which the offering is taken. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 3. We recommend the continuance of the International Friendship Offering in November and the American Missionary Offering in February, and urge the Church Schools to increase their offerings that we may meet the required amounts. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 4. We take great pride in knowing that our schools have taken very seriously the work of the Near East, having given this year in their philanthropic offering $4,226.88, and we recommend that, if possible, we increase the amount of the offering to be taken at Christmas time so that the work of the Near East Relief may be completed. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 5. We recommend that at the completion of the Near East Relief Fund our philanthropic offering be devoted to one great cause. Lost.

We recommend that the matter of objective or objectives for the philanthropic offering after the completion of that for the Near East Relief be referred to the Executive Board with the suggestion that a choice of objects be offered to our schools unless in their opinion some one great need calls for our united gifts. We further recommend that in this matter careful consideration be given to the growth and education of the giver as well as to the needs of the cause or causes for whom the offering is made.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 6. We express our sincere appreciation to those schools that have vigorously co-operated in the project of the Leonard Memorials, and we would urge those schools who have not, to avail themselves of the privilege of contributing in any way they wish. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 7. The fifteenth anniversary as our Executive Committee has said, is a time for thought and prayer of love, a time to note our progress as well as the very few mistakes that have been made. We also rejoice as the international leaders have testified that our Universalist Schools are taking their rightful place among the most wide awake, worshipful and efficient schools. Feeling that this is due to the concerted efforts of our Field Workers, under the direction of our very honored, loyal, tireless, whole hearted president, therefore we recommend no change in personnel of our organization. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 8. We recommend the faithful continuance of the benificent policy of our Field Workers: Dr. Huntley, Miss Slaughter and Miss Earle, and especially recommend to our local Churches the great value and potential merit of securing these field workers for worthy periods of intensive effort in building and bettering our Church Schools. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 9. We recommend that each school try out some part of the Standards Method. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 10. We recommend that all of our schools be urged to send at least one delegate to some one of the Institutes. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 11. In addition to the courses of study already prescribed at our Institutes, we recommend the addition of a course in intelligent Bible reading for our ministers as well as our young people. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 12. We recommend a careful consideration and an extensive use of the brilliant and effective teaching materials compiled by Rev. Laura Bowman Galer in "A Graded List of Books for the Church School" and we advise all schools to take advantage of the offer of the General Sunday School Association to furnish for investigation sample text books pertaining to this Graded List. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 13. We recommend the continued publication of the slogans for Church Schools by the General Sunday School Association and the addition by the Association of any new features which to them seem advisable. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 14. Because of the great educational value, we recommend that our schools wherever possible conduct Daily Vacation Schools, or unite with other Churches in their towns in conducting a Daily Vacation School. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 15. We note with pleasure the increased emphasis being given to leadership training and recommend that our schools have a regular training school class, and if this is not possible to avail themselves of the correspondence course. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 16. We recommend the study of the Home Department Quarterly among the young parents. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 17. Whereas the following has been presented to us from the Pennsylvania State Convention, "Whereas it is important that our children should receive definite peace education and there does not seem to be adequate courses available, be it resolved: that we petition the General Sunday School Association to prepare or unite with other organizations in having prepared a year's Junior course on World Unity and a year's course for High School age on International Living." Therefore we recommend that the General Sunday School Association take steps to carry out this resolution. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 18. We recommend that we concur in the request from the Commission on Religious Education, in the appointment of a Committee of three, one from the Commission on Religious Education of the Universalist General Convention, one from the Young People's Christian Union and one from the General Sunday School Association to study the overlapping in the work of these organizations and that the Executive Committee of the General Sunday School Association appoint a representative on this committee. Adopted.

RECOMMENDATION NO. 19. We recommend that the officers of the General Sunday School Association be instructed to plan and call for an offering as early in the fall as practicable for China Famine Relief, and in co-operation with the Relief organization arrange for the necessary preliminary education in our schools. Adopted.

The recommendations were then adopted as a whole.

The final report of the Credentials Committee was as follows:

The approval of the records of the secretary was left to the Executive Board. The Convention with a period of silent prayer, followed by prayer by Mrs. Frank Adams of Michigan, was adjourned.

At the Sunday replenishment meeting over $2,607.00 was pledged and at a subsequent meeting $138.00 additional.

This was a splendid convention in every particular—fine spirit and great work accomplished. The institute registration was 125.

During the past year the various activities of this association have been carried on with the usual happy co-operation of officers and members.

There have been several changes in plans and in the personnel of the workers in the mission fields, both at home and in Japan.

In North Carolina a forward step was taken in the appointment of a state Superintendent of Churches. This was done in compliance with the wishes of the State Convention and the State Board.

On the first of last December, Rev. Francis B. Bishop assumed the dual responsibilities of pastor of the Rocky Mount church and of Superintendent of North Carolina.

In the interest of better organization his first effort was the consolidation of several of the smaller parishes. The Clinton circuit was reduced from five churches to three with the prospect of these being furthur reduced to the two of Clinton and Red Hill.

Rev. Leon and Rev. Martha Jones, who had been the faithful pastors of this circuit for six years, having resigned, the vacancy was filled by Rev. O. E. Bryant of Maine.

The Kinston Circuit was also pastorless due to the resignation of Rev. George Wood who wished to join the Episcopalian denomination. A call was extended to Rev. W. O. Bodell who had had a church in North Carolina some years ago and who was greatly liked by the people.

Rev. John Fitzgerald continues at Seven Springs and Outlaw's Bridge where there are good congregations and interest in the work.

Rev. Hannah J. Powell has an able assistant in her great work in the mountains in Miss Ruth Downing, besides the helpers in the summer school. The past summer there were seven of these helpers, six of whom were young women who had grown up in the school. Their desire to serve the community in this way is testimony to the character of the teaching done in this school which co-operates in and supplements the work of the county schools.

The people of Greensboro, under the able leadership of Rev. Harry L. Canfield, are purchasing a desirable lot in a good location and hope that in the near future a church which is sorely needed may be built thereon.

At Rocky Mount the members are full of enthusiasm and zeal. Several out-lying churches have brought their membership to this church.

Dr. Bishop is trying to lead all the churches toward a larger measure of self support. Rocky Mount is leading the way by adopting a budget of more than twice the amount previously raised.

At the North Carolina Convention this month, a pledge of one hundred dollars was made for a memorial window in the Washington Church.

In all of the churches there are Mission Circles, and there are also several Clara Barton Guilds.

A most important event was the holding of an institute for and by the young people of North Carolina. About forty met at White Lake and had a very successful session. They have perfected a permanent organization with plans already made for next summer.

Rev. Benjamin H. Clark continues his pastorate of the Shinn Memorial Church in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Japan

Miss Georgene Bowen has been for the past year in charge of Blackmer Home in Tokyo. There are at present eighteen Japanese girls in the Home but it is hoped that funds will be provided for the support of four more.

Miss Bowen has had as an assistant, temporarily, a young Japanese woman. As this seems a wise arrangement, the Executive Board has appointed as permanent assistant, a highly educated young woman, Miss Murai, who is spending this year in Boston in preparation for that position.

To the great satisfaction and joy of this Board and of the missionaries in Japan, Miss M. Agnes Hathaway decided to return to the field as counselor in Blackmer Home. While her contract is for but three years, she has gone to Japan with the intention of remaining there.

The settlement work of Dojin House is still in charge of Mrs. Matsu Yoshioka, who received her training in this country some years ago.

Miss Bernice Kent, supervisor of the three Universalist Kindergartens in Tokyo for six years, has returned home. At present her position is being filled by an efficient Japanese Kindergartner.

Another enterprise sponsored by the W. N. M. A. has been the summer camp for little girls at the Clara Barton Birthplace. Although part of the equipment was furnished by this Association, the operating expenses were borne by the Clara Barton Guilds and by the Y. P. C. U. of Massachusetts.

As this work is somewhat aside from the regular missionary work, an effort is being made to secure a permanent fund which will provide income adequate for the upkeep of the Birthplace. A committee has been appointed to raise an Endowment Fund of fifty thousand dollars. This is to be solicited not alone among our members but also from organizations and individuals interested in the life and work of Clara Barton.

The Clara Barton Guilds which are auxiliary to this Association, report growth in membership and interest. They help in the support of the work in Dojin House and of the summer school at Sunburst, N. C., besides that of the summer camp. The new secretary of the Guild is Miss Eola Mayo of Maine.

Summer Institutes were held this summer in the East, South and Midwest. Those held in conjunction with the Sunday School Association were doubly helpful. Several members of this Board took active part in them as instructors or speakers.

For the coming year we look forward to continued growth in our work, counting upon the fine loyalty of all members of the Association who have never failed to support the plans of the Executive Board.

Respectfully submitted,

EVELYN C. CORLETT,
Recording Secretary.

Report of the Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist Church

Though time has wrought many, many changes, it has in no way affected the original objective of the Young People's Christian Union—"the promotion of an earnest Christian life—and the sympathetic union of all young people's societies in their effort to make themselves more useful in the service of God." What nobler purpose, or what outstanding change might time have made to give us more worthwhile goals?

We have not found our path easy to tread, but there seem to be many reasons for this. While our members do well in their financial support, we hope to impress them with the fact that we need more support from them. Very few are wage-earners, and we all know that in this day there are many demands on the allowances given to the young folks. It appears then, that we must appeal to former members and friends of the Union to help us. The young folks will prove themselves worthy of any interest and support which is given.

Then, too, it must be remembered that with the exception of the Office Secretary, all the work is done by volunteers. Most of these are folks already busy with the task of making places for themselves in the world and we cannot expect them to forfeit this time and energy, though we should probably find most of them very willing.

Except in the east, our membership is rather scattered and it is too expensive for Unioners to assume the burden of financing field trips. We feel greatly the need of a person to do extensive field work. The Union is not yet in a position where it can sponsor a full-time program calling for additional expense. However, several of the Board Members have travelled many miles and the President has made one quite extended field trip.

Our present membership, including the Juniors and Union-at-Large is about thirty-three hundred and fifty. The average age of the members is eighteen, with local unions averaging memberships of about twenty.

Last summer our regular Mid-Western, Camp Hill, Ferry Beach and Murray Grove Institutes were conducted. Our California Young People also held an Institute. Our second Older Young People's Week was held at Ferry Beach. Folks had two Institutes and a Convention at Ferry Beach to choose between last year, and this, no doubt, had some effect on the attendance at each. All the Institutes, however gave to those who attended many things beneficial and valuable. The credit system for courses seemed impractical and so it has been discontinued.

The Legion of the Cross Department which sponsors the Union's missionary work hoped to increase contributions to this work by presenting a new project or appeal to the Unioners. For the past ten years, the Union has been paying one-half of the salary and expenses of Rev. R. L. Brooks, Superintendent and Missionary in Texas. The Union has also been making a contribution toward the salary of Rev. Clifford R. Stetson in Japan. It was decided to cut our support of Texas from one-half to one-third, continue to contribute to Japan, and to give the balance of about $500. this year to the partial support of some local Church. The amount now seems to be so small that it has been impossible to find a Church where the contribution would be of any great value.

"Brother" Brooks has resigned his position in Texas to take effect February 15. This has been accepted with regret for "Brother" Brooks has given faithful and devoted service. We appreciate the situation in which he finds himself and wish him success in his new field of work. Rev. Leonard Prater has been secured to step into "Brother" Brooks' place, but at this time the future missionary policy of the Y. P. C. U. has not been decided.

We look forward to the return of Rev. Clifford R. Stetson from Japan who has been faithfully serving there for the past seven years.

Our Juniors continue to make their contributions to Sunburst and to Japan. Our local Junior organizations are continuing in their training for future membership in the Senior Union. The Handbook of Expression Work for Juniors has not been published this year.

ONWARD, the official organ of the Union is now being published only every three weeks. ONWARD maintains a contact which is much needed and we feel it is necessary to the life of the Union, in spite of the fact that it is published at quite a loss to the General Union.

The Young People's Section in the "CHRISTIAN LEADER" has also been re-established in the hope that this will be a valuable point of contact with those who otherwise might not know of our work, and that it will serve as a means of interesting our Young People in our denominational paper.

Under a General Chairman the Union is seeking and receiving pledges for the fire-place in the Parish House of the new National Memorial Church. This amount which when completed will be $500., will be the contribution of our organization to this enterprise of our denomination.

The Union is represented on a Committee appointed at the request of the Commission on Religious Education of the General Convention. The General Sunday School Association and the Commission are also represented on this Committee. It is hoped that through a study of the religious education situation in our denomination, we may discover ways in which the programs of the auxiliaries may be co-ordinated and that if duplication exists, ways to correct this duplication may be recommended. The Committee has held two meetings and the Union's representative has made its report to the Executive Board. Final results will, of course, be presented at the Atlanta Convention.

The Unions have observed Young People's Week, Young People's Sunday, a Legion of the Cross Drive and a Membership Week Drive.

The 41st Annual Convention will be held in Atlanta, Georgia from July 10 to July 14.

With the same hope we seek the goal. With the same consecration we pledge our organization to the service of God and of Humanity in whatever way opens to us.

THE PERMANENT FUNDS OF THE UNION

The Permanent Legion of the Cross Fund is made up of gifts of Thirty Dollars, the income of which, amounting to $1.20 annually, equals a regular contribution through the Legion of the Cross to the Union's missionary work.

The Permanent Administrative Fund was established in memory of the late George F. Sears, of Chicago, and has been augmented by other gifts, notably that of Frank Pierce, of Sharpsville, Pa., and the bequest of Auntie Brown. This income is used for the administration expenses of the Union.

The Auntie Brown Fund was established by a gift of Auntie Brown, the interest to be used for the education of theological students.

The Junior Union Japan Fund was established in 1900 by gifts of Junior Unions. Interest is used for the Japan Mission work of the Junior Union.

These funds, totalling, $12,607.69, are invested as follows:

CHARLES ANDREWS ALDEN

The Rev. Charles Andrews Alden died at Moosehaven, Fla., in January, 1928, after an illness of almost two years. He was buried near his old home at Schenectady, N. Y.

Mr. Alden was born on April 16, 1871, at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., the son of Dr. Edwin Painter Alden and Martha Ann Andrews. He attended the Hoosick Falls High School and Colgate Academy, Hamilton, N. Y., and then had one year at Colgate University.

He was ordained in the Baptist Church at Richmondville, N. Y., in 1892, at the age of twenty-one, but he left the ministry five years later and was engaged for more than fifteen years in business, platform and promotional work along civic, educational and religious lines. While office secretary of the Chicago Sunday Evening Club he came in touch with St. Paul's Universalist Church, found he agreed with the five points of the Universalist confession of faith, and went to work in the parish as a layman. He was a speaker widely known for oratorical ability. He was Morning Hour lecturer under the Redpath-Brockway Chautauquas of Pittsburgh in the summer of 1914 and platform manager of the Galesburg Chautauqua in 1915. He always gave freely of his time and effort for the achievement of better civic conditions and without remuneration served in many capacities, such as secretary of the Chicago Citizenship Congress, one of the five directors of the Omaha Planning League, chaplain of the Illinois Elks' Association, a member of the Executive Committee of the Galesburg Associated Charities, president of the Knox County Ministerial Association. When America entered the war he was chairman of the Knox County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

He was a licensed preacher in the Universalist Church during the years 1913-1915 and was ordained in 1915. He held the pastorate of the Galesburg, Ill., church for two years and then went to Aurora. While there he was made chairman of the Kane County Executive Committee of the State Council of Defense, chairman of the Patriotic Week Committee, and was in charge of the newspaper publicity of the War Chest Campaign. He was also at this time, September, 1917, to February, 1920, Universalist State Superintendent of Illinois.

From Aurora Mr. Alden went to Columbus, where he served the Universalist Church during four of its most critical years, when the old church was sold and it was necessary to hold the congregation together in a hall down town and then move it into the new building.

Mr. Alden conducted a feature department for some time in the pages of the Universalist Leader entitled "Target Practise." He also wrote the weekly Sunday School lesson for the paper.

He was chaplain for two years at Mooseheart, where he was taken ill, and was transferred to Moosehaven, where he died. He is survived by his wife, who was his faithful and devoted attendant during his long illness.

ADA C. BOWLES

Rev. Ada C. Bowles, retired Universalist clergyman, lecturer and missionary, widow of Rev. Benjamin F. Bowles, died Saturday, April 14, 1928, in her ninety-second year, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred R. Pratt, in Weston, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Bowles was born in Gloucester on August 2, 1836, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Burpee. A school teacher at the age of fifteen years, she was married at twenty-two. She studied for the ministry under her husband, a Universalist clergyman, and after preaching a year or two, was ordained to the ministry in 1874.

She had presided over parishes in Marlboro, Easton, Pa., Trenton, N. J., East Gloucester, and Pomona, Calif., besides carrying on the pastorate of her husband's church in Abingdon for a year after his death. She was the first woman minister on the Massachusetts Convention Board. Besides her work in her own and her husband's parishes, she had lectured as a contemporary of Julia Ward Howe, Susan B. Anthony, Mary A. Livermore and Lucy Stone, with whom she was intimately acquainted, on woman suffrage, temperance and housekeeping. When nearly seventy years old she worked in the South as missionary during seven or eight strenuous years for the Universalist Church.

She was a member of the Professional Woman's Club and the Wintergreen Club of Boston. She was the president of the latter club at the time of her death. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Louise B. Henn of Piedmont, Calif., and Mrs. Pratt, with whom she lived.

Funeral services were held April 17, in the First Parish Unitarian Church in Weston, conducted by Dr. John Clarence Lee, pastor of the Universalist Church in Gloucester, assisted by Rev. Miles Hanson, Jr., minister of the Unitarian Church in Weston. Burial was in Mt. Auburn.

MARY EMERY BRADLEY

Mrs. Asa Mayo Bradley, wife of Rev. Asa M. Bradley, died on Tuesday, Nov. 15, 1928, in Kingston, N. H. Her illness had been long and trying. For five years she had been able to get her night's rest only in a sitting position. It was owing to her illness that Mr. and Mrs. Bradley moved to Kingston in 1919.

Mrs. Bradley's maiden name was Mary Helen Emery, and her native place was Skowhegan, Me. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley were married Nov. 27, 1878, in Oakland, California.

While Mr. Bradley was Superintendent of the Maine State Convention, Mrs. Bradley was licensed to preach, and went about a good deal in the state of Maine. Since coming to Kingston she preached two summers in the Universalist church at Kensington and supplied occasionally in the Kingston church.

Mrs. Bradley was known widely as a platform speaker for the Women's National Missionary Association of the Universalist Church. She will also be remembered as a successful worker with boys' clubs and with young people. It may be said in summary that she was an unusual helpmate for a minister, versatile and resourceful.

Mrs. Bradley's brother's children are all located in Yakima, Wash. Two cousins, Mrs. H. L. Mitchell and Mrs. Emma Lulham, survive in Skowhegan, Me.

Services were conducted in the Universalist church, Kingston, on Thursday, Nov. 17, by Rev. Allen Brown of Portsmouth, N. H., an old friend of the Bradleys. Burial was at Kingston, N. H.

MARGARET A. BRENNAN

Rev. Margaret A. Brennan died Dec. 5, 1927, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Woolton at Branchport, N. Y. Miss Brennan was born in London, England, over ninety years ago. Her ministry of more than fifty years was begun in the Baptist Church, but her liberal views soon carried her into the Universalist Church. Her first parish in our denomination was in Muncie, Indiana. Subsequently she served several parishes in New York state, among them being the parish at Branchport, N. Y.

She was in England during the World War, and while doing war work she suddenly became totally blind and remained so until her death. About three years ago she returned to America to spend her last days under the loving care of friends of her old Branchport parish. She was a woman of very strong character with a keen intellect, broad culture and a wonderful memory, a student to the very end. She was an eloquent pulpit speaker, author of a number of poems of much merit, and through her whole life a true and devoted servant of the Lord.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. De Witt C. Reilly of Branchport, and the burial was at that place.

ALLEN BROWN

Rev. Allen Brown died suddenly at his home in Portsmouth, N. H., on January 25, 1928, and his body was cremated according to directions written out by him before his death and marked "When I am dead."

Mr. Brown was born on October 7, 1866 in Sparta, Michigan. He was educated at Fersis Institute, Big Rapids, and later attended Tufts Theological School where he obtained his degree of B.D. in 1894.

He held his first pastorate at Nottingham, N. H. and later held pastorates in the following places: Newfield, N. H., Mt. Washington, Haverhill, Mass., East Providence and Georgiaville, R. I., Bath, Me., Norwalk, Ohio, Rumford, Me., and Portsmouth, N. H. He was pastor of the Rumford, Me. church for more than ten years, and the love of that parish for him is attested by the fact that his ashes will be buried in a plot chosen by the people of the Rumford church.

Mr. Brown never married, and for 25 years he maintained a summer home at Spectacle Island, N. H., for the benefit of ministers and their families and for young boys, with whom he had great influence. One of these boys, now an attorney in New York state upon hearing of the death of his late friend and benefactor, sent his flowers "in loving and tender respect for the kindest man I ever knew."

Rev. Arthur W. Grose, D.D., of Brooklyn, N. Y., said of him:..... "Quiet, modest, unassuming, claiming little for himself and making no great professions as to his superior virtue, those who knew him unquestionably give him first place among the real examples of what a Christian minister ought to be.....I have yet to see a finer example of genuinely Christian living—all the more Christian because, like the Master he served, his heart was full of love for all sorts and conditions of men, not even excepting 'the publicans and sinners.'"

GEORGE FERDINAND FORTIER

Rev. George F. Fortier, Superintendent of Universalist Churches in Vermont, New Hampshire, and Quebec, died at his home in Morrisville, Vermont, on May 4, 1928, after a long illness. Mr. Fortier was born on May 19, 1874, at Somerville, Mass. He received the degree of S. T. B. from Tufts Theological School in 1897, being ordained to the Universalist ministry in that same year. He married in 1909 in St. Albans, Vt., Anna Mildred Hamilton. He held the following pastorates: Pigeon Cove, Mass.; Bethel, Vt.; St. Albans, Vt.; Northfield, Vt.; Rutland, Vt.

Mr. Fortier was a competent administrator and leader of men. In his position as State Superintendent of Church in Vermont, New Hampshire and Quebec, he was recognized as an invaluable organizer and inspirer of churches and ministers alike. It has been said of him, "No man in our church knew or understood better the problems of the church in the smaller communities than he. In addition to his other duties and responsibilities he was elected a Trustee of the General Convention . . . but his increasing illness prevented him from any active participation. . . . His church was first with him. Others of us might frankly disagree with him and his conclusions. We were always compelled to recognize his ability, his experience, his honest thought and his sincere motives. He has made a permanent contribution to the church he loved." As well as holding these denominational offices, Mr. Fortier was also president of the Board of Education of Morrisville.

Funeral services were conducted in the church at Morrisville on Sunday, May 6, by Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., Secretary of the General Convention, and Rev. Donald K. Evans, pastor. Interment was in the Morrisville Cemetery on a sloping hillside, facing the mountain. Dr. Etz pronounced the benediction, which was all the committal service Mr. Fortier desired.

THOMAS WESTON ILLMAN

Rev. Thomas Weston Illman, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Vineland, N. J. died on May 1, 1928 as the result of injuries sustained when he fell from a second story window of his home where he was putting up screens.

Mr. Illman was born in Philadelphia in 1853. He graduated from the Philadelphia Central High School in 1870. He attended Crane Theological School and received his B.D. from Tufts College in 1875. In 1876 he was ordained as a minister of the Universalist Church and held pastorates in New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Michigan, and at All Soul's Church in Philadelphia. After assisting in the medical examination service during the war, Mr. Illman went to Vineland in October, 1918, as pastor of the Unitarian Church.

Mr. Illman was married in 1877 to Marie L. Poole, who died in 1904. He was married again in 1907 to Clara E. Bancroft, of Wakefield, Mass. The second Mrs. Illman survives her husband, as do three daughters, Mrs. Horace G. Williams of East Hartford, Conn., Adelaide Poole Illman of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mayor Mason of Glendale, California.

Rev. Roger S. Forbes, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Germantown, Pa., conducted the funeral services and paid noble tribute to Mr. Illman. The body was cremated in the Chelton Hill Crematory, Pa., and the ashes interred in the South Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia. Philadelphia.

GALUSHA ALLEN KING

Rev. Galusha Allen King died in the Nassau Hospital, Mineola, New York, on Dec. 21, 1927, at the age of sixty-seven. Mr. King was born at Westfield, Pa., on January 4, 1860.

He graduated from Canton Theological School in 1897. Mr. King held pastorates in Linesville, Pa., Morris, N. Y., Markesan, Wis., and Wichita, Kansas, where he remained for twenty years, building an institution for human welfare that was taken over by the city and is now run by the Y. M. C. A. While pastor in Wichita he was State Superintendent of Kansas and the Southwest. More recently he was the pastor at Bemus Point, N. Y., until he retired four years ago. Since then he has lived in Floral Park, Long Island, where he built his house with his own hands, having been a master carpenter before becoming a minister of the Carpenter's Son.

Mr. King was a thirty-second degree Scottish Rite Mason, an Odd Fellow and a member of the Royal Arcanum.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, Dec. 23, in the Methodist Episcopal Church of Floral Park, Rev. Thomas Edward Potterton, D.D., officiating, assisted by the Methodist Episcopal minister, Rev. Edgar S. Jackson, who gave the prayer. The committal service at the Quaker Cemetery, Westbury, Long Island, was conducted by the Floral Park Masonic Lodge.

REV. GEORGE W. PERRY

Rev. George W. Perry died at his home at Chester, Vt., on March 18, 1928. Mr. Perry was born on Oct. 20, 1846 at Granger, Alleghaney Co., N. Y., graduated from the Canton Theological School in 1868 and was ordained to the Universalist ministry on July 9, 1868.

On July 7, 1868 he was married to Mary Alice Rice at Marlboro, Mass. He held pastorates in Canton, Lynn, Lawrence, Springfield, Mass.; Auburn, Me., Rutland and Chester, Vt. Mr. Perry founded the Rutland, Vt. church and built the present building. In 1889 he founded the Rutland Institute of which he was principal until 1895. In 1905 he reopened the church at Tarpon Springs, Florida, and served it for that winter and also for the years of 1906, 1911, 1912 and 1913. Since that time he has been Pastor Emeritus at Chester, Vt., serving the church whenever the pastorate has been vacant. Because of ill health he was unable to take a regular pastorate.

For eight years Mr. Perry was the State Geologist of Vermont. In the resolution adopted by the church expressing the sorrow and regret caused by his death, he was described as "a man of golden personality, with a wide range of knowledge, particularly in the fields of astronomy, geology, biology, zoology, botany and other branches of science, embracing a continued study of animal and bird life, so that with such a fund of information he was always most interesting and instructive."

HIRAM WORCESTER SMITH

Rev. Hiram Worcester Smith died on Tuesday, Jan. 24, 1928, at the Chapin Home, Jamaica, L. I. For some time Mr. Smith had been in failing health. During the past year or more he was not able to leave his room. It was his good fortune to have the devoted companionship of his wife, who untiringly and comfortingly ministered to him in his long and painful illness.

Mr. Smith was born in Hallowell, Maine, on Dec. 25, 1850. He attended the academy in Hallowell and also Nichol's Latin School in Lewiston, Maine. The preparation for his professional work was received at Bangor Theological Seminary and at Tufts College. He spent some time also at Clark University. Mr. Smith's first pastorate was at Rochester, N. H. His subsequent pastorates were at Portland, Mich., Gardner, South Acton, Mass., Utica, N. Y., Picton, Ontario, Pepperell, Mass., Annisquam, Mass., Middletown, Conn., and Linesville, Pa.

He married Clara E. Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrenius B. Lord of Ellsworth Falls, Maine. Mr. Smith is survived by his widow and two children, a son, Albert L. Smith of Union, N. J., and a daughter, Mrs. Christine Smith Ferguson, of Tampa, Florida. A daughter, Stella, died several years ago.

Funeral services at his request were held in Meriden, Conn., and were conducted by Dr. T. A. Fischer, of New Haven. Interment took place in the family plot in the Walnut Grove Cemetery, Meriden.

Many who knew Rev. Hiram W. Smith will remember the brilliant mind and the moving oratorical power of this gifted preacher. He loved and served his church during his long ministerial career to the best of his ability and power.

HENRY BUTTERFIELD TAYLOR

Rev. Henry Butterfield Taylor, D.D., of Fort Plain, N. Y., died May 12, 1928. Dr. Taylor had been ill for some time and on May 9 took a sudden turn for the worse, from which he did not rally.

Dr. Taylor was born in 1873 at Lundys Lane, Pennsylvania, his father being Winfield Scott Taylor and his mother Achsah Sherman Taylor. He went to St. Lawrence University, to Meadville Theological School, to Crane and to the Harvard Graduate School. He was given the degree of D.D. by Tufts College in 1925.

In 1901 he married Franc Evangeline Barnett at Albion, N. Y. His pastorates were as follows: Girard, Pa., Rochester, N. Y., Marion and Mattapoisett, Mass., St. Paul, Minn., Muncie, Ind., Adams, Mass., West Somerville, Mass., Meriden, Conn., and Fort Plain, N. Y.

It has been written of him: "Although Dr. Taylor had been in Fort Plain a comparatively short time, he had become a vital part of his community and had endeared himself to all . . . . He loved music. It was a joy to hear him sing with his choir and congregation, and he had succeeded in organizing a community chorus that had given a number of concerts in our church, reviving old carols, the patriotic songs of all nations, the songs of the out-of-doors. Dr. Taylor drew to himself the best. His friends included many famous people. He found them everywhere, because in his fine nature were the essentials of true friendship—tolerance, unselfishness, love."

Funeral services were conducted in the Fort Plain church by Dr. G. Delbert Walker. Burial was in Albion, N. Y., the service being conducted by Rev. L. H. Robinson and Rev. Clare Blauvelt.

CHARLES ROCKWELL TENNEY

Rev. Charles R. Tenney, D.D., pastor of the North Weymouth, Mass., church, died at his home in North Weymouth on January 4, 1928. He was born in the small village of Glover, Vt., on Feb. 23, 1854. His father was a clergyman, the Rev. Timothy J. Tenney, and his mother Izah Gibson Tenney. He received his early education at the Norway, Me., High School, which fitted him to enter Tufts College, from which he was graduated with a degree of B.D. in 1878. He became pastor of the Universalist church in Mattapoisett, Mass., where he was ordained on Sept. 20, 1878, and was married to Elizabeth G. Brooks on December 31 of the same year. He held subsequent pastorates in Stoughton, Grove Hall-Dorchester, Mass., Auburn, Maine, Southbridge and North Weymouth, Mass. Tufts College conferred the honorary degree of D.D. on him in 1922.

The funeral of Rev. Charles R. Tenney was held in the Universalist Church at North Weymouth on Sunday, January 8, 1928. At this service, Dr. John van Schaick spoke of him as follows: "There was one thing that he did not realize himself which all of his brother ministers realized: he probably was the strongest single influence in the Universalist Church for spiritual things. Always in churches there is something of a gulf between those called the mystics and those called the practical. The mystic is the man consciously in communion with God much of the time. The practical man is the man going about doing good. The danger of the mystic is that he will lose himself in worship and forget this needy world. The danger of the practical man is that he will lose himself in this needy world and forget the source of his strength. All of us thought of Dr. Tenney as a man who had in a remarkeble degree kept the balance between the two things. He walked with God and he went about doing good." Dr. Tenney is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Boothby of Boston, and Mrs. Stebbins of Pittsburg.

JOSEPH MAYO TILDEN

Dr. Joseph Mayo Tilden, President of Lombard College, Galesburg, Illinois, died on February 23, 1928 in Concord, N. H. after an illness of four months. Dr. Tilden was born on March 12, 1873 at Worcester, Mass., the son of Charles H. and Ann Mayo Tilden. He was graduated from the Worcester High School and in 1895 from the Worcester Polytechnic Institute with the degree of B.S. He then attended the Massachusetts State Normal School, Graduating in 1897 and New York University from which he received his M.A. degree in 1906. The Honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by Northern Illinois University in 1916 and L.H.D. by St. Lawrence University in 1918.

Dr. Tilden married Gertrude E. Bennett of Worcester, Mass., on July 28, 1897. Mrs. Tilden and three children, Sidney, Donald and Dorothy survive him.

Most of Dr. Tilden's life was spent in educational work either as instructor, lecturer or administrator. He became President of Lombard College on June 1, 1916 and until the day of his death carried its heavy burdens on his mind and heart. By heroic leadership he succeeded in inspiring support for many of his plans for the College so that it is going forward with renewed vigor.

One of the amazing things about Dr. Tilden was his ability to find time for many enterprises outside the one major interest of his life. His avocations received much from his dynamic energy. On of these avocations was the Universalist Church. He has served as Trustee of All Soul's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. and the First Church in Galesburg, Illinois, of the National Order of Universalist Comrades, the Illinois Universalist Convention and the Universalist General Convention. He was finally ordained to the Universalist Ministry in November, 1923.

Dr. Tilden was first elected to the Board of Trustees of the General Convention at Baltimore, 1919, re-elected at Providence in 1923 and at Hartford in 1927. It was during the latter Convention that he was stricken with the illness from which he never recovered. He was not content to be a nominal member of any Board. He was tireless, in his efforts for the Church as for the College. At Board meetings he was always present, always watchful, always progressive, always fearless. He literally gave his all for the College and the Church whose interests were inseparable in his thought.

Funeral services for Dr. Tilden were held in the White Memorial Church in Concord, N. H. on February 27, Dr. Harold Marshall and Dr. John Smith Lowe, long his associates officiating. Burial was in Blossom Hill Cemetery in Concord.

CHARLES L. WAITE

Rev. Charles L. Waite died in Portland, Maine on November 15, 1928 at the age of eighty-nine. He retired from active work about twenty years before his death, which was preceded by a long illness.

Mr. Waite was born in Watertown, N. Y. in 1839 and was educated at St. Lawrence University. He held pastorates at Oswego and Cooperstown, N. Y., Blanchester, Ohio, Waterloo, Iowa, and Orange, Mass. His last settlement was at Freeport and Brunswick, Maine, and on his retirement he moved to Woodfords, in the city of Portland, Maine. Here he was able to indulge his love of nature, having his home surrounded by trees and shrubs and flowers.

He was a versatile thinker and writer for magazines and periodicals; and while he was pastor of the First Universalist Church in Brunswick, Maine, he served as editor of the "Gospel Banner" the official organ of the Universalist Church in Maine.

Mr. Waite was a member and regular attendant upon the services of All Souls church in Portland, Me., where the funeral services were held. His pastor, Rev. B. B. Gibbs, had charge of the service.

The body was taken to northern New York where interment was made in the family plot at Belleville.

GEORGE DELBERT WALKER

Rev. George Delbert Walker, D.D., State Superintendent of Churches and Secretary of the New York Convention of Universalists for sixteen years, died by his own hand in a moment of mental aberration on July 22, 1928.

Dr. Walker was born December 3, 1882 at Onondaga, N. Y. When he was fifteen years of age he went to Syracuse to live with his uncle and aunt, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Betts, and thereafter their home was always his home. On his graduation from the Onondaga Academy he was persuaded by Dr. Betts to enter the Theological School of St. Lawrence University from which he graduated in 1904.

While in St. Lawrence he distinguished himself among other things in athletics, being on the football and baseball teams. He became a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity. On his graduation he began his ministry with the Universalist Churches of Natural Bridge and Carthage. In 1905 he married Mattie Ullman of Natural Bridge who, with three children—Gertrude, Donald and Phyllis—survive him.

Later he went to the Universalist Parish at Hudson and thence to Little Falls. From the latter place, while still a young man of only thirty years he was called to be State Superintendent of Churches in New York. The invaluable service he performed is known to all Universalists in the State whose affection, good will and entire confidence he had won during the intervening years.

In 1910 he became a trustee of the Theological School of St. Lawrence University. As such he was always greatly interested and earnestly supported the school in every way. He was much interested in the effort to increase its funds, and helped materially. In 1919 the University conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

The funeral was held in Carthage at the Walker home, on July 24th, Dr. J. M. Atwood and Dr. T E. Potterton conducting the service. The burial was at Onondaga.

It has been written of Dr. Walker ". . . . He carried the interest of these churches on his mind and heart—sometimes a heavy burden—labored for them conscientiously and incessantly, traveling constantly all over the state. He won his way to the hearts of all who were in any way associated with him for any period; he was so genuine, so kindly, so ready in sympathy and helpful, so wise in counsel, and so human in the best sense of the word.

"We hardly know how to go on without him, we were so accustomed to turn to him for advice and help in almost every situation. But we must. The calls of the work are as insistent as ever. We will honor him by being faithful to the present demands of that service to which he gave himself so thoroughly and effectively."

ALBERT CROYDON WHITE

Rev. Albert Croydon White died at New Port Richey, Florida on February 1, 1928 at the age of 75, having retired from the pastorate of the Universalist Church of Our Father in Pensacola, Fla., only the year before.

Mr. White was born in Newark, Ohio, on November 15, 1852. He was educated at Tufts College, where he received his A.B. degree in 1876, and at the Crane Theological School of Tufts, which he attended from 1877 to 1880. He was ordained in the latter year and thereafter served Universalist and Unitarian churches, principally in New England—among them Amesbury, Ware and Haverhill, Mass., Augusta and Orono, Maine, with three Western pastorates, in Stuart, Iowa, Hamilton, Flint and Attica, Ohio. His last charge in the North was the pastorate of the First Parish Unitarian Church in Tyngsboro, Mass., to which he came in 1918. After preaching five years in Tyngsboro, Mr. and Mrs. White were forced by failing health to leave the North for the milder climate of the South. It was with deepest regret that the members of his parish accepted his resignation in 1923 in order that he might go to Florida to regain his health and build up his strength.

Mr. White is survived by his wife, eight children and several grand children.

ALBERT WILGUS

Dr. Albert Wilgus died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sue W. Ramsaur, in Brooklyn, N. Y., on April 27, 1928, at the age of eighty-two.

Dr. Wilgus was a graduate of the Rush Medical College of Chicago, Ill., and was also a Universalist minister, ordained in 1887.

Going to Washington in 1900, Dr. Wilgus took an active part in the Universalist church work. He was a good tenor singer and in recent years helped in the work of the Central Union Mission. For a number of years he was a government medical officer working among the Yakima Indians in Washington State.

Besides his daughter Dr. Wilgus is survived by a granddaughter and a grandson.

The funeral was held on April 30 in Washington, Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, D.D., of All Souls Unitarian Church, officiating, in the absence of Dr. Perkins.

Part II

Directory—General Organizations

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION

The Universalist General Convention, having jurisdiction over the ecclesiastical organizations of the Universalist Church in the United States, Canadian Provinces, Japan and wherever else it has churches or missions, meets biennially. It is incorporated under the Laws of the State of New York.

This Convention is composed, first, of its officers; second, of the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer of the several State Conventions in its fellowship; third, of the several State Superintendents; fourth, of all ordained clergymen in fellowship either with such a State Convention or with the General Convention, and unless disabled by years or sickness, actively engaged in the work of the ministry; fifth, of delegates from each parish in fellowship, each such parish being entitled to two lay delegates, one man and one woman. To be entitled to such lay delegates, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship regularly and make a contribution on quota to the General Convention during each of the two years prior to the meeting of said Convention. At least four parishes must be organized and established in a State before a State Convention can be formed. In all States or Territories where there is no Convention, the General Convention has original jurisdiction.

All laws relating to fellowship, ordination and discipline originate in the General Convention, and it is the final court of appeal in all cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions. It is an incorporated body, empowered to hold real and personal estate "to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge, by means of missionaries, publications and other agencies." In the interim of sessions the interests of the Convention are managed by a Board of Trustees.

The Denominational Headquarters are at 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass. The report of the Board of Trustees gives details of funds and work. The following are the officers of the Convention:

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF SUPERINTENDENTS—The Council of Superintendents is an organized body composed of the General Superintendent together with the various regional and State Superintendents of churches.

Its purpose is to be of largest assistance to both parishes and ministers, well established churches and new movements and to study and promote church administration in the most approved manner.

The State Superintendents are the pastors of the various State Convention Churches with which Universalists living in places in their states where there is no Universalist Church are affiliated. The General Superintendent is the pastor of the General Convention Church with which Universalists living in sections of the country where we have no State Convention Church are affiliated.

The following officers were elected at the 1928 session of the Council: Pres., Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D.; Vice-Pres., Rev. Leroy W. Coons, D.D.;

Sec., Rev. Stanley Manning; Additional Members of the Executive Committee: Rev. James Houghton, Mr. Stanley C. Stall.

THE GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, resulting from a widespread demand for inspiration and careful direction in the field of religious education, was organized at Chicago, Ill., in 1913. It has given constant support to the General Convention and its other auxiliary bodies and has helped to develop a generation of Universalists well informed and loyal regarding all denominational enterprises. Its growth has been very rapid.

Executive Board: Pres., Rev. George E. Huntley, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.; First Vice-Pres., Rev. John M. Ratcliff, Somerville, Mass.; Second Vice-Pres., Rev. Laura Bowman Galer, Mt. THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY was organized at Albany, N. Y., in 1834 for the collection of facts, books and papers pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism. In 1877 the Society was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, but is still world-wide in its scope. It has a library of about five thousand volumes, besides important manuscripts and papers. Donations of books and money, and bequests are earnestly solicited to help make the library as complete as possible. Its library is at Tufts College. Pres., Hosea Starr Ballou, Brookline, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Rev. John Clarence Lee, D.D., Gloucester, Mass.; Sec., Vinton A. Sears, 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; Treas., Llewellyn D. Seaver, 17 Court St., Boston; Librarian, Rev. Lee S. McCollester, D.D., Tufts College, Mass.; Asst. Librarian, Ethel Monroe Hayes, A.B., Tufts College, Mass.; Directors: Rev. T. A. Fischer, D.D., New Haven, Conn., Rev. Anson Titus, W. Somerville, together with the officers.

State and Corresponding Secretaries represent the Historical Society in most of the States of the Union, in the British Provinces and in foreign countries.

The Historical Society is adding constantly to its valuable collection of books, manuscripts and miscellaneous articles of denominational interest. It is in good financial condition.

At the 94th annual meeting, Tuesday, May 22, 1928, in the historic First Parish Church of Stoughton, Mass., Mr. Murray H. Ballou of West Newton spoke in reminiscent vein of its first Universalist Minister, his grandfather, the Rev. Massena Berthier Ballou; and the Rev. Dr. Charles Conklin of Canton gave a carefully prepared address on one of our really great heroes, "General Richard Gridley, Pioneer Universalist Layman", which was printed in a Canton paper, also in the Christian Leader of July 7, 1928.

Plans are under consideration for a great meeting as a feature of the Tercentenary celebration in 1930. Meanwhile, our 95th annual meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 21, 1929.

FERRY BEACH PARK ASSOCIATION

Ferry Beach is the property of the Universalist General Convention and is the place where the largest summer meetings and institutes are held. The name has become synonymous with pleasure and inspiration for many vacationists. There the Universalist attitude is uniquely felt and play and instruction are delightfully blended for rememberable weeks. In addition one enjoys the fellowship and companionship of the leaders of the denomination and its various departments.

The Ferry Beach Park Association is the outcome of the love and vision of the Rev. Quillen H. Shinn, D.D., for the Universalist Church. His mind was missionary and it was his joy to pioneer the future. Dr. Shinn spontaneously felt the lack in the denomination of a great summer conference to which many might come to store the Well and enlarge the Vision and from which should after emanate Universalist teaching and influence to many places, near and far. For sixteen years Dr. Shinn held assemblies on the shores of Lake Winnepesaukee at the Weirs; then for three years he organized meetings at Saratoga Springs. Finally, in 1901, he visited Ferry Beach, then a summer resort under the operation of the Boston and Maine Railroad, and, standing in the centre of the beautiful grove of pines, resolved that here he would permanently find a home for his enterprise.

The National Universalist Summer Meetings were organized in that year and have now been held for twenty-eight seasons. Dr. Shinn was helped in his work by many whose names are honored by all Ferry Beachers. He was the first President of the Association and has been followed in office by Howard O. Perkins, Fred C. Leining, Dr. William R. Rowland and Arthur E. Wilson. The Secretaries have been Hervey H.

Hoyt, Dwight A. Ball, Carl F. Elsner, A. Francis Walch, Thomas J. Farmer, Clinton L. Scott and Elmer D. Colcord.

Ferry Beach is located on the famous Maine seacoast three miles southeast of Old Orchard. The latter is spoken of as possessing "the finest beach in the world" and the property of the Association is a part of this rightly famed coast. In addition to the sandy beach there are about twenty acres of land including a camping ground and a large and stately pine grove in which it is customary to hold the Sunday religious services. "The groves were God's first temples" and Ferry Beachers repair often to the grove for rest and "measureless meditation."

Ferry Beach is reached by the Boston and Maine Railroad to Old Orchard, Maine, and then by bus or taxi to "The Quillen House." The postoffice address is R. F. D., Saco, Maine.

Considerable improvements and additions to material equipment have been made already and others are in sight. The Quillen House, the main building, was remodelled and redecorated in 1926. A modern and extremely beautiful hotel parlor, with writing tables, arm chairs and comfortable lounges before an open fire place now awaits the returning of the new guest. Rowland Hall, a splendid and thoroughly equipped building, was erected in 1927. It is a tastefully arranged combination building with classrooms, an ample auditorium, a balcony and delightful rooms accommodating forty guests. It faces the sea on what is thought by many to be the best location on the property and adjacent to it are to be built other new structures as soon as funds permit.

Ferry Beach owes its success to legion friends in all parts of the United States. The financing of the new buildings and improvements is in the charge of a Finance Committee of which the chairman is Rev. Roger F. Etz., D.D., the Treasurer of the Association. Three forms of membership are provided. Annual members pay one dollar yearly; a Life Membership may be had for twenty-five dollars and a Patron Membership will be issued for one hundred dollars. All the money received from memberships and gifts to the Association work goes toward repairs and improvements to the property.

Contributions may be made toward general improvements, Rowland Hall or toward further new buildings. Many of our churches and schools are securing rooms in Rowland Hall which will bear their names. There are already Lynn, Fitchburg, Hartford, Everett, New Haven and New Bedford rooms. Other schools or organizations desiring to secure special rooms are invited to correspond with the Secretary concerning this.

A library is maintained for the use of guests in The Quillen. Gifts of books and other suitable reading material should be sent to arrive shortly prior to the opening of the season.

The Ferry Beach Ladies' Aid is a most important factor in the work. The Aid gives an annual affair at Ferry Beach and raises a large sum of money each year for improvements and additions. A special room for the Ladies' Aid is being fitted in The Quillen and will be available this season.

The annual bulletin of the Association, "The Ferry Beacher", is issued on May 1st. It contains programs and plans for the forthcoming season, directions for making room applications and other general information complete to the time of going to press. Copies may be obtained from the Secretary.

The profuse charms of nature have made Ferry Beach an ideal vacation place. The fine beach, the cool sea breeze, the white-capped water, the friendly warm days and refreshing nights all delight the visitor. Kind friends, home-like hotels, excellent food, inspiring Institute programs and recreation and amusement opportunities combine to produce the unusual charm which lures Ferry Beachers back each summer, some for over twenty-five years. One must add acknowledgement of the Ferry Beach Spirit, which is not, perhaps, capable of definition but which is a very real and wonderfully experienced thing.

A great poet has said, "When we are young our mornings are triumphant." Ferry Beach mornings are triumphant for all its guests and lovers.

The 1929 Season will be as follows:

July 25—Opening Day.

July 25-August 3—W. N. M. A. Institute and Camp Cheery.

August 3-10—Sunday School Institute.

August 10-17—Y. P. C. U. Institute.

August 17-24—Older Y. P. C. U. Week.
Ministers' Week.
First Boy Scout Week.

August 24-31—Second Boy Scout Week.

September 2—Closing Day.

Applications in order to receive the best assignments, should be made early in May. Reservations are made on June 1st. Annual dues, except in the case of Life or Patron Members should accompany application made to the Secretary.

The Institute programs are under the direct planning and control of the various denominational organizations. Student government, under the helpful advice and supervision of Mr. Carl A. Hempel is maintained during Sunday School and Y. P. C. U. weeks. Rev. and Mrs. Arthur E. Wilson, Mrs. W. R. Rowland and Rev. Elmer D. Colcord are on hand at the beginning of the season to open the hotels and welcome the first guests. For several years, Mrs. Quillen H. Shinn has been able to be with us for most of the season, occupying the room in The Quillen which is especially designated as her room and inspiring all with her presence.

From north and south and west and east we go to Ferry Beach each summer, knowing that in the boundless ocean and the upward reaching pine, yet more in the Christian fellowship of friend with friend and the turning of our attention to the hopes and ideals of life, we find ever new inspiration; and we reconsecrate ourselves to the service of man through the Church we love. To rest and to recreation, to study and to consecration, Ferry Beach calls each year.

Control of the property and management of the Association is vested

Pres., Rev. Arthur E. Wilson, 283 Montgomery St., Fall River, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Carl A. Hempel, 40 Ocean Ave., Lynn, Mass.; Treas., Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.; Sec., Rev. Elmer D. Colcord, 1426 West State St., Trenton, N. J.; Members of the Board, Rev. Stanley Manning, 23 Capitol St., Augusta, Me.; Mrs. W. R. Rowland, Goddard Seminary, Barre, Vt.; Mr. J. M. Johnson, Saco, Me.; Honorary Directors, Mr. E. P. Claflin, Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. Celestine M. Gordon, New Bedford, Mass.; Miss Laura A. Jenness, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Mrs. Quillen H. Shinn, Gloucester, Mass.

MURRAY GROVE ASSOCIATION

This association was organized August 24th, 1886, at the Potter Memorial Church, Good Luck, New Jersey, to provide means, adopt and execute measures, for the preservation of memorials and property endeared to Universalists at Good Luck, New Jersey; and for holding meetings thereat during each summer in the interests of the church at large. The Association is incorporated, and at the end of the fiscal year, June 30. 1926, owned assets worth over $40,000. In addition to this, an Endowment Fund of over $12,000 exists, the income from which is largely applied for current expense. Real estate amounting to 232 acres has been placed in the hands of the General Convention to be held in trust for the Association. On this property are located the Murray Grove House, the Potter Mansion, the Potter Memorial Church, the Ballou House and several smaller buildings. The capacity of the Murray Grove House has been increased to sixty-seven bed-rooms by the erection of the 150th Anniversary Building and the new kitchen, both three stories high, also the water supply has been enlarged and an electric lighting and sewage disposal plant installed, requiring an expenditure, including furnishings, of over $25,000.00. A farm superintendent is now located on the property, and has full direction of the development of the farm and the raising of the farm produce for use during the summer meetings. The Potter Mansion has been restored and repaired and was formally dedicated by impressive services on Sunday, August 16th, 1914. By an amicable arrangement, the Association has also the unrestricted use of the Old Potter Meeting House during the summer meetings. There has been recently turned over to the Universalist National Cemetery Association, Inc., a plot of land for its use. A series of constructive conferences and Institutes are arranged here each summer by the General Sunday School Association, The Women's National Missionary Association, and the Y. P. C. U. Aside from its great historic value, strong emphasis is being placed by the management on the present day value of the Institution toward the upbuilding of our church. The annual membership dues are $1.00. Life membership, $25.00, and patron membership, $100. Money received from Life Memberships is added to our Endowment Fund. Pres., Mr. Henry W. Smith, 825 Monroe Ave., Scranton, Pa.; Vice-Pres., J. B. Macneal, 2624 N. Charles St., Baltimore, Maryland; Treas., C. W. Gabell, Jr., 1512 Walnut St., Phila., Pa.; Sec., Miss Agnes L. Nicol, 1703 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, Pa.; Field Sec., Rev. George E. Huntley, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.; Board of Managers, Miss Hattie E. Miller, Valley Stream, N. Y.; Mr. G. A. Friedrich, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Emma E. Krementz, Newark, N. J.; Rev. J. M. Atwood, D.D., Canton, N. Y.; Mr. Edwin M. Waller, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. J. C. Krayer, Glenside, Pa.; Mr. Frank Smith, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Miss Helen Buckwalter, Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. John Sayles, D.D., Cornish, Maine, represents the Universalist General Convention.

UNIVERSALIST NATIONAL CEMETERY ASSOCIATION, INC.

When Mrs. Bisbee first visited Murray Grove in 1920 during the 150th Anniversary Celebration, she made the suggestion to Dr. Bisbee that a cemetery be established there for Universalists from all parts of the nation. Dr. Bisbee joined enthusiastically in the idea, and so informed the Murray Grove Association, offering at the same time to purchase a lot where they both could be buried. There was unanimous approval of the project given by the Murray Grove Association, and a plot of ground was immediately laid out for the use of the Cemetery. By strange coincidence, Mrs. Bisbee's remains were the first to be interred in this hallowed spot, and they were soon followed by those of her revered and sainted husband.

A name was adopted and a Cemetery Association incorporated on August 18, 1924, the Charter being filed in the Clerk's office of Ocean County, New Jersey, in Book 4 of Corporations, Page 277, etc.

A plan of the burial lots has been approved, and a nominal price established for them. All money received from the sale of these lots is held by the Trustees of the General Convention and the income applied towards the perpetual care of the graves. Full particulars may be had by applying to the secretary. The following are the Officers and Trustees: Pres., Mr. George W. H. Shinn, Hightstown, N. J.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Daniel Wilbert, Lanoka Harbor, N. J.; Sec., Miss Agnes L Nicol, 1703 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, Penn.; Treas., vacant. Trustees: Mrs. Sarah S Black, Hightstown, N. J.; Mrs. Anna D. Bergen, Hightstown, N. J.; and Mrs. Adeline S. Hayes, Newark, N. J.

THE SOUTHERN UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

Organized at Camp Hill, Ala., July, 1925, as the successor to The Southern Universalist Young People's Institute.

The name under which the Universalist summer meetings were held at Chattanooga, Tenn., from 1919 to 1924 inclusive, was somewhat cumbersome and led to confusion at times. With the removal of the meetings to Camp Hill, Ala., in 1925, it was decided to change the name to The Southern Universalist Association. This enables the organization to broaden the scope of its work so as to include adults, especially in the missionary and lecture departments.

The Association sponsors an institute each summer which is educational, recreational and inspirational. It not only exists for the Universalist Church in the south, but for all religious liberals. It offers courses of study and lectures which make their appeal to all liberal Christians, and is the only institute of its kind, so far as the reports show, south of Mason and Dixon's line.

It trains workers especially for service in Sunday Schools, young people's societies, and missionary organizations. Credits are awarded for faithful attendance and scholarship. A capable faculty, consisting of representatives of the General Sunday School Association, the Young People's Christian Union, the Women's Missionary Association, together with individual instructors selected for their ability to teach specified subjects, is engaged each season.

The officers for 1928-1929 are as follows: Pres. and Director of the Summer Institute, Rev. George A. Gay; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Ladie Rowlett; Sec.-Treas., Miss Martha Langley, Camp Hill, Ala.; Trustees: Mrs. J. G. McGowin, Rev. Clinton Scott, Miss Mary Slaughter, Rev. B. H. Clark.

THE SCHOOL OF EVANGELISM, CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

A school for special training for the ministry for those unable to attend the regular theological schools of the Universalist Church.

Organized 1917. Has the use of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial Church for study purposes.

Board of Management: Manager, The Minister of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial Church; Vice-Manager, the Chairman of the Committee on the Church and Education of the Board of Trustees of the General Convention, Mrs. J. W. Vallentyne, Rev. Francis B. Bishop, D.D., M. O. Hill, and Mrs. J. G. McGowin.

THE MID-WEST INSTITUTE

The Mid-West Institute of the Universalist Church is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois for the purpose of "promoting Christian Culture and advancing the Universalist Church, by means of conducting summer meetings." The first meeting was held in the summer of 1925 at the camp of the Joliet, Illinois, church.

At the present the Institute sponsors the Y. P. C. U. Institute every summer. It is the idea that as soon as it be judged proper, to sponsor the institutes of the General Sunday School Association and the Women's Missionary Society in the middle west.

For the summer of 1929 the Young People's Institute will be held July 28, through August 4 at Turkey Run State Park, Indiana.

The officers are: Pres., Rev. Harold A. Lumsden, Stockton, Illinois; Vice-Pres., Rev. Fred A. Line, 320 East 15th St., Indianapolis, Ind.; Sec., Miss Edna Mae Stewart, 507 Union Street, Joliet, Illinois; Treas., Hessleton Simmons, 331 Beechwood Drive, Akron, Ohio. Trustees: Term expires in 1929—Rev. George Cross Baner, D.D., Akron, Ohio. Term expires in 1930—Rev. R. Homer Gleason, Rochester, Minn. Term expires in 1931—Rev. Robert Cummins, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Universalist Publishing House

The House was organized in 1862 and incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a Board of thirty Trustees, who are elected for three-year terms. Vacancies may be filled by the State Convention which the Trustees represented; such State Convention failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter.

Under a plan of reorganization which went into effect in May, 1922, there is a Board of Trustees consisting of thirty members, as follows: Massachusetts, twelve; Maine and Rhode Island, three each; New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, Ohio, Connecticut and Illinois, one each; elected by the Board of Trustees of the General Convention, six.

Directors: Pres., Prof. Arthur W. Peirce, Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.; Treas., Mr. Arthur E. Mason, 24 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; Mr. A. Ingham Bicknell, 6 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; Mr. Victor A. Friend, 32 E. Wyoming Ave., Melrose, Mass.; Rev. Frank Oliver Hall, D.D., Tufts College, Mass.; Mr. Nowell Ingalls, 30 State St., Boston, Mass.; Rev. Fred C. Leining, Syracuse, N. Y.; Rev. The net assets of the House are over $400,000, consisting of periodicals, books, plates, etc. It publishes and owns the titles and copyrights of one hundred and fifty volumes and "The Christian Leader," and "The Sunday School Helper Series." It is located at 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

Colleges, Theological Schools and Academies

LOMBARD COLLEGE

Lombard College was founded by a group of Universalists in Warren County, Illinois, led by Rev. Charles P. West. Galesburg was selected as the site and the College was granted a Charter on February 15, 1851.

From the hour of its foundation as a "non-sectarian seminary of learning", Lombard has always been liberal and progressive. It has been coeducational from the start and it was the second college in the United States to admit women as candidates for degrees on precisely the same terms as men, and it was the first college to grant the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity to a woman minister.

In the spring of 1928, the American Unitarian Association agreed to assist in the financial maintenance of the college, and since that date Lombard has been under the joint control of Universalists and Unitarians.

The college offers well balanced four-year courses, modern in spirit and content, leading to recognized degrees in Arts and Sciences.

The beautiful location of the college, its buildings and equipment ample for 350 students and its carefully selected faculty make it one of the strongest of the smaller colleges of the Middle-West.

Expenses are as follows: Tuition per semester (two semesters per year), $100.00; board and room in the women's dormitory, $160.00 to $200.00 per semester.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

St. Lawrence University was founded in 1856. It comprises four departments: The College of Letters and Science, the Theological School, the New York State School of Agriculture, located at Canton, N. Y., and the Law School which is located in Brooklyn, N. Y. These departments are independent in that they have separate faculties and funds. They are all under one administrative head, the President of the University.

Men and Women are admitted to all departments. The instruction is thorough, and the mental training practical and efficient.

Officers of the University Corporation: President, Owen D. THE CANTON THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL: Four courses of instruction are offered for students preparing for the ministry.

1. A three-year course for college graduates, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

2. A joint college-theological course that can be completed in six years. This is for students who purpose to prepare for the ministry when they enter college. It leads to the degree of B.S. or B.A. in four years, and B.D. in six years. In the last two years of this course those taking it are graduate students, and their classes are for the most part separate from those of the undergraduates. This course saves one year of the time that would be required (seven years) if students were to take their seminary training after graduation from college. The majority of the students now in the seminary are pursuing this course.

3. A four-year course for those who have not had college training is given with diploma at graduation.

4. A rural ministry course. This is the same as the preceding save the student is required to carry three term hours (throughout the four years) in approved courses in the School of Agriculture.

Special students are taken for shorter terms of study than the regular courses when their abilities and promise of usefulness in the ministry warrant.

EXTRA—THEOLOGICAL COURSES

In 1916 a two-year course of Religious Education for parish workers or ministers' assistants was added and also one for the same term of study for Missionary Education. Each of these can be taken in combination with the regular college course, and all candidates for these who have not had a college education are advised to do this when possible. Diplomas are given at graduation.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Students for the graduate course must have had a regular college education. Candidates for the combined College-Divinity course in order to matriculate must be graduates of a standard high school. Those taking the other courses must have had such training as enables them to handle capably the subjects of the curriculum. The Faculty of this school considers that a college education is the minimum requirement for every one entering the ministry today. All students in this seminary preparing for the ministry are either college graduates or in the process of becoming such. Any course in the Theological Department is open to any college student qualified to take it.

TUITION AND COSTS

No charge is made for tuition to members of the Theological School for subjects taken in any part of the University. But all theological students taking college work are required to pay the regular college fees (laboratory, athletic and library). These amount from twenty to twenty-five dollars a semester. Board and room average from eight dollars to nine-fifty per week. Students may obtain assistance by loans from the General Convention, when needed, to the extent of one hundred and fifty dollars a year. There is also opportunity for energetic and self reliant students to help pay a portion of their expenses by work in the village. A limited number of the students have regular student parishes. Text books are furnished the students.

CURRICULUM

The curriculum of this school has been shaped to meet the needs primarily of one who is to be a modern parish minister. The Faculty has not hesitated to eliminate studies found in the traditional theological course if deemed without practical value to the minister. The aim in all instruction is to present each subject—not excepting theology—in the scientific spirit.

This is our oldest Theological School, having been founded in 1856. It has a substantial building for its exclusive use and an excellent theological library. It is fairly well endowed but in order to meet its growing needs it is seeking at the present time $100,000.00 to add to its invested funds. For information and catalogue, address the Dean, Prof. J. M. Atwood.

THE BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL: A department of St. Lawrence University. The school has an able faculty and new building for the exclusive use of the Law School, at 373-381 Pearl Street. The tuition is $180.00. Catalogue may be obtained of the Dean of the College, Canton, N. Y., or the Dean of the Law School, Wm. P. Richardson, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE: The State of New York has established an Agricultural School as a department of the University. It has buildings and equipment costing $200,000. It is located adjacent to the College campus. It has all the departments of a high grade agricultural school with manual training, blacksmithing and domestic science. An experimental farm of 200 acres is connected with the school, with modern farm buildings, including butter and cheese factory and greenhouse. The tuition is free to all residents of the State. Catalogues may be obtained from the Director of the School of Agriculture.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL: Offers graduate courses in Education, and undergraduate courses in academic subjects and Education. For catalogue address The Dean, Canton, New York.

TUFTS COLLEGE

This college is situated at Tufts College, in the cities of Medford and Somerville, Mass. It was incorporated in 1852, and opened for students in 1855. Departments: School of Liberal Arts; Jackson College for Women; Tufts College School of Religion and Crane Theological School; Pre-Medical School (located in Boston); Medical School (located in Boston); Pre-Dental School (located in Boston); Dental School (located in Boston); Engineering School; Bromfield-Pearson School, connected with the Engineering School; Graduate School. For catalogue, address the Registrar Tufts College, Mass.

TUFTS COLLEGE SCHOOL OF RELIGION

This School is one of the co-ordinate departments of Tufts College. Students of the School are members of the College, enjoying its privileges and subject to its regulations. The aim of the School is to fit men to be efficient religious leaders in rural or city communities. Because of its proximity to Boston it gives unusual opportunities to its men for the study of social problems, the practice of social service and acquaintance with religious and social leaders. The new courses are being laid out with especial reference to preparing men for the active ministerial work of modern society and special opportunities are given for preparation for community leadership, social service and church management.

ADMISSION

Tufts College School of Religion and Crane Theological School, while under Universalist direction, are open on equal terms to students of every denomination of Christians. Candidates unknown to the Faculty must present satisfactory testimonials as to character.

2. Students holding a Bachelor's degree are admitted to a three years' course without examination, as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

3. Undergraduates who enter for a degree must conform to the regular conditions of admission to the School of Liberal Arts.

4. Special students, not candidates for a degree, may be admitted to such work as they are fitted to undertake.

OUTLINE OF COURSES

Recognizing that peculiar difficulties and radically new demands confront the Christian minister today, the School of Religion frankly seeks to adapt its discipline to the new conditions. This, quite naturally, has led to the adoption of a distinct, and somewhat distinctive ideal or aim. While rigorously faithful to the fundamentals of a liberal culture, and alert to discover and foster special interests and gifts, the primary aim is practical rather than academic—to turn out, not men distinguished for varied and curious learning, but men thoroughly equipped for moral and religious leadership.

Two courses are presented leading to the degree of S.T.B.: one of three years, for students who have already received a degree from an accredited college; and one of six years, for students who have taken at Tufts College, a regular college course or its equivalent in combination with the courses required in the School of Religion. This combined work may be completed in six years and the student may thus receive the two degrees of A.B. or B.S. and S.T.B.

Students working for the Tufts A.B. or B.S. degree may major in the School of Religion and in four years obtain an excellent theological training.

Students with adequate preparation and marked personal qualities may enter for special courses and receive the general privileges of the school. For special excellence such may be given certificates for work performed. Courses in Religious Education, fitting for positions of parish assistants or community leaders in social welfare and religious education, are provided.

In the combinations of college and theological subjects, the School of Religion is trying out an interesting experiment. It offers men who enter the regular College as freshmen, a course the first year of which gives them an idea of what the modern ministry is. Thus during their first year they have a chance to learn if the ministry is really what they want for a life-profession. If they decide it is not, they can with no loss of time transfer to some other course. If they decide it is what they want and are fitted for, courses are made up from college and theological subjects in such a manner that students see the reason why they take each subject and its bearing on their professional equipment.

In this combination of college and professional work there is also a natural mingling of men eager for work in many lines, and students of theology escape the exclusiveness of the ordinary cloistered seminary.

Faculty: John A. Cousens, LL.D., President; Lee S. McCollester, A.B., S.T.D., Dean; George S. Miller, A.M., Secretary; William G. Tousey, A.M., S.T.D., Professor (Emeritus) Logic, Ethics and Philosophy of Theism; Clarence R. Skinner, A.M., D.D., Woodbridge Professor of Applied Christianity; Frank Oliver Hall, D.D., Professor of Homiletics and Public Speech; J. A. C. F. Auer, Ph.D., Professor of History of the Christian Church and the Philosophy of Religion; John M. Ratcliff, Ph.B., A.M., Instructor in Religious Education.

The following members of the faculty of the School of Liberal Arts give courses that are open to theological students: Herbert V. Neal, Ph.D., Professor of Biology; Alfred C. Lane, A.M., Ph.D., Sc.D., Pearson Professor of Geology and Mineralogy; Robert C. Givler, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy; Charles Gott, Ph.D., Professor of English Literature; Albert H. Gilmer, A.M., Professor of English; Halford L. Hoskins, Ph.D., Professor of History; F. W. Wyatt, Ph.D., Professor in Greek Language and Literature; F. W. Durkee, A.M., Professor of Chemistry; William K. Denison, A.M., Professor of the Latin Languages and Literature; Charles E. Fay, A.M., Litt.D., Wade Professor of Modern Languages; Leo R.

Lewis, Litt.D., Professor of the History and Theory of Music; Frank G. Wren, A.M., Walker Professor of Mathematics, and Dean of the School of Liberal Arts.

For information regarding courses of study, degrees, expenses and scholarships, address the Registrar, Tufts College, Mass., or the Dean of the School, Lee S. McCollester, S.T.D.

DEAN ACADEMY

Dean Academy is a boarding and day school for young women and young men. It is situated in Franklin, Mass., about half way between Boston and Providence, on the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad, and is easily accessible from New England, New York and the West.

The Academy was incorporated in 1865, and takes its name from the late Dr. Oliver Dean, of Franklin, who provided for its foundation with generous munificence. The main school building is a fine structure with every convenience and comfort for the maintenance of the school. It is lighted by electricity and heated by steam. The other buildings consist of a commodious gymnasium, the Ray Science Building, with well equipped laboratories, and the Alumni Building, with recreation room, dormitories, swimming pool and infirmary. The endowment of over $350,000 enables the school to provide liberally the best instruction and a most comfortable home.

Board of Trustees: President, Rev. R. K. Marvin, D.D., Franklin; Vice-President, Adelbert D. Thayer, Franklin; Treasurer, Frank A. Dewick, Boston; Secretary, Charles E. Hatfield, Newton; Bernard F. Merriam, Framingham; William H. Sweatt, Franklin; Edward H. Rathbun, Woonsocket, R. I.; Adelbert D. Thayer, Franklin; Arthur E. Mason, Newton; Rev. W. C. Selleck, D.D., Riverside, Calif.; Prof. Frank G. Wren, A.M., Tufts College; Fred P. Chapman, Franklin; Arthur W. Peirce, Franklin; Rev. Harold Marshall, D.D., Melrose; Charles A. Whiting, Franklin; Rev. L. S. McCollester, D.D., Tufts College; Latimer W. Ballou, Woonsocket, R. I.; G. W. Sherman, Brookline; Harry T. Hayward, Franklin; J. Russell Whitmore, Boston; Charles A. R. Ray, Franklin; Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., Boston; Harold Sweet, Attleboro; President John A. Cousens, LL.D., Tufts College; Victor A. Friend, Melrose; Prof. Clarence P. Houston, Tufts College.

The courses of study are: English, four years; academic, four years; college preparatory, four years; technical preparatory, four years. A preparatory course of one year is arranged for those not fitted to enter the regular courses. Special attention is given to fitting students for college. Provision is also made for advanced courses for students who are graduates of High Schools or Academies. New and thoroughly equipped department of Domestic Science.

Terms, including all expenses of board, light, heat, instruction, but exclusive of special branches, such as music, painting, etc., per year, $500 to $600, according to size and location of room. For catalogue and information, send to Arthur W. Peirce, Litt.D., Head Master.

GODDARD SEMINARY

Goddard Seminary, which is situated in the heart of the Green Mountains at Barre, Vt., familiarly known as the granite center of the world, was founded over half a century ago, by Universalists who were anxious to give the boys and girls an opportunity to obtain a practical and liberal education under conditions which would reproduce the home life so far as is possible in boarding school. Both sexes have always been admitted, enjoying equal rights and privileges. Suitable restraints have been imposed but a multiplicity of rules has been avoided. Students of various races and creeds find here a common home.

The buildings consist of the original structure which is large and imposing, located upon a considerable elevation commanding a wide view of the Winooski valley and the adjacent city, containing class rooms, administration offices, library, as well as dormitories for boys and girls and a commodious hall, where chapel exercises are held daily, and social events: Thompson hall, where self-boarding girls find comfortable quarters at low cost: Alumni hall, containing the large dining room, kitchen, laundry and matron's rooms: The gymnasium, adapted for basketball and indoor sports and the cottage which is now the home of the caretaker.

The four year Courses include the College Preparatory, the Academic, The English, Commercial, and Music. There are also two-year and one-year Intensive Commercial courses for those who are qualified to pursue them with profit which give the essentials of commercial work and prepare for office positions. Classes are offered in public speaking, choral work, debating and dramatics, so that every student has an opportunity to participate.

The music department has always been a particular feature of the school and offers well defined courses leading to diplomas for piano and voice. A violin and 'cello department has been created and school orchestra is maintained.

Athletics are under the supervision of competent coaches who are regular members of the faculty. Games are arranged for students with other Prep. school teams and college freshmen. Schedules are also arranged for second teams when there is sufficient material.

The Board of Trustees: Fred E. Kimball, Pres., Burlington, Vt.; H. S. Morley, Newton Centre, Mass.; Dr. Arthur W. Peirce, Franklin, Mass.; Dr. W. H. Harkness, Montpelier, Vt.; Charles A. WESTBROOK SEMINARY AND JUNIOR COLLEGE FOR GIRLS

This institution, the oldest active school in the denomination, is a boarding and day school of high standard. Its charter was granted in 1831 by the state of Maine, and in 1863 was amended so as to give the Seminary the authority of a woman's college. The school was co-educational until the fall of 1925 when it opened as a Girls' School. Located in the suburban part of Portland, it enjoys the advantages of the city and country alike, while the centering of railroad and steamship lines at Portland makes it easily accessible. The climate of Portland is invigorating and permits of out-door life with full enjoyment during the entire school year.

The grounds are spacious. Hersey and Goddard Halls, the dormitories, are connected by the dining hall, and afford accommodation for about eighty pupils. Alumni Hall contains the principal recitation rooms, the laboratories of Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Photography, Domestic Science, and the Cabinet of Minerals, Fossils, and Zoological Specimens. The other buildings are the McArthur Gymnasium, a dining hall, the Moulton Chapel, and the Cottage, the home of the Principal.

Two years' college work in the A.B. and B.S. courses are offered at Westbrook. Upon the recommendation of the faculty, one year college students at Westbrook may enter the second year's work at several of the New England colleges. This course is also of service to those young people who desire an education beyond the High School, but do not wish the four-year college work. These students often continue their education in Vocational Schools. There is a dormitory for the college students.

The course of study in the Preparatory School is carefully planned to allow a large freedom of selection, but at the same time to ensure each graduate a good general education as well as a preparation more than sufficient for admission to college. Special advantages in the way of advanced work are offered to graduates of other schools who wish to anticipate some of their college work. The courses offered are: Four-year college preparatory, general, home economics. The departments of speech art, drawing and painting, voice, and violin are under the instruction of most competent teachers.

This is the only school in the East to offer the Blanche Dingley-Mathews Piano Work. This department was organized in 1922, and has three teachers and a Junior Teacher department. In addition to private lessons, class work in Harmonic Ear-training and theory is taught. There is also opportunity, for those wishing to teach, to have training in the Dingley-Mathews methods. Mrs. Mathews claims to have eliminated drudgery from the study of the piano, to cultivate the love of music, and to develop talent from the very first lesson. Her claims are justified by the results of her work. The Visuola—"the lighted way" has been recently added to the Piano Department equipment.

Organized, supervised exercise has its place in the well-balanced program of work and play at Westbrook. Riding horses and a riding master give opportunity for this healthful exercise. Tennis, indoor golf, archery, hiking, skating, and snowshoeing are other attractions.

The regular expenses of the school are $1,000. $200.00 and $300.00 for day students.

SUFFOLK NORMAL TRAINING SCHOOL

The Suffolk Normal Training School, Rev. J. F. Jordan, D.D., LL.B., Principal, is located at Suffolk, Va. It is owned and controlled by the Board of Trustees of the General Convention of the Universalist Church, and is supported by said Board and other friends. It has no endowment; but anyone who wishes to make a gift for such purpose may do so by advising the Principal or the Secretary of the General Convention. This is a Mission School, working for and among the Negroes and a center for the primary training of young men for the Universalist ministry. The courses of training offered are the Kindergarten, Primary, and High School. Special attention is given to the training in Domestic Science. Boys and girls trained in this school readily find employment. Teachers: Dr. J. F. Jordan, Principal; Mrs. A B. Willis, Vice-Principal; V. E. Jordan, Cora E. Palmer and Mrs. M. Graves. The Mission School is second to none.

THE DELOS H. THOMPSON HOME FOR AGED WOMEN

The Delos H. Thompson Home for Aged Women at Waldron, occupies the homestead of the late Delos H. Thompson, who, at his death in 1909, also provided an endowment fund, the income of which helps to pay the expenses and the upkeep. The Home is under the control of the Universalist Convention of Indiana, the Board of Trustees being elected by the Executive Board of the State Convention, but it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. It was first opened for use in its present capacity on May 1, 1913, and has since been doing a splendid work. There are at present twelve guests. An endowment fund amounts to $32,136.29. Mrs. Della Beagle is the Matron in charge and Mr. Melvin Beagle, Waldron, is the Superintendent.

THE BETHANY UNION FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Located at Nos. 14, 16 and 18 Worcester St., Boston, is a benevolent institution under the auspices of the Universalists of Massachusetts. It was incorporated in 1889. Its object is to maintain a home for young women who are forced, by the keen competition of a large city, to work for small wages. Pres., Frank A. Dewick; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Eugene F. Endicott; Treas., Henry C. Wiley; Clerk, Joseph G. Lufkin; Supt., Miss Ruth E. Hersey.

DOOLITTLE UNIVERSALIST HOME FOR AGED PERSONS, INC., FOXBOROUGH

This is the legal title and location of a Home which had its inception in and its organization through the Massachusetts Universalist Convention. One of God's gentlewomen, Miss Sarah B. Doolittle, gave for the purpose the real estate which had been her home and the home of her parents.

The date of its incorporation was July, 1915, with the charter stipulation that "The corporation shall be to provide and develop a home for aged persons, particular preference being given to those of the Universalist faith."

The family consists of twelve residents, a matron, a resident nurse and a capable domestic helper, which is the capacity of the home. Its maintenance is dependent upon the generosity of those who feel that here is "a service in which God is pleased to make us fellow-workers with Him in the execution of His providential goodness."

A yearly income of $5,000 is needed, which must be provided by the income of a permanent fund, by membership (Annual, $1.00; Sustaining, $10.00; Life, $100), and by contributions. The management of the Home is by a Board of Trustees, the present personnel being as follows: Pres., Rev. Charles Conklin, D.D.; Clerk, Miss Katherine C. Bourne, Foxboro; Treas., Mr. Roscoe Pierce; Mrs. Marion W. Comey, Mr. Frank I. Sherman, Mr. Forest L. Bassett, Mrs. Samuel Noyes, Mrs. Arthur W. Peirce, Mr. Joseph L. Sweet, Mr. Edward P. Claflin, Mrs. John E. Tweedy.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM

Founded and incorporated in 1869 by Mrs. E. H. Chapin and others in honor of Rev. Edwin H. Chapin, D.D. It is managed by a Board of Universalist women, although it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. The home family consists of one hundred members, composed of men, women and married couples of many denominations. The Home was first located in New York City, but, since 1913, has occupied new and commodious buildings at Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y.

The Home has an endowment fund of $216,000, the interest of which is used toward the expenses of maintenance. The balance required for this purpose is secured from annual subscriptions and voluntary contributions of interested friends. Through the generosity of a friend, who prefers to remain unknown, the Chapin Home has received a gift of $55,000 recently, to be used in enlarging the infirmary. Work on this part of the plant is now completed.

The management is in the hands of a Board of Trustees of thirty members. The officers of this Board are: Pres., Mrs. Horace E. Fox; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Eugene E. Mapes, Miss Hattie E. Miller, Mrs. Solon Palmer; Rec. Sec., Mrs. E. E. Mapes, 225 Central Park West, N. Y. C.; Cor. Sec., Mrs. James Beveridge, 19306-100th Ave., Hollis, N. JAPAN

The mission of the Universalist Church in Japan was established in the year 1890 and was carried on under the direction of a Committee of the Board of Trustees of the General Convention until October, 1917. The Board of Foreign Missions was established by vote of the General Convention held in Worcester in that year and has since had general supervision of all work of the mission. Under the direction of this Board the missionaries on the field are organized into a Mission Council for the conduct of the work in Japan. In 1925 a Cooperative Board was organized to control all direct church and Sunday School work. It is composed of an equal number of Missionaries and Japanese. Our property is held by a corporation organized in Japan. In addition to the work of the Board of Foreign Missions, the Women's National Missionary Association supports the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Dojin House as well as co-operates in work in other places.

The present missionary force consists of the following persons: Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cary; Rev. and Mrs. Clifford R. Stetson; Miss Georgene Bowen and Miss M. Agnes Hathaway.

The following Japanese clergymen are in active service: Rev. Sempo Ito; Rev. Naoichiro Nagano; Rev. Aishi Terasawa; Rev. Mr. Mizumukaí and Rev. Dr. T. Tsuga.

The following summary will show the work of our Mission as it is at the present time.

TOKYO

Iidamachi. During this past year the Barracks Church, built on the site of the original Central Church after the latter was destroyed by earthquake and fire in 1923, was taken over by the Tokyo Reconstruction Board. A new lot in the same part of the city was assigned to the Mission by this Board. On this lot has been erected the Ohayo Kindergarten, the money for which was raised by the Women of Ohio. Kindergarten and Sunday School.

Central Church in Akasaka: Dr. T. Tsuga, pastor. Building now being used is the first unit of the plant to be completed through the Five Year Program. Regular preaching services, Sunday School, kindergarten and social service work.

Blackmer Home: Miss Bowen and Miss Hathaway. The Blackmer Home is supported by the Women's National Missionary Association and furnishes a home with Christian surroundings for twenty-four girls who are students in the schools and colleges of Tokyo.

Dojin House. Built by an appropriation from the Million Dollar Drive: and Mrs. Matsu Yoshioka and a native worker in charge. Kindergarten, Sunday School and social service work. Miss Ruth Downing will take Miss Kent's place in August, 1929.

Koishikawa Dojin Church. Pastor, Rev. Sempo Ito. Morning and evening services conducted by Rev. Sempo Ito, supported by the General Mission.

Missionaries' House—home of Dr. and Mrs. Cary and family. Sunday School, young men's and young women's discussion classes, Clara Barton Guild and social center.

SHIZUOKA

Rev. Clifford R. Stetson and Rev. Aishi Terasawa, ministers. Regular church services, Sunday School, kindergarten, a young men's organization, a young women's organization, and social service classes for older women. Missionaries' House—home of Mr. and Mrs. Stetson and family, is a center of social and religious work.

NAGOYA

Rev. Naoichiro Nagano, minister. Regular church services, Sunday School, various forms of social service, including radio broadcasting by the minister.

OSAKA

Mr. Mizumukai, minister. Church services, two Sunday Schools, Kindergarten and social work carried on in rented building.

MISSION PROPERTY

The Mission owns the land and buildings in Tokyo of the Central Church, the Ohayo Kindergarten, the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Missionaries Home; in Shizuoka, the property of the church, school and kindergarten and a home for the missionaries. Funds from the Five Year Program will erect a Perin-Cate House for Young Men and complete the building of the new Central Church in Tokyo. There is urgent need for a building in Nagoya to enable the church to do its work.

All of the churches and the kindergartens in Japan are partially self-supporting. With the increased equipment and the larger contributions from the churches during the past few years, the work of our church in Japan has been put on a permanent basis.

The addresses of our different centers and workers in Japan are as follows:

Local Churches

In the following tables each church or parish is listed on two opposite pages, the general directory and constituency statistics appearing on the first and the financial statistics and the auxiliary organizations on the second page. The corresponding numbers in the columns on the left will serve to identify them. * Indicates that no report was received for 1927, and that names and figures have been taken from last report at hand.

Two columns of financial figures have been added to the tables. These show the contributions of the churches in the Five Year Program, the first column indicating the total amount received from these churches up to September 30, 1928, the second, the amount received during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1928. These latter amounts are included in totals given in the first column.

On the books of the Convention all payments in the Five Year Program are distributed among the various objectives of the Program. The amount credited to Quota and Japan Mission from Five Year Program payments is indicated by *. Churches whose Five Year Program apportionments have been paid in full are indicated by ‡. Payments from all other churches are shown in the columns marked "Quota and Cent A Day" and "Japan Current."

For Alphabetical List of Ministers with full addresses see page 206. For Ministers not in Fellowship but preaching in Universalist or Federated Churches see page 221.

Universalist Profession of Belief and Conditions of Fellowship

I. The Profession of Belief adopted at the session of the General Convention at Winchester, N. H., 1803, is as follows:

Article I. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

Article II. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is Love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of Grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

Article III. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to be careful to maintain order and practise good works; for these things are good and profitable unto men.

II. The conditions of fellowship shall be as follows: (Adopted as an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the General Convention, at its session in Boston, Oct. 23, 1899).

1. The acceptance of the essential principles of the Universalist Faith, to wit: 1. The Universal Fatherhood of God; 2. The Spiritual authority and leadership of His Son, Jesus Christ; 3. The trustworthiness of the Bible as containing a revelation from God; 4. The certainty of just retribution for sin; 5. The final harmony of all souls with God.

The Winchester Profession is commended as containing these principles, but neither this nor any other precise form of words is required as a condition of fellowship, provided always that the principles above stated be professed.

2. The acknowledgment of the authority of the General Convention and assent to its laws.

Minutes of the Universalist General Convention

At Washington, D. C., Wednesday, October 23, 1929.

The forty-fourth biennial session of the Universalist General Convention convened at All Souls Unitarian Church, 16th and Harvard Streets, Washington, D. C., on Wednesday evening, October 23, 1929 at 7:15 o'clock, President Frank Durward Adams, D. D., of Michigan, presiding. The session was opened with prayer by Rev. Lyman Ward, D. D., of Alabama.

A partial roll was called by the Executive Secretary, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D. D., of Massachusetts, and the President declared a quorum present.

Sessional Secretaries: Miss Esther Richardson; Miss Linda Macdonald.

Committee on Official Reports: Rev. William Wallace Rose, D. D., Massachusetts, Chairman; Rev. Ellsworth C. Reamon, Michigan; Rev. George Cross Baner, D. D., Ohio; Dr. F. W. Ballou, District of Columbia; Rev. E. L. Conklin, Vermont; Rev. John M. Fogelsong, Rhode Island, Captain Arnold Shutter, Minnesota; Rev. Robert Tipton, Pennsylvania; Rev. Laura B. Galer, Iowa.

Committee on Nominations: Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D., Massachusetts, Chairman; Rev. John Murray Atwood, D. D., New York; Mrs. Nellie G. Kelley, Illinois; Rev. Warren B. Brigham, Minnesota; Mr. Harold Sweet, Massachusetts.

Committee on Resolutions: Rev. Clinton L. Scott, Georgia, Chairman; Rev. Fred A. Line, Indiana; Rev. Josephine B. Folsom, Maine; Mr. Hubert H. Ward, California; Rev. Seth Rogers Brooks, Massachusetts.

Committee on Credentials: Rev. Lucius H. Garner, New Jersey, Chairman; Rev. Edward A. Lewis, Connecticut; Rev. J. M. Rasnake, Georgia.

Committee on Religious Services: Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D., District of Columbia, Chairman; Rev. Hal T. Kearns, Maryland; Rev. C. C. Blauvelt, New York.

Monitors: Rev. Max A. Kapp, Massachusetts, Chairman; Mr. Richard H. Bird, Jr., Illinois; Rev. Conard B. Rheiner, Iowa; Rev. Eric A. Ayer, Massachusetts; Rev. G. H. Thorburn, Rhode Island; Mr. Lawrence W. Abbott, Massachusetts.

The President announced a change in the hour for the morning meeting to eight o'clock, Thursday.

Greetings from the First Unitarian Church of Washington, D. C., and from the American Unitarian Association were brought by Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, D. D.

The Occasional Sermon was delivered by Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D., his subject being "Apollos or Christ?"

Communion service following the sermon was conducted by Rev. John van Schaick, D. D., Massachusetts, assisted by Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D. The following members of the Washington parish acted as deacons: Rev. LeGrand Powers, Litt. D.; Mr. M. W. Lewis; Major G. W. Smith; Mr. M. B. Granger; Mr. Ellwood Way; Rev. Henry A. Abbott.

Dr. van Schaick paid a tribute of appreciation for the devoted service during more than sixty years in the Universalist ministry of Rev. Edwin Chapin Sweetser, D. D., of Philadelphia, whose death had just been reported.

The offering for the Gunn Ministerial Relief Fund amounted to $344.72.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 24, 1929.

The Convention was called to order by the President at 8:00 A. M. in the ball room of the Hotel Mayflower.

The roll of delegates as certified to the General Convention Secretary before the Convention was then called by the Secretary, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D. D.

At 8:30 A. M., a devotional service was conducted by Rev. Marion D. Shutter, D. D. of Minnesota, assisted by Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D. of Massachusetts, Mrs. John van Schaick of Massachusetts and Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing of New Jersey. Dr. Shutter's subject was "Finding God."

The Convention was then called to order for business by the President at 9:15 A. M.

Rev. John Murray Atwood, D. D. of New York, in the absence of the Vice-Presidents, was called to the chair and Dr. Adams gave his report as President, which was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

President Adams resumed the chair and the Report of the Board of Trustees was presented by Rev. Roger F. Etz, D. D. Upon motion duly made and seconded it was voted to refer the printed report without reading to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Report of the Treasurer was read by Mr. A. Ingham Bicknell of Massachusetts, and was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Report of the Executive Secretary was read by Dr. Roger F. Etz of Massachusetts, and was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Report of the Board of Foreign Missions was read by Rev. Fred C. Leining, D. D., of New York and was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

The President again read the list of Sessional Committee as appointed at the Wednesday evening meeting, and substituted on the Committee on Credentials, Rev. Donald K. Evans of Vermont, in place of Rev. J. M. Rasnake of Georgia.

The minutes of the Wednesday evening session were read and approved after suggested corrections were made.

The Report of the Commission on Comity and Unity was read by Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D., and was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Executive Secretary read a memorial to the General Convention prepared and signed by all of the theological students attending Canton Theological School at St. Lawrence University. Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted that this memorial be printed and referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The Executive Secretary then read by title only the following resolutions:

1. From the New York State Convention, a resolution dealing with the industrial warfare in North Carolina. Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this resolution to the Committee on Resolutions.

2. From the New York State Convention a resolution memorializing this Convention to create a Committee on Parish Work. Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this resolution to the Committee on Official Reports.

3. A resolution adopted at the California Universalist Convention May 17, 1929, in regard to mission work and church extension in that section of the country. Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this resolution to the Committee on Official Reports.

4. A memorial from the Canadian Universalist Conference in regard to mission work and church extension. Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this memorial to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Executive Secretary read the following resolution adopted at the Annual Meeting of the American Unitarian Association on May 21, 1929:

> "Resolved: That the American Unitarian Association gathered in Boston for its one hundred and fourth annual meeting, sends cordial greetings to the session of the Universalist General Convention to be held in Washington next October. The free churches here represented own with gratitude the deepening appreciation of the historic and spiritual kinship between the two Fellowships and rejoice in the accumulating evidence of the increasing and mutual will of these two branches of the Church Universal to labor together in the Unity of the Spirit and in the Bond of Peace."

Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this resolution to the Committee on Resolutions.

The Executive Secretary read the following telegram received on this date from the Unitarian Laymen's League: "The Unitarian Laymen's League sends greetings to the Universalist General Convention in session at Washington and wishes them a most successful conference. Signed, Percy W. Gardner, President." Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to refer this to the Committee on Resolutions.

The President announced the appointment of Rev. Stanley Manning of Maine, as one of the sessional secretaries.

The Report of the Commission on Foreign Affairs and World Peace was presented by title only by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, D. D. of Pennsylvania, and was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

The Reports of the Commission on National and International Relief, and of the Commission on Religious Education were read by Rev. George E. Huntley, D. D. of Massachusetts and were both referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

In the absence of Dr. Hall, Rev. John van Schaick, Jr., D. D., presented by title the Report of the Commission on Literature which was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D., made a verbal report for the Committee on Church Architecture.

The Report of the Committee to Investigate Birth Control was read by Rev. L. G. Williams of Pennsylvania, and referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to instruct the Secretary of the Convention to extend the sympathy of this Convention to Mr. H. E. Williams, because of the serious illness of Mrs. Williams.

Adjourned on motion at 1:05 P. M., to meet at 9:00 A. M. Friday.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 24, 1929.

At 2:00 P. M. a conference under the auspices of the Committee to Investigate Birth Control, was conducted by Rev. L. G. Williams of Pennsylvania, the speakers being Mrs. Donald R. Hooker, M. D. of Maryland, whose subject was "The Importance of Birth Control in Relation to Monogamous Marriage"; and Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein of New York, whose subject was "The Social and Moral Implications of Birth Control."

At 3:30 P. M. a conference under the auspices of the Commission on Foreign Relations and World Peace was conducted by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, D. D. of Pennsylvania. The speakers were Rev. Walter Macpherson, L. H. D. of Illinois, who led the discussion on "England, United States and World Peace"; Mr. Philip C. Nash, who led the discussion on the subject, "The League of Nations"; Mrs. Laura Morgan, on "Hopeful Signs of Peace."

THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 24, 1929.

The platform meeting was held at 7:30 P. M. with Mr. F. T. Persinger of Minnesota presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. Arthur W. McDavitt of Indiana. Addresses were given by Rev. Clifford Stetson of Japan, whose subject was "The Spiritual Power of Liberal Christianity in Japan"; and by Rev. William Wallace Rose, D. D. of Massachusetts, whose subject was "A Preface to Christian Liberalism."

FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 25, 1929.

The session of Friday, October 25, opened with the second in the series of devotional services conducted by Rev. Marion D. Shutter, D. D. of Minnesota, the subject being "The Secret of Immortality." He was assisted by Rev. E. Dean Ellenwood of Rhode Island; Mrs. John van Schaick, Jr., of Massachusetts; Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing of New Jersey.

The business session of the Convention was called to order at 9:05 A. M. by the President.

The minutes of the Thursday sessions were read by Assistant Secretary Manning and approved.

A preliminary report of the Credentials Committee was presented by its Chairman, Rev. L. H. Garner of New Jersey, and showed 217 delegates listed up to the time that the report was made.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted to adopt the report.

The Report of the Committee on Nominations was presented by its Chairman, Rev. John S. Lowe, D. D. of Massachusetts, as follows:

For President: Rev. Frank Durward Adams, D. D., Michigan.

For Vice-Presidents: Rev. Barlow G. Carpenter, D. D., California.
Rev. Hal T. Kearns, Maryland.
Mr. Theodore F. Schlaegel, Indiana.

Trustees for four years—Louis Annin Ames, New York; Hon. Robert W. Hill, Massachusetts; Rev. Effie McCollum Jones, D. D., Iowa; Dr. F. W. Ballou, District of Columbia; Rev. Clinton Lee Scott, Georgia.

Trustees for two years—Rev. Walter Macpherson, L. H. D., Illinois; Hon. George E. Danforth, New Hampshire.

Preacher of the Occasional Sermon—Rev. Harry Westbrook Reed, D. D., New York.

After the presentation of the report, Rev. T. E. Potterton, D. D. of New York, nominated Rev. Harry L. Canfield of North Carolina, for a position as Trustee for the four year term.

Mr. S. M. Gregory of Pennsylvania, nominated Mr. Walter Gabell of Pennsylvania, for a similar term.

Dr. Lowe explained that Mr. Gabell had been consulted by the Committee on Nominations and had asked that his name be not presented. Upon motion duly made and seconded, the nominations were closed.

Invitations for the session of the Convention in 1931 were presented by the Secretary as follows: Barre, Vermont; Church of the Redemption, Boston, Massachusetts; Buffalo, New York; Detroit, Michigan; to the state of Indiana by the Indiana Convention; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Rochester, New York; and Worcester, Massachusetts.

On motion of Rev. C. E. Petty of New York, the election was made a special order of business for eleven o'clock Saturday morning.

By unanimous consent Rev. C. H. Pennoyer of Massachusetts, presented by title the Report of the Commission on Social Welfare which was referred to the Committee on Official Reports.

Dr. Lowe raised a question regarding the printing on the ballot of the names of the cities from which invitations had been received only from city officials or civic organizations, but not from churches. The President ruled that only when invitations had been extended by delegates to the Convention should they appear on the ballot.

A telegram of greeting from Mr. Glenn R. McIntire, President of the Maine Universalist Convention and a cablegram from the workers in Japan were read by the Secretary.

Upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted that the Convention send greetings to our missionaries in Japan.

The Report of the Committee on Official Reports was presented by its Chairman, Rev. W. W. Rose, D. D. of Massachusetts. Only two recommendations had been put in final form by the Committee.

After both had been read the first was taken up for consideration, and at the request of Rev. John Murray Atwood, D. D. of New York, the question was divided and each section of the recommendation considered separately.

The first three sections were adopted without debate.

After the adoption of the fourth section had been moved, Rev. W. H Macpherson, L. H. D. of Illinois, moved to amend by substituting the word "liberal" for "Universalist." The motion was seconded and the amendment adopted and the section of the recommendation as amended was then adopted.

After considerable discussion of the fifth section of the report, it was, on motion, referred back to the Committee for re-wording, to include a definite ruling in regard to the parishes which have accepted the Five Year Program and are now asking for an extension of time.

The adoption of the second recommendation dealing with the National Memorial Church was duly moved and seconded. Rev. F. W. Perkins, D. D. of the District of Columbia, spoke in favor of the adoption of the recommendation concluding his remarks with the reading of the following telegram from Mr. Owen D. Young:

"I deeply regret my inability to attend the dedication exercises of the Tower of World Peace on Sunday afternoon. The dedication of Hepburn Hall at St. Lawrence University by Madame Curie on Saturday makes it physically impossible for me to reach Washington in time for your service. That the Universalist General Convention should dedicate the tower of its national church to world peace is strikingly consistent with its traditional faith. No one can aspire to world peace and encourage the necessary practical steps to attain it without a deep conviction of the moral soundness of human beings everywhere. That you have associated my name with this tower makes me sensible both of the high honor and of my own unworthiness. I owe much to the Universalist Church. It was literally the church of my fathers. It was from a Universalist Sunday School that Dr. Hervey took me to St. Lawrence, and among my most intimate friends always have been and are Universalist ministers. Any contribution which I may have made toward the great objective to which your tower is dedicated was made possible by the teaching of Universalism, and the Universalist Church still holds my allegiance and my heart. Signed—Owen D. Young."

When Dr. Perkins finished, the Convention stood in spontaneous tribute to the spirit of Mr. Young as shown in the telegram.

Dr. Rose reported a pledge of $1,000 toward the cost of the Peace Tower from Mr. Benjamin N. Johnson of Lynn, Massachusetts.

The motion to adopt the recommendation was then carried.

Rev. C. H. Emmons of Massachusetts, reported the receipt of a check for $500 from Mrs. Emma C. Ball of Muncie, Indiana and suggested that there might be others present who wished to give. President Adams called Mr. Emmons to the platform and he announced that $14,000 more was needed to complete the $25,000 to dedicate the tower free of debt. Pledges and contributions to the amount of $14,661 were then received.

The Convention adjourned at 12:10 P. M. to visit the White House where President Hoover received the delegates at 12:45 P. M.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 25, 1929.

At 2:00 P. M. a conference under the auspices of the Commission on Social Welfare was conducted by Rev. C. H. Pennoyer of Massachusetts, the speakers being Dr. Grace Abbott, Chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, on "Children of America"; Lt. Mina Van Winkle, President International Women's Police Association on "Prevention of Delinquency" and Judge M. A. O'Toole of the Municipal Court of the District of Columbia on "The Abolition of Capital Punishment." The Chairman presented a "Declaration of Social Faith" which was approved by the Conference.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 25, 1929.

The platform meeting was held at 7:30 P. M. with Rev. Theodore A. Fischer, D. D. of Connecticut, presiding. Prayer was offered by Mr. Douglas H. Robbins of Connecticut. Addresses were given by Rev. Laura Bowman Galer of Iowa, whose subject was "A Religion for Common People"; and by Rev. Thomas Edward Potterton, D. D. of New York, on "High Failures and Low Successes." Dr. Fischer pronounced the benediction.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 26, 1929.

The last of the series of three devotional meetings for the Convention led by Dr. Marion D. Shutter of Minnesota, opened the sessions of the day at 8:30 A. M. The subject was "Sources of Power." Dr. Shutter was assisted by Mrs. John van Schaick, Jr. of Massachusetts; Rev. C. H. Emmons of Massachusetts and Rev. Hal T. Kearns of Maryland.

The business session was called to order by the President at 9:10 A. M.

The minutes of the sessions of Friday, October 25, were read by Rev. Stanley Manning, assistant secretary, and approved as read.

Rev. Donald K. Evans of Vermont presented a report for the Committee on Credentials, showing 251 delegates listed up to the time the report was compiled. Dr. F. W. Perkins announced that there was a total registration of over 800, indicating a probable attendance in excess of 1,000 people. Dr. L. W. Brigham reported that over 300 railroad certificates had been handed in.

On the request of Rev. Edson Reifsnider of California, Rev. Harry L. Canfield of North Carolina, was called on to tell of the Universalist Declaration of Faith, adopted in North Carolina in 1827.

Dr. F. W. Perkins announced the death of Mrs. George Emerson of Dalton, Pennsylvania, during the Friday morning session, just after making her pledge for the National Memorial Church. The Convention stood in silence as an expression of its sorrow.

On motion of Rev. C. E. Petty of New York, a limit of two minutes was placed on all speeches during the business session, except those by members of the official board.

Under unfinished business Secretary Etz read the proposed Amendment to the By-Laws of the Convention. On motion duly made and seconded the amendment was adopted by a unanimous vote. The amendment is as follows:

To strike out Article 5, Section 5 of the By-Laws and substitute in its stead the following: "The business session of the Convention shall be opened by prayer to be followed immediately by ascertaining if a quorum is present in accordance with Article 2, Section 4 of the Constitution."

On motion of Rev. E. D. Ellenwood of Rhode Island, it was voted that if it be found necessary in order to conclude the business of the Convention, the President be authorized to call an extra business meeting for the early part of the afternoon.

Dr. W. W. Rose of Massachusetts, then presented the concluding part of the Report of the Committee on Official Reports.

Recommendation 3, calling for an amendment to the Constitution of the Convention, was adopted.

Recommendations 4, dealing with Religious Education, 5, dealing with Comity and Unity, and 6, dealing with Five Per Cent Quotas, were adopted without debate.

After the adoption of Recommendation 7, dealing with Schools of the Prophets and discussion classes, had been moved and seconded, Rev. E. W. Whippen, New York, moved to amend by changing the name to Schools for Religious Leadership. On a rising vote, the amendment was adopted by 80 affirmative to 32 negative votes. The recommendation as amended was then adopted.

The adoption of Recommendation 8, dealing with Foreign Missions, was moved and seconded. Dr. Theodore A. Fischer of Connecticut moved to amend by adding the further provision that particular individual needs of the mission in Japan be taken care of by individuals or churches or conventions. Dr. Etz spoke of the plans of the Board of Foreign Missions to carry out this suggestion, and Dr. Walter Macpherson of Illinois spoke of the purpose of the Joliet Church to maintain one worker in Japan. The amendment was then adopted, and the recommendation as amended was then adopted.

Recommendation 9, dealing with the needs of smaller parishes, was laid on the table by a vote of 89 to 37, on motion of Rev. Norman Fletcher of Massachusetts.

Dr. Rose then presented the 5th section of Recommendation 1, dealing with the Five Year Program and quota payments which had been referred back to the committee for rewording. The section was adopted and the entire recommendation was then adopted.

Recommendation 10 dealing with Finances, was adopted.

As this completed the committee's report, it was voted to adopt it as a whole.

On motion of Dr. V. E. Tomlinson of Massachusetts, a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the committee.

Unanimous consent was given to Rev. C. H. Pennoyer of Massachusetts to speak for the Canadian Conference of Universalists, in behalf of Church Extension Work in Canada.

Rev. E. W. Whippen of New York offered the following and moved its adoption: "In recognition of the importance of building up the parishes, especially those which are small, we recommend that our ministers be urged to live in the spirit of greater humility and self-sacrifice, and that our laymen be urged to back our ministers in a determined effort to build up the church, and that theological teachers be urged to impress this on the younger men." The motion was seconded and carried.

The Report of the Committee on Resolutions was presented by Rev. F. A. Line of Indiana.

Resolution 1, extending thanks to those who had made the Convention a success, was adopted by a rising vote.

Resolutions 2, dealing with Lombard College, 3 with Law Enforcement, 4 with Peace, and 5 with the recent visit of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, were adopted unanimously without debate.

After the adoption of Resolution 6, dealing with Capital Punishment, had been moved and seconded, Mr. James B. Replogle of Michigan moved to amend by adding: "Provided adequate means are taken to prevent the future release of persons convicted of murder." After some debate, Rev. Conard Rheiner of Iowa moved the previous question on both the amendment and the original resolution. The call for the previous question was carried. The amendment was lost by a vote of 31 in favor to 117 opposed and the original resolution was adopted by a vote of 131 for to 38 against.

Resolution 7, dealing with the Healing Ministry, was adopted by a vote of 81 to 28.

Resolution 8, calling for a Commission on World-Wide Free Religious Fellowship, was adopted.

Resolution 9, in memory of denominational leaders who had died since the last Convention, was adopted by a rising vote.

Resolutions 10, extending greetings to the American Unitarian Association and theUnitarian Laymen's League, and 11, in response to the memorial from the theological students at Canton, were adopted without debate.

Dr. van Schaick of Massachusetts presented an additional resolution dealing with the ministry of healing, which was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The time for the special order of business, the election of officers, having arrived, President Adams gave opportunity for representatives of the churches who had invited the Convention to meet with them in 1931 to present their claims.

Rev. Donald K. Evans and Rev. Verdi Mack Martin of Vermont spoke for Barre. Dr. John S. Lowe of Massachusetts and Mrs. Nellie G. Kelley of Illinois spoke for Boston. Dr. John Sayles spoke for Buffalo, and Rev. Fred A. Line for Indianapolis. Rev. Arthur W. McDavitt asked the delegates not to vote for Muncie and urged the Convention to come to Indianapolis. Dr. V. E. Tomlinson spoke for Worcester.

President Adams announced the appointment of additional monitors, Rev. Robert Cummins of Ohio, Rev. E. H. Lalone of New York and Mr. Oscar Vogt of Indiana and appointed the monitors to serve as tellers during the election.

President Adams explained that only delegates reported by the Credentials Committee were entitled to vote, and also explained the use of the printed ballot.

The Credentials Committee added a few names to its report, bringing the total to 260. After the ballots had been collected, President Adams declared the ballot closed.

Rev. L. G. Williams of Pennsylvania offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

"Whereas the Committee appointed by the Trustees of the Universalist General Convention to Investigate Birth Control and its Bearings on Religion having found that Birth Control is one of the most practicable means of race betterment, therefore be it Resolved: I, that this Convention urge the immediate repeal of such Federal and State Laws as interfere with the prescription of contraception by physicians; and II, that where legal barriers do not exist, socially minded persons be urged to establish in every center of population clinics where those needing it may receive contraceptive advice under medical supervision."

After the adoption had been seconded, Hon. William J. Ogden of Maryland moved that it be laid on the table. The motion was lost by a vote of 75 to 83. The Resolution was then adopted by a vote of 97 to 62.

Rev. L. G. Williams of Pennsylvania proposed the following amendment to the Constitution and moved its adoption: To insert at the end of Article 5, Section 3, the words: "A Trustee may be reelected for one term of four years but shall not again be eligible for election until an interim of four years succeeding his term of office." The amendment was then adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Louis Annin Ames of New York offered the following motion:

It is moved that this Convention hereby approves, ratifies and confirms in every respect and particular the following vote passed by the Board of Trustees of this Convention, creating an issue of Universalist National Memorial Church Ten Year First Mortgage Gold Bonds to be dated December 1, 1929, due December 1, 1939, as herein more fully set forth, and this Convention hereby assumes all obligations and liabilities of said issue.

VOTE IN RE INDENTURE SECURING ISSUE OF THE UNIVERSALIST NATIONAL MEMORIAL CHURCH TEN YEAR FIRST MORTGAGE GOLD BONDS DATED DECEMBER 1, 1929.

UPON motion duly made and seconded, it was voted that for the purpose of providing funds for the completion of the National Memorial Church owned by this Convention and located at the corner of 16th and S Streets N. W., Washington, D. C., there shall be issued by this Convention bonds with interest coupons attached in the aggregate sum of $150,000 upon the following terms and conditions:

This Convention shall sign, seal and deliver its first mortgage bonds to be known as The Universalist National Memorial Church Ten Year First Mortgage Gold Bonds in an aggregate principal sum of $150,000 which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of June and December in each year in accordance with the coupons thereto attached, both principal and interest to be payable in gold coin of the United States of America of or equal to the December 1, 1929, standard of weight and fineness, said bonds to be dated December 1, 1929, due December 1, 1939, to be in denominations of $1,000 and $500, each denomination to be numbered respectively M-1 and D-1 and consecutively upward, said bonds to be subject to being paid or retired by the Convention in whole or in part on any interest date provided sixty days prior notice is published in the Christian Leader or some other religious periodical having general circulation among Universalists, by the payment of the principal thereof with accrued interest, plus a premium of 1% up to and including December 1, 1931; and thereafter by the payment of the principal thereof with accrued interest plus a premium of one half of 1% up to and including December 1, 1934; and thereafter, payable by the payment of the principal with accrued interest.

That said bonds shall be signed in behalf of the Convention by its President or by the Chairman of its Board of Trustees under its corporate seal, attested by its Secretary or an Assistant Secretary, and that said bonds shall bear coupons signed by the facsimile signature of its Treasurer.

And further be it voted that in order to secure the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds a mortgage or deed of trust which shall be a first lien upon the aforesaid property owned by this Convention at the corner of 16th and S Streets N. W., in said city of Washington, shall be given to Arthur W. Pierce of Franklin, Mass.; John Murray Atwood, of Canton, N. Y.; and Henry C. Morris, of Chicago, Illinois as Trustees; and that said mortgage or deed of trust shall be signed and sealed in the name and in behalf of the Universalist General Convention by A. Ingham Bicknell, its Treasurer, and Roger F. Etz, its Secretary, and that Robert W. Hill is hereby appointed as the true and lawful attorney of this Convention for it and in its name to acknowledge and deliver the aforesaid mortgage or deed of trust to the Trustees herein named.

A draft of the proposed indenture or deed of trust securing the issue of the Universalist National Memorial Church Ten Year First Mortgage Gold Bonds, dated December 1, 1929, due December 1, 1939, between this Convention and Arthur W. Pierce, of Franklin, Mass.; John Murray Atwood, of Canton, N. Y.; and Henry C. Morris, of Chicago, Illinois, as Trustees, having been read, upon motion duly made and seconded, it was voted that the same be approved and accepted and that the Committee on Finance and Investment is hereby authorized to pass such other votes and take such other action including any amendments to the proposed indenture herein referred to as may be required or necessary to carry into effect the purpose of this vote creating an issue of Universalist National Memorial Church Ten Year 6% First Mortgage Gold Bonds.

Various questions were raised about the National Memorial Church bonds and were answered by Mr. A. Ingham Bicknell, Hon. Robert W. Hill and Rev. C. H. Emmons of Massachusetts and by Mr. Louis Annin Ames of New York.

The motion of Mr. Ames was then adopted by a vote of 164 in favor, none opposed.

Rev. Fred A. Line of Indiana presented a supplementary report of the Resolutions Committee.

Resolutions 12, dealing with the Healing Ministry, and 13, naming Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing as an official delegate to the people of Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia and Albania, were adopted.

Resolution 14, dealing with college night on the program of future Conventions, after debate, was referred, on motion of Mr. Carl Olsen of Ohio to the Universalist Ministers' Association.

On motion of Rev. Fred A. Line of Indiana the Report of the Committee on Resolutions was then adopted as a whole.

Dr. Etz then presented the amendment to the By-laws, providing for an Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees as follows:

"Insert in Article I, Section 6, the following as Paragraph 5: They shall have power to appoint an Executive Committee consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the Chairman of the Finance and Investment Committee and three other members of the Board, which shall, in the intervals between sessions of the Board, have supervision over and direction of the general affairs of the Convention and of the officers, agents, committees and commissions appointed by the Board. It shall submit to the Board at each meeting a record of its proceedings since the last meeting of the Board. It shall perform such other duties as may be required of it by the Board." President Adams announced that in order to make the adoption legal 131 delegates must vote on the question, and the amendment must be adopted by a two-thirds vote. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 164 in favor and none opposed.

By unanimous consent the Convention again took up the amendments already adopted, in order to have a record of the number voting. The amendment to the By-laws, abolishing the necessity for a complete roll-call, was adopted by a vote of 164 to 0.

The amendment to the Constitution, limiting the number of terms of the Trustees of the General Convention was adopted by a vote of 143 to 3.

President Adams declared all three amendments adopted.

Dr. Roger F. Etz called the attention of the Convention to the necessity for electing nine trustees of the W. H. Williams Estate, and presented those who had been nominated, in accordance with the terms of the will. On motion duly made and seconded, the Secretary was instructed to cast one ballot for Mr. Louis Annin Ames of New York, Mr. A. Ingham Bicknell and Hon. Robert W. Hill of Massachusetts, from the General Convention; Mr. Hamner W. Winstead, Mr. John E. Williams, and Mr. S. V. Wilkins of North Carolina, from the North Carolina State Convention; and Rev. Hazel I. Kirk of Massachusetts, Mrs. Persis C. Shedd of Maine and Mrs. Alice Coe McGauflin of the District of Columbia for the Women's National Missionary Association. The ballot was cast and President Adams declared those named elected.

The final report of the Committee on Credentials was presented by Rev. Donald K. Evans of Vermont and showed a total delegate body of 260. The Report was adopted.

The tellers reported that in the election of officers and trustees 228 ballots had been cast, 115 being necessary to elect, and the following were declared elected:

President: Rev. Frank Durward Adams, D. D., Michigan

Vice-Presidents: Rev. Barlow G. Carpenter, D. D., California
Mr. Theodore F. Schlaegel, Indiana
Rev. Hal T. Kearns, Maryland

Mr. Louis Annin Ames, New York
Hon. Robert W. Hill, Massachusetts
Rev. Effie McCollum Jones, Iowa
Dr. F. W. Ballou, District of Columbia
Rev. Clinton Lee Scott, Georgia

Rev. Walter H. Macpherson, L. H. D., Illinois
Hon. George E. Danforth, New Hampshire

Preacher of the Occasional Sermon:

Rev. Harry Westbrook Reed, D. D., New York

The vote on the place of meeting in 1931 was as follows:

Boston, Mass., 57
Buffalo, N. Y., 28
Indianapolis, Ind., 99
Muncie, Ind., 5
Worcester, Mass., 26

On motion of Dr. V. E. Tomlinson of Massachusetts, seconded by Dr. John S. Lowe of Massachusetts, the acceptance of the invitation to Indianapolis was made unanimous.

The assistant secretary read the minutes of the morning session, and on motion they were approved and referred to the Board of Trustees for approval of the final wording.

On motion of Rev. C. E. Petty of New York, it was voted that the Convention recess and stand adjourned at the close of the service on Sunday evening, October 27.

SATURDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 26, 1929.

The Convention Banquet was held in the Mayflower Ball Room at 7:00 P. M. nearly five hundred people participating. Rev. Hal T. Kearns, Maryland, gave the Invocation. After the dinner Dr. Roger F. Etz introduced Col. George E. Danforth of New Hampshire as Toastmaster. The speakers were as follows: Dr. Frank W. Ballou, representing the local church; Rev. Hazel I. Kirk for the W. N. M. A.; Rev. John Ratcliffe for the G. S. S. A.; Miss Eleanor Bonner for the Y. P. C. U., Mr. Benjamin N. Johnson, of Lynn, Mass. and Dr. Walter Macpherson.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1929.

The morning service of worship was held at the Ambassador Theatre, Rev. Frederic W. Perkins, D. D., pastor of the Universalist National Memorial Church, conducted the service. Rev. L. Ward Brigham, D. D., Illinois, preached the sermon, his subject being: "The Struggle for Spiritual Supremacy."

At 4:00 P. M. was held the service for the dedication of the Tower of International Justice and World Peace as a Tribute to Owen D. Young. Rev. Fredic W. Perkins, D. D. presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. H. Emmons of Massachusetts. Addresses were given by Hon. Hamilton Fish, member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and Rev. Frank D. Adams, D. D., President of the General Convention. The dedicatory sentences were led by Dr. Perkins. The inscription to be placed on the tower is as follows:

This Tower
Dedicated to the Ideal
International Justice and World Peace is
A Loving and Grateful Tribute to Owen D. Young
Who, inspired by faith in the Constructive Power of Human Brotherhood
Contributed his Rare Talents of Mind and Heart
To the Healing of the Nations
Devastated by the World War
"Peace on earth among men of good-will."

Prayer was offered by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, D. D. of Pennsylvania and the benediction pronounced by Dr. Perkins.

The closing session was held at 7:30 P. M. in the First Congregational Church with Dr. Adams presiding. Words of greeting were spoken by Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the church. Addresses were given by Mr. William Knowles Cooper of the District of Columbia on "The Church and the Problem of International Understanding"; and Rev. John Murray Atwood, D. D. of New York on "Universalism: Is it Adequate as a Gospel of Universal Justice?"

President Adams pronounced the benediction after which he declared the Convention adjourned.

ROGER F. ETZ, Secretary.

Recommendations as Adopted

I. CHURCH EXTENSION AND FINANCES

Recognizing that there are areas in our own land where the distinctive articles of the Liberal Faith have never been preached and that in the older fields a new generation has not had the opportunity of hearing the message of our church we therefore recommend:

First, that a progressive church extension program in our own country and the Dominion of Canada be a major consideration for the immediate future.

Second, that the ministers of our local parishes devote themselves to enlisting the interest and co-operation of every member in this enterprise.

Third, that every church lend itself to the plans and work proposed by our Board of Foreign Missions and that of the Universalist Women's National Missionary Association.

Fourth, realizing our period of real growth was during the years when Dr. Q. H. Shinn was on the Pacific Coast and in our South Land, we recommend that the Board of Trustees strive to secure a man of similar missionary spirit whose work will be the organizing of parishes at points where there are no liberal churches, and that the Board of Trustees take steps to secure the necessary funds for this purpose.

Fifth, owing to the completion of the Five Year Plan no sufficient funds will be forthcoming for carrying on the work of the General Convention unless our parishes realizing the seriousness of conditions pay their 5% quotas we recommend that the Board of Trustees make immediate plans whereby our parishes may be educated in the support of the quota system and in practical methods of raising the same.

We recommend further that parishes having completed the Five Year Program payment accept the 5% quota and that parishes still paying on the Five Year Program take up the quota system when the former has been completed, in the meantime registering with the Executive Secretary a request for the extension of time.

II. NATIONAL MEMORIAL CHURCH

Whereas the fine response of our people to the project of the National Memorial Church which has enlisted the support of a more numerous Universalist constituency than any other denominational enterprise and the tower of which is to be dedicated Sunday to the ideals of International Justice and World Peace in honor of Mr. Owen D. Young:

We recommend to all our people the importance of completing this project to the full realization of the dreams of its sponsors and administrators.

III. TENURE OF OFFICE OF TRUSTEES

Whereas there are many able men in the Universalist Church who might be induced to accept positions of responsibility in the denomination if it was not felt that such positions involved a life-long obligation; and whereas the vitality of a church is improved by the frequent addition of new interests; therefore, we recommend that necessary steps be taken at once for altering the Constitution or By-laws of the General Convention so that no Trustee may succeed himself more than once without an interim of at least one term.

IV. DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

We commend the correlation of programs and fine spirit of co-operation already achieved by the auxiliary bodies in the field of religious education, and recognize the splendid and expert leadership of the General Sunday School Association in this indispensable work for the youth of our church. We recognize that an integration of forces even more close would be of advantage inasmuch as the entire work of the denomination when rightly interpreted is that of religious education. We therefore recommend:

1. The discontinuance of the Commission on Religious Education.

2. That in accordance with the report of that Commission and the report of the Trustees of the General Convention, a Council of Religious Education be formed representing the Women's National Missionary Association, the Young People's Christian Union, the General Sunday School Association and the Board of Trustees of the General Convention, the purpose of such Council being the study and correlation of fields and programs, looking toward the formation of a permanent Department of Religious Education in the Universalist Church.

3. That financial support be continued by the General Convention to the General Sunday School Association sufficient to maintain at its present status the efficiency of the office and field work of that body to the end that there may be no reduction in that trained service available for our churches during this period of reorganization.

V. COMITY AND UNITY

The Universalist Church has committed itself to the ideal of the Christian community which means loyalty to Christ and absolute freedom of thought with no deviation in loyalty to self.

The report of the Commission on Comity and Unity embodies these ideals of Christian unity. We, therefore, recommend that the report of the commission be adopted.

VI. COMMISSION ON FINANCE

Whereas the confusion centering around the Five Year Program and the Five Per Cent Quota payments leaves the financial future of the General Convention in some uncertainty and

Whereas this convention has already adopted the Five Per Cent Quota and

Whereas it is good business procedure to plan in advance the finances of our church and all its activities.

We recommend the appointment of three men versed in finance to make a complete study of the fiscal needs of the denomination; the committee to report to the 1931 convention a comprehensive plan for permanently financing the needs of the General Convention and of the parishes.

VII. SCHOOLS AND CLASSES FOR RELIGIOUS LEADERSHIP

Whereas our ministers to be real leaders must have prophetic vision and closer contact with each other and the world of ideas.

We recommend that Schools for Religious Leadership be conducted in various sections of the country and that local churches be encouraged to conduct discussion classes dealing with the implications and applications of Universalism.

VIII. JAPAN MISSION

Again we face a deficit in the Foreign Mission Department. As this has been true for several years we are confronted by the fact that both ministers and laymen must be somewhat to blame.

We recommend that the ministers be urged to keep before their churches and church schools the necessity of paying their mission quotas.

We further recommend that the suggestion of the Foreign Mission Board as to the sale of $10.00 shares to individuals receive the favorable endorsement of this convention and we further recommend the Board's plan to have individuals and parishes and state conventions assume the responsibility for specific needs in Japan.

IX. THE NEEDS OF SMALLER PARISHES

(Laid on the table.)

X. APPRECIATION OF TRUSTEES

We note with satisfaction the fact that the Board of Trustees have turned in an operating balance at the end of the year and that the total deficit of $22,000 of last year has been reduced to $15,000 as the result of their financial plans.

We recommend that the Convention vote its appreciation of this accomplishment and so recognize that an arduous task has been well performed in the face of great difficulties chief among which is the execution of the Convention's directions without receiving corresponding financial support.

An additional recommendation presented from the floor and adopted is as follows:

In recognition of the importance of building up the parishes, especially those which are small, we recommend that our ministers be urged to live in the spirit of greater humility and self-sacrifice, and that our laymen be urged to back the ministers in a determined effort to build up the church, and that theological teachers be urged to impress this on the younger men.

Resolutions as Adopted

1. APPRECIATION AND THANKS

BE IT RESOLVED, That we express our deep appreciation to the pastor and people of the Washington Church for their splendid hospitality; the management of The Mayflower Hotel for their generous treatment in placing at our disposal the hotel facilities in caring for our Convention needs; All Souls Unitarian Church and the First Congregational Church for courtesies extended; and the speakers, conference leaders, and musicians who have contributed so vitally to the inspirational and soul-uplifting features of this Convention.

2. LOMBARD COLLEGE

WHEREAS, Lombard College, as a result of the cooperative effort of Universalists and Unitarians, continues true to its splendid traditions of liberality and progressiveness,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we go on record as approving the present arrangement by which the two denominations are jointly administering the college on equal terms for the common liberal cause; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That, in this day of standardization and mass production in education we affirm the need of the liberal progressive and non-sectarian small college of which Lombard is an outstanding example; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we reaffirm our interest in and pledge our support to Lombard College and urge upon our people everywhere a generous support of its needs.

3. OBEDIENCE TO LAW

WHEREAS, no democratic government is any stronger than the love of its people for their government, and the love of government cannot exist without respect for the laws of that government, and that respect for constitutional law cannot exist without obedience to law, and that obedience to law is alarmingly on the decrease in our country, and

WHEREAS, man-made law, when not built upon the foundations of the Golden Rule and of the Sermon on the Mount, can neither endure nor function, and

WHEREAS, President Hoover has called upon the people of the United States to do their part in the observance of law in order that he, as President, may do his part in properly enforcing the law, and

WHEREAS, as Lincoln once said, "This country cannot long exist half slave and half free," so also this country now cannot exist half law-abiding and half law-breaking,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That this General Convention of the Universalist Church, held in Washington, D. C., in October, 1929, within the shadows of the White House and Capitol Building, heartily endorse the request of our President for stricter law observance;

That the parishes be requested to use their influence, looking to a stricter observance of law in their communities, and urge upon the voters in those communities the necessity of placing in Congress only such types of men as will sincerely obey the laws of the land, which they help to formulate and pass;

That this denomination take the lead with other denominations in endeavoring to bring back to its former position of prestige and power the Church of God in America, in order that once again its influence may be a controlling factor in making and in enforcing such laws as will contribute to the mental, moral, physical, and spiritual uplift of the United States of America.

4. PEACE

1. Highly gratified at the prospect for a real lessening of the burden and the danger of armaments, we authorize our Secretary in the name of this Convention, to write President Hoover, commending him for his persistent and constructive efforts toward this goal, and pledging him our cordial sympathy and support.

2. We believe that full membership by the United States in the World Court would help much to assure the reference of all serious disputes between nations to this high tribunal or some other like agency of adjudication, and we therefore urge the United States Senate to accept and adopt the Root formula.

3. Good-will and permanent peace in the Western hemisphere is a goal highly to be desired. We welcome the Pan-American Arbitration Treaty signed by the representatives of twenty American republics, including those of the United States, on January 5, 1929. And we urge the United States Senate to approve and adopt this Treaty at the earliest possible date.

We further recommend that these two preceding resolutions be communicated to all members of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Senate, and further, that members of this convention individually and through their churches shall make the same appeal to the Senators of their respective States.

5. VISIT OF RAMSAY MACDONALD

RESOLVED, That the members of the Universalist General Convention, in biennial session assembled, express to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald our joy in his recent visit of good-will to America.

We share his hope that the cause of world peace may be thereby advanced and wish him Godspeed in all undertakings in behalf of human brotherhood.

6. ABOLITION OF CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

WHEREAS, the movement to abolish capital punishment is in the interest of greater certainty of conviction for murder, greater deterency against crime, and the saving of the state from the awful example of taking life for life,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we reaffirm our earnest support of that reform of criminal law which would abolish capital punishment.

7. THE HEALING MINISTRY

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Universalist Church, in Convention assembled, does hereby commend to the consideration of the churches of this convention the application of our gospel in the healing ministry.

8. COMMISSION ON WORLD-WIDE FREE RELIGIOUS FELLOWSHIP

RESOLVED, That a commission be appointed by the Trustees of the Universalist General Convention, to be called the Commission on World-wide Free Religious Fellowship, to survey the possibilities of religious fellowship and cooperation between ourselves and liberals in non-Christian fields, and to report at the next Convention.

9. IN MEMORIAM

WHEREAS, four of our beloved ministers and two of our equally beloved laymen in the persons of Rev. Edwin Chapin Sweetser, D. D., Rev. Carl French Henry, D. D., Rev. George Ferdinand Fortier, Rev. Jennie Lois Ellis, Arthur Nash and Joseph Mayo Tilden, who have served the General Convention in an official capacity, have passed into the higher life since our last Convention meeting in Hartford, be it

RESOLVED, That we express our sense of the loss that has been sustained by our church in the removal of these honored and honorable workers from our midst. Each one, in his own way, has made a distinct and outstanding contribution to the word and work of our denomination. Unselfish in their devotion, firm in their faith, unwavering in their courage, kindly in their relationships with their fellowmen, irreproachable in character, they have left behind them a heritage of fruitful endeavor in the high calling of Christ that enriches our memory and strengthens the Church they loved.

BE IT THEREFORE FURTHER RESOLVED, That we extend to their families and loved ones our sincere sympathy, in the bereavement we share with them, together with our testimony of love and esteem, for these worthy servants of the church whose labors of love have warmed our hearts and inspired our minds.

10. GREETINGS TO UNITARIAN ORGANIZATIONS

WHEREAS, this Convention has received a letter from the American Unitarian Association, dated June 12, 1929, and a telegram from the Unitarian Laymen's League, dated October 23, 1929,

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Convention go on record as greatly appreciating these expressions of good-will, and that our most cordial greetings and good wishes for continued cooperative endeavor be extended to these organizations.

11. FAITH IN WORKS—RELIGION IN LIFE

WHEREAS, the Committee has received resolutions from the students of the Canton Theological School and others suggesting a reconstruction of statement and practice of our faith,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we as individuals go home with the spirit of the keynote addresses in our hearts, to try to show our faith by our works and our religion by our living.

12. MEDICINE AND THE MINISTRY OF HEALING

RESOLVED, That a definite and continuous cooperation with medical authorities be established in all ministries of healing.

13. COMMISSION OF MRS. STELLA MAREK CUSHING

RESOLVED, That, in appreciation of the splendid and devoted services to international understanding and good-will of Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing, we name her as our official delegate of this Convention to the peoples of Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia, and Albania.

An additional resolution presented from the floor and adopted is as follows:

WHEREAS, the Committee appointed by the Trustees of the Universalists General Convention to Investigate Birth Control and its bearings on Religion having found that Birth Control is one of the most practicable means of race betterment, therefore be it

RESOLVED: 1. That this Convention urge the immediate repeal of such Federal and State laws as interfere with the prescription of contraception by physicians; and

2. That where legal barriers do not exist, socially minded persons be urged to establish in every centre of population clinics where those needing it may receive contraceptive advice under medical supervision.

Sixty-fourth Annual Report of the Board of Trustees

To the Members of the Universalist General Convention assembled in Washinton, D. C., October 24, 1929.

The following ministers in our fellowship have died during the year:

Frank Eugene Barton
Franklin K. Beem
Isaac Phillips Booth
Clarence Elmore Churchhill
George A. Cole
Thomas W. Critchett
Jennie Lois Ellis
William P. F. Ferguson
Carl French Henry
William F. Hopp
Joseph Fletcher Jordan
Charles Arthur Knickerbocker
Arthur Warner Littlefield
Richard M. Smith
Olivia J. Carpenter Woodman

Of the above fifteen ministers who have died during this year, four were in active ministerial service and one in educational work. In the past two years we have lost ten active ministers by death, a remarkably small number.

FINANCES

The Treasurer will report the details of the income and expenditures for the last fiscal year and a statement of the Funds of the Convention, so only a few special items will be included here.

The Treasurer's report shows that the Board has been able to balance its budget and show a net income for the year of $1207.11. It shows also that the accumulated deficit has been reduced $6372.14 during this year leaving a total deficit at present of $15,965.16. The quotas from local churches show a decided falling off as compared with the two year period preceding the Hartford Convention averaging $15,247 for the last two years in contrast with an average of $17,462 for the previous period. The number of churches eligible for representation in this Convention because of quota payment is 285 as compared with 331 reported eligible at Hartford. The failure of so many churches to pay quotas in full or in part has reduced the income available from this source on which the Trustees had planned. Part of this falling off in quotas is due to the fact that a number of churches had anticipated payments in the Five Year Program and were paid up before the beginning of the last fiscal year, thus not sending in any quota for this period.

Payments in the Five Year Program have been allocated to the various objectives as in the past years. The program started originally as of October 1, 1924, hence the five year period for the churches entering at the beginning ended September 30, 1929. Some churches have asked for an extension of time, others will continue their payments through the current fiscal year.

The following churches have already paid up their Five Year Program apportionments in full:

Washington, D. C.
DeFuniak Springs, Fla.
Tarpon Springs, Fla.
Table Grove, Ill.
Mt. Pleasant, Iowa
Burlington, Ky.

In the Educational Department the income has been considerably increased this year by a larger amount of Scholarship Loans repaid. There has also been a slight decrease in the amount loaned to theological students thus helping to reduce the deficit in this department.

The Foreign Missions Department again shows a large deficit although the receipts shows an increase over last year. The return from Japan of Rev. and Mrs. Clifford R. Stetson for their furlough and the coming of Harry Cary, Junior, to study in this country have made an unusually large appropriation for travel necessary. The New York State Convention made a special grant of $1000 for Dr. Cary's work and the W. N. M. A. an appropriation for the work in Osaka. The Board of Foreign Missions will report some special plans by which it is hoped larger support will be given this phase of our activities. We have a fine group of loyal, earnest workers in the Sunrise Kingdom. Your Board of Trustees is heartily in favor of more generous appropriations for this work, believing that we are here reaping great returns on our investment.

The largest increase in Permanent Funds this year has been in the Ministers Pension Fund. From general contributions $9,846.62 has been added to the Fund. This includes $1035 in pension checks returned by men eligible for payments. A bequest for the Fund amounting to $12,013.73 has been received from the estate of Laura F. Woodward, late of Pontiac, Michigan.

The funds available for Church Extension have been increased by the addition of $5,713.50 received from the sale of the LaCrosse, Wisconsin, church property.

A beginning has been made on an Endowment Fund for the National Memorial Church through a bequest of $2,731.84 from the estate of Laura F. Woodward, late of Pontiac, Michigan. Notices have been received of other similar bequests not yet available but which will be received in the future.

With the Five Year Program period rapidly drawing to a close your Board faces the necessity of increasing contributions for Church Extension both at home and abroad as well as increasing permanent funds so that sufficient income for pensions, relief, and administration may be received from this source. They are working toward that end.

MINISTERS' PENSIONS

In accordance with the authority given to the Board by vote of the Hartford Convention, plans for a Ministers' Pension were worked out and put into operation on April 1, 1928. Briefly, it was voted to authorize the payment of $125.00 per year to each Minister on our Fellowship List who had reached the age of at least 68 years and been in the active ministry at least 25 years. Since the Pension payments started, there have been 63 names on the list of those entitled to these payments. Of this number, 4 have died so that there remain 59 at the present time to whom pensions are being paid. During the next two years, 7 Ministers who are now in our Fellowship will become eligible for payment under these same conditions. The funds available for Ministers' Pensions have increased during this past year a total of $21,860.35.

The funds now held by the Convention, the income of which is available for Relief and Pension are as follows:

Gunn Ministerial Relief Fund	$80,931.39
Washington L. Cooper Fund	8,000.00
Ministerial Pension Fund	54,263.12

making a total increase in these funds since the last Convention of $32,581.84. Some of the income received from these funds is reserved for Ministerial Relief so that it is not all available for Pensions. However, it is the hope of your Board that the fund may rapidly be increased so that larger amounts may be paid to those who are eligible for pensions. It is interesting to note that the funds for this purpose have increased over $115,000 in the last ten years.

In this connection, we desire to record our appreciation for the action of the Massachusetts Universalist Convention in voting $1800 per year for two years from the income of their Ministers' Relief Fund to be used in payment of pensions to men and women in Fellowship with that Convention. Plans are being discussed with other State Conventions looking toward similar cooperation. It is hoped that by this means as well as by increasing the capital of the fund, more generous payments can be made.

CHURCH EXTENSION FIELD

The Board has adopted some general policies in regard to appropriations for churches in the Church Extension field which they have not yet been able fully to put into operation. The first of these policies is to make sufficient appropriations to certain churches where they believe there is an opportunity for progressive work with a gradual reduction each year so that those churches will eventually become self-supporting. This has been tried out particularly in Denver, Colo. where Rev. Harold H. Niles has been working for more than six years. The wisdom of this policy has been amply demonstrated by the progress made in that church.

The policy of cooperation with the American Unitarian Association in various centers in Florida has been continued. One definite result of this is the building of a new church in St. Petersburg for the United Liberal Church of that city. It will be completed about November 1st and be ready for the active season when tourists arrive in that section. Under the leadership of Dr. Butler great progress has been made and hopes are high for the future.

Many opportunities are open before us in various fields. Some of the States which have been without State Superintendents and in which the General Convention has been especially interested in years past are now moving towards securing State Superintendents and the settlement of active ministers so that the work may go forward.

The great difficulties are not only financial but more largely the securing of the proper type of ministers for this work. Many opportunities are ours, of which we should take advantage if we had the men and the money. The fields are being studied and some plans definitely worked out for aggressive and progressive work in the future.

NATIONAL MEMORIAL CHURCH

Attendants at this Convention will have the opportunity of inspecting the new Universalist National Memorial Church. As announced in our last annual Report, contracts for the erection of the church were signed in August 1928. Work of demolishing the houses then on the site was commenced, since which the actual building operations have gone forward rapidly.

Due to the resignation of Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D., General Superintendent, who had been in charge of soliciting funds for the National Memorial Church, reorganization of this work was necessary. The Board succeeded in securing the services of Rev. Charles H. Emmons, for many years in the active Ministry of the Universalist Church, later in War Work and the Service of the Near East Relief, to act as Vice-Chairman of the Campaign Committee and give all of his time to the soliciting of funds. Mr. Emmons has met with a fine response from our people and will eventually succeed in completing the fund necessary to cover the cost of the Church.

As an evidence of the wide participation of our people in this building enterprise, is the fact that over 2600 Building Stones have been taken as Memorials and Tributes to beloved Universalists, bringing in over $26,000 in cash for the building enterprise. This Building Stone Campaign has largely been financed by one of our loyal laymen and it has resulted not only in a fine financial response but also in arousing many to the significance of the National Memorial Church itself.

The dedication of the Tower of the Church to the ideals of International Brotherhood and World Peace and as a tribute to Owen D. Young will be one of the outstanding features of this Convention. It will be the first monument in the city of Washington to the ideal of Universal Peace and it should be a perpetual expression of our desire to make the gospel of love and brotherhood a reality in the world. We believe that when the Church is completed it will be one of great centers of home missionary work for the preaching of our gospel. Under the able leadership of Dr. Perkins, it will take its place among not only the beautiful but effective churches of our Capital City.

ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES

As stated in the report last year, the resignation of Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D. as General Superintendent was accepted at a meeting held on Sept. 24, 1928 to become effective Nov. 1, 1928. Dr. Lowe had occupied the position of General Superintendent, for nearly twelve years, spending his utmost of energy and ability in the work of the denomination. During the last year his time had been given largely to soliciting funds for the National Memorial Church in Washington. However, when the call came to him to take another denominational responsibility as Pastor of the Church of the Redemption in Boston, he responded in the same spirit with which he had served the General Church.

Dr. Lowe's resignation presented to the Board a problem which was referred to a special committee for study and recommendation. As a result of the report of this committee, the Board voted at its meeting in October, 1928 to combine the work of the General Secretary and General Superintendent in the office of Executive Secretory except that the solicitation of funds for the National Memorial Church was to be undertaken by a special agent to be appointed. As has been reported, Rev. C. H. Emmons undertook this work beginning service with the Convention on Dec. 1, 1928. Since Nov. 1st, the Executive Secretary has been carrying on the dual function, spending approximately one half his time in the field and the rest in the office. In addition to the regular work, the Building Stone Campaign has been carried on from his office during this period.

In connection with this policy, the Executive Secretary presented a number of recommendations and policies to the Board for consideration. In line with one of these recommendations we have been endeavoring to enlist the cooperation of the State Superintendents and State Conventions and to work more largely through them rather than directly with the local churches. We have found a very ready response in both the Superintendents and other officers of State Conventions and feel that a real beginning has been made toward the working out of this policy.

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

One other question of organization and administration which has arisen during the year is in connection with the work of religious education throughout the denomination. The refusal of Rev. George E. Huntley, D. D. to stand for reelection as President of the General Sunday School Association raised the question as to the future policy of that organization. This matter was brought to the attention of the Trustees and after considerable discussion a special committee consisting of Dr. Adams, Mr. Friend and Dr. Etz was appointed to study the situation and make some recommendations in regard to it. The result of this committee's study and conference with representatives of the auxiliary bodies of the church was to recommend the appointment of a special Board of Religious Education which would attempt to correlate all of the work of religious education throughout the denomination.

The outstanding fact is that several auxiliary bodies are carrying on some form of religious education with no correlation of programs. In addition the Board of Foreign Missions attempts to do some Missionary Education in addition to what is done by these other bodies. It is the feeling of this special committee that the present change in the office of President of the General Sunday School Association offers an opportunity for working out a Department of Religious Education that will better serve the interests of the whole church. It should be understood that this committee does not recommend the discontinuance of any organization. It does hope that out of the present attempt will come a more effective method of carrying on this most valuable work of the church.

The special committee appointed recognizes the work of religious education as at once the most strategic and serious business of the whole church organization as far as the future is concerned. It desires therefore, to strengthen and enlarge it in every way possible so that with the resources available the greatest efficiency may be secured. To work this out successfully will doubtless be a slow process but at least a start can be made at the present time in the hope that good results will come from these efforts.

REVISION OF FELLOWSHIP LAWS

A special committee consisting of Rev. Walter Macpherson, L. H. D., Rev. Frank D. Adams, D. D., and Rev. Edwin C. Sweetser, D. D., was appointed to present to this Convention a revision of all the Laws of Fellowship, Government and Discipline in an attempt to eliminate some of the seeming conflicts and also to define more clearly some of the provisions of these laws. That committee will present its report later in the convention.

COMMITTEES AND COMMISSIONS

Much of the work of the Board this year has been carried on by the committees and also by the commissions which have been appointed largely of members outside the Board itself. These commissions will make their own reports to the Convention on the activities in which they have engaged and the plans which they have to suggest.

In connection with the committees of the Board the following amendment to the By-laws is proposed for action at this Convention. Notice of this has been published in the Christian Leader for the time required for amendments to the By-laws. This can be acted upon legally at this time.

Add to Art. I, Sec. 6, of the By-laws, the following as Paragraph 5.

"They shall have power to appoint an Executive Committee consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the Chairman of the Finance and Investment Committee and three other members of the Board, which shall, in the intervals between sessions of the Board, have supervision over and direction of the general affairs of the Convention and of the officers, agents, committees and commissions appointed by the Board. It shall submit to the Board at each meeting a record of its proceedings since the last meeting of the Board. It shall perform such other duties as may be required of it by the Board."

AMENDMENT TO THE BY-LAWS

In addition to the amendment proposed in the preceding section of this report and in carrying out the instructions of the Hartford Convention that the Board prepare such an amendment, the following amendment to Article 5, Section 5 of the By-Laws is proposed, the required notice having been given through the columns of the Christian Leader. The amendment is as follows: to strike out Article 5, Section 5 of the By-Laws and substitute in its stead the following: "The business session of the Convention shall be opened by prayer to be followed immediately by ascertaining if a quorum is present in accordance with Article 2, Section 4 of the Constitution."

IN CONCLUSION

The Board wishes to take this opportunity of expressing to Ministers and Laymen alike its appreciation for their cooperation during the past two years. We desire to record our feeling that there is a constantly growing spirit of cooperation and loyalty to the larger things for which the Universalist Church stands which augers well for its success in years to come.

Through a gradual change in conducting the work of the Board, more time has been given at Board meetings for the consideration of general church problems than ever before. Members of the Board are deeply sympathetic with the ministers and lay leaders of the church in the problems which they have to face and attempt to solve. They have consistently tried to do whatever was possible to strengthen the local churches and to exert leadership along the lines of constructive Christian service.

We trust that this Convention, conscious of these problems but confident also that there is a growing spirit of real unity and purpose in our Church and a belief in the larger work which it has to do in the world, will take action which will mean much for the service which the Church can render in years to come. We have deliberatively chosen as the theme for this Convention "The Spiritual Values of Liberal Christianity" in the hope that out of a discussion of this theme from various angles, will come that renewed power and inspiration through which we can accomplish the work which God has given us to do.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS ANNIN AMES, Chairman
ROGER F. ETZ, Executive Secretary

The Universalist General Convention

NOTE:—The above Trust Funds are all carried apart from the general funds of the Convention. Upon request, the Treasurer will be glad to furnish the list of investments in the case of any particular fund. We might add that all of the funds are invested in first mortgages or bonds, or other suitable investments for trust funds. The only exception to this is where specific securities have been bequeathed to establish a fund and the Convention has had no control of such investments.

Respectfully submitted,

A. INGHAM BICKNELL, Treasurer.

Address of the President of the Universalist General Convention

Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D.

Like most ministers nowadays, the Rev. Philip Ardent was somewhat troubled. He was really working very hard, and at a number of things, but with small visible result. Congregations were not increasing. Sometimes he wondered if there was not an actual falling off in attendance, yet he lacked the courage of an accurate count. Uncertainty is rarely reassuring; but there was a crumb of comfort in the thought that maybe he was holding his own. In such a situation, of course, there was no increase in the revenues. Expenses could not be cut down without impairing the church's efficiency. As a matter of fact, they needed a lot of money right then for new equipment and larger publicity. Surely, if public attention could be attracted to the church and its activities, people would come in larger numbers. And Mr. Ardent really felt, without egotism, that his preaching was a bit above the average, and worth hearing. But things were not moving. He had to admit it.

These unhappy reflections were racing through his mind one night just as he fell asleep. It was Sunday night, as a matter of fact, and after a particularly discouraging day. So it is not surprising that he had a dream. There appeared unto him in his dream a figure like unto the pictures of angels in the old Family Bible illustrated by Doré. Yet there was a certain aggressiveness about this visitor not generally discerned in the old paintings. No doubt due to the demands of our modern age, thought the preacher. The difference was fully explained when the angel introduced himself.

"I am the Angel of Success," he said, "and the latest addition to the Celestial Cabinet. I owe my appointment to the insistent demands of mundane go-getters for a spirit who will back them up in their endeavors. I have been on the job only a short time, so my operations are still a little awkward. But I have been sent in response to your unspoken appeal. Is there anything I can do for you?" The minister's heart gave a mighty leap. "Anything you can do for me!" he cried. "You can do everything for me, for I seem to be failing at every point. First of all —"

His headlong reply was interrupted by the angel, who put out his hand with a gesture like that of a stern chairman of a board of directors. "Not too fast, my friend, not too fast. My powers are limited in a way which may seem to you peculiar, and I can not exceed them. When this new place in the Cabinet was finally authorized, it was with the distinct understanding that only one request should ever be granted to any earthly petitioner. He who would achieve success through my assistance must decide upon the one thing that seems best calculated to further that end. That one thing I am empowered to grant. You were about to enumerate a list of things you wanted, for you began with the words, 'First of all.' Quite impossible. Pick out the most important one, or the one you crave the most, and I will see what can be done."

Mr. Ardent hesitated only an instant. "I have often told my people," he said, "that all the church's problems can be solved, both material and spiritual, when we have capacity congregations at our preaching services. So grant me this one boon. Give me a church full of people to hear my preaching." "A thoroughly characteristic request," replied the angel, somewhat dryly. "But if you had asked for anything else, I would have thought you lacking in confidence in your own ability. However, I forgot to mention a second condition attaching to my assistance. It is decreed that the petitioner shall always know exactly what the result will be if his request is granted. You will agree, I am sure, that this is only fair. It gives him a chance to back out, if he wants to. Now in your case it will be like this. I will bring it to pass that your church shall be filled to overflowing next Sunday morning; but with the distinct and unalterable provision that, as a result of your preaching, every person in the congregation shall become morally and spiritually just like yourself. Knowing that, are you willing to let the request stand?" "Why — why — yes — yes, I think I am, sir." "Don't be too hasty," urged the angel. "Only the very wise or the very foolish are willing to accept all the consequences of success. To aid you to decide in which class you belong, the wise or the foolish, I will lend you this mirror. If you will look steadily into it for a moment, you will behold the reflection of yourself exactly as you are morally and spiritually. The mirror on your dressing-table never does that for you. And, by that same token, you will know just what sort of people all those five hundred will be at the conclusion of your sermon next Sunday morning. Here, take it — and take your time."

His hand trembled so that he could hardly hold the magic mirror. To relieve his embarrassment somewhat, the angel turned his face away; but not before Mr. Ardent had glimpsed upon it just the ghost of a sardonic smile. Eagerly, fearfully, the wondering preacher held the mirror in front of him. A mist-like film seemed to cover the whole surface of it. Slowly the film dissolved and faded, and little by little an image took shape within. As the features stood forth one by one, thrown into sharp outline by a spirit that seemed to be glowing behind them, the preacher's heart pounded like a trip hammer and his breath came in great gasps. He uttered a choking cry — and woke up! — both hands clutching the edge of the lampstand at the side of his bed.

A dream like that would wake almost anybody up, wouldn't it? Especially a preacher. And am I wrong in saying that such an awakening has been overdue in the church for quite some time? And when I say church in this connection, I mean specifically the Universalist Church. Whether or not this is true of other households of faith may be left for their own members to judge. We shall have plenty to do in dealing with our own situation. We have been concerned with our organization, its faith and its mission, and not a little fretted by the cool deliberation with which our appeals have been received by the world in general. We have been very busy in the church's behalf. We have considered ways and means of improving its machinery. We have tried to house its congregations decently, and have not altogether neglected the quality of its pulpit ministrations. We have been rather meticulous about the intellectual statements of our faith, possibly just a little fussy lest the wayfaring man fail to acknowledge that we are the only genuine exponents of religious liberalism. And all this has been on the comfortable assumption that the only thing needful to get the world to embrace this perfection is to unlock our meeting-houses on Sunday morning and announce preaching services at ten thirty. Indeed, there should be anxious crowds waiting for the doors to open!

Now it is a stupendous and daring thing for any man or any institution to entertain an assumption like that. For it is an assumption, is it not? When a church proclaims its faith to the world, does it not say, both explicitly and by implication, that here is something guaranteed to make the world better? Does it not say, "Embrace this faith, become as we are, and the millennium will draw nigh"? Does not every preacher of Universalism, in effect, at least, invite his hearers to become like himself, by avowing the faith which has made him what he is?

Put in this bald way, it is rather appalling, it must be confessed. Paul is about the only man on record who had the boldness to say to his people, "Be ye imitators of me." And the only thing that saves him from the charge of reckless egotism is the immediate, concluding phrase, "As I also am of Christ." Yet Jesus himself demurred and drew back a little when one addressed him as good — that is, as a model. "No one is good, no one but God." And it is the new, sudden, overwhelming realization of what we have been doing and saying in actual practice all these years that has roused some of us out of our complacent sleep and set us to the task of self-analysis.

What kind of world would this be if everybody in it shared the spirit, the prevailing attitude and the present practical policies of the Universalist Church? May it not be that a considerable number of people have been asking themselves that question before taking our overtures too seriously? May it not be that they have delayed responding to our invitation long enough to look us over and decide whether they want to be identified with an institution that thinks, acts and feels just as we do, as evidenced by the testimony, not always spoken, of our representative people?

Here is a prospect for church membership. We are asking him to cast in his lot with us. What are we offering to share with him? Well, for one thing, our denominational reaction to the present vast indifference, or hostility, to everything for which the church stands in the popular mind. We have no yardstick sufficient to measure that state of mind. What is our reaction to it? Have we any specific answer to the challenge of it? Anything different, anything arresting, anything compelling? Have we had the courage to say or do anything outside the beaten path? Have we dared to say to the worshippers of tradition and the snobs of respectability, "Go to, now, let us have a religion of the first person and the plural number and the present tense"? Have we, who have so long prided ourselves upon being different, actually dared to be different? Have we tried to adapt ourselves and our institution to the peculiar needs of the present generation, even at the risk of some of the sacred shibboleths? Have we tried bringing our fundamental principles down out of the rarefied air of intellectual speculation into the warm heart of practical brotherhood?

Have we done any of these things? Or have we contented ourselves with being "proper" and "respectable," while the world went on its indifferent, half mocking way? Or have we, who so loudly professed to be of another sort, been as immovably orthodox as a graveyard? Your prospect out on the sidelines knows the answer, even if we do not. His degree of eagerness to share this state of mind indicates what his answer is.

This problem of popular indifference, aggravated by a rapidly increasing hostility complex, is challenging us. If we were making any attempt to meet it and solve it, any attempt which had not the stamp of orthodox respectability upon it, the world would know it. That man in the street, whom we are so eager to win, would know it. And we would know it, and give evidence of that knowledge in new pulses of power. But the simple truth is that we are more abashed in the face of this situation than the most fanatical fundamentalist. The mere suggestion of getting out of the beaten path and retrieving our lost position of pioneer leadership in the religious world sends chills running down our spines and starts a great chattering of teeth among us. What would our orthodox neighbors think of us?

Where is the Solomon who can explain this paradox? Universalists afraid to challenge precedent and defy tradition! Dr. Atwood, in his president's address two years ago, declared that he would far rather be entering the Universalist ministry today than to be taking it up in the heroic, adventurous days of the fathers. I wouldn't! Not that Universalism, as a philosophy of life, lacks anything today. Not that our faith, put to work, does not have in it the power to redeem the world. It is simply that we of this day have lost or failed to recapture the spirit of adventurous daring which was in the hearts of our fathers. They were not afraid to be Universalists in a day when, in order to be a Universalist at all, you had to be different. They were not bound hand and foot by the grave clothes of formalism and conformity. Their mission was not to win the approbation of their orthodox neighbors, but to proclaim a new interpretation of the gospel. In their flaming passion to meet the peculiar religious needs of their generation they took to the open road of preaching and practice. Who follows in their train? Who dares to grapple with the needs of today with the same high courage and fortitude?

Now let no layman stand up and say, "Only give us preachers who will blow such a trumpet in Zion and we will rally to the call. The pews are ready. Give us leadership." It isn't so. Our ministers are none too brave, God knows; but the chief inertia is among the laymen. The majority of the men and women who are supporting our churches today honestly do not want them any different. No greater fallacy was ever disseminated than this talk about the laity being ready for a radical change and a swift advance. Let the minister so much as change the position of a single piece of pulpit furniture, and find out for himself. And this is the attitude — conservative, reactionary, almost bellicose — that is rendering us helpless today. Now and then comes in a man from the street aglow with hope and high expectation. He has heard of Universalism, that wonderful faith postulated upon the universal Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. His heart has been hungering for it, and now he has found a church in which that spirit throbs and thrills. But after he has encountered once, twice or thrice this impalpable wall of conservatism and smug self-satisfaction, he goes out into the street again with a chill upon his heart, and ten times a greater cynic than he was before.

Since we are dealing in paradoxes, we may now pass on to another one equally amazing. Some three years ago we began to think seriously about the question of a closer co-operation between our own denomination and certain others obviously most like ourselves in polity and spirit. Congregationalists and Unitarians were specifically in mind in this adventure, the formal overtures, as a matter of fact, coming to us first from the Congregationalists. A century hence this event will be recognized as marking an epoch in theological history. It is putting it mildly to say that nearly everybody concerned was surprised. Observers in other churches and students of current affairs outside the church, were amazed. Here were two denominational groups, whose traditional theology was as far apart as the poles, proposing to get together. Something surely had happened — something not reflected in formal creeds and popular confessions of faith. What would come of it? What would the parties concerned do about it? Would they have the courage to meet squarely the situation thus created?

I need not rehearse the history of these three years. If you have read the reports and communications sent out from time to time, sent out with the prayerful plea that they might be read, you know exactly what has been done. And you know how little that is, how harmless, how innocuous. A few meetings of joint commissions, at which the utmost possible action was a discussion of the obstacles to be overcome before we can even work as friendly and understanding allies, to say nothing of actually merging our several forces. That, and writing reports about it.

But a good many of our people, it seems, have not read these reports. A good many, it seems, who have read them have done so in the light (or obscurity!) of their prejudices. Many others, it seems, have regaled themselves with rumors and guesses and speculations. The "Boston gang" are trying to sell us out! The Convention officials, fearing that the denomination is going on to the rocks, are looking for a soft place to light! A helpless Jonah, thrown overboard by his own false friends, is about to disappear into the maw of a hungry ecclesiastical whale! Such shuddering eventualities, it should be conceded, have been mostly associated with the thought of uniting with the Congregationalists; but the idea of affiliation with the Unitarians has provoked sharp opposition in many quarters.

These reactions are not at all puzzling to any one who knows even a little about human nature; and there is probably about as much human nature per cubic inch in the Universalist Church as in any other group of decent men and women. We are all prone to snap judgments. Our suspicions, unhappily, are not always held in leash by a generous spirit or a determination to get all the facts.

But there is something deeper which is puzzling — to me. And that is the smouldering hostility to this whole movement on the part of some of our most excellent people. The plea of these persons is that it somehow involves disloyalty to our faith, our history, our traditions, our denominational spirit. There is a curious admixture of fear, panic, resentment, indignation. Some come out and oppose the idea openly. Others mourn in secret, some sulk in their tents. And all at a terrific expense to our morale.

Now what puzzles me is this. These people claim to be the only original and genuine Universalists. They alone are true to the sacred and glorious past. They are the Simon-pure, blown-in-the-bottle William B. Shearers of the Universalist Church; and there shall be no Geneva conventions and no reduction of theological armaments if they can prevent it. But let us consider. How do their protests comport with the historical facts? Have we not always complained that we Universalists were doctrinally rejected and despised of men? Have we not always waxed indignant because other churches would not affiliate with us, would not recognize us as orthodox, or evangelical; would not even concede that we might be Christians? Have we not laid the blame for our revolt and schism at the doors of an orthodoxy that refused to tolerate our larger and worthier concept of God? And have we not professed a great yearning for the time when our faith would gain a larger recognition, and the hand of fraternity would be reached out to us? I ask you if all this is not true. Then, in the name of all that is consistent and lucid and logical, how can any one who claims to be loyal to that kind of past scorn the overtures so long withheld from us, and reprimand their colleagues for a willingness to clasp the proffered hand?

Can it be possible that these brothers of ours have not perceived the implications of this movement? The Congregationalists are an orthodox body, traditionally and historically orthodox. Their orthodoxy is not above suspicion in some quarters, I cheerfully admit. But they travel in very respectable ecclesiastical company. Now can you imagine that these eminently respectable people would have proposed a closer affiliation with us unless they had grown to recognize an essential identity between our faith and their own? Would they have dared make these overtures, endorsed by the unanimous vote of their National Council, if they had not become to all intents and purposes a Universalist church? They have not asked us to relinquish our faith or to cease from the proclamation of it. They have not pledged themselves to espouse our doctrines. Some of them will not. But they do believe, as thousands of us believe, that we can now walk together on the broad principle of Christianity as a way of life. Yet it is incredible that this thing could have come to pass without a sharp theological transition in the Congregational Church. I do not believe that our church is less Universalist than it was fifty years ago. Could this have happened fifty years ago? Or twenty-five years ago? Where, then, is the change?

I am not now advocating that we shall unite with the Congregationalists. I do not regard that as the fundamental issue at all. Perhaps by this time they want to withdraw their offer. They could scarcely be blamed if they did. No doubt they need the Universalists. It would help them amazingly to throw off some of their old inhibitions and declare openly the full counsel of God. And God knows that we need some of the missionary urge and evangelical fervor of the Congregationalists. What I am concerned with just now is the amazing inconsistency, the bewildering paradox, of those who are thrusting away from us the answer to our prayer of a hundred and fifty years, — the prayer that this great faith of ours might win a wider acceptance.

This is the second phase of our denominational psychology which our "prospect" must accept, or at least condone, if he casts in his lot with us. He will not be obliged to subscribe to any such stand-pat policy, for he will soon learn that it really represents a minority, though a very strong one. But if he is intelligent and reasonably informed concerning our history, he will see the inconsistency of it at once. Will he readily join a church in which such an inconsistency is found on the part of a considerable number of its people? Can he be blamed for taking his time? Say what you will about the practical inconsistency of most non-churchmen in this matter of rivalry and competition. They may be engaged in some business which is fiercely competitive, and they may believe in competition as a wholesome principle in the business world. But they simply cannot reconcile the religion of brotherhood with dogmatic intolerance and sectarian jealousy. One can hardly blame our prospect for hesitating to unite with a church that refuses to take the first few timid steps toward a larger unity.

Now, then, given a certain mental bias, it is easy to discover the relation of cause and effect in areas where such relationship does not actually exist at all. Perhaps I shall afford an example of this when I allege that a beaten path is discernible between the two aspects of our denominational situation with which I have now been dealing and a third aspect no less significant. But for the life of me I cannot tell whether the footprints on this pathway are pointing forward or backward; that is, I am uncertain which is cause and which is effect.

This third circumstance is the attitude assumed by a great number of our ministers and laymen — chiefly ministers — with respect to a nebulous something which they call "General Headquarters," or the "Governing Body of the Church." Of course there is no such thing as a Governing Body in the Universalist Church, outside of this Convention now in session, because our form of organization is purely congregational. You, here in convention assembled, do all the governing; and you elect a Board of Trustees to carry out your instructions in the interim between sessions of your Convention. You have no bishop with power to say, "Do this," or "Do that." There is no board or committee or commission with power to adopt or carry out any policy without your express authority by vote of this Convention. All you have is a group of unsalaried, overworked men and women who are doing their loyal best to interpret the instructions you have given them, and to try to win from you some degree of co-operation in carrying out those instructions. And it is a part of the hazard of such high honor to be posed in the minds of most of our constituency as a sort of sublimated tribunal, with unlimited wisdom (or stupidity!) to originate, and full authority to execute, all the policies of the Universalist denomination.

All this is so trite and obvious that it is a shame to take up your valuable time in saying it. But it must be said in order to provide the proper springboard for my next plunge. What shall we say of the almost unceasing barrage of criticism leveled at the officials of the Convention for trying to carry out the instructions which you have given? What shall we say of the constant complaints directed at the heads of the men who are not responsible for the policies you have adopted, but who are honestly trying to execute them at your behest? You adopt a report pledging adherence to the policy of a closer co-operation, and possible ultimate union, with other Christian bodies. You authorize the appointment of a commission to carry on in pursuance of that policy. Thereupon the complaints pour in that, because of the activities, real or imagined, of this commission, there are doubt and unrest in the church at large. Folks are wondering whether it is worth while to maintain the church in the face of such goings on.

You authorize the building of a National Memorial Church, and prescribe its approximate cost. Manifestly, the only way your Trustees can build such a church is by pro-rating that cost among our several churches in the form of a quota. They do this — and about two-thirds of you flatly refuse to pay! In the meantime your Board is being bombarded with vehement protests against such a foolish enterprise as a National Memorial Church in Washington. As if the Board were responsible for it! So, to achieve a respectable approach to the thankless task you have laid upon us, we must resort to the expedient of employing a solicitor to go out and persuade generous individuals to help save you, the Universalist denomination, from the reproach of having laid a foundation you were not able to finish.

You endorse the policy of our Japan Mission and pass resolutions praising the consecrated men and women who are endeavoring to keep our banner flying in that far-off land. You adopt, without a dissenting vote, a budget containing an item for the frugal support of this Mission. Then you refuse contributions from your churches, and permit our apostles to skimp and starve and nurse their broken hearts in forgotten exile. Put forth a plea in their behalf, and the majority of our constituency will answer, indifferently or with indignation, "I wish the Boston office would quit pestering us about the Japan Mission. I never did believe in foreign missions, anyhow." But it is your enterprise, not a fad or foible of the Board of Trustees.

These are the outstanding examples of a deep-seated state of mind among us. Often it finds expression in a sweeping indictment of the whole program of the church, invariably identifying that program with the officials who are elected to carry it out. "Why doesn't the General Convention do something?" is the common plaint of these querulous critics. Just what they mean by "the General Convention" in that connotation, I leave you to guess. But just let the officers of the Convention try to put something over in their parishes, something of which they may not personally approve, and see how quickly the fur will fly. Let the Secretary remind them that their quota is unpaid and they are consequently not entitled to representation in the Convention. Let the Superintendent try to send a minister to some church that does not want him, or to which he is not willing to go. Let the Trustees attempt to settle a local quarrel or decline to appropriate money to help some church that thinks "the Convention ought to do something for us." Let any one of these things happen, and see how promptly the authority of this sublimated "Governing Body" of the church is challenged. The idea of their trying to dictate to us! And that is well enough, too; for is not ours a church of the congregational order, with each local society an autonomous body? But where now goes the consistency of these unhappy souls? Hands constantly stretched out when they want something; fists tightly doubled at a hint of what they call "interference from Headquarters." Rather like the headstrong youngster who welcomes Dad's assistance only when he gets in some sort of trouble.

It is interesting to guess what explanation might be made of this by psychologists of the modern school. They would probably say that it is a kind of "defence mechanism," and this is where the thing ties back into the first point of my address. Most of us feel rather helpless in the face of the vast indifferentism of the times. We are not making headway against it. But we are not quite willing to admit that the fault may be in ourselves so we hunt around for an alibi, and find it in criticizing the fellows higher up. It is all their fault that our morale is low, congregations small and budgets depleted.

And the facts seem to support this explanation. Few, if any, of the "kicks" are coming from successful ministers or churches. Pick out the half dozen churches in our denomination at the present time which are conspicuously successful, — the churches whose ministers are getting a hearing, whose membership is increasing, and whose obligations to their Conventions are being met promptly and without grumbling. Are any of these criticisms of method and polity coming from them? Very few, I dare say. They are too busy doing the work they are set to do, — work which, in the aggregate, is the work of the Universalist Church. It is those who are dissatisfied, those who are unwilling or unable to adjust themselves to their situation, those who feel themselves "slipping" for any reason or no reason at all, who are feverishly trying to lay the blame upon some mythical Supreme Court of the denomination.

Anybody could have written my speech up to this point. Probably most of you could have done it better. Any boy, with a monkey wrench and a screw driver, can dismantle a motor. Criticism, self-analysis, taking things apart, is not a very hard task, and it constitutes the most popular indoor sport among the intelligentsia. Investigations, surveys, psychoanalyses, diagnoses — our whole society has been turned into a sort of clinic. A book has recently come out wholly devoted to the business of telling us what is the matter with the typical American small city, and how it got that way. But the authors fail to tell us what to do about it. That is not their function, they say. They only make the diagnosis; they never prescribe. Will Rogers was something more than a humorist when he called the present age in American history, "The Passing of the Buck." When one undertakes to find the answer, prescribe the remedy, and take the medicine, one is instantly overwhelmed with a humbling sense of his own inadequacy.

I may be wrong, but I believe that there is an answer, and I honestly believe that the answer is very simple. It would not be the answer to this identical problem in the Roman Catholic Church, for instance, for in that communion power and authority are from above downward. In the Roman Catholic Church there is a visible head, and that head is supreme. Rule and policy are imposed. But in our communion, and all others of the congregational order, power, authority and efficiency are from below upward. So the answer is the individual minister, in the individual local church. Everything impinges upon him. If the love and loyalty of the people for the institution he serves cannot be won by him, it cannot be won at all. If there is any growth in the church, it must be stimulated by him and center around him. If the faith of life for which we stand makes any inroads upon the inert mass of popular indifferentism, it will be due to the flame and flash of his invincible spirit. I do not forget the inertia, even resentment, that he must somehow overcome. I do not forget the absence, in churches of our order, of an ultimate human authority outside of himself to which he can appeal to give authority and power to his message. It is because I am remembering all this that I make the assertion that the answer is the individual minister himself. Isolated often and lonely, rarely with an adequate physical equipment, more often than not with a relatively small following of tired and discouraged people, he must somehow, in and through himself, find the sources of power to keep the church going and growing.

Boys, we have simply got to dig in, every one of us. Probably right where we are at the present moment, or in some other quickly found field where the soil is better adapted to our style of pickaxe and shovel. There is no substitute and no equivalent for that in the Universalist Church; and there is no possible ecclesiastical alibi if we fail to do it. That sounds ruthless, I know, but there is no alternative. If you do not have a clear conception of our faith in its bearings upon the peculiar needs of this generation, you had better get it, and quickly. If you have not the unalterable conviction that this is the only faith capable, for you, of perfectly meeting those needs, you had better get it, and quickly. If you have not learned the most effective ways of presenting that faith to perhaps the most difficult generation which the prophets have ever assailed, you had better learn it somehow, and quickly. And if you have not the courage to defy the traditions, if need be, to get that message over and if you are not able to screw up that kind of courage, you had better investigate the field of life insurance, and do it right away. And if, by the grace of God, you cannot somehow win the love and confidence of your people to yourself in such a way that they will stand for all sorts of blunders in judgment while you are trying to spread and strengthen your wings, the sooner you find some other occupation the better. If you have not latent within yourself the potencies of appeal and successful spiritual leadership, no smokescreen of criticism of our denominational policies or officials can possibly save you from professional failure.

In a little book that appeared some years ago, Professor Skinner of Tufts College has included this pregnant paragraph: "The fight for freedom is never won. Inherited liberty is not liberty but tradition. Each generation must win for itself the right to emancipate itself from its own tyrannies, which are ever unprecedented and peculiar. Therefore those who have been reared in freedom bear a tremendous responsibility to the world to win an ever larger and more important liberty." This germinal truth has been stated many times before and since, but never more pungently than in these words of Dr. Skinner's. Often within the last decade have they served me as a text and stimulus.

If the Universalist Church has any right to a continued existence as a separate and distinct fellowship it must find its charter in that declaration. I am not at all interested in perpetuating it simply as an institution. I am not concerned to keep it going merely as another denomination. But I am concerned mightily in perpetuating the spirit out of which the Universalist Church was born. It was born to emancipate its own generation from its peculiar theological tyranny. It did that work and did it triumphantly because its prophets were not afraid to launch their attack boldly and without apology. They won their freedom, and it has been bequeathed to us as a priceless legacy. But by the time it got to us it was not a liberty but a tradition. Traditions are precious, and men do well to cherish them. But no one ever pioneered in behalf of a tradition. Pioneering, hot-blooded, whole-hearted, daring, impetuous and invincible, is done only in behalf of an evangel new born in the hearts of its crusaders. Unless the Universalist Church has such an evangel for today, it is not worth your precious time, or mine. If we are through pioneering, we are through as a separate denomination. If we have no function except that of threshing over and interminably the old straw of theological controversy after the fashion of a hundred years ago, then we have no function worth performing. Yes, there will always be need for clear thinking and bold statement in the realms of theology; but not for the purpose of proving the non-existence of an endless hell. The implications of our faith are challenging us now, and they sharpen the spearpoint of our message to the present generation. We must, and on our own account, win an ever larger and more important liberty, and we must be as reckless in that task as our fathers were.

Universalism! — we have not touched the near horizons of what that means in human life. God is the Father of all, and all men are brothers. What are we going to do about that now? Not a new truth, but a new interpretation and new points of contact. The church that is willing to lose itself in the demonstration of that vibrant gospel, with spiritual abandon and without mental reservation, will find itself gloriously in this day of the church's humiliation.

Report of the Executive Secretary

To the Members of the Convention.

The first word of this report should and must be an expression of appreciation for the cordial and whole-hearted co-operation of officers and people in all of our organizations, — the General Convention, the State Conventions, the denominational auxiliary bodies, and local churches. It is a real pleasure to express publicly my conviction that we are rapidly learning the art of working together in a free fellowship, not through compulsion or because of authority, but through a common interest in the same great cause. It has been an especial privilege to work with State officers and superintendents in attempting to solve our common problems and achieve our common ends.

This Convention meets at a critical time. The Universalist Church stands today in the Valley of Decision. I suppose these are not new statements. Some will reply that the church is always in the Valley of Decision, and all times are critical. That is true. But the present transition is so rapid as almost to bewilder us. We are living in the midst of revolutions as vital and far-reaching in effect as the so-called industrial revolution of the eighteenth century. We are so involved in them that their significance frequently escapes us. These revolutions — in economics, in industry, in the change from rural to urban population, in the shrinking of the world into a neighborhood (witness the flight of the "Graf Zeppelin") — all profoundly affect religion and the church.

Furthermore, there perhaps has never been a period in human history when men's ideas — economic, political, moral, social and religious — were in such a "molten" state as at present. The new revelations of science, new concepts in philosophy, upsetting age-old forms of thought, have left many in a state of mental and spiritual uncertainty as sheep without a shepherd.

One of the important results for us to ponder is that this makes the present day potential for great good or tremendous evil. Prof. L. P. Jacks was quoted recently as saying that "there is a terrific struggle going on in America between God and the devil, with the advantage slightly on the side of God." It is a time, therefore, to help shape these ideas and ideals toward the ends in which we believe. It is well to recall the dictum of Horace Mann that "when a thing is growing, one former is worth a thousand reformers." It is especially urgent that in this rapidly changing age the thoughts and ideals of men be shaped aright. When Ramsay MacDonald affirmed recently, after his famous conference with President Hoover on the log beside the Rapidan, "that there is a new diplomacy which some people haven't yet discovered," he set some tongues a-wagging in defence of old and narrow ideals. But there is — or may be — a new diplomacy, a new ethics, a new morality, a new religion.

All this is just a hint as to the reasons for emphasizing the critical character of this Convention. It will indelibly stamp its mark on the Universalist Church of the future. There are many signs that there is a new awakening among our church people. If this Convention does not grasp the significance of its acts and plumb the depths of spiritual strength and power, it will lose one of its great, historic opportunities. If we waste the precious time of this gathering on dotting i's and crossing t's, in making clean the outside of the cup only, we shall not be worthy of the trust we have.

I know, all too well from experience, that we must spend time on details of reports and business; that we must tinker our laws, listen to reports and adopt resolutions which we mainly forget after the Convention, but God forbid that in being "busy about many things" we fail to "choose the better part." A weary, disheartened, unsettled world needs rest and cheer and guidance. Men and women, hungering and thirsting for they know not what, are waiting for the bread and water of life. Are we going to be so busy that they shall ask of us in vain? If I had my way, I would ask this Convention to pass two votes, — the first to rescind and wipe off our records the recommendations and resolutions of the past, which have been largely ignored in practice; the second, to adopt the Sermon on the Mount and the parable of the Good Samaritan as the law and gospel for us, and then spend the rest of our time together on the Mount of Transfiguration preparing to go back into the valleys of service where sick and sinful and weary and discouraged humanity awaits us.

The Program Committee, in response to a memorial from the National Council of Superintendents, has endeavored to make the general theme of this Convention contribute toward the inspiration of all our ministers and people. All of the addresses will be attuned to one note, — "The Spiritual Values of Liberal Christianity." The morning devotional services will help us start the day right. In heart searching and soul testing we shall attempt to discover if there is any spiritual power in our boasted broader faith. Let us not be too busy to think on these things.

I do not want to spend much time in this report on dealing with the many problems we are facing. These will come before us in reports and discussions later on. That these are difficult times for the church no one can deny, but the very difficulties and opportunities bring us only a challenge to greater interest, more serious study, and more devoted service.

Of the problems we all meet, perhaps the most staggering are the result of the very transitions noted above. Many of our city churches face a changing neighborhood, with families moving away from the vicinity of the church into suburbs or to other towns and cities. Loyal workers and supporters move away and no others come to take their places. Apartment houses replace private homes, and apartment dwellers do not make for a permanent constituency. If the church follows some of its families to a new neighborhood, the same process goes on until another change is necessary in a few years more. The answer to the city church problem is being sought by competent investigators. It will probably be found in some cases in the combination church and income-bearing building, or in the church with sufficient endowment to enable it to employ a staff of workers, — a central rallying point with an effective pulpit and branches for religious education and community service in different sections of the city.

This change of population is affecting the town, village and rural churches fully as much as the city churches. The young people grow up and leave for school and college or to work in the city and return home only for visits — not to become settled residents. Overchurching and underchurching are particularly noticeable in many such places. In numerous instances there are many competing churches, none of which adequately serves the community. The larger parish idea as it is being carried out in Maine may be the answer to this problem. Receiving sets in churches to which preaching may be broadcasted from central stations, with parish workers and directors of religious education especially trained for rural conditions, may be the way out. Larger churches in communities near by, with a staff of workers who could be used in these communities, may help to save these churches and really serve them in an adequate way. Such smaller churches must be promoted not only for the work they can do in these communities, but for the selfish reason that they are feeders to churches in larger places to which their young men and women may go. Without this new blood many of our city churches would soon fade out and die.

Another group of problems we all encounter may be classified as financial. The budgets of many of our local churches have not kept pace with the changes which have been taking place in the economic conditions of our country. In many cases they are absolutely inadequate for the work the local church should be doing. The failure of many churches to support the denominational programs makes it impossible for the State and General Conventions and the auxiliary organizations to take advantage of the many opportunities which continually come to them. With distressing frequency we must reply to some call, "We would like to assist, but funds do not permit."

I am far from believing that money should be the sole measure of a church's success, but I am persuaded that the financial budget is a fair barometer of the interest manifested in other phases of work. Our people are neither poor nor stingy. Our problem here is largely a matter of continuous education and the development of a sense of stewardship.

This education is one of the serious challenges to us in the years to come. The most discouraging letters which have come to the Convention offices recently from ministers and officers of local churches, many of them large ones, are those which ask, "How little can we pay to be entitled to representation at Washington?" Frankly, such lack of leadership in the local parishes will seal the doom of many of these churches. It is a fact of Christian history that those churches and denominations which live unto themselves do nothing else. The support of the Japan Mission, for example, while important for the work of the Mission, is far more important for its reflex action upon the parish itself. When some of our parishes appropriate money for an assistant minister in the South or Japan or Korea or India or Syria, they will find it far easier to support their minister in the home field. That is not theory — it is fact, illustrated over and over again in Christian history. When we realize that many individual churches in other denominations give more for missions every year than all our churches combined, we have some better understanding of why we fail to grow.

Perhaps our financial systems are wrong. Perhaps the objectives before us are not the right ones, but I am persuaded that the roots of this problem go far deeper than that. They lie in our failure to understand and appreciate the meaning of stewardship of resources and ability. No change in system or objectives will eliminate this difficulty. We must somehow discover a new motive which will touch the hearts and the purses of our people.

Perhaps the root problem of all is the lack of any sense of mission for the Universalist Church. Is our work done? Is there any excuse for our continued existence? Is there any field for our labors as a denomination? When we were defending a distinctive theological doctrine, there was discernible some reason for being. With a growing liberalism in many churches that motive has largely gone, although there is still a tremendous need of the evangel of Universalism.

The adoption of the Joint Statement at the last Convention and the continued activities of the Commission on Comity and Unity in accordance with instructions of that Convention have led many to raise this question. "If we are going to merge with or be absorbed by other denominations, why support the Universalist Church?" The answer to that has been made clearly and definitely by this Commission when it affirmed that it has never had before it any question of merger with any one. The fact which we all must recognize is that something is going to happen in the church world in the next few years. No sane man can defend the existence in this country of over two hundred denominations reported by the United States Census Bureau. What will happen no one knows. Your Commission on Comity and Unity and your officers have taken the position that the Universalist Church should accept the opportunity to have some part in shaping this movement. We cannot stop it if we would, and we wouldn't stop it if we could. The very fact that our church is deemed important enough to be recognized in this movement by leaders in other denominations, some of them much larger and stronger than ourselves, ought to be a matter for congratulation rather than commiseration. Our very success in helping to change the temper and outlook of the Christian Church in America seems to have discouraged and disheartened some of our people.

With a larger spirit of unity have we any motive as a church? Look about you and the answer is obvious, — 50 per cent of the people of this country without any church connections; more than this percentage of children of school age not receiving any religious education from Protestant, Catholic or Jewish institutions; and the world staggered by problems which demand religion for their solution. Is there any motive?

Jacob Riis once said that "the only thing the forces of evil of New York City fear is a United Christian Church." In a larger sense, the solution of many of the world problems will be found only when the Christian Church presents a united frontal attack upon them. There is a vast difference between church union and Christian unity. It is the latter we seek. I want to go on record as stating my belief that our Commission has made some real contributions to this cause, the fruits of which will appear in later years.

The new motive for us, as Dr. Perkins has so well pointed out, is to realize that Universalism is primarily a faith to fight with not to fight for. Dr. Fosdick is credited with saying that "parties in religion that present living issues serve an indispensable function." If in our faith is to be found the solution of the world's problem, there is a compelling motive to larger activity.

This brings us to the heart of the whole matter which this Convention should face fairly and squarely. A spiritual dynamic is the only thing which will save us for further usefulness in the world, for the problems of injustice, unrighteousness, warfare and bloodshed will be solved only when the motive of love, of service, and a sense of mutual dependence, become dominant in the individual lives and the social relationships of men. Hearts must be touched with a new power. Industrial peace will come, for example, only with a realization of interdependence in place of exploitation of man by man. World peace will be realized, not alone through peace treaties, Hague tribunals, leagues of nations, or the scrapping of arms and battleships, but through changing the fundamental thinking and willing of men everywhere. How Ramsay MacDonald thrilled us all when he affirmed with emotion and conviction, in regard to the plans he had considered with President Hoover for peace, "What risk would I be taking? I would be taking the risk of peace. I will take it! I will take it!"

These are new and challenging times for the church: "New occasions which teach new duties."

Our chief task, therefore, is to make our local churches more vital, more aggressive, more actively Christian, and co-operatively make our larger church a more effective force for a realization of Christian brotherhood throughout the world. With Paul we must say, "This one thing I do" — and do it.

How shall we make our local churches effective? Better organization will help. The development of state and regional superintendencies, with field workers available for assistance where needed, will give us some necessary machinery. But by and large, the whole matter sifts down to a question of ministerial leadership. The responsibility is largely upon the ministers of our churches. Why is it that appeals come to us for missionary aid in many places in this country, from Japan and Korea, from Australia, India, Jamaica and Syria? Why is it that a long list of ministers from other churches want to come with us? Because they believe we have the gospel message which the world needs. Can we, then, who have this as a blessed inheritance shirk our tasks with impunity? Somehow we must achieve again that prophetic zeal which will send us forward with new power and new purpose.

Professor Hutcheon in his inspiring book, "Frankness in Religion," says: "The prophetic message is not a cool philosophical discourse suitable to any time or place — it is the response of the living soul of the prophet to a definite social situation." Our early Universalist preachers were zealous prophets not alone because of the theological challenge of their day. They were moved equally in their revolt from Calvinism by what Dr. Sanderson calls their "fervor for humanity." They wanted each child of God to realize his divine possibilities and to strive with all the power and passion of prophets and pioneers to teach and inspire people with these ideals. It is something of that same passion for souls, that "fervor for humanity," which we must have today if our churches are to be effective.

Our ministers, to be real leaders, must have this prophetic vision which will stir them to the very depths. They must feel anew the call of the ministry to needy men and women, and boys and girls. There must be a response of their living souls to definite situations which we are facing.

To gain this new vision I hope in the near future we can have some "Schools of the Prophets" in various sections in which different leaders can point out the way to us. Our theological schools can help through correspondence courses in modern religion or through "freshener courses" from time to time, which our men could attend. If exchanges of ministers of churches in different parts of the country could be arranged it would tend to broaden the outlook and change the point of view of many. An automobile "gospel van" sent out on preaching missions with different speakers would revive interest and make us revaluate our gospel for the needs of the world.

In our local churches, in addition to the preaching of a revitalized gospel, classes dealing with the implications and applications of Universalism would produce unmeasurable results. Men like Sheldon Shepard of Los Angeles and Bernard Ruggles of Oakland are making effective use of this method. Think what it would mean for the solidarity and power of our faith if all of our churches should study and think simultaneously on some of these things. If enough ministers could be brought to adopt and use this method it would be wise for the General Convention to issue some studies for regular use in such classes.

Above all, if our local churches could be given the vision of the larger church of which they are a part, of the world responsibility we have, we would see a revival which would astonish the most ardent Universalist alive. I do not advocate any drives or crusades — only the persistent following of the vision which is ours. We must concentrate on the moral and spiritual awakening of our people, renew their zeal for the great venture of faith and their allegiance to the personal leadership of that positive, aggressive, fearless, creative Man of Galilee in whose name they serve. Canon Streeter has aptly called Jesus "a constructive revolutionary." By serving in His cause we can help shape the current revolutions toward constructive ends.

Let me close this statement as I began it — the church, this church of ours, is today in the Valley of Decision. This gathering may be historic, for it will help to determine our part in the weal or the woe of future generations. Our great faith will go forward with us or in spite of us. We must decide as to what part we shall have in its advancement. It's no light responsibility laid upon us by our championship of a faith in God's Universal fatherhood, man's Universal brotherhood, and a love which eventually must win. We set no tasks for others, but we cannot evade our own. As Jesus said to the inquiring disciple, "What is that to thee? Follow thou me."

Most of you are familiar with Kipling's stirring poem, "The Explorer." The first stanza pictures the Explorer as accepting the common "What's the use?" attitude. Our work is done — why go on?

> "'There's no sense in going farther — it's the edge of cultivation,'
> So they said, and I believed it — broke my land and sowed my crop —
> Built my barns and strung my fences in the little border station
> Tucked away below the foothills where the trails run out and stop."

Then there comes to him a call and an awakening.

> "Till a voice, as bad as Conscience, rang interminable changes
> On one everlasting Whisper, day and night repeated — so:
> 'Something hidden. Go and find it. Go and look behind the Ranges —
> Something lost behind the Ranges. Lost and waiting for you. Go!'"

So the Explorer went out — over mountains, rivers, plains, through storms and hardship, ever following the voice "as bad as Conscience." And over the path he blazed came engineers, settlers, civilization. The Explorer got no credit, named no rivers, but from his labors grew a new empire. Then he adds:

"God took care to hide that country till
He judged his people ready,
Then he chose me for His Whisper, and I've found it, and it's yours.

"Yes, your 'Never-never country' — yes, your 'edge of cultivation'
And 'no sense in going farther' till I crossed the Range to see.
God forgive me! No, I didn't. It's God's present to our nation.
Anybody might have found it but —
His Whisper came to Me!"

Our spiritual ancestors were explorers in the field of a larger faith whose purpose was to realize the divine possibilities inherent in all of God's children. Insistently the call came to them:

"Something hidden. Go and find it. Go and look behind the Ranges.
Something lost behind the Ranges. Lost and waiting for you. Go!"

And they went, blazing trails to a new and larger life. To us, their heirs, there comes insistently this same voice "as bad as Conscience":

"Something lost behind the Ranges. Lost and waiting for you. Go!"

True, "anybody might have found it" — might have had this larger vision, this broader faith, "but His Whisper came to Me!" This Convention must decide whether we have the courage, the daring and the persistent purpose to accept the responsibility which history has placed upon us as a church.

"To whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required."
"Something lost behind the Ranges. Lost and waiting for You. Go!"

Report of the Board of Foreign Missions

The plain fact of our mission in Japan is this: our missionary representatives in Japan cannot get along without us, and we at home in our oratory about Universal Brotherhood cannot get along without them. Each to the other is indispensable. They are the ones who tell the world how much we believe in a type of brotherhood called Universal.

The past year in Japan is marked with the customary devotion and love of their work on the part of our missionaries. Miss M. Agnes Hathaway returned to Japan realizing that it was her heart-home. The sad phase of the year is the condition of Dr. Tsuga of the Central Church, who is in a hard fight for life. Otherwise, there is the bright side in a group of missionaries seeing what needs to be done through their agencies and giving their all to its performance. There has been the going of the Cary children to the United States, and their collegiate training, and the departure of Rev. Clifford R. Stetson and family for a year of furlough. The Stetsons are doing a notable work in Shizuoka, which has not only the appreciation of those in the field, but likewise the Universalists at home. Mr. Stetson is taking courses in the Hartford Theological School, and speaking for the cause in our churches and conventions wherever it is possible for him to go.

Miss Ruth Downing has entered the field overseas after a useful career at Friendly House with Miss Hannah J. Powell. Miss Downing is serving under the auspices of the Women's National Missionary Association. Miss Georgene Bowen and Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Cary are the other American Universalists in the field "over there."

The Foreign Mission Board budget is $18,158.87. The Women's National Missionary Association requires approximately $5,000 for its Japan budget. This makes a total of about $24,000. Both organizations are providing every means of education and financial extraction that can be conceived. They admit there is always money for what people really want to spend, and likewise there is always time for what people really desire to do. That being true, the only step that is necessary is to get the money with which to finance this budget.

The Board of Foreign Missions returned this last year to the quota plan, giving each state a reasonable part of the amount required to balance the books. This plan will succeed if the states divide the quotas among their respective churches, and if the churches respond with the payments. The year passed with no state raising the amount of the quota. Nevertheless, credit must be given to every state and church that have done their best, even if that best isn't the sum that will flood the National Office with sunshine. If there is a whole-hearted endeavor to raise the quota, that situation is truly prophetic.

We rejoice that this year the New York churches are to endeavor to raise the salary of Dr. Cary in addition to the sum of $1,000 which is contributed by the state convention treasury for additional salary to Dr. Cary

The total amount received by our Executive Secretary's office is $8,229.17; Endowment Income, $2,202.21; total, $10,431.38. This figure is approximately $1,000 better than last year's report. The deficit for the year amounted to $7,727.49, which is paid from other income of the General Convention.

The Board is convinced that the response from churches and State Conventions is improved if a particular part of the work is assigned as their own enterprise in Japan. Such a request for an assigned part is happily granted. Another idea that will be worked is to issue shares that will be sold for $10 each, and in this way magnify the idea of real ownership in the cause of Universalism in Japan.

The Board of Foreign Missions for the past two years had the following members: Chairman, Rev. Fred C. Leining, D.D.; Secretary, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D.; Candidate Secretary, Rev. C. Guy Robbins, D.D.; Henry C. Morris, Rev. Josephine B. Folsom, Miss Mary Slaughter, Rev. Stanley Manning, Mrs. John I. Zoller, and Harold Bibber.

Report of the Commission on Comity and Unity

To the Universalist General Convention October 24, 1929.

At the Hartford session of the Universalist General Convention in October 1927, the following recommendations were adopted, as presented by the Commission on Comity and Unity:

"1. That we approve the Joint Statement issued by the Commissions representing the National Council of the Congregational Churches and the Universalist General Convention, not only as providing for closer fellowship between the Congregational and Universalist bodies, but as declaring the principles on which a wider unity of liberal Christians may be based. The adoption of this recommendation is to be interpreted in the light of the assertion in the Report of the Commission that nothing in the Joint Statement commits us to organic union or restricts in any degree our freedom of independent action with reference to other liberals, either persons or denominations.

"2. That we reaffirm our approval of the closer fellowship of liberal Christians proposed in the Unitarian overture, and instruct the Commission on Comity and Unity to further such fellowship in all possible ways.

"3. That we instruct the Commission on Comity and Unity to carry on conferences with the Congregational Commission on Interchurch Relations, the Unitarian Commission on Christian Unity, and with other like-minded Christians who also seek a wider liberal fellowship, with a view to furthering co-operation in accordance with the principles of the Joint Statement, and to report at the next session of the convention."

In May of this year the Commission, with the approval of the General Convention Trustees, issued a statement, which we embody in this report as epitomizing the spirit and scope of the Commission's activities since the last session of the Convention.

"The Commission on Comity and Unity of the Universalist General Convention issues the following statement as to its activities in recent months and its position on various questions of interchurch relations.

"1. The Universalist General Convention at its Hartford session instructed the Commission to carry on conferences with liberal minded Christians "with a view to furthering co-operation in accordance with the principles of the Joint Statement" adopted by the Convention itself.

"2. In pursuance of those instructions several conferences of an intimate and candid nature have been held with Congregationalists and others, in which Unitarians have participated at our request and by appointment of the American Unitarian Association.

"3. The Commission has continued to stand squarely on the principles laid down in its report at the Hartford Convention, namely, that "the basis of vital Christian Unity is a common acceptance of Christianity as primarily a way of life;" that "multitudes of forward-looking Christians share this unity of faith and endeavor, which needs to be afforded ways of practical expression;" that "differences of theological opinion need not separate but may enrich the content of faith and experience;" that "intellectual integrity rather than uniformity, freedom to seek and bear testimony to the truth as each sees it, are basic;" that "from any such fellowship as here suggested all exclusion must be self-exclusion."

"4. At no time since its original appointment has the Commission had before it concrete proposals for any merger or mergers of existing denominations, nor has it instituted negotiations to that end. Whatever discussion of mergers has been carried on has been by individuals or groups in the exercise of their unquestioned rights as members of a free church. The Commission has held to the position taken at Hartford, in accordance with its own report, "that nothing in the Joint Statement commits us to organic union," and that "none of us can yet foresee clearly what sort of organized fellowship will arise to give form and coherence to the spiritual unity that Christians of the open mind gladly confess." It has been glad to carry on discussion with other like-minded groups, looking toward closer fellowship and co-operation among liberal Christians, as instructed by the Hartford Convention. The Commission has not advocated the merging of the identity of the Universalist Church with any other denomination.

"5. The Commission realizes that the subject of Christian Unity engages the earnest consideration of all thoughtful religious leaders to-day. No one can prophesy what the future may bring forth. The recognition given our denomination as well as our ideas makes it clear that we may have an important part in shaping the course of events. How great a part we shall have depends first of all on our faith in our own faith, and our loyalty to our denomination and to our local churches. This is a time that demands our utmost loyalty and devotion to our present organization, that through it we may achieve a better one and make the greatest possible contribution to the establishment of God's Kingdom on earth."

Certain matters outlined in this statement call for more specific mention.

In the late fall of 1927, shortly after the last session of the Convention, representatives of our Commission, at the invitation of the Chairman of the Congregational Commission, met with representatives of the Congregationalist and Christian bodies. These two bodies were engaged in the task of working out a plan for actual consolidation, which has since been effected. They believed we would be interested because the avowed basis of the proposed union was not only the spirit but almost the very language of the basic principle of the Joint Statement adopted at Omaha and Hartford, viz: that acceptance of the Christian way of life is the unifying power among forward-looking Christians, with freedom in subsidiary matters of doctrine and ceremonial practice. The plan contemplated a denominational fusion in which we could not join, but we rejoiced that it was made possible by the ideal of unity of spirit which we had had part in shaping and proclaiming to the Christian world.

Out of this conference came a plan to have the chairmen of the three Commissions there represented join in calling a wholly unofficial gathering of representatives of various denominations to see how far the principles of the Joint Statement might be considered a vital basis for closer fellowship among liberal Christians. In such a conference Unitarians were to be included. Our representatives clearly stated that such inclusion was the acid test of the genuineness of our professed adherence to this basis of unity announced in the Joint Statement, not because our adoption of it was contingent on the Unitarians' acceptance of it, but because any setting up of an anti-Unitarian test would invalidate the very essence of the Statement and be an act of self-stultification. The members of the other two Commissions agreed. Accordingly, as the result of a conference with Dr. Cornish, President of the American Unitarian Association, a meeting of a small group representing the Unitarian and Universalist bodies was held on February 20, 1928. The purpose of the proposed conference was explained to our Unitarian friends and the earnest hope was expressed that they would accept an invitation to participate. It would, we believed, present an opportunity to foster a principle of unity that combined fellowship with freedom and that accorded with their genius as well as ours. They agreed to accept the invitation and to send delegates.

The conference was held in Washington in April, 1928. Twenty-five were present from twelve denominations. Drs. Perkins, Etz and Marshall represented our Commission. We lived together at a common hotel for two days in fraternal intimacy. No other purpose was cherished than that of acquaintance and mutual understanding. We discussed in utter candor not only the basis of unity but its obstacles. Congregationalist, Unitarian, Universalist, Baptist, Disciple, Christian questioned one another with a view not of arguing but of understanding what each regarded as vital and had to contribute to the enrichment of a common faith and purpose. No resolutions or votes were passed. Two facts emerged clearly. One was that no fellowship was possible or desirable that did not make place for whatever sincere conviction was vital to any group of Christians; the other, that the only basis of fellowship that would permit such freedom was one based on a common loyalty to the Christian way of life. Underneath these two convictions was a third—that this sort of unity was the greatest need of Christianity today.

In September of this year, 1929, members of the Executive Committee of the Commission held a conference in Boston with a group representing the Congregational Commission on Interchurch Relations. The developments of the last two years in both denominations were reviewed in a spirit of candor and mutual understanding. The conviction was strong and unanimous that progress had been made in real appreciation of the ideal set up in the Joint Statement, in better acquaintance with each other's genius and problems and points of view and clearer recognition of the methods by which closer fellowship could be secured. Special stress was placed on the value of magnifying opportunities for acquaintance and actual co-operative endeavor as they occurred in concrete situations.

The two years since the last session of the General Convention have been a fruitful period of education as to the deeper significance of the movement toward Christian unity in which we are involved. This is as it should be. Unity is not manufactured by commissions or created by the fiat of conventions. It comes by natural, unforced growth in the atmosphere of intelligence, mutual understanding and good will.

How rapidly it is actually coming few of us realize. The great Home Missions Council in the last decade has substituted co-operation for competition among the various denominational missionary boards, while local federations and unions are multiplying so rapidly that it is difficult to keep track of them. They vary in name and form of organization. Some retain all or a part of their former affiliations, others for the time being at least become independent. There are more than a thousand such churches and the number is increasing rapidly, and between forty and fifty Universalist churches have already become parts of such federations.

Where there are active and inclusive State Federations, it is possible to get a more definite picture of what is going on. The Massachusetts Federation of Churches, for example, publishes a list of ninety federated and union churches in that State, formed from pre-existing Universalist, Unitarian, Congregational, Methodist, Baptist, Christian, and perhaps other denominational units. And far more significant than the number is the fact that two-thirds of them have been formed during the last ten years.

In co-operation with the American Unitarian Association this Convention is successfully carrying on United Liberal Churches in Atlanta, Jacksonville, St. Petersburg, and other Southern cities, and there are also United Universalist and Unitarian Churches in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, and other states where we have found such fellowship a source of added power.

Three salient facts are becoming clear. One is that the sense of larger fellowship is the logical, inevitable development of the spirit that brought the Universalist Church into existence. The late John Coleman Adams, than whom no one better understood the inherent genius of the Universalist Church or was more loyal to its distinctive mission, used to emphasize the fact that we are a product of what he called the Broad Church movement. That hitherto inarticulate fellowship is finding a common speech. That essential oneness of faith and purpose is demanding recognition and more effective means of performing a common task. Not to see this is to exhibit a fatal lack of vision. To have no part in shaping this inevitable movement is to abdicate our birthright and to confess poverty of ecclesiastical statesmanship.

The second fact is that the larger unity must recognize and honor our distinctive variety of faith and experience. The Universalist Church has a distinctive work to do, a distinctive contribution to make to the enrichment of faith and service. It is, among other things, a guardian of the sacred right to differ and it cannot be at home in any fellowship that would seek unity through compromise or pursue peace through stifling freedom to testify. The ideal of unity is St. Paul's ideal of unity through variety, variety subservient to unity—the diversities of gifts that express the same spirit, the differences of administration through which the same Lord is served. Unity without variety means tyranny and spiritual death. Variety without unity means anarchy and spiritual impotence. It is not a question of "either —or" but of "both—and." Wholesale scrapping of denominations that have vital concerns to cherish will not ensure unity because the natural and rightful differences will re-appear under new names and forms. The ideal of unity must provide for them and honor them as good servants, though bad masters. It is an ideal difficult to realize but the only ideal that accords with the catholicity of the Christianity of Christ.

The third salient fact is that our immediate business as Universalists is to make the Universalist Church a strong, devoted, tempered and reliable agency through which the larger unity can function. This whole movement toward larger fellowship is not a call to die but a challenge to live, because the common task of a united liberal Christianity needs all the strength of faith and substance and disciplined loyalty that any church can contribute. That is the solemn and sobering responsibility that the new situation lays upon us and which we ignore at our peril. Those of us who believe most in unity based on Christian loyalty and spiritual freedom must be most conspicuous in loyalty to the branch of the Church Universal through which our particular service is to be rendered. Unity that is worth having comes not through cancelling but through augmenting the uniting forces. There may be incidental readjustments, in some cases consolidations, but these are not the objectives. The objective is building the kingdom of God and by our efficiency in this task shall we be judged in the greatest day of opportunity that has ever opened before us. We miss the significance of this movement toward the unity of free Christians if we fail to find in it a new motive to a nobler denominational loyalty. The best contribution to Christian unity that we Universalists can make at this momentous time is to demonstrate to liberal Christians everywhere the constructive power of the larger faith which they have come to cherish and which is our spiritual birthright. That is our immediate and permanent job, not in spite of the movement for unity but because of it. And it is the one and only way to ensure our place in the larger fellowship that is bound to come, for no other church will have great concern to co-operate with a church that will not operate.

"Nothing is so powerful," said Victor Hugo, "as an idea whose time has come." Something is happening, more is going to happen, in the way of closer fellowship of those Christians who find themselves spiritually at one in devotion to a common ideal of the kingdom of God.

It is sometimes urged against the movement for Christian unity that we do not know where we are going. True, but we know the direction of the road and the call to travel it. In a willingness to follow a vision before its day of fulfillment we are in the noble fellowship of spiritual adventurers in all the ages. "By faith Abraham, when he was called, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went." John Murray was of the same breed. We come of a long line of daring adventurers, and if the pioneering spirit still lives in us we shall follow the call of the blood and have our part in shaping this latest of the great historic religious adventures whose time has come. "What made Columbus great," it has been said, "was not the discovery of a new world but the courage to follow truth beyond far horizons."

We recommend that this Convention, in continued loyalty to the principles expressed in the Joint Statement adopted at the Hartford session in 1927, instruct the Commission on Comity and Unity to further in every possible way fellowship and co-operation with other liberal Christians in accordance with those principles.

Report of the Commission on Foreign Relations and World Peace

To the General Convention of the Universalist Church, in session at Washington, D. C., October 23 to 27, 1929.

Your Commission on Foreign Relations and World Peace would humbly submit that they and the like commissions of other churches and of the Federal Council of Churches and the numerous and powerful peace organizations throughout the world have not yet succeeded in establishing Permanent Peace as a certainty.

For in spite of the tremendous peace sentiment which seems dominant among all peoples, we note that while the nations sign the Peace Pact, and with sincerity we believe, they continue to maintain and even increase their armaments. While they do entertain more friendliness, the one for the other, at the same time they take counsel of their fears and consider that preparedness for war is a large part of the wisdom of peace.

It would seem, then, that the main objective of our efforts, especially those of a commission sponsored by a church, should be to secure Moral Disarmament to replace distrust with confidence, and to let fear be swallowed up by Christian good will. This means that our main business is to promote Peace Education.

Very inadequately, due to the fact that the members of your Commission have many other duties, we have endeavored to make a small contribution to this task.

We have, with the always cordial co-operation of Dr. Etz, sent to all our ministers the appeals for observance of Armistice Day and Good Will Day; also the Message to the Churches, adopted by the Study Conference of the Churches and World Peace, held in Columbus, Ohio, last March, and the pamphlet sayings of Jesus that have reference to War or Peace.

We have sent to the chairman of the Resolutions Committee of this Convention a number of resolutions —

1. Commending President Hoover for his earnest efforts to secure a real limitation of armaments.

2. Approving the Root formula for securing the entrance by the United States into the World Court.

3. Urging the Senate to adopt the Pan-American Arbitration Treaty.

We trust these will receive favorable consideration by this Convention.

The Chairman, by his membership on the Executive Committee of the Churches and World Peace, which arranges the study conferences, also on the Committee of Direction of the Commission on International Justice and Good

Will of the Federal Council of Churches, and Mr. Kearns, through his membership on this Federal Council's Peace Educational Committee, have valuable contacts with other peace agencies.

The third Study Conference will be held in Evanston, Ill., February 25 to 27, 1930. Although adherence by our Church to this Conference will mean considerable expense, it seems to some of us that the expense is justified, as it manifests our desire to co-operate with other denominations in a great cause.

Respectfully submitted,

To the Officers and Members of the Universalist General Convention.

Vermont had a flood. We gave our endorsement to the appeal sent out by the Red Cross and other helpful organizations, and were gratified to know that, whether living in New Hampshire, in California, or in any other section, our people responded with promptness and generosity. Thus they demonstrated that the ideal of an applied Christianity has not lost its magnetism.

China had a famine. We urged co-operation with the agencies organized for both temporary relief and future protection. Our people responded, as we knew they would. Children in Church Schools made a special offering, and adults gave freely, either through the General Convention or through undenominational channels.

The Near East Relief made a final canvass before closing its marvelous work. We emphasized the need of being faithful until the end. The Church Schools, in two Christmas offerings, added over $8,000 to their previous gifts, bringing their total up to more than $76,000. Churches and individuals continued their contributions. While exact figures will never be available, we believe Universalist givers have contributed during thirteen years at least a quarter of a million dollars to the Near East Relief.

In any exigency the people of our Church can be depended upon to do their share and something more than their share for relief. This is consistent with the doctrine of world friendship now clearly preached from our pulpits and proclaimed through our press.

We thank all those who have cheered us by their fine co-operation.

Report of the Commission on Religious Education

To the Officers and Members of the Universalist General Convention.

We are coming to an era of clearer thinking.

We are coming to an era of more efficient co-operation.

The definition of religious education is being broadened in accordance with more adequate conceptions of both religion and education. We now understand that the task is not confined to any single department of the church, but is great enough to include all activities by which a human being is moved and prepared for proper attitudes toward the Deity, and proper activities among his fellow men.

As a Commission we favor a closer correlation of the work of the pulpit, the press and all the auxiliary organizations of the Church, hoping that this can be brought about without sacrificing the autonomy and initiative of any.

Soon after the Hartford Convention we suggested that a committee of three be appointed, one member from the General Sunday School Association, one from the Young People's Christian Union, and one from this Commission. The organizations named promptly acquiesced, the Sunday School Association naming Prof. John M. Ratcliff, and the Young People's Union naming Miss Myrtle Belyea. Dr. McCollester, representing this Commission, served as chairman.

A questionnaire was circulated among leading people of the denomination, with the hope of getting definite suggestions for methods of fuller co-operation. This was almost simultaneous with a like canvass by the secretary of the General Convention, and it brought replies almost identical with those received by him.

The consensus revealed by both questionnaires is that our present organizations should be continued and strengthened; that their particular fields of service should be defined as sharply as possible; that there should be frequent conferences, with a view to mutual helpfulness; and that the work of correlation should be supervised by a commission or committee composed of representatives from the General Convention, the Women's National Missionary Association, the Young People's Christian Union, the General Sunday School Association, and perhaps some other bodies.

We recommend that the General Convention take steps toward the appointment of such a group.

Report of the Commission on Literature

The Commission on Literature made a partial report to the Universalist General Convention in Washington and submitted the following statement of books and pamphlets issued by the Universalist Publishing House between January 1, 1929, and January 1, 1930. The Commission has acted in an advisory capacity to the manager of the Publishing House, and has made recommendation in favor of republication of some of the tracts mentioned herewith and for the publication of some of the new ones. It will be noticed that in the list are included five pamphlets that were brought out by direction of the Universalist General Convention, in which the Universalist Publishing House acted merely as the agent for the Convention.

Report of the Committee Appointed by the Trustees of the Universalist General Convention to Investigate Birth Control and its Bearings on Religion

Introduction. It is our obligation as sentient beings to recognize the facts of life which growing experience reveals. It is our added duty, as members of a religious body that proclaims religion as an exalted way of living, to deal with these facts in a consecrated fashion, and use them to highest ends.

Your Committee was appointed to investigate the relationship between religious living and the practice of birth control. In a survey of the field we find that the control of conception is not a theory which we may accept or reject, but is actually one of the most important facts of modern life, giving to man the power to control the future of the race.

Misconceptions. Misconceptions as to the purpose of birth control largely grow out of the confusion of contraception with abortion and obscene practices which arose through the passage of the Comstock laws by Congress and twenty-four states in 1873. These laws prohibited the transmission of all contraceptive knowledge, although contraception itself is not illegal, and medical science and obscenity were included in one ill-considered prohibition.

Definition. Birth control is the prevention of conception only, and is not the destruction of embryonic life, which is abortion. It involves the conscious control of procreation, with resultant important bearings on social and individual life. The more important for our purpose are as follows:

International Peace. Work for international peace is today accepted as a religious duty. There is a general consensus of opinion among sociologists and economists that overpopulation in any country is a serious menace to world peace, and a basic cause leading up to war. Where birth control is understood, there is a voluntary reduction in the birth-rate as population-pressure and the cost of living rise. With the knowledge available to all classes, population-pressure as a cause for war is automatically removed. Limitation of population, which follows when contraception is known, is the only ultimate solution for the problem of international relationships.

Social Welfare. While the care of the poor and unfortunate has always been accepted as a religious obligation, the emphasis today is on the removal of the causes of poverty and suffering. The birth-rate among the provident classes is proportionately lower than that among the improvident and irresponsible, due to a knowledge of contraception. As the social and intellectual level rises, the bearing of children is kept within the limits of the family resources. Birth control enables parents to avoid having more children than they can support, and destitution and the resultant need for charity are reduced.

The Child. Child welfare is especially within the province of the church. A large contributing factor in the problem of child labor is the family too large for adequate parental support, which birth control remedies.

Social health workers are agreed that a large part of a high infant mortality comes from too large families. Developmental and contagious diseases flourish in overcrowded districts. A high birth-rate produces a high death-rate; fewer babies better born lower the death-rate.

Housing congestion on the lower economic levels is recognized as creating conditions which produce the children who crowd our juvenile courts and matriculate into our criminal classes. Centers of youthful crime and of overpopulation are found to coincide.

Crime. A dependable estimate as to the direct cost involved in the identification, disposition, maintenance and treatment of our dependent and delinquent classes in the United States is placed conservatively at $5,000,000,000 a year. This is almost three times the amount spent annually for the maintenance of the public school system. Wisdom in the field of philanthropy dictates that prevention is a more important element than relief or cure. Making contraception generally available would strike at one root of this stupendous burden upon those who by taxation and charity are forced to care for the overproductive defective classes.

Vice. Prostitution and commercialized vice is contributed to largely by delayed marriage, due principally to economic causes. Knowledge of contraception enables young people to marry early and wait until their incomes are sufficient before having children, in the meantime enjoying a wholesome sexual life.

The haunting fear on the part of wives of unwanted or physically disastrous pregnancy, against which they are warned without remedy by their physicians, often drives their husbands to prostitutes. Birth control renders this fear unnecessary and removes this support to prostitution.

Illegitimacy. There are 35,000 white children born out of wedlock in the United States each year, and probably not more than 70 per cent survive the first year, according to government reports. Those who survive are largely deprived of home life, and in a large proportion of cases the public must assume the burden of their support. A knowledge of contraception would materially relieve this situation and its attendant injustice to the unwanted child.

If it be said that the fear of child-bearing is a deterrent to illicit relations, the fact remains that such relations do exist, and that the deliberately immoral have contraceptive knowledge, even though illegally acquired, while illegitimacy occurs principally in the case of the unsophisticated, who are swept away in spite of fear.

The question is one of preventing the greater evils of illegitimacy and abortion, and there can be no doubt but that these real evils outweigh any problematical evil following the legalizing of contraception.

There is no evidence to prove that women are virtuous only because of ignorance and fear, and not because of moral integrity. The morality of knowledge is higher than the morality of ignorance. The strongest factor in the prevention of vice is a moral sentiment which grows out of teaching the young the knowledge, beauty and sacredness of sex relations consecrated by real love.

Abortion. A conservative estimate of the number of criminal abortions in the United States indicates a tremendous amount of needless suffering and degradation. With birth control information accessible, women are able to avoid undesired pregnancy. Woman bears the greater risk in child-bearing, and should have the knowledge to enable her to be mistress of her own body and decide her own maternal destiny. Woman is not free until she possesses this power.

Maternal Health. Over 25,000 women die of childbirth in the United States every year, placing this country near the bottom of the list among civilized nations. Most of these deaths are preventable, for they are due largely to physical conditions or general diseases existing before conception took place. Both maternal and infant mortality are reduced when women are able to postpone pregnancy until their health is such that they can stand the strain of child-bearing and give birth to healthy children. A knowledge of birth control saves mothers and children, prevents the creation of orphans, and preserves homes.

The Family. Under modern economic conditions a worth-while life can be assured only when the size of the family is kept within the bounds of subsistence, as uncontrolled fertility tends to lower living standards. Marriage today therefore presents the alternative of an eventual negation of the sexual life, which may be physically or morally disastrous and lead to extramarital relations, or the acceptance of birth control. Monogamy can be rendered a feasible institution and the welfare of the family safeguarded only when conception is controlled.

Parenthood. We of the larger faith look upon all children as offspring of the Divine, and parenthood as such a noble and worthy undertaking that it should never be left to accident or chance. Simple humanity affirms that every child has the right to be wanted and well-born; Christian ethics demand it. Parenthood should be undertaken voluntarily and intelligently, with due regard for the mother's health, the welfare of previous children, and the future best interest of all members of the family. This is today the practice of the most intelligent group in every civilized country.

It is just and right that less fortunately situated groups should have the same opportunity to regulate their family life, for their own good and for the good of civilization. At present this is prevented in the United States by restrictive legislation, which makes the acquiring or imparting of contraceptive information illegal, and stigmatizes the practice of the most intelligent and moral section of the population as obscene.

Recommendations. This Committee finds that birth control is one of the most practicable means of race betterment, and hereby recommends —

1. That this Convention urge the immediate repeal of such Federal and state laws as interfere with the prescription of contraception by physicians.

2. That where legal barriers do not exist, socially minded persons be urged to establish in every center of population clinics where those needing it may receive contraceptive advice under medical supervision.

Report of the Social Welfare Commission of the Universalist General Convention

The Chairman has not failed to respond to requests of college professors and students, and various writers and workers. He has done some speaking. He and others have been the means of letters being sent to Washington and elsewhere, in behalf of prohibition, law enforcement, child welfare, censorship reform, civic liberty, abolition of capital punishment and prison reform, industrial justice, peace and kindred causes. There has been attendance at some church conferences, denominational and interdenominational.

Letters of practical inquiry from the churches have been and are always specially welcome. In a word, let us say again: Studies may be at first hand by visiting social agencies and by surveys, and there may be group discussions and debates. Support means giving financial aid to causes, but it means far more, — the giving a fair hearing to all causes and taking a stand on some issues when honestly and commonly convinced. But actual service is the greater thing, whether by individuals, by groups or by all together, and in both city and country there are endless opportunities to connect with definite need, providing volunteer help, always realizing that the personality is more than any external aid, and that most every one can render some kind of assistance somewhere.

The different members of the Commission have been chosen, too, because they have had more or less training and experience in this or that particular line. If these members are not called into service the churches would seem to be missing real opportunities for greater light and leadership.

Since the last General Convention the Chairman has been in Europe again, attending several international congresses and conferences, as well as national meetings, and speaking at numbers of places in Britain and a few on the Continent, crossing the English Channel ten times to make the appointments. He has continued in touch with these and other movements of social work and social reform both in this country and abroad, and carries on considerable correspondence with leaders in the United States and Canada and with quite a number in Europe.

He has been available for consultation at this time of the General Convention and has served somewhat with suggestions for both ministers and laymen. A general meeting of the Social Welfare Commission has been held. The speakers were as follows:

Dr. Grace Abbott, Chief of the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, on "The Children of America."

Lieut. Mina Van Winkle, President of the International Policewomen's Association, and Chief of the Policewomen's Bureau, Washington, D. C., on "The Prevention of Delinquency."
Hon. Mary O'Toole, Judge of the Municipal Court, on "Capital Punishment."
Hon. Leo A. Rover, United States District Attorney, on "The National Movement Against Crime."

The Chairman presented the following Declaration of Social Faith, in answer to multitudinous requests for statements along these lines.

C. H. PENNOYER.

Declaration of Social Faith

Charles H. Pennoyer, Chairman, Social Welfare Commission of the Universalist General Convention

We Believe in Social Life. We do not hold to the divine right of any one form of society, but we do hold to the idea of society as such — some kind of social order as fundamental and essential to human life.

We Believe in a Progressively Democratic Society. We do not hold that the perfect social order is possible through any sudden means, but we do hold to the idea of growth toward democratization of all groups and of society in general.

We Believe in Democracy's Right of Way. We do not hold that democracy is always the most efficient order for the moment, but we do hold that, other things being equal, it is better for the people to be wrong than for the few to keep things right, and that, in the long run, the cure for the ills of democracy is to increase the rule of democracy.

We Believe in Loyalty to Every Individual's Right and Duty to think for Himself, Independently and Honestly. We do not hold to the forcing of any social creed as such, but we do hold to the educational value of all such common declarations as simply register the up-to-date faith of the many.

We Believe in a Thoroughgoing Civil Liberty which provides for Free Speech, Free Press, Free Literature and Free Education. We do not hold to this ideal in a merely arbitrary way, but we do hold that we should stand for it so far as it does not involve loss of liberty to others, and to the degree that it does not mean violence or indecency.

We Believe in a Liberal Institutionalism. We do not hold that man is made for institutions, but we do hold that a reasonable use of institutions is good for the making of man.

We Believe in Monogamous Marriage. We do not hold that our present home life has reached a standard beyond which it cannot well develop, but we do hold that the circle where husband and wife dwell together in companionship which excludes other unions is proved by evolution to be the best place to develop childhood and youth, as well as the character of the married couple, and, on the other hand, divorce is often preferable to a disloyal union.

We Believe in the Public School. We do not hold that private schools should necessarily be discouraged, but we do hold that public schools should come first, and that, at least through the grammar grades, every normal boy and girl should, for the sake of better common understanding and national unity, be compelled or urged to go to the public schools, and only attend other schools as additional aids rather than substitutes.

We Believe in the Church at its Best. We do not hold to the idea that, under present conditions, we should have one general body or a rush for merging, but we do hold to the ideal of an eventual community church which shall consist of all thinkers and doers of good, somewhat as the public school serves in its field, and with freedom and justice to all.

We Believe in the Democratic Church. We do not hold that any mere theory of government will of itself save any society, but we do hold to the congregational principle, especially in America, of placing religious authority more and more in the control of the people, and more especially that in our liberal denominational life we should earnestly try to increase the responsibility and service for all by the government and co-operation of all.

We Believe in the Theatre. We do not hold that the theatre should be controlled in any way differently from other institutions, and we know the ineffectiveness of partial censorships, but we hold to the need of a supervision that is fully democratic and respectful of the dramatic art.

We Believe in the Courts. We do not hold to the absolute justice of any body or to the defence of apparently unjust decisions, but we do hold to the idea of changing decisions and courts through the orderly and constitutional means politically in our reach.

We Believe in the Modern Social Agency. We do not hold to the indiscriminate value of these societies, but we do hold that such agencies as the family welfare society, the juvenile court and probation department, hospital and some others, have a right to our respect and co-operation.

We Believe in the Sabbath Principle. We do not hold that any one day is of itself holy above another, but we do hold that Sunday, the day set apart in our country, has a right to be protected against commercialism, and that all liberals, whether Christian or non-Christian, should make a common stand for a better usage of the day.

We Believe in Observance and Enforcement of Law. We do not hold that any law is sacrosanct beyond constitutional change, but we believe that the best way to show a law as good or bad is to have it well observed and enforced, and we especially stand for greater education as to the prohibition law.

We Believe in Improvement of the Criminal Law. We do not hold to less firmness or discipline, but we do, for instance, hold to the abolition of capital punishment as a reform in the interests of greater certainty of conviction of offenders and therefore of greater deterrency of crime, and at the same time saving the state from the awful example of taking life for life.

We Believe in the Application of Psychiatry to All Criminals and Making the Prisons more like Educational Hospitals. We do not hold to the letting down of discipline, but we do hold that this attitude means public sanity in the treatment of offenders, as well as helping to the right use of the indeterminate sentence, the classification of prisoners, and more justice in fitting the discharged prisoner to some after job.

We Believe in Child Welfare. We do not hold to the practice of sending little folks to the big institutions, but we hold to the judgment of placing the needy in single homes where the father and mother care may be brought to bear upon the early development.

We Believe in Mental Hygiene. We do not hold to the idea of waiting till human beings are mentally broken before we serve them, but we do hold to the plan of child guidance clinics which would take care of the bad mental habits of any child, at any early age, and prevent a great deal of later mental trouble.

We Believe in Social Hygiene. We do not hold to the idea of leaving sex education alone to the novel, the drama or street conversations, but we hold to the good of doing away both with that over sex consciousness which fears the subject as well as that which riots in it, by a certain amount of instruction in school and church, and especially to the supreme duty of progressive education, from age to age, in the home.

We Believe in Sexual Reform. We do not hold to any purist or irresponsible changes, but we do hold to the desirability of medical certificates for marriage and to the sterilization of the feeble-minded, as well as to supervised information on birth control.

We Believe in Periodic Health Examinations. We do not hold to the idea of merely curing disease, but we do hold to prevention as well, and to the idea of annual physical and mental examination of everybody at civic clinics.

We Believe in Vocational Guidance. We do not hold to a paternalism which would impose any choice of lifework upon any one, but we do hold to the value of advisory help in the schools to freely prepare the youth to make best choice for himself, and which keeps him in school as near to the sixteenth year as possible.

We Believe in the Workers. We do not hold to any idea of class consciousness as such, but we do hold that the laborer is a personality at all times and not a commodity of exchange, and that he should be so paid and treated while at work, and so helped to insurance, as to help him throughout to keep to a respectable standard of living.

We Believe in the Employers. We do not hold to the right of any business to exist which cannot or does not pay a living wage, but we do hold to respect for those employers who, under the present system, give a share to the workers either in profits or in management as well, and who regard themselves as elder brothers in industry from whom more is expected in responsibility.

We Believe in the Consumers. We do not hold to the claims of the consumers as in conflict necessarily with those of the producers or laborers, but we do hold that it is sometimes apparent that combinations, occasionally, it seems, of capital with labor, militate against the interests of the consumers.

We Believe in Recreation. We do not hold to the place of play as a side issue in life, but we do hold that, in the last analysis, the justification for longer hours of leisure will be found in our greater ability for supervised and uncommercial recreation, when the real sports will be recognized to be not those who look at but those who enter into some form of play.

We Believe in Volunteer Helpers. We do not hold to the idea that there is a clear cut and absolute division of the world into the needy and the not needy, but we do hold that all people, more or less, need some help from others; that we are all in a sense truly dependent upon one another, all handicapped if isolated from some service by others, privileged, indeed, if set off apart; and that the great science is to know our place as everyday helpers and the great art to fill that place with real credit.

We Believe in Racial Unity. We do not hold to any mere mixing of colors, but we do hold to the fraternizing for citizenship of all individuals, groups and societies through community fellowship.

We Believe in the State. We do not hold that the state is altogether above the individual or group, but we do hold that the state is above the individual or group so far as it is necessary to protect some other individual or group from selfishness.

We Believe in the Nation. We do not hold to the nation as opposed to the separate states, but we do hold to the federal idea of the nation for our common political society, and in loyalty to the sovereignty of the lesser unities.

We Believe in the Commonwealth of Man. We do not hold to an overlording superstate, but we do hold to the idea of an international life, in court and in league, which respects the sovereignty of every nation and does justice to the world as a neighborhood of peoples.

We Believe in Peace. We do not hold to the idea of good will as a mere sentiment of charity and almsgiving during world crises, but we do hold to the constructive and humanitarian science of common engineering to prevent war and other great conflicts.

We Believe in the Social Welfare Pledge. We do not hold to any absolutism, but we hold to this declaration: We pledge an active and growing allegiance to Society, and to the fuller neighborliness to which it calls, — one community, indivisible, with welfare and co-operation for all and by all.

We Believe in Social Liberalism. We do not hold that social life will take care of itself, but we do believe in man's capacity for progress and in his taking hold of opportunities in evolution.

We Believe in Humanism. We do not hold to any merely passing attitude, but we do hold to a faith in the divine in man as against any lingering idea of total depravity, and in the approach to any problem with fullest social faith.

We Believe in Kindness to Dumb Animals and in Respect for All Life. We do not hold to a mere sentimentality, but we hold that man instead of being an overlord of creation is himself in a real sense a fellow member of a still larger order of being.

We Believe in the Spiritual Basis of Society. We do not hold to a sacerdotal relationship, but we do hold to the spiritual significance of the social order as meant to minister to man's higher life.

Occasional Sermon

APOLLOS OR CHRIST?

Rev. Frederic Williams Perkins

> What, then, is Apollos or what is Paul? Ministers through whom ye believed; and each as the Lord gave to him. — I Corinthians 3 : 5.

History, it has been said, is philosophy teaching by example. The situation in the Corinthian church to which this vigorous utterance of St. Paul refers is a case in point.

St. Paul was, after his Master, the first in the splendid succession of great Christian liberals. It is suggestive to note how he meets the challenge of the sectarian spirit that arose at the very beginning of organized Christianity. The issue was then, and is now, whether the church is to be primarily the church of Apollos or Paul or Peter, or whatsoever party leader or interest you please, or through them the Church of the Christ of the Living God.

The crisis was precipitated by the coming to Corinth of one Apollos, a Jew of Alexandria, a recent convert to Christianity — a man of eloquence, fervor, and the zeal of a new experience. Willingly or unwillingly, he became the leader of a party. Paul's friends rose to the defence of their beloved leader. And others, holding the contending factions in a common disdain, rather self-righteously rallied under the name of Christ, but in a spirit that made them probably the most sectarian group of the lot.

Now how did Paul deal with an issue so threatening? He did not tell the Corinthian brethren to suppress their preferences or compromise their beliefs. He told them to stop their quarreling. As Moffatt's version puts it: "Brothers, for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ I beg of you to drop these party cries. There must be no cliques among you; you must regain your common temper and attitude." Remember that this admonition came from a man of tenacious convictions. He would fight for them if his right to hold and proclaim them were questioned or denied. He had seceded from his ancestral church rather than be disobedient to the vision from on high, as did the fathers in our own household of faith whom we delight to honor. His lips never could have uttered the misleading dictum that if you live right it makes no difference what you believe. But he also and even more profoundly recognized the deeper truth that gives that half-truth its currency, viz., that how you live is the real proof of what you believe, in the religious sense of that chameleon-like word. Nine-tenths of the futile controversies over the value or harm of creeds would cease if the contestants made the simple distinction between a living faith and the forms in which we try to state it; and if they further recognize that men loyal to a common basic faith may state it differently. St. Paul knew that if the spirit of Christ really controls, beliefs alien to it will not arise. And whenever differing beliefs in subsidiary matters do arise, as they will inevitably, they are not divisive because they are not regarded as essential to establishing the kingdom of God. They may invite to honorable and healthy debate in the arena of theology, but they do not separate the debaters into hostile camps in the army of the Lord.

What made Paul supremely great in that crisis was that he applied his rule to himself and took the medicine that he prescribed for others. "What is Paul and what is Apollos? Ministers through whom ye believed; and each as the Lord gave to him." He would accord to Apollos the freedom he claimed for himself, and insisted that each be judged by whatever of enrichment of thought or re-enforcement of purpose he might contribute to the cause of their common Lord. His was the spirit of his great liberal successor, John Robinson, who charged the departing Pilgrims that they were not to follow him any further than they found him following Christ. That true liberality Paul had shown before, under even greater personal provocation, when conservative Jewish Christians tried to impose on his Gentile converts the rite of circumcision. On the one hand, he passionately insisted that his disciples should not be judged by conformity to rite, but by loyalty to the Christian spirit. Yet he did not fall into the morass that engulfs so many liberals and set up a new orthodoxy for an old. He refused to claim for uncircumcision of itself the virtue that he denied to circumcision, as if either were the thing that primarily matters. "For neither circumcision availeth anything nor uncircumcision, but a new creation." If that spiritual transformation is the possession of the circumcised Jew, no emancipated Gentile must scorn him. If it is not the possession of the uncircumcised Gentile, his boasted freedom is of no avail. And those who have this new spirit, this transformed sense of values, this thing that Professor Jacks wistfully calls "the lost radiance of the Christian religion," are brethren in Christ, whom none may rightfully disown. That is the message of the Apostle to the Gentiles.

This little excursion into history may serve to dramatize the essential philosophy of liberal Christianity today. It reminds us that, beyond all other things which the Universalist Church has done or may do as occasion requires, it has first of all and last of all and all the time between, one supremely necessary thing to do, — to proclaim a message and nourish a type of life that the kingdom of God needs for its speedier coming. In that business its chief distinctiveness must be the distinctiveness of spiritual efficiency. That is a hard saying, but we soften it at our peril.

What, then, more specifically, should the Universalist Church contribute to religion and life if it is to be true to its heritage, its genius, and its permanent task?

I

For one thing, it should nourish a sense of the reality of God.

The supreme religious problem of our time is that of making God seem as real as we theoretically believe Him to be. Multitudes who do not deny His existence have lost any vivid sense of His presence. The universe has grown so complex to men's enlarging knowledge that they have often lost Him in the sheer vastness of a gigantic and incomprehensible mechanism. They may not deny Him, but He simply does not matter.

There was a time when it was not so. Men looked up in the stillness of the star-lit night and reverently murmured:

"The heavens declare the glory of God,
And the firmament showeth His Handiwork."

That is what they saw — not simply the glory of the heavens but the glory of God. So likewise with many another aspect of creation, — the trees in springtime leaf and fragrance, the uplifted hills, the far-flung seas, the greatness of the soul of man. The picture was crude, but it was vivid with a sense of the presence and glory of God. That, in many minds, has gone. God has simply faded out of the picture, nothing apparently being left for Him to do. To the more sensitive the lines of Wordsworth are the dirge of a personal bereavement:

There was a time when meadow, grove and stream,
The earth and every living sight,
To me did seem appareled in celestial light,
The glory and the freshness of a dream.
It is not now as it hath been of yore:
Turn wheresoe'er I may,
By night or day,
The things I once did see I now can see no more.

Now so far as the difficulty is an intellectual one it will be resolved by deeper insight into what has really happened. It is no new problem. It is only the present phase of the ever recurring problem of relating our instinctive recognition of God to changing conceptions of the world in which we live. The intellectual perplexity will pass. We need not worry about that. Millikan and Mather and Pupin and Eddington are doing today essentially what John Fiske did for us young students thirty years ago, when the new theory of evolution was rattling the dry bones of traditional theology. They are enabling us to see that we do not cancel God when we learn better how He works.

Now this is important; but vastly more important is a deeper problem. How are we going to make God seem as real and get-at-able for daily living as He used to seem in simpler days? That is the practical religious problem that abides even though the intellectual perplexities were cleared away. I fear it is sometimes overlooked in the midst of laudable attempts to settle the alleged conflict between science and religion. We should have something to say when people ask, How are we going to carry over into this inconceivable enlargement of the thought of God, almost terrifying in its vastness, the personal sense of His nearness and re-enforcing companionship that makes Him our refuge and strength? That is the question which the Liberal Church must help people to answer.

We are going to do it by learning to recognize Him as working in spiritual forces that operate unchanged beneath all changes of thought. It is a matter of rightly interpreting the significance of experiences that we all know. The business of the church is to enable men and women to connect with them and work with them, and so get acquainted with God through the revelation of a living partnership. As an old master mariner on the Maine coast said to me once, "We sailors believe in God because we use Him every day." There is no other sure way.

That must be the clarion message of a Liberal Church in these days of intellectual confusion and spiritual incertitude. It deals with a far more difficult problem, as well as far more important, than that of reconciling the miscalled conflict between religion and science. The business of a church is to reveal God rather than defend Him, and if we can reveal Him there is no need to defend Him. That means that we must make advances and take risks. God withholds Himself from the reason that lacks the courage of its deeper instincts. He discloses His reality to the daring adventurer rather than to the cunning theologian. No argument will assure you beyond all questioning that the best in human experience is a sure intimation of the presence of the friendly God. But you can find that audacious trust growing into fortitude of conviction when you approach the world as the friend and helper of the best in it. Confidence is born of acquaintance. So is it with men. So is it with God.

This is not a pious fancy. It is confirmed by the experience of mankind. Who, as a matter of fact, make the reality of God contagious? They are not usually the easy-circumstanced, the unassailed, the morally comfortable. They are likely to be the ones on whom life presses hardly, who apparently have greatest reason to deny the reality of God. It is the spiritual adventurer who is surest that though the headlands be sunk the stars abide. Not from secure havens but from storm-swept seas they have flung their challenge of faith and courage, and back into their courageous souls assurance of the Friend behind the clouds has come. In a changing world they have found the dwelling-place of the changeless God.

II

Another contribution which the Liberal Church should make is an overmastering sense of fellowship with the primary purpose of the Christian enterprise.

Jesus Christ was a man with a definite business. He came to do a definite thing — to establish what he called the kingdom of God. Call it by whatever name you please; but to do the thing, not merely talk about it or teach the theory of it, was his goal. He was a Teacher, yes; but more — as a navigator is more than a teacher of astronomy, or an aviator is more than a teacher of aeronautics, or a maker of automobiles is more than the head of a research laboratory. That unfinished task determines the primary task for all who bear his name. Our business is to get his business done. The task of the Universalist Church was not set when John Calvin denied the Fatherhood of God; it was set when Jesus of Nazareth affirmed it. That sense of vital fellowship with the Christian tradition must not be abandoned to those who have muddied its stream by alien doctrines and pernicious ceremonials and all the rubbish of an outgrown ecclesiasticism. It has always carried within itself the sources of its own purification and is today the chief fountainhead of the liberal spirit we profess. To discard it because of its perversions seems like pouring out the baby with the bath.

This recognition that our primary business is to carry on the unfinished enterprises of Jesus Christ has an immediate and transforming effect.

It furnishes the motive to loyalty and aggressive purpose in these days when the old motives created by times of controversy are passing away, and when the essence of our faith is becoming the spiritual capital of many churches that do not bear our name. There is still, to be sure, plenty of work to be done in freeing and clarifying the religious thinking of men, and honor be to the brave souls who are doing it. Nevertheless, liberal Christians are peculiarly susceptible to the danger of regarding a liberalized faith as an end in itself instead of a means to an end, and of finding a faith insipid and unchallenging unless somebody denies it. Their occupation — often a very congenial occupation — seems to some of them to have gone. Out of a natural desire to justify their protesting and correcting function, they point eagerly to theologically benighted regions that still need it. But that only postpones the day of the self-confessed uselessness of a Liberal Church so conceived, for in some tomorrow it will gain its theological victory, when, according to its logic, its work will be done. That is the Nemesis that is overtaking so inadequate a conception of our primary reason for being. I, for one, am not willing to accept a premise whose logical outcome is suicide. Nor need we. A Liberal Church belies its deepest genius if it chooses to sit permanently on the Opposition bench and declines, or is bewildered under, the responsibilities and challenges of responsible government. I recall the pithy remark of Dr. Shutter twenty years ago that, though we have helped to leaven the lump, our more conservative brethren are running the bakery. The root of the trouble is that such honest and zealous liberals are looking for their primary reason for existence in the wrong place. They are more concerned to defend the faith than to use it in helping to bring in the kingdom of God. That transposition of objectives, both important, but the latter of chief importance, we insure against by keeping vital and compelling our sense of fellowship with the primary energy of the religion of Christ.

I am thinking of the valiant heroes of our household of faith, whose unseen presences will encompass us when, in a few months, we shall dedicate the National Memorial Church. Why do we honor them? Because through their vision and toil and sacrifice they have bequeathed to us a faith to fight with against all the foes of the destined triumph of the Divine Spirit. Their success is not a call to go out of business. It is a summons, as never before, to go into business — the only business that ultimately justifies any church that bears the Christian name. That is the all-important thing to see. Whenever a Universalist sees that, the growing community of faith and the enlarging fellowship and co-operation of churches will induce no weakened sense of mission. Rather will he find in them greater incentive to use his faith as an agency for doing his part in a task so tremendous that no church can do it alone. The more widely the faith prevails, the more confidently will he labor. Our real business has not ended when our faith is no longer theologically denied. It has only begun.

III

The crowning contribution that the Universalist Church should make to the great liberal movement of which it is a part is a convincing demonstration, in terms of passionate life, of the power of the distinctive faith for which the name Universalist stands.

This has been implied in all that has been said; but I want to make it explicit in my culminating word.

The Universalist faith is essentially faith in the sovereignty of Love, the divinity of souls, the inexorableness of brotherhood, the kingliness of service, and the triumph of the kingdom. That is a distinctive thing. But in what does its distinctiveness consist? Not in its being identified with any exclusive label or any particular form of words, not even the honored label that we are proud to bear. Many hold it, thank God! who call it by other names or by no specific name. But it is what it is, no matter by what name it is called. Its distinctiveness is revealed in a distinctive way of living, a distinctive attitude and temper, that make the believer a marked man and compel a hostile world to recognize that he is sustained by an indomitable confidence that "if God be for us nothing can be against us." It is the power that goes out from a man not so much when he possesses the faith as when the faith possesses him.

Think what it would mean, brethren, if every Universalist Church was unmistakably distinguished by that spirit! It is often said that a faith grows weak when it is not denied and that zeal slackens when it is not fed by the passion of conflict. Well, here are denials to call out a flaming heroism. How the old-time denials that quickened the zeal and devotion of our fathers pale into insignificance in comparison with the life and death grapple in which we are engaged with the denials of today! Who denies this faith? Every cynic who estimates humanity in terms of its roots rather than its fruits denies it. Every exploiter of public good for private gain denies it. Every fomenter of suspicion and ill-will between nations denies it. Every champion of a nation's place in the sun at the cost of dooming other nations to the terror of the shade denies it. Every blind scoffer at the vision of international justice and world peace that brought Ramsay MacDonald and Herbert Hoover together in the mountains of Virginia, and every disbeliever in the power behind the solemn compact to renounce war, denies it. Suppose that wherever a Universalist Church reared its walls and towers men and women, reeling under the shock of those arrogant denials, found there the indubitable presence of the Living God, found a pulpit inspired by the vision, and an altar aflame with the passion, of faith in invincible right — what greater distinctiveness for our church could you ask than that? It would stand out in the arid wastes of life "as a covert in the storm, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

Report of the General Sunday School Association of the Universalist Church

Report of the Annual Convention held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., October 19 to 22, 1929, with which is Incorporated Many Details of the Work of the Organization during the Preceding Year

An interesting and inspiring Convention with large attendance; the co-operation of the Unitarian Church through its Department of Religious Education and its Sunday School Association; the retirement of Rev. George E. Huntley, D.D., president of the Association during its entire history, and the resulting expressions of appreciation of his service; and the first steps toward closer co-operation in the whole task of religious education in the denomination, were the outstanding features.

The complete program follows:

Evening Session, Italian Garden, Mayflower Hotel:

7.30. Opening Session of the Convention.
Appointment of Committees.
Welcome to Washington. Rev. Frederic W. Perkins, D.D.
Open Forum. Rev. Laura Bowman Galer.

8.45. Social Hour, with refreshments.

Sunday, October 20:

Morning Session, Ambassador Theater:

10.45. Occasional Sermon, "A Flying Dream." Rev. Herbert E. Benton, D.D.

12.15. Session of the Church School. Miss Eleanor Bonner.

Evening Session, Ball Room, Mayflower Hotel:

7.30. Address: "There is no Discharge in that War," Rev. Ladie Rowlett.

Address: "The Task of Religious Education," Mr. Waitstill H. Sharp, fraternal delegate from the Department of Religious Education of the American Unitarian Association.

Monday, October 21:

Morning Session, Ball Room, Mayflower Hotel:

9.30. Business

Afternoon Session:

1.45. Business

Evening Session:

7.45. Address: "You and I and Japan," Rev. Clifford R. Stetson.
Debate: "Resolved, That the Project Method of Teaching Ought to be Employed Much More Generally in Universalist Church Schools," Rev. Max Kapp and Rev. Gustav H. Leining.

Tuesday, October 22:

Morning Session, Mayflower Hotel:

9.30. Divisional Conferences.
North Room, children's. Miss Mary F. Slaughter.
Ball Room, Young People's. Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D.
Jefferson Room, Adult and Administration. Mr. Carl A. Hempel.

Evening Session, Ball Room, Mayflower Hotel:

7.15. The Word of the General Convention. Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D.
The Ingathering. Rev. Ulysses S. Millburn, D.D.
Address: "Life's Fourth Dimension." Rev. Effie McCollum Jones, D.D.

The opening session of the General Sunday School Association of the Universalist Church Convention was held in the Italian Garden, Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., on Saturday evening, October 19, 1929, at 7.30 P.M. Rev. George E. Huntley, D.D., President of the Association, called the meeting to order promptly at the appointed hour, and the Secretary, C. A. Hempel, read the call. Prayer was offered by the venerable Rev. LeGrand Powers, D.D., of Washington. The singing was led by Rev. George Gay of Alabama. The president then appointed the sessional committees, as follows:

Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions:

Rev. Seth R. Brooks of Massachusetts, Chairman.
Rev. Weston A. Cate of New Hampshire.
Miss Bessie Sprague of Massachusetts.
Mr. Richard Bird of Illinois.
Rev. Sheldon Shepard of California.
Mr. William M. Lawrence of Ohio.
Mr. Haynie Summers of Georgia.
Miss Susan Andrews of Maine.
Rev. Clifford W. Collins of Connecticut.
Mrs. Mary I. Chamberlain of Massachusetts.
Rev. Clifford R. Stetson of Japan.
Mrs. A. S. Yantis of Vermont.
Mrs. W. H. Skeels of New York.
Rev. Lucius Hamilton Garner of New Jersey.
Rev. Max Kapp of Massachusetts.

Nominating Committee:

Rev. Theodore A. Fischer, D.D., of Connecticut, Chairman.
Mrs. Milo G. Folsom of Maine.
Mr. Victor A. Friend of Massachusetts.
Mrs. Frank D. Adams of Michigan.

Rev. John Murray Atwood, D.D., of New York.
Miss Eleanor Bonner of District of Columbia.
Miss Ethel Hughes of Minnesota.
Rev. Harold H. Niles of Colorado.

Auditors:
Mr. Fred G. Lindy of Ohio.
Mr. H. H. Henry of Ohio.

Credentials:
Mrs. Mabel O. Todd of Minnesota.
Mrs. Lillian Smith of Pennsylvania.
Rev. Arthur Blair of Massachusetts.

Monitors:
Rev. Morley Hartley of Illinois.
Rev. Conard Rheiner of Iowa.

Dr. Huntley in a unique manner introduced the audience one to another. A first count showed forty present. Newcomers during the evening raised this number to 128 at the close of the forum, and finally to at least 200 present.

A most cordial welcome was given to the Convention by the pastor of the National Memorial Universalist Church, Rev. Frederic W. Perkins, D.D. Rev. Laura Bowman Galer, Vice-President of the General Sunday School Association, then proceeded to take up a collection, not of money but of experiences of various Church School workers. Representatives from the following schools contributed to the forum: Brooklyn, Pennsylvania; Peoria, Illinois; Minneapolis, Minnesota; Chapman, Alabama; Galesburg, Illinois; Waterloo, Iowa; Waltham, Massachusetts; and Washington, D. C. Dr. Earle and Miss Slaughter also contributed institute experiences. The evening closed with a social hour and refreshments.

The Sunday morning service was held in the temporary home of the National Memorial Universalist Church, — the Ambassador Theatre. Morning worship was conducted by the pastor, Dr. Perkins. The Scripture and prayer were given by Dr. Huntley, and the occasional sermon was preached by Rev. Herbert E. Benton, D.D., of Pennsylvania. Dr. Benton's subject "A Flying Dream," was a challenge, strong, direct and convincing, calling us to our real work, — the teaching of religion. Attendance, 350.

The session of the Church School followed led by Miss Eleanor Bonner, the Director of Religious Education of the Washington Church. The officers and workers of the General Sunday School Association, also Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge, President of the Unitarian Sunday School Association, were introduced during the service, and Rev. Clifford Stetson of Japan told of his experiences as a missionary in that country.

The evening platform meeting was held in the Ball Room of the Mayflower beginning promptly at 7.30 P.M. Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D., presided, and Rev. Laura Bowman Galer conducted the devotional service, the singing being led by Rev. George Gay. The addresses of the evening were given by Rev. Ladie F. Rowlett of Georgia, who took as her subject, "There is no Discharge in that War," and Mr. Waitstill H. Sharp, fraternal delegate from the Unitarian Sunday School Society, who spoke upon "The Task of Religious Education." Both addresses were thought-provoking messages and real contributions to our program. Rev. Stanley Manning of Maine closed the meeting with prayer. Attendance, 175.

The business session of the Seventeenth Annual Convention of the General Sunday School Association of the Universalist Church was called to order promptly on time at 9.30 A.M., October 21, 1929, in the Ball Room of the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., President Huntley in the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. Lucius Hamilton Garner of New Jersey.

The records of the secretary covering the meetings of Saturday and Sunday, October 19 and 20, 1929, were read, and after some minor corrections were accepted for the files. The report of the Treasurer was read by Albert H. Homans, the Treasurer. It was accepted and ordered passed to the auditors for their examination and approval.

The receipts for the year, exclusive of those for missionary and philanthropic purposes, were as follows:

Per capita taxes	$481.22

Rev. Milo G. Folsom was appointed official gatherer of railroad certificates.

The following report of the Executive Board was read by Rev. John M. Ratcliff, first vice-president, and it was referred to the Committee on Recommendations:

To the Members and Friends of the General Sunday School Association:

We begin with an affirmation of belief.

First, we affirm our belief in the Universalist Church, as a messenger of good news and as a minister of good will.

Secondly, we affirm our belief in religious education, which, giving clear ideas and high ideals, is absolutely necessary if human society is to reach its highest development.

Thirdly, we affirm our belief in the duty of the Universalist Church to give religious education ever-increasing attention and support.

Fourthly, we affirm our belief that for effective religious education the Church Schools need constant and careful instruction and guidance.

Fifthly, we affirm our belief that for the continuing welfare and development of our Church Schools an organization with such aim, spirit and method as the General Sunday School Association is absolutely indispensable.

By the conviction thus expressed we have been incited in years past to do our best. We have been inspired to work hard, and we have been encouraged to persist in days of difficulty and discouragement. Moreover, we have been made bold to solicit from the people of our whole denomination their support through voice, labor and money.

By this same conviction we are inspired to face the days that are to come. The need for competent teaching, especially with the young, grows daily as human life becomes more and more complex and confusing. So we exhort our Church, which we love, to give its best for a mission which to us appears supreme.

The conception of religious education is changing with great rapidity, and we now understand that the Church School is but one of many agencies through which the task is to be accomplished. But it is one. And it is one of the most important. Let no one forget it or neglect it.

The months, since the Convention at Ferry Beach, have been busy for the General Sunday School Association, and, on the whole, successful. Much thought has been given to the pressing matter of personnel and to the preparation for the changes made necessary by the retirement of our president. Nevertheless, all branches of work have been carried on, and some new enterprises have been undertaken. We believe that the Church Schools are stronger today and more efficient than they were a year ago.

I. Financial. In looking at our financial situation a person may wear either blue or rose colored glasses. We trust that all attendants at this Convention will agree with the Executive Board that those of the cheerful hue are greatly preferable.

We ask a careful examination of the treasurer's report, copies of which are now available for all. Submitted therewith is a statement showing our estimates, made at Ferry Beach, of the expenses from July 1, 1928, to July 1, 1929, and also what the expenses proved actually to be.

1. At Ferry Beach we estimated our expenses for the fiscal year as $14,695. They were $14,361.83.

2. We estimated our income for the same period as $14,695; that is to say, we hoped that in some way it would be brought up to equal our expenses. As a matter of fact, we thought it probable that our expenses would exceed our income by a considerable amount. This is what happened. The income from ordinary sources proved to be $12,375.54, or $1,986.29 less than the expenses.

II. Special Gifts. During the year we have received two important special gifts.

1. Victor. The friends in Victor, N. Y., having found it impossible to continue their services, have disposed of their property and devoted the proceeds to work in which they have had interest. To the General Sunday School Association they have given, with a gracious letter, the sum of $500, which, by vote of the Executive Board, is set aside as "The Victor Fund," the interest only being available for current expenses. We have sent to the donors a vote of deep gratitude for their confidence and help.

2. Mrs. Adams. Your officers have been saddened by the passing of many of the men and women of insight and devotion who through the period of our early struggles have been our sympathetic friends and generous supporters. Several have left us during the past year, among them a woman of unusual charm of personality and force of character, Mrs. James Adams of Bangor, Maine. For a number of years she had given our largest contributions, never less than $200 and sometimes double that amount. She gave because she believed in the work that we were doing, and with her money she gave always such appreciation and encouragement that its helpfulness was multiplied. Twelve years ago she presented $500 in memory of her husband. That has been carried on our books as the "Adams Fund." At the Hartford Convention we carried out her desire and set aside $2,500 in her name to be kept as a fund unless it should become absolutely necessary to spend it. By her will she bequeathed to us $2,000 additional, which, by vote of the Board, has been added to the original "Adams Fund." The entire Universalist Church has been greatly blessed by the noble life of this woman, who loved its gospel and who gave it daily application.

III. The Special Offerings. The double purpose of our special offerings is impressed at every opportunity. We try to make it clear that, while we earnestly desire to secure money with which to give relief to those in need and with which to spread our gospel to those who have not received its blessing, we also hope for the quickening of Christian impulses in the minds and hearts of all our members. We emphasize the fact that through these offerings we are striving for a very important phase of religious education.

The continued response to our appeals is highly gratifying, though we are constantly hoping for increase.

nominational officer to have direction of the department and unnecessary to divert to any great extent the thought and energy of any other person. It seems probable that the work can be done by an unpaid committee or by a council representing the different bodies.

VIII. Institutes. It is a joy to us to report another series of successful institutes. Except in the case of Barre, where, through misunderstanding, our dates conflicted with those of high school commencement, the attendance has been very encouraging. In all cases the spirit has been delightful. More and more the attendants show that they have real understanding and appreciation of the purpose of the institutes, and that they intend to go home and render better service because of their experience. As fast as local conditions make it advisable we are adding courses that win credit with the International Council of Religious Education; yet we are careful not to discourage those students who are not prepared for such advanced work. Our institutes this year have been at Barre, Vt.; Galesburg, Ill.; White Lake, N. C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Ferry Beach, Me.; and Murray Grove, N. J. We are carefully considering the feasibility of adding others.

IX. Standards. We reported at Ferry Beach that our new system of standards had been received by local workers "with respect and interest." In a limited number of schools improvement programs have been adopted, much to the profit of all concerned; but it cannot be said that the adoption of our suggestions has been universal or even general. It may be that we ought to follow the example of the International Council of Religious Education in publishing a system considerably simpler for the use of those schools that find the present standards somewhat involved and difficult. Of course we would continue the advanced system for such schools as could use it with profit.

X. The Manning Book. "George Seeks a Reason" is the title of the book on religion, the Church and the Universalist Church, which was written at our request by Stanley and Ethel Manning, and issued at our request by the Universalist Publishing House. The volume is exceedingly useful, according to the judgment of those who have read it, and also according to the reports of those who have used it with young people. It answers in an interesting way the questions that adolescent boys and girls ought to ask before uniting with the Church. To show our spirit of co-operation and to get the book into circulation before Lent, we sent copies at our expense to all active Universalist ministers, giving them the privilege of reimbursing us or not as they saw fit. About one hundred paid for their books. It is earnestly hoped that the sale of this helpful volume will be large, and that it will continue for many years.

XI. Leadership Training. Genuine progress is being made in Leadership Training, now in charge of Miss Mary F. Slaughter. While we have but few classes conducted by our local schools, we have an increasing number of students at institutes and in community training schools. The International Council is very courteous to us in this matter, treating us with the same co-operation as though we were in its recognized fellowship. It furnishes us duplicate reports of all students who register as Universalists, thus enabling us to give proper credit on our records.

XII. Opening Services. It is in regard to worship programs that our schools have made some of their most important progress. Ministers, superintendents and others in authority are taking this matter with a thoughtfulness that makes old, slipshod methods impossible. Pupil participation is widely encouraged, and, under proper supervision, is profitable to all concerned. The demand for our superintendents' notebooks and for the weekly suggestions for opening services continues both in our own denomination and in wider circles.

XIII. Loan Library. Our books are circulated as constantly and as widely as ever. New works are added after we are convinced of their probable usefulness to a reasonable number of readers. We believe that through this library, by which officers and teachers are both inspired and instructed, we have made one of our largest contributions to the efficiency of our Church Schools.

XIV. Pamphlets. We publish and circulate free of charge a large number of helpful pamphlets. The latest is entitled "Departmental Goals," and is designed to replace the "Promotion Requirements" issued several years ago. The authors show clearly the knowledge, attitudes and skills that are sought in the developing personality, and indicate what progress may reasonably be expected in each department.

XV. Week-day Religious Education and Daily Vacation Bible Schools. These two movements spring from the conviction that the time ordinarily allowed for training a child in religion and morals is tragically inadequate. The first results in an endeavor to serve the child in out-of-school hours during the scholastic year, while the second results in an effort to serve him during the vacation season. Both, if conducted with cheerful regard for legal requirements, have possibilities of usefulness. We have a few Universalist Schools of each variety, while in a larger number of cases we unite in community enterprises.

XVI. Special Days. We continue to supply Christmas, Easter and Children's Day programs free of charge. Some of these are written by members of our staff, while others are furnished by gifted and generous friends not in our employ.

XVII. Slogans. There seems to be no lessening in the use of the slogans, although your Board has thought it probable that their usefulness would diminish with the passing of the years. The explanation of the continued demand seems to be that they are new to new officers and new pupils. A set for 1930 is now completed.

XVIII. The Sunday School Helper. Issued by the Universalist Publishing House, this periodical continues to meet the needs of many of our schools. The Senior Helper is edited by Miss Martha L. Fischer, and the Intermediate Helper is edited by Rev. Helene Ulrich, both of whom bring to their tasks the necessary gifts combined with a fine spirit of service.

XIX. The Curriculum. Our schools are using more care and better judgment in selecting their lessons than ever before, the result being more efficient teaching. Mrs. Galer's pamphlet is in constant demand throughout our denomination, and is frequently requested by representatives of other churches. Interdenominational workers assure us that they know of nothing elsewhere which approaches this helpful pamphlet. We lend the mentioned books for examination so that no school is obliged to order in the dark. It is to be said that the Closely Graded Lessons, recently issued, are found useful for some classes.

XX. New Days and New Work. We face the future with confidence and with earnest intent to deserve success. Now has come for our Association a parting of the ways. With new leadership will come new policies and new methods, but we feel certain a continuation of the old spirit. We expect that whatever in the old order has been worthy will be preserved and developed, and that to it will be added much that is fresh and vital. Those of us who depart leave with no diminution of interest, and those of us who remain give renewed consecration to the great cause. We solicit your best thought and your fervent prayer. Help us to be helpful.

We close with a poem of faith written by Sarah Knowles Bolton.

THE INEVITABLE

We like the man who faces what he must
  With step triumphant and a heart of cheer;
  Who fights the daily battle without fear;
Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust
That God is God; that somehow, true and just
  His plans work out for mortals. Not a tear
  Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
Falls from his grasp: better with love a crust
Than living in dishonor; envies not,
  Nor loses faith in man; but does his best,
Nor ever murmurs at his humbler lot,
  But with a smile and words of hope gives zest
To every toiler. He alone is great,
Who by a life heroic conquers fate.

Executive Board.

It was voted that the privileges of the floor be given to Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge, President of the Unitarian Sunday School Society. At this time addresses were in order, coming from representatives of the various schools which are preparing workers for the furtherance of religious education.

Rev. Mr. Rutledge brought the greetings of the Unitarian Sunday School Society, and spoke in the interests of the Tuckerman School of Boston. Rev. Lucius H. Garner and Miss Virginia Eddy — the first, the pastor, and the second, the religious education worker of the Newark, N. J., Universalist Church, and both graduates of St. Lawrence University — spoke for the work and preparation given by the Theological School of that institution. Prof. John M. Ratcliff represented the Crane Theological School of Tufts College, and outlined the aims and desires of that school.

Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D., field worker of the General Sunday School Association, then submitted her annual report, including her work in the field, also the conditions in the various departments under her charge, — the Home Department, the Department of Standards and the Department of Missionary Education.

Miss Mary Slaughter then gave her report. She touched upon the various duties expected of a field worker, and then gave her report of the Department of Fine Arts with the various demands upon it, the stereopticon lectures, the worship program suggestions, the special services and religious pictures, followed by the report of the Department of Leadership Training. Both of these workers are to be commended for their splendid work and untiring efforts. Attendance, 125. Meeting adjourned at 12.05 P.M.

The afternoon business session was called to order at 1.45 P.M. The Song Service was led by Rev. George Gay.

The Auditor's report was read, the same certifying that the books of the Treasurer were correct, and was accepted for the files.

The Nominating Committee presented as the slate for the officers for the next two years the following:

President, Rev. John M. Ratcliff of Massachusetts.
First Vice-President, Rev. Weston A. Cate of New Hampshire.
Second Vice-President, Rev. Laura B. Galer of Iowa.
Secretary, Carl A. Hempel of Massachusetts.
Treasurer, Albert H. Homans of Ohio.

The report was accepted, and the slate, together with other nominations, if any, will come up for election later in the session.

President James Krayer of the Murray Grove Association at this time spoke in the interest of that organization.

Chairman Rev. Seth R. Brooks of Massachusetts then presented the report of the Committee on Recommendations and Resolutions, which was read by him as a whole, and he was instructed to read the report again, article by article, for consideration and adoption. The report was as follows, with actions noted:

As citizens of the world we have passed through another year in which we believe great strides have been made toward better world understanding and world peace. As Christians, twelve months more are behind us, — twelve months which in some cases show loss for the Christian cause, but which in the majority of cases show steady gain and advancement. As Universalists we come together again in our Annual Convention knowing that during the year that has elapsed our lines have fallen back on some fronts, whereas on others they have advanced steadily. We come together with the assurance that our Church Schools, in spite of all the criticisms and excuses that are being made, are stronger and better organized than ever before. We believe whole-heartedly in the future of the Christian Church and in the future of a church that shall deal in and teach the Universals of life. We affirm our belief in the great task of Religious Education in whatever branch of whatever church it may be in progress. We beg to submit for your consideration the following Recommendations and Resolutions:

Recommendations

Recommendation No. 1. Budget. We recommend that the Convention approve and adopt the budget as prepared by the Executive Board, calling for the expenditure of $14,990 for the coming year. Adopted.

(The suggestion was passed to the Executive Board that the budget figures for Board expenses and Loan Library be increased by them if it finds it necessary and feasible.)

Recommendation No. 2. We recommend that our churches and ministers encourage their people to remember the General Sunday School Association in their wills, to the end that a permanent fund be built up to enlarge the influence of our work with children in our Church Schools, and to increase our staff of paid executives and regional field workers. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 3. We recommend that in accordance with the report of the Executive Board our Church Schools receive from their pupils an International Friendship offering in November or December, and an American Friendship offering in February; and we further urge that the offering be larger and that proper education in regard to the beneficiaries of the offering be given to our children in advance. We further urge that the superintendents of our various schools do all in their power to see that every pupil in his or her school is contributing, and in turn that all contributions be forwarded at once to our Sunday School headquarters. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 4. Whereas a daughter of the late Dr. Jordan has been engaged to direct the work of the Suffolk School, we recommend that this Convention endorse the action of the Executive Board in making the selection, and, further, do we recommend that our various schools do all in their power to support the new leader. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 5. As the life of our Church depends largely upon our children and youth we recommend that more time and effort be given to the vital question of how we can increase our membership and open new Universalist Church schools, and we recommend that the Board take immediate steps to carry out the purpose of this recommendation. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 6. We recommend that our field workers continue to visit schools, and conduct community institutes and training classes. We further recommend that our Executive Board take steps to establish some plan whereby one or more states may engage a part-time or full-time worker, whose salary is to be paid by the state or states who shall engage such a worker. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 7. We recommend that each school try to send at least one delegate to some one of the institutes, and, further, that the State Conventions be urged to provide scholarships for attendants at these institutes. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 8. We recommend that the present standards be continued. We further recommend that a simpler form of the standards be published, to the end that each school may try at least some part if not all of the standards. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 9. Whereas the Home Department of our Church Schools does not present a hopeful aspect because of a certain change in conditions in almost every community, we recommend that the work of the Home Department be attempted along two lines for a period of one year, and if at the end of that time no successful results are shown the next Convention take steps to discontinue this department. The dual plan which we present is that the Home Department serve, first, the elderly and the shut-ins, in an attempt to bring prepared religious lessons to them; and second, that the Home Department become a training class for those who make the home for the children of our Church Schools. We further recommend that the Executive Board consider the advisability of discontinuing the Home Department Helper as it now is. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 10. Whereas Stanley and Ethel Manning have written for the General Sunday School Association a book entitled "George Seeks a Reason," which is both unique and very useful from the standpoint of our Young People's Work, we recommend this Convention extend them a vote of sincere thanks for their work. We further recommend that this book be used more widely throughout our Church.
Adopted by a rising vote.

Recommendation No. 11. We recommend that thanks be extended Miss Mary F. Slaughter for her work in Leadership Training. We further recommend that more Leadership Training Classes be organized throughout our schools during the next year, and that wherever possible our schools co-operate in Community Leadership Schools in order that our Church School work may have the advantage of more prepared and consecrated teachers and leaders. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 12. Whereas the worship service of our Church School is often lacking in dignity, atmosphere and proper leadership, we recommend that all of our churches do all in their power to make the worship period of the Church School a real worship period. We cannot too forcefully urge our people to give serious thought to the immediate and ultimate disastrous effect upon the souls of our children which may result from a worship service which has no value or meaning. We recommend the continuance of the superintendents' notebooks. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 13. We recommend the continuance of the Loan Library, and an increased use of the same, and that the attention of our workers be called to other loan libraries. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 14. Whereas our Protestant children have such limited opportunities for Religious Education on Sunday mornings, we recommend that wherever possible our churches endeavor to give their children week-day religious education and daily vacation church school work.
Adopted.

Recommendation No. 15. We recommend the continuance of the slogan and of the publishing of programs for special days and pamphlets of special importance. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 16. Whereas Miss Martha L. Fischer and Rev. Helene Ulrich have so carefully and ably edited our Sunday School Helpers we recommend that a vote of thanks be extended to them. We also commend the General Sunday School Association for the publication of their splendid leaflet, "Departmental Goals for Universalist Sunday Schools." We further recommend the continuance of the publication of "The Senior Helper," and commend it to the use of young people and adults and the Home Department. Adopted by a rising vote.

Recommendation No. 17. Whereas curriculum is a most important part of our Church School life we recommend that all of our schools give more consideration to this vital question. We recommend that where schools are in doubt as to the proper curriculum they should use, they consult Mrs. Galer's pamphlet or the officers of the General Sunday School Association. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 18. We recommend that the Executive Board give considerate attention to the project of Dr. Andrew Soudah concerning the establishment of a Children's Hospital in Palestine. Adopted.

Recommendation No. 19. We recommend that the General Sunday School Association go on record as expressing its willingness to join with the Young People's Christian Union and the W. N. M. A. in the formation of a Department of Religious Education of the Universalist General Convention. Adopted.

At this time the president of the General Convention, Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D., was called to the front of the hall and was welcomed with a rising gesture of greeting. Dr. Adams spoke briefly in favor of Recommendation No. 19.

On motion the recommendations were adopted as a whole.

Resolutions

Resolution No. 1. It is with deep regret upon the part of the people of our church that the resignation of Dr. George E. Huntley, for many years the faithful president of the General Sunday School Association, has been accepted. Be it resolved that we extend our most hearty appreciation to Dr. Huntley for his most faithful service to our organization; and further be it resolved that we extend to Dr. and Mrs. Huntley our genuine wishes for their continued health and happiness.
Adopted by a rising vote.

Resolution No. 2. Be it resolved that we voice our appreciation for the kind and considerate co-operation which we have been shown during the past year by the General Convention, the various State Conventions, the Universalist Publishing House and "The Christian Leader."

Adopted.

Resolution No. 3. Be it resolved that we voice our appreciation for the faithful service which has been rendered to our Church by Dr. George E. Huntley, Dr. A. Gertrude Earle, Miss Mary F. Slaughter, and also the members of the Executive Board.

Adopted by a rising vote.

Resolution No. 4. Be it resolved that this Convention extend its sincere thanks to the people of Washington, to the Pastor and people of the Washington Church, and to the management of the Mayflower Hotel for the kind courtesies which we have received throughout our sessions and deliberations.

Adopted by a rising vote.

The resolutions by vote were adopted as a whole.

Rev. H. Elmer Peters, President of the Massachusetts Universalist Sunday School Association, then read the following letter:

To the Convention of the General Universalist Sunday School Association.

The Executive Board of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association wishes to express its appreciation of the good work done in our State by Dr. Huntley. In our Church Schools he has always proved a great help and an inspiration. In our State Association he has always been a welcome visitor. He has brought us friendly advice, information and many helpful suggestions. In him the association has a true friend and a wise counsellor. We shall miss him in our work. The State Board of Massachusetts wishes him Godspeed in whatever field of endeavor he may enter.

The Secretary was instructed to send the greetings of the Convention to Miss Ruth Downing and Rev. Mr. Teresawa, our Missionaries in Japan.

By vote the Executive Board was instructed to adopt some worthy project for its Philanthropic Offering. By vote the Executive Board was instructed to join in the World Friendship Project, the Treasure Chests for the children of the Philippine Islands, and to further these projects among our schools.

The Secretary was instructed to send our especial appreciation to the Unitarian organization for their gesture of fraternity in sending both Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge and Mr. Waitstill H. Sharp to our Convention.

The Credential Committee made its final report, as follows:

Voted, That we endorse and recommend to our schools all efforts and lessons toward World Peace.

Voted, That the Secretary be instructed to write President Hoover, heartily commending him for his efforts toward World Peace.

The slate of officers as presented by the Nominating Committee was then again read, and the chairman of the Nominating Committee was instructed to cast one ballot for the list. This was done and Dr. Huntley declared them elected. With well-chosen words Dr. Huntley inducted the new president, Rev. John Ratcliff, into office, and Mr. Ratcliff took charge of the Convention.

The Secretary was instructed to send the greetings of the Convention, also assurances of continued interest, to Mrs. Annie B. Willis, principal of the Suffolk School. The closing prayer was given by Dr. Huntley. Attendance, 125. Adjourned at 4.25 P.M.

The following program was carried out for the balance of the Convention.

Monday, October 21:

Evening Session, Ball Room, Mayflower Hotel:

7.45. Address: "You and I and Japan." Rev. Clifford R. Stetson.
Debate: "Resolved, That the Project Method of Teaching Ought to be employed Much More Generally in Universalist Church Schools." Rev. Max Kapp and Rev. Gustav H. Leining.

President Ratcliff presided. Between the two parts of the program Dr. Huntley was presented with a folio of 326 letters of greeting and appreciation and a purse amounting to $1,209.82 from his many friends. He responded with great feeling to this manifestation of good will. Both parts of the program were much worth while. Attendance, 250.

Tuesday, October 22:

Morning Session, Mayflower Hotel:

9.30. Divisional Conferences.
North Room, Children's. Miss Mary F. Slaughter. Attendance, 40.
Ball Room, Young People's. Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D. Attendance, 40.
Jefferson Room, Adult and Administration. Mr. Carl A. Hempel. Attendance, 20.

While the attendance was rather small at the conference groups, the work done and information given justified this feature of our Convention program.

Tuesday, October 22:

Evening Session, Ball Room, Mayflower Hotel:

7.45. Song Service led by Rev. Hal Kearns.
Words of Council. Rev. Marion Shutter, D.D.
The Word of the General Convention. Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D.
The Ingathering. Rev. Ulysses S. Millburn, D.D. A splendid response, $4,122.04 raised.
Address: "Life's Fourth Dimension." Rev. Effie McCollum Jones, D.D.

Rev. Laura Bowman Galer presided, and as a part of the evening's program called upon President Ratcliff to present Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D., as the new Executive Director of the General Sunday School Association. Dr. Earle received an ovation, and responded with words of loyalty and consecration to the task before her.

Dr. Jones' closing address was a fitting climax to the splendid Convention, and thus our seventeenth annual gathering ended, — a Convention successful and satisfactory in every way. The program opened with prayer by Rev. Harold Lumsden, and closed with prayer by Dr. Adams. Attendance, 250.

C. A. HEMPEL,
Secretary.

Report of the Executive Board of the Women's National Missionary Association of the Universalist Church

For the Year 1928–1929

This Association is happy to report continued activity and progress in all departments of its work during the past year.

In North Carolina there have been no changes in the personnel of missionaries in the several circuits. These have been under the supervision of Dr. F. B. Bishop as superintendent of the state.

As pastor also of the church at Rocky Mount, Dr. Bishop reports a year of fine accomplishment. There has been an increase in membership; all quotas to the state and W. N. M. A. have been paid, also the pledge of $1,000 toward the support of the church; payments on the adjoining lot, improvements on the lot; $50 was given toward the Clayton Memorial window in the Washington Church and $50 to their sister church at Greensboro to help in the payment for a church lot. All this, besides paying all the running expenses of the Church. Such a record proves the wisdom of building the Rocky Mount Church.

Clinton Circuit presents the problem of five parishes scattered over a wide area. Rev. Ordell E. Bryant lives in Clinton, the home base of the circuit, where preaching service and Sunday School are conducted each Sunday. An important part of the work is the maintenance of the Good Will Library of about 5,000 volumes. This library serves not only the local community, but the surrounding district. On each Saturday a rummage sale is held as a help to the needy, especially among the colored people. Red Hill, with the largest congregation, has had added to it many members of the Magnolia Circuit which will eventually become entirely a part of the larger parish. Services are held at Red Hill twice a month. Oak Grove and Hopewell each have preaching and Sunday School once a month.

These five parishes are united in the Association of the Larger Hope, which meets on the fifth Sundays of the year to consider the interests of the whole circuit. The Mission Circle conducts a rummage sale each Saturday. A significant item showing the growing appreciation of the Universalist missionaries is the election of Mrs. Bryant as Superintendent of Young People's Work in the Sunday School Association.

Rev. Harry L. Canfield pays the following tribute to the people of the Greensboro Church: "The outstanding characteristic of our group is its cheerful and unabated loyalty. They do their very best, are happy in the doing, and no word of discouragement is ever spoken." There has been an increase in membership, all quotas have been paid, and payments have been kept up on the lot, on which it is hoped a church may soon be built.

Kinston Circuit includes the churches of Kinston, Woodington and Pink Hill, with Rev. W. O. Bodell as pastor. The church at Woodington is the Mother Church in that section of North Carolina, its members being found in Universalist churches throughout the state. The church is growing in members who are showing an increasing interest, and who are being educated in more liberal support of the work. The Kinston church has had a difficult year. Renewal of insurance, paving assessments, and repairs to the building have been a heavy drain upon the resources of the members. The new year, however, has bright prospects, opening with larger congregations, a strong church school and an increased number of visitors at the services.

The Everton Circuit comprises the parishes of Christian Hill and Outlaws Bridge, with Rev. John T. Fitzgerald as pastor. Preaching service at Christian Hill on one Sunday of each month is well attended. Outlaws Bridge has a large congregation. The people are intensely interested in all social and economic reforms. The church school is a power in the community. While financial conditions at present do not allow much progress toward self-support, if the burden of much illness and the need of borrowing at exorbitant rates of credit could be removed, these people could and would carry all their church expenses. There is an active Mission Circle at Outlaws Bridge.

Our Church in the mountains, under the ministry of Rev. Hannah J. Powell, continues to be of inestimable value. Through the preaching services at Inman's Chapel and the community activities at Friendly House the people for miles around are benefited. The summer school has had its usual large attendance. The work supplements and is co-operative with that of the county schools. All kinds of hand work are included in the courses. Most of the assistants are graduates of the school or come from other sections of the state. Because of the departure of Miss Ruth Downing for Japan, Miss Powell is at present without a permanent assistant.

White Lake Institute, inaugurated last year under Dr. Bishop's guidance by the young people of North Carolina, had a registration this year of fifty-four, representing ten parishes. Earnest study, inspirational services, recreation, and the forming of friendships mark this institute as one of the most progressive enterprises in the southern field.

Japan. Our Association is particularly happy over the present situation in the Tokyo field. With Miss Georgene Bowen, Miss Hathaway, and Miss Tomo Murai in Blackmer Home; Mrs. Matsu Yoshioka in charge of Dojin House; and Miss Ruth Downing newly arrived as Supervisor of the three Tokyo Kindergartens, each department is well cared for.

In the Home there are at present twenty student girls, all displaying a spirit of fine companionship and co-operation.

The building, over twenty-five years old, has required rather extensive repairs. The furnace has been repaired so that it at last adequately heats the building. The walls of several rooms have been painted and the living room made more cherry with new rugs and curtains. The exterior of the Home will have to be painted this fall and portions of the roof renewed.

Miss Bowen as head of the Home carries a heavy responsibility, but in addition conducts classes in Bible study and assists in the church and Sunday School of Dojin House. She expresses the joy of all the workers in Tokyo over the return of Miss Hathaway, who is not only adviser to them all, but takes an active share in the various departments of the work; supervising the Kindergartens temporarily, acting as treasurer of the Council during the absence of Mr. Stetson, teaching Bible, English and sewing classes, and superintending two Sunday schools being but a part of her routine.

Dojin House, with its many community interests for the children, young people and women, is increasingly a blessing to the congested district in which it is located. Mrs. Yoshioka and several assistants have this work in charge.

The Clara Barton Guilds, auxiliary to the W. N. M. A., now number forty-five which have reported for this year. Miss H. Eola Mayo, National Secretary of the Guilds, reports a year of activities varying in the different groups, but all of value. Quotas have contributed to the North Carolina work, Dojin House and the camp at the Clara Barton Birthplace. Through "The Broadcaster," published each month from September to June, inclusive, the Guilds are kept in touch with each other and are inspired to a greater loyalty and effort.

The summer camp at the Clara Barton Birthplace was held during the months of July and August, the first month being in charge of the Y. P. C. U. of Massachusetts. All the children showed marked improvement, due to the fresh air, good care and excellent food. Groups of young women generously gave their services as councillors for the camp.

To provide for this humanitarian project, and also to secure an income for the maintenance of the Birthplace, a drive under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marietta B. Wilkins is being conducted for the founding of an Endowment Fund of $50,000.

Summer Institutes and Camps report sessions of good attendance and increasing interest. Our women are realizing the value of these seasons of study of the missionary courses. The union with the Sunday School Association has been found especially helpful.

As the year closes we realize that while much has been accomplished, there still remains much more that should be done, and we pray that the coming year may be one of increased effort in all departments of our work.

Respectfully submitted,

EVELYN C. CORLETT,
Recording Secretary.

Report of the Young People's Christian Union of the Universalist Church

Changes have occurred in many ways in the plans and policies of the Young People's Christian Union during the year 1929 — so many that at times we have been accused of having forgotten the original purposes of the organization. But our purpose still is, as it would seem that it always has been in a fundamental way, to train the young people of the Church in religion, both as expressed in their own lives and in the Church, and giving them opportunities for study and discussion which they could not find in any other place in the Church.

In common with most organizations of this type we have certain difficulties to face, such as the fact that all of our officers, state, national and local, are volunteering their services, and cannot give their full time to the work; or such as the fact that we deal with a group of young people, the majority of them not wage earners, therefore incapable of giving a great deal to the support of the movement; we also have no field workers, only the office secretary being employed full time; and lastly, we have not the financial ability to publish the pamphlets, the letters, the helps, which might make the work more effective. In spite of these things, however, the young people of the Church have made progress during the last year.

Our membership is less than that reported at this time last year, the exact reasons for this being unknown. We have at present a membership of about 2,770, whose average age is about twenty. In each local group there is an average membership of eighteen persons.

From these figures it can be seen that in the most we are dealing with small groups, and yet they have proven themselves to be groups capable of doing certain things.

Institutes have been held during the last summer at the following places: Atlanta, Ga. (immediately preceding the Convention); Ferry Beach, Me.; Murray Grove, N. J.; Turkey Run State Park, Ind.; and also an older young people's institute which has been held now for three years at Ferry Beach. It is felt that a great deal of benefit is derived from these, and special effort is now being made to overcome the lack of interest which was manifest last year as shown by the attendance at most of these institutes. Instead of having institutes under one person, they are this year under a committee of four directed by the president of the general union, and plans for next year seem to indicate that greater success will come from this plan. It is planned to have some sort of an institute in the Mid-Western States west of the Mississippi, either of their own or jointly with the Unitarians; and the young people of California are also planning an institute, so this movement is growing.

"Legion of the Cross" has been discontinued since last year, and in its place has been substituted the "Church Extension Department" which has, obviously (from the name), the task of extending the Church in Japan, in Texas, and in local unions, as its goal. The program for this year is $900 for Texas, and the remainder raised (with a goal set at $1,500) to be divided equally between Japan and field work among local unions needing such help.

Another department which has been discontinued during the year is that of the Junior Unions, because of the fact that they did not have a settled age range; therefore there were often Senior Unions with an age range lower than Junior Unions, and various other difficulties. However, special help is being given to those unions which have an average age range coming within the junior years through the Junior Age Chairman. This plan is obviously more sensible, and at the same time gives special attention to the particular interests of those of our young people who are of these ages.

"Onward," discontinued in its old form at the Convention in Atlanta, Georgia, because of the great expense and the deficit which was being thereby incurred, has been continued in a new form. As a monthly paper of four pages, containing local union news, departmental material, devotional helps, and various other suggestions, it has filled a need long felt in local unions, and has met with the approval of a vast number of our members.

The Young People's Christian Union has continued to have a column in the "Christian Leader," which, as last year, is considering not only the problems and activities of our own young people, but also the things being done by young people, or said about young people, outside of our denomination.

One other thing that was started during this year has seemed of real value, and that is the new type of "Topic Booklet" being issued. One set of topics (one for each Sunday) is issued for the use of those unions coming within the junior age (nine to twelve years). For all those over this age there is the "Discussion Questions" booklet, containing in all almost two hundred topics. These topics are varied in difficulty, interests, material, etc., so that it is possible for most unions to find suggestions here that are suited to their particular type of group. At the end of this booklet a sample program has been worked out with the needs of the "average union" in mind, i.e., the union of high school aged young people, with no particular training in developing and conducting devotional meetings. It would seem that a few changes must be made, such as the inclusion of more "simple" material, but, on the whole, it has proved more satisfactory than the old method of giving only one suggestion for each Sunday during the year.

Financially the union is little better off than it has been in the past, except for the fact (and this is important) that it will add this year no further deficit to the one held at present. It is also hoped that by the time of the Convention in July the debt will be diminished by a considerable extent. A rigid program of economy has been effected during the past year, and at Atlanta it was voted to put the permanent funds in the hands of some organization for the sake of safety and stability in investment. This has been done by turning them over to the General Convention. It is also planned to institute a new and permanent system of bookeeping, something which the Y. P. C. U. has not had up to the present time.

The young people are at the present time co-operating with the General Convention Committee in an effort to establish a Department of Religious Education which will control and co-ordinate all work of Religious Education within the Church.

And so, with these changes the Young People's Christian Union has made an effort to strengthen and improve its organization, so that it may be of more value to the Church of which it is a part.

The Forty-second Annual Convention of the organization will be held next July 9 to 13 in Boston, Massachusetts, at the Church of the Redemption.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION, JULY 1, 1929

The Permanent Funds of the Union

The Permanent Legion of the Cross Fund is made up of gifts of $30, the income of which, amounting to $1.20 annually, equals a regular contribution through the Legion of the Cross to the Union's missionary work.

The Permanent Administrative Fund was established in memory of the late George F. Sears of Chicago, and has been augmented by other gifts, notably that of Frank Pierce of Sharpsville, Pa., and the bequest of Auntie Brown. This income is used for the administration expenses of the Union.

The Auntie Brown Fund was established by a gift of Auntie Brown, the interest to be used for the education of theological students.

The Junior Union Japan Fund was established in 1900 by gifts of Junior Unions. Interest is used for the Japan Mission work of the Junior Union.

These funds, totalling $12,613.93, are invested as follows:

Report of the Universalist Publishing House

Five years ago we were able to report that an addition of $200,000 to our present funds would enable the Publishing House to carry on its work without further appeals to the denomination. This would mean taking care of the heavy deficit incurred in the publication of the "Leader" and "Helper" and certain denominational books, also the publication of free literature to be distributed in our churches.

By additional subscriptions to our Headquarters Six Per Cent Gold Notes, by legacies, and by certain economies of administration, a considerable part of the difference between income and expenditure has been met, so that now it is possible to report that $100,000 instead of $200,000 will suffice for our current needs. This should come from —

(1) Additional gifts and legacies for our "Leader" Endowment Fund.

(2) Subscriptions to our Headquarters Gold Notes, on which the interest is paid to the donor during life, and then the principal set up as a memorial fund bearing the donor's name.

(3) Endowed subscriptions to the "Christian Leader," created by the payment of $50, for which the paper will be sent to the subscriber for life without further charge, and then become a missionary subscription sent either to some individual unable to subscribe or to a college or school or theological seminary or public library.

Necrology

FRANK EUGENE BARTON

Rev. Frank Eugene Barton, who passed away October 30, 1928, in Gloucester, Mass., was born in Saco, Me., June 20, 1852. When about six years of age he, with his people, moved to Roxbury, Mass., where he attended the Roxbury Universalist Church, Dr. A. J. Patterson being pastor at that time. But during a revival in his early manhood he was converted and became a member of the Congregational Church. Moving to Brownfield, Me., he was married to Miss Fanny E. Fogg, October 11, 1884. Here he again came into contact with Universalism, and in the fall of 1887 entered Canton Theological School to prepare for the Universalist ministry. Here he remained for two years, leaving school in 1889 and settling in Bethel, Me., as pastor of the Universalist Church, where he remained sixteen years, all told, though absent for three years as pastor of the Universalist Church at Mechanic Falls. During his last five years in Bethel he was Superintendent of Universalist Churches in Maine, a position he filled with distinction and honor to himself and the denomination. In 1908 he accepted a call to Fairfield and Waterville, where he served until 1911, when he came to the Universalist Church in Rockport, Mass., where he held a continuous pastorate until his sudden death. During the whole course of his long ministry Mr. Barton never missed a Sunday service from illness.

Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Barton: Agnes, wife of Prof. Lee Haskell of Holyoke, and Dr. Frank E. Barton, Jr., of Boston, who, with his wife, survive him.

Mr. Barton was a member of Ashler Lodge of Masons, having been chaplain of that organization for more than sixteen years, never having missed a regular meeting. He was also a member of Granite Lodge, No. 127, I. O. O. F., and of the Cape Ann Parsons' Club.

FRANKLIN K. BEEM

Rev. Franklin K. Beem died in Portland, Me., January 31, 1929, of pneumonia. He was born in Jersey, Ohio, January 4, 1857, and was educated in the schools of his native town and at Buchtel College in Akron. He then entered the divinity school of St. Lawrence University, graduating in 1883. Returning to Ohio he held pastorates at Plain City and Belpre until 1888, when he moved to Maine. He was settled at Livermore Falls and Bethel, and preached for a time at South Berwick, but left the denomination to serve with the Methodists and Congregationalists. He became affiliated with the Universalists again and was engaged during his last years in supply work, being a member of All Souls Church, Portland.

His was one of the pioneer families of Universalists in Ohio, the home of his parents always having been open to the clergy in that section.

In 1891 Mr. Beem was united in marriage to Miss Charlotte Alden of Livermore Falls, Me., who with one son, Merrill, survives him. The funeral service was in charge of his pastor, Rev. Burte B. Gibbs, assisted by Rev. John M. Arters. D.D., of Clark Memorial Church. Interment was at Cumberland Foreside, Me.

ISAAC PHILLIPS BOOTH

Rev. Isaac Phillips Booth, D.D., died July 28, 1929, at his home in Stafford, Conn., after four years of invalidism. He was born in Union, Conn., September 10, 1843, and was the son of Lydia Olney (Phillips) and Isaac Billings Booth. The early years of his life were spent in Union.

He had a deep love for books, and his greatest ambition was to obtain an education. He taught school for several terms, beginning when he was sixteen years old. Later he attended Monson Academy for one year. By reading and studying at night he prepared for college, but was unable to attend at that time. On May 1, 1866, he was married to Miss Julia Crawford of Stafford. Mrs. Booth died several years ago at Stafford.

While teaching school at Kent, Ohio, Mr. Booth became interested in law, and in 1870 he was admitted to the Portage County bar. The practice of law failed to satisfy him, and his interest in religion led him to enter St. Lawrence University to prepare for the Universalist ministry. He graduated with honors in 1874.

His first pastorate was at Huntington, L. I., where he remained for two years. The Universalist Church at Morrisville, Vt., called him and he accepted. A few months later he was asked to serve as superintendent of schools. In 1880 he represented the town in the state Legislature, acting as chairman of the General Committee on Education. In 1881 he became pastor at Northfield, Vt., and was soon elected to the professorship of Latin and Greek at Norwich University at Northfield, which position he held for three years. In 1884 he received the degree of A.M. from Norwich University, and later received the degree of D.D. from the same university. In 1886 he was chaplain in the House of Representatives, and in 1892 he represented the town of Northfield in the Legislature. In 1890 he was examiner of teachers for Washington County. For several years he was principal of the graded and high schools, at the same time preaching at Stowe, Vt. After another pastorate at Morrisville he retired and moved to Stafford in 1904. He supplied vacant pulpits frequently, at one time preaching several months at the Universalist Church in Chester, Vt. He served on the Stafford School Board for several years.

Dr. Booth was also a member of Wolcott Lodge of Masons and of Stafford Grange. He is survived by two daughters and six sons.

CLARENCE ELMORE CHURCHILL

Rev. Clarence Elmore Churchill died at his home in Nashua, N. H., March 29, 1929, following a long illness. He was born in Nashua August 15, 1852, the son of Stillman and Lucinda Hathorn Churchill. At the time of his death he was one of the oldest living graduates of the Nashua High School.

Following his graduation from high school he entered Tufts College, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Divinity in 1872. He held pastorates at Orono, Me.; Hartland, Vt.; and Pomona, Calif. He returned to Nashua thirty years ago, retired from the active ministry, and engaged in secular business. He was a member of the First Universalist Church of that city.

The funeral took place from his residence, with Rev. Weston A. Cate officiating.

GEORGE A. COLE

Rev. George A. Cole was born in Providence, R. I., in 1844. He prepared himself for the ministry and was ordained in 1884, although he did not graduate from college.

He married Mrs. Eliza J. Barlow in Bridgeport, Conn., in 1882.

All his ministerial work was done in the State of New York, where he held pastorates during the years from 1883 to 1911 in Bristol, Frankfort, Minden, Newville, Oxford, Smithville Flats, Tyner and Upper Lisle.

Upon retiring from active ministerial work he moved to Detroit, Mich., where he lived until his death, August 1, 1929.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Walter E. Wilson of Detroit.

THOMAS W. CRITCHETT

Rev. Thomas W. Critchett was born in Boston February 26, 1845, and died on March 28, 1929, at Alexandria, Minn.

In his youth he attended the public schools, and at the time of the Civil War he enlisted with the 12th Massachusetts Volunteers in 1862. After serving a year he was wounded in the battle of Chancellorsville and was taken prisoner and confined in Libby Prison. Later he was paroled and returned to Boston. In 1864 he married Minnie C. Weever of Boston. They had three children, one of whom survives him.

After leaving the service he was shell inspector in the Navy Yard in Charlestown. In 1872 he went to college in Meadville, Pa., and from there to Tufts College. He was ordained in 1881. His first church was in Chatham, Mass. Afterwards he preached in Linesville, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; Oshkosh, Wis.; and his last church was in Markesan, Wis.

His first wife died in 1890, and he married Mrs. C. Evans of Markesan in 1897. He moved to Alexandria, Minn., about 1914, after retiring from Markesan, preaching only occasionally. In 1925 his second wife died and his daughter, Mrs. Nettie B. Rawley, went to Alexandria to live with him and was with him until the end. He was confined to his bed five weeks and recognized friends the day before he died. His death was caused from old age.

At the time of his death he was Commander of the J. F. Reynolds Post, G. A. R. He was a member of I. O. O. F.

JENNIE LOIS ELLIS

Rev. Jennie Lois Ellis was born at Cumberland, R. I., June 28, 1871. Her education was received in the local schoo's and Rhode Island College of Education, from which she was graduated in 1890. Much of her life work was in the field of social service. For several years she served as General Secretary of the Atlantic City, N. J., Welfare Bureau. Her main interest was always centered in her church, even when she was located in a community where no Universalist Church existed. She filled the following denominational offices at various times: member of Executive Board, National Y. P. C. U.; president of Rhode Island State Y. P. C. U.; Mission Study Superintendent, Y. P. C. U.; member of Board of Foreign Missions of the Universalist Church; and member of the Executive Board of the W. N. M. A.

Miss Ellis finally decided to give all her time to her church. She served one year as Director of Religious Education in Wausau, Wis. In 1922 she accepted a call to Pennsylvania as Sunday School Missionary, in which position she was eminently successful. She felt that there was much service she could render if she were ordained, so she was granted a license and was ordained September 27, 1925. She was appointed State Superintendent of Churches in Pennsylvania in 1924, and served in that capacity until her death.

One feature of her work was a service held each year in the little chapel at Cumberland, R. I., when she preached to her old friends and associates. This chapel was ever dear to her as the place where she received her first instruction in the meaning of Universalism.

Miss Ellis was a woman of limitless physical energy, of large vision, and boundless optimism. Through her world-wide vision she helped many who served with her to see the universality of Universalism.

Funeral services were held at the Church of the Messiah, Philadelphia, on April 13, 1929, and a memorial service was conducted at Cumberland, R. I., on April 21.

WILLIAM PORTER FRISBEE FERGUSON

Rev. William Porter Frisbee Ferguson was born in Delhi, N. Y., on December 13, 1861. In 1887 he was graduated from Drew Theological Seminary, and received his A.B. degree from the Texas Wesleyan University at Fort Worth in 1889. He declined the degree of Doctor of Laws when he found that the university offering it owned saloon property. In 1887 he married L. Grace Hathaway of Sidney Center, N. Y., who survives him, together with two sons and a daughter, his mother and a brother.

After serving two pastorates in Methodist Episcopal churches, 1887–90, he was principal of the Mohawk Institute, Utica, N. Y., in 1891–92. Four years of service as pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Whitesboro, N. Y., were followed by Mr. Ferguson's first connection with prohibition journalism. He was on the staff of "The Voice," New York City, in 1897–99, and managing editor of "The New Voice," Chicago, for the next three years. In 1904–05 he was editor of "The Citizen" at Harriman, Tenn., and pastor of the Universalist Church. He was editor and proprietor of "The Defender," New York, and pastor of the Third Universalist Church of Brooklyn in 1905–07, and editor of "The National Prohibitionist," Chicago, 1907–11. In October, 1911, Mr. Ferguson went to Franklin to be editor of "The Vindicator," national prohibition organ, and the "Venango Daily Herald." Following an illness of three years, during which time he heroically tried for some months to keep up his editorial writing, he died June 21, 1929, at his home in Franklin, Pa.

Though specializing on prohibition, Mr. Ferguson was also a popular lecturer on such subjects as Canada, Mexico, Central America and South America, and also upon literary subjects. He was, from travels in those places, fully versed regarding them. He was an occasional writer of verse, and his work always displayed the highest mechanical polish and perfection as well as much of eloquent thought and expression.

While Mr. Ferguson was active in one of the local Orthodox churches, no one stood in any doubt as to his liberal religious beliefs. Almost daily in his editorial utterances he preached the gospel of mutual understanding and appreciation among the nations and races of the earth, and of tolerance for others and faith in their motives, if not always in their knowledge.

CARL FRENCH HENRY

Rev. Carl French Henry, D.D., minister of the Throop Memorial Church, Pasadena, Calif., died at his home in that city on January 23, 1929.

He was born October 7, 1867, near Chagrin Falls, Ohio. He was graduated from Buchtel Academy, Akron, Ohio, in 1886; from Buchtel College, now the University of Akron, in 1891, with the degree of Bachelor of Science; and from the Theological School in Tufts College in 1894, with the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Arts. Later he took courses at the Hartford Theological Seminary and at the Hartford School of Religious Pedagogy, earning the degree of Bachelor of Religious Pedagogy. He was ordained to the Universalist ministry December 21, 1893. Both Tufts and Lombard gave him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1924.

On October 9, 1894, at Cleveland, Ohio, he was married to Miss Rena M. Lathrop, who survives him, together with a daughter, Helen.

He held pastorates as follows: Cleveland, Ohio, 1893–1905; Bangor, Me., 1906–11; North Attleborough, Mass., 1911–15; Pasadena, Calif., 1915–29.

For eight years he was a trustee of Buchtel College. He has been both vice-president and president of the Ohio Universalist Convention, and president of the California Universalist Convention. At the time of his death he was serving as vice-president of the Universalist General Convention and as a member of the Commission on Comity and Unity. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta college fraternity, and was a 32d degree Mason and a Knight Templar.

Dr. Henry suffered a serious breakdown about a year before his death, but was given a long rest and resumed his work as usual in the fall. During his pastorate at Pasadena the beautiful new church was built, — one of the most satisfying churches in the denomination.

Dr. Henry had a broad interest in all phases of denominational and interdenominational work. "His mind was strong and fertile, his soul was lofty, his spirit was gentle. He was full of love for mankind, but his courage was as prompt and unfailing as his affection. His sympathies were wide, his friendships innumerable, his loyalty true as steel. He was a clear thinker, a forceful and graceful writer." Like his Master, "he went about doing good."

WILLIAM F. HOPP

Rev. William F. Hopp, Ph.D., died suddenly on August 7, 1929, at St. Mary's Hospital in Detroit, Mich., following an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Hopp was forty-two years of age. He was a native of Pennsylvania, received his education in Lutheran schools and studied subsequently in Germany.

He held several pastorates in the Lutheran denomination, his last being Bethel Evangelical Lutheran Church in Detroit. Several years ago he came into fellowship with the Universalist Convention of Michigan. He was pastor of the United parishes of Concord and Horton in 1918–19. During this time he was accused of being a German sympathizer in the World War, but his loyal service of a patriotic nature amply refuted that accusation. But he was truly antagonistic to war on principle; in fact, antagonistic to all that separates men into divisions of suspicion and hate. Temperamentally he was an idealist of the finest type, and his attitude of faith in God and in mankind was easily misinterpreted by folk of coarser nature.

From Concord he removed to Jackson near by and became chaplain in the great state penitentiary. He was admirably adapted to this work, and in spite of political enemies he did an enormous and holy work among the prisoners in reclaiming the wayward and restoring the wrecked. He held this position for nearly ten years, resigning early in 1929. A few years ago he was one of the American delegates to the international conference on penology in London. Since leaving Jackson he had done some work in journalism in Detroit, and was pursuing certain lines of sociological investigation with the view of publication.

He is survived by his wife and two young sons.

JOSEPH FLETCHER JORDAN

Rev. Joseph Fletcher Jordan, D.D., principal of the Suffolk Normal Training School, after a long period of failing health, passed away May 1, 1929, at Suffolk, Va.

Dr. Jordan was born in 1863 in Gates County, N. C., in that part of the Dismal Swamp known as "Pocoson." Brought up in the partialist churches he "never did like what the speakers said about hell and endless punishment." While serving as presiding elder in the Methodist Church, the conviction came to him that he could preach no more, and he resigned to become a teacher and lawyer.

Then came Dr. Shinn and Dr. Shinn's "beautiful gospel." He felt that necessity to proclaim this transforming message was laid upon him, and he entered the Universalist Church. He took a special course at St. Lawrence University, and, in 1904, returned to Suffolk to succeed another Joseph Jordan as principal of our school for colored children. Here was the mission for which he had longed.

Under Dr. Jordan's direction, his school increased from eleven pupils to three hundred. He gave opportunity to thousands of needy children who, but for his interest, would have wandered in the streets of Suffolk with no protection or education. He was respected by the white people of his city and idolized by the black. No graduate of his school ever was arrested; and all were in great demand as workers in homes and factories.

He was married twice, both of his wives being women of culture and great helpfulness. The first died in 1916 and the latter in 1926. His daughter, Mrs. Annie B. Willis, is now principal of the Suffolk School.

Dr. Jordan had a strong, unique personality, with many eccentricities of expression and conduct, all of which were made pleasing by his evident and all-inclusive good will. Very tall and powerful, very dark and very courteous, he attracted attention wherever he appeared. Called to a peculiar ministry in a peculiar environment, this peculiar man was faithful and efficient. He will be remembered with gratitude in both South and North.

CHARLES ARTHUR KNICKERBOCKER

Rev. Charles Arthur Knickerbocker died at Rockland, Me., on August 7, 1929. He was born in Lansing, Mich., Nov. 9, 1859. He came East to attend Tufts College, and after his graduation, in fact while a student there, he occupied the pulpit of the Spencer (Mass.) Universalist Church. From there he went to Meriden, Conn. The years of pastoral labor which followed found the young minister greatly handicapped by a constitution which was never vigorous, and which necessitated occasional lapses from his work.

Other parishes to which he ministered are: Dorchester, Mass., where he helped build a new church; Shirley, Mass.; Auburn, Me.; Reading, Pa.; Waterville, Me.; Rockland, Me., where he served from 1924 until his death.

Mr. Knickerbocker was a man of intellectual attainments, sound views and a deep knowledge of the human side of life.

He was a 32d degree Mason, and a member of Claremont Commandery of Rockland. He was a past president of the Waterville Rotary Club and an honorary member of the Rockland Rotary Club, by whose members he was held in highest esteem.

Mr. Knickerbocker was twice married, first to Nellie H. Swan, and later to Caroline Thayer. He is survived by his wife, one son, Henry S. Knickerbocker of New York, and one daughter, Constance, of Rockland.

ARTHUR WARNER LITTLEFIELD

Rev. Arthur Warner Littlefield died in Albany, N. Y., on December 18, 1929. Until his retirement in October on account of failing health, he was minister of the Unitarian Church, Middleborough, Mass., for nearly ten years. He was born in 1860.

On March 3, 1925, he received the fellowship of the Universalists. When seeking Universalist fellowship he stated that he had quite a group of helpful Universalists in his parish in Middleborough, and for their sakes he thought he should be a full-fledged Universalist minister.

RICHARD M. SMITH

Rev. Richard M. Smith, Ph D., many years prominently identified with religious and educational work in Alabama, died August 23, 1929, at a hospital in Birmingham, Ala., after a long illness.

Dr. Smith was born at Ashland, Va., August 5, 1860. He was a graduate of the University of Virginia and earned his Ph.D. at Leipsic, Germany. He was at one time professor of Greek and Hebrew at Randolph-Macon College, and had held chairs in Stark's Military School and at Phillips High School. He was author of several books, and the past sixteen years had devoted himself largely to religious and welfare work in Birmingham.

Birmingham newspapers spoke of him as "an outstanding civic welfare worker for the past sixteen years." The "Birmingham Post" said of Dr. Smith: "His was a work of sacrifice ever, whether teaching the youth of the community in the schools or teaching the Word of God in the churches. A friend of the poor and needy, he will never be forgotten for his comfort and aid, both material and spiritual."

He is survived by three sons and four daughters.

OLIVIA J. CARPENTER WOODMAN

Rev. Olivia J. Carpenter Woodman, nationally known as a Universalist minister, suffragist and agricultural leader, and chaplain of the Michigan State Grange for the last thirty-three years, died at the age of eighty-two years, on July 13, 1929, at the home of her sister in Paw Paw, Mich. She was born June 1, 1847, in Orleans County, N. Y.

She was not ordained a minister until she was fifty years old. Her first charge was at Dewitt, Mich. Later she held pastorates at Farmington and Plymouth.

She became nationally known through her work among the grangers. She toured New England twice as organizer for the National Grange, and was the principal speaker on Grange Day at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo in 1901. She was the first woman to make a nominating address in a Michigan Republican convention. Her candidate was Mrs. Dora Stockman, who is still a member of the State Board of Agriculture.

Mrs. Woodman was a trustee of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, and an active worker in the prohibition movement in this state.

Directory — General Organizations

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION

The Universalist General Convention, having jurisdiction over the ecclesiastical organizations of the Universalist Church in the United States, Canadian Provinces, Japan and wherever else it has churches or missions, meets biennially. It is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York.

This Convention is composed, first, of its officers; second, of the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer of the several State Conventions in its fellowship; third, of the several State Superintendents; fourth, of all ordained clergymen in fellowship either with such a State Convention or with the General Convention, and, unless disabled by years or sickness, actively engaged in the work of the ministry; fifth, of delegates from each parish in fellowship, each such parish being entitled to two lay delegates, — one man and one woman. To be entitled to such lay delegates, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship regularly and make a contribution on quota to the General Convention during each of the two years prior to the meeting of said Convention. At least four parishes must be organized and established in a state before a State Convention can be formed. In all states or territories where there is no Convention, the General Convention has original jurisdiction.

All laws relating to fellowship, ordination and discipline originate in the General Convention, and it is the final court of appeal in all cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions. It is an incorporated body, empowered to hold real and personal estate "to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge, by means of missionaries, publications and other agencies." In the interim of sessions the interests of the Convention are managed by a Board of Trustees.

The Denominational Headquarters are at 176 Newbury Street, Boston, Mass. The report of the Board of Trustees gives details of funds and work. The following are the officers of the Convention:

THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF SUPERINTENDENTS

The Council of Superintendents is an organized body composed of the General Superintendent together with the various regional and State Superintendents of churches.

Its purpose is to be of largest assistance to both parishes and ministers, well established churches and new movements, and to study and promote church administration in the most approved manner.

The State Superintendents are the pastors of the various State Convention Churches with which Universalists living in places in their states where there is no Universalist Church are affiliated. The General Superintendent is the pastor of the General Convention Church with which Universalists living in sections of the country where there is no State Convention Church are affiliated.

The following officers were elected at the 1929 session of the Council: Pres., Rev. R. F. Etz, D.D.; Vice-Pres., Rev. L. W. Coons, D.D.; Sec., Rev. Stanley Manning; Members of the Executive Committee: Rev. F. C. Leining, D.D.; Mr. Stanley C. Stall.

THE GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION, resulting from a widespread demand for inspiration and careful direction in the field of religious education, was organized at Chicago, Ill., in 1913. It has given constant support to the General Convention and its other auxiliary bodies, and has helped to develop a generation of Universalists well informed and loyal regarding all denominational enterprises. Its growth has been very rapid.

Executive Board: Pres., Rev. John M. Ratcliff, 108 Powder House Blvd., W. Somerville, Mass.; First Vice-Pres., Rev. Weston A. Cate, Nashua, N. H.; Second Vice-Pres., Rev. Laura Bowman Galer, Mount Pleasant, Iowa; Sec., Carl A. Hempel, 40 Ocean Ave., Lynn, Mass.; Treas., Mr. Albert H. Homans, 2366 Woodhill Rd., Cleveland, Ohio.

Executive Director: Rev. A. Gertrude Earle, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass. In accordance with a new policy adopted in 1929 the Executive Board appointed Dr. Earle as Executive Director, to be in charge of the general work of the Association.

Miss Mary F. Slaughter is employed as associate in administration and field work, and Mrs. Janet M. Stover as office secretary. The work formerly carried on by departmental superintendents is now concentrated at headquarters.

THE WOMEN'S NATIONAL MISSIONARY ASSOCIATION OF THE UNIVERSALIST CHURCH was organized in 1869, in Buffalo, N. Y. Its purpose is to interest all Universalist women in missions, both home and foreign, and by co-operation with the General Convention to promote the missionary work of the Universalist Church. Its headquarters are at 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass. It meets at the same time and place as the General Convention.

Executive Board: Pres., Rev. Hazel I. Kirk, 5 Gould St., Danvers, Mass.; First Vice-Pres., Mrs. Walter R. Corlett, 254 S. Kenilworth Ave., Elmhurst, Ill.; Second Vice-Pres., Mrs. Irving L. THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY was organized at Albany, N. Y., in 1834 for the collection of facts, books and papers pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism. In 1877 the Society was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, but is still world-wide in its scope. It has a library of about 5,000 volumes, besides important manuscripts and papers. Donations of books and bequests are earnestly solicited to help make the library as complete as possible. Its library is at Tufts College. The Historical Society is adding constantly to its valuable collection of books, manuscripts and miscellaneous articles of denominational interest. Pres., Hosea Starr Ballou, Brookline, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Rev. Theodore A. Fischer, D.D., New Haven, Conn.; Sec., Vinton A. Sears, Sears Building, Boston, Mass.; Treas., Llewellyn D. Seaver, 17 Court St., Boston; Librarian, Rev. Lee S. McCollester, D.D., Tufts College, Mass.; Asst. Librarian, Ethel Monroe Hayes, A.B., Tufts College, Mass.; Directors, George De Benneville Keim, New Jersey, Ralph W. E. Hunt, Maine, together with the officers.

State and Corresponding Secretaries represent the Historical Society in most of the states of the Union, in the British Provinces and in foreign countries.

The 95th annual meeting was held in the First Universalist Church, Roxbury, Mass., of which the first president of the Universalist Historical Society, Rev. Hosea Ballou, 2d, was the first minister. The meeting marked the centennial of the publication, in 1829, of Dr. Ballou's epoch-making book, "The Ancient History of Universalism," written by him at Roxbury. The beautiful leather-bound copy of the work which Dr. Ballou inscribed and presented to his father in 1829 was exhibited by Hosea Starr Ballou, together with other memorabilia in his possession, — many of them included in his Memoir of Dr. Ballou, — and Mr. Ballou was followed by tributes from Rev. Dr. Theodore A. Fischer of New Haven, Conn., and Dr. Henry Nehemiah Dodge of Morristown, N. J. Dr. Dodge prepared for this meeting an elaborate essay, "The Way By Which We Came," which in 1929 was printed, serially, in four numbers of the "Christian Leader," and which the Universalist Publishing House has now reprinted in pamphlet form.

On Tuesday, May 27, 1930, at 2.30 P.M., the Universalist Historical Society will hold its 96th annual meeting in Miner Hall, Tufts College. For the Tercentenary year of Massachusetts a fine program is in preparation. Universalist laymen and women, as well as clergy, are eligible for membership. For life membership (cost $25) or annual membership (dues $1 annually), apply to Vinton A. Sears, Secretary, Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

FERRY BEACH PARK ASSOCIATION

National Universalist Summer Meetings were organized at Ferry Beach, Me., in 1901, by that great Universalist missionary, the Rev. Quillen H. Shinn, D.D. For nineteen years previously he had held summer assemblies at the Weirs, on Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H., and at Saratoga Springs in New York State. While these gatherings were successful, a great need was felt for a summer retreat which should actually be Universalist property and entirely controlled for Universalist purposes. Great satisfaction and delight were therefore felt when, through Dr. Shinn's effort and influence, the land and buildings at Ferry Beach were acquired and dedicated.

The property was originally owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad, and its purchase was originally financed by money obtained on a loan on Dr. Shinn's life insurance policy. His vision, however, was great and true, and since its first summer Ferry Beach has steadily grown in attendance, effectiveness as a summer school and vacation enjoyment and in denominational importance. Ferry Beachers are now to be found in all parts of the country and come from practically every Universalist parish. Many churches, Missionary Societies, Church Schools and Young People's Unions make it a point to raise sufficient funds during the year to pay the expenses of one or more delegates to the various institutes.

Ferry Beach is located on the south shore of Old Orchard Beach, about a mile from the confluence of the Saco River and the Atlantic Ocean. The famous stretch of Old Orchard Beach, spoken of frequently as "the finest beach in the world," never fails to elicit the delight and praise of the visitor. Directly back of its beach property the Association also owns some slightly elevated marsh land, a splendid camping ground, about fourteen acres of pine grove and a small pond. Many people find the grove the most delightful part of their Ferry Beach experience. One may always find there, even on the hottest day, cool breezes, calmness and quiet.

Ferry Beach is easily reached via the Boston & Maine Railroad from Boston or Portland to Old Orchard, Me., and then by bus or taxi to "The Quillen House," which is the headquarters of the Association. The post office address is R. F. D., Saco, Me. Parties coming by automobile will find a splendid highway, wide and concrete surfaced, from Boston to Saco. There, after passing through the center of the town, one should turn sharp right and will find Ferry Beach just five miles farther on. Coming from the north one passes through Portland to Old Orchard, and from there easily finds the winding road along the seacoast to Ferry Beach.

In recent years many improvements have been made at Ferry Beach for the accommodation and comfort of guests. The Quillen House, which was remodeled in 1926, the Underwood, the Cottage and the new Rowland Hall offer splendid summer quarters for over two hundred people. For those who desire to tent, both space and tents with wooden floors and complete equipment are furnished. Next season a number of small wooden houses or "overnight camps" will be available. Rowland Hall, built in 1927, is an especially fine building containing classrooms, a big auditorium, a balcony and eighteen large and commodious rooms accommodating forty guests. In the splendid auditorium are held most of the parties, mass meetings and entertainments. On rainy evenings, however, many prefer the comfortable parlor room of the Quillen, with its lounges, writing desks, library and warm, open fireplace.

Many friends of Ferry Beach make possible the continuance and the enlargement of the summer work. The Underwood was in large measure the gift of Carrie P. Underwood, a devoted Ferry Beacher. Substantial gifts from many individuals and from churches and societies made possible the purchase of the Grove in 1915, and more recently the acquisition of valuable beach land and the erection of Rowland Hall. Income from gifts, pledges and Association memberships is used for new additions and equipment or for necessary repairs to the property. Three forms of membership are possible: Annual members pay $1 yearly; a life membership may be had for $25; and a patron membership may be had for $100. Artistic and beautiful Ferry Beach membership certificates, signed by the President and Secretary, are issued to life and patron members; yearly membership cards are issued to all annual members.

Contributions to the growing work of Ferry Beach are earnestly solicited. Many of our churches and schools are securing rooms in Rowland Hall which will bear their names or designations. There are already Lynn, Fitchburg, Hartford, Everett, New Haven and New Bedford rooms. Other schools or organizations desiring to secure special rooms, or individuals desiring to give rooms in memory of some person, are invited to correspond with the Secretary.

Next season will be the twenty-ninth of the Ferry Beach Institutes. The management of the property and the hotels is in the hands of a Board of Directors elected at the annual meeting of the Association during the summer season. Dr. Shinn was the first President, and has been followed by a line of able and consecrated successors, — Rev. O. Howard Perkins, Rev. Fred C. Leining, Dr. William R. Rowland, Rev. Arthur E. Wilson and Mr. Eben Prescott. The Secretary conducts the correspondence and business of the season, and is always present during the season to welcome arrivals. Rev. Hervey H. Hoyt was the first Secretary and has been followed by Rev. Dwight A. Ball, Carl F. Elsner, Rev. A. Francis Walch, Rev. Thomas J. Farmer, Rev. Clinton L. Scott and Rev. Elmer D. Colcord.

The personnel of the Board of Directors for 1930 is as follows:

Pres., Mr. Eben Prescott, 230 Middle St., Braintree, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Carl A. Hempel, 40 Ocean Ave., Lynn, Mass.; Treas., Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.; Sec., Rev. Elmer D. Colcord, 1426 West State St., Trenton, N. J.; Members of the Board, Rev. Stanley Manning, 23 Capitol St., Augusta, Me.; Mrs. William R. Rowland, Goddard School for Girls, Barre, Vt.; Mr. J. M. Johnson, Saco, Me.; Honorary Directors, Mr. E. P. Claflin, Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. Celestine M. Gordon, New Bedford, Mass.; Miss Laura A. Jenness, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mrs. Quillen H. Shinn, Gloucester, Mass.

The 1930 season will be as follows:

Opening Week — July 5–12.
Y. P. C. U. Week — July 12–19.
Sunday School Week — July 19–26.
Missionary Week and Camp Cheery — July 26–Aug. 2.
Ministers' Week — Aug 2–9.
Older Young People's Week — Aug. 9–16.
Boy Scouts Camp — Aug. 16–30.

Applications for rooms, in order to receive the best assignments, should be made early in May. Reservations are made on June 1. Annual dues, except in the case of Life Members, should accompany application made to the Secretary.

The Institute programs are under the direct planning and control of the various denominational organizations. Student government, under the helpful advice and supervision of Mr. Carl A. Hempel, is maintained during Sunday School and Y. P. C. U. weeks. During the 1930 season a new plan of management will be incorporated, and there will be a resident pastor and his wife on hand. For several years Mrs. Quillen H. Shinn has been able to be with us for most of the season, occupying the Shinn Memorial Room in the Quillen, and inspiring with her presence all those who come to Ferry Beach. A new feature of the program will be the Ministers' Week to which all Universalist ministers are invited and urged to come.

Continual improvements to the Ferry Beach movement are being made and planned. Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., the Treasurer of the Association, is Chairman of the special Finance Committee, and will be glad to receive gifts for the work. Several Ferry Beachers have made the Association legatee of their estates. During 1929 a sum of money was received in this manner from the estate of the late Rev. Jennie Lois Ellis of Philadelphia.

The curriculum of the Institute work includes Standard Courses which count as units of the Leadership Training Curriculum of the International Council of Religious Education, together with other courses covering a wide variety of subjects.

Courses are conducted by trained, consecrated and able teachers who make the content worth while and present it in an alluring manner. All credits count toward the diploma issued by the Association Courses and the Faculty. A Ferry Beach diploma has come to mean the achievement of a valuable amount of work and the accomplishment of standard requirements as well as the bond of a happy vacation.

An annual booklet, "The Ferry Beacher," containing information about the various institutes and the coming season, is published the first of May. It will be sent gratis to any one upon request. Copies are regularly sent to all annual members of the Association.

The following poem by the Rev. A. Francis Walch appeared in the 1929 number, and is expressive of the thoughts of many who make Ferry Beach an annual visit: —

WHAT IS FERRY BEACH?

A strip of sand, the restless tides,
The wheeling gulls and darting terns,
The stately pines, the cooling shades,
The sun's caress, the sky that yearns.
This is Ferry Beach.

Far called a group of earnest souls
Foregather, bent on work and play;
Here friend greets friend and stranger folk
Are welcomed in a home-like way.
This is Ferry Beach.

Good lessons learned and visions shared,
The high resolve to service true,
The lighted face, the heart aglow,
Then homeward turn, the heights in view.
This is Ferry Beach.

And through the year, in home and church,
With noble zeal and large emprise,
Youth holds aloft the torch of faith
And takes the path where duty lies.
This is Ferry Beach.

MURRAY GROVE ASSOCIATION

This association was organized August 24, 1886, at the Potter Memorial Church, Good Luck, N. J., to provide means, adopt and execute measures, for the preservation of memorials and property endeared to Universalists at Good Luck, N. J.; and for holding meetings thereat during each summer in the interests of the church at large. The Association is incorporated, and at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1926, owned assets worth over $40,000. In addition to this, an Endowment Fund of over $13,000 exists, the income from which is largely applied for current expense. Real estate amounting to 232 acres has been placed in the hands of the General Convention to be held in trust for the Association. On this property are located the Murray Grove House, the Potter Mansion, the Potter Memorial Church, the Ballou House and several smaller buildings. The capacity of the Murray Grove House has been increased to sixty-seven bedrooms by the erection of the 150th Anniversary Building and the new kitchen, both three stories high; also the water supply has been enlarged and an electric lighting and sewage disposal plant installed, requiring an expenditure, including furnishings, of over $25,000. The Potter Mansion has been restored and repaired and was formally dedicated by impressive services on Sunday, August 16, 1914. By an amicable arrangement, the Association has also the unrestricted use of the Old Potter Meeting House during the summer meetings. There has been recently turned over to the Universalist National Cemetery Association, Inc., a plot of land for its use. A series of constructive conferences and institutes are arranged here each summer by the General Sunday School Association, the Women's National Missionary Association, and the Y. P. C. U. Aside from its great historic value, strong emphasis is being placed by the management on the present-day value of the Institution toward the upbuilding of our Church. The annual membership dues are $1; life membership, $25; and patron membership, $100. Money received from life memberships is added to our Endowment Fund. Pres., Mr. James C. Krayer, 309 Kenmore Ave., Glenside, Pa.; Vice-Pres., J. B. Macneal, 2624 N. Charles St., Baltimore, Md.; Treas., C. W. Gabell, Jr., 6526 N. 13th St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Sec., Miss Agnes L. Smith, Scranton, Pa.; Mr. Frank Smith, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Miss Helen Buckwalter, Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. John Sayles, D.D., Cornish, Me., represents the Universalist General Convention.

UNIVERSALIST NATIONAL CEMETERY ASSOCIATION, INC.

When Mrs. Bisbee first visited Murray Grove in 1920, during the 150th Anniversary Celebration, she made the suggestion to Dr. Bisbee that a cemetery be established there for Universalists from all parts of the Nation. Dr. Bisbee joined enthusiastically in the idea and so informed the Murray Grove Association, offering at the same time to purchase a lot where they both could be buried. There was unanimous approval of the project given by the Murray Grove Association, and a plot of ground was immediately laid out for the use of the cemetery. By strange coincidence, Mrs. Bisbee's remains were the first to be interred in this hallowed spot, and they were soon followed by those of her revered and sainted husband.

A name was adopted and a Cemetery Association incorporated on August 18, 1924, the charter being filed in the clerk's office of Ocean County, N. J., in Book 4 of Corporations, Page 277, etc.

A plan of the burial lots has been approved, and a nominal price established for them. All money received from the sale of these lots is held by the Trustees of the General Convention and the income applied towards the perpetual care of the graves. Full particulars may be had by applying to the secretary. The following are the officers and trustees: Pres., Mr. George W. H. Shinn, Hightstown, N. J.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Daniel Wilbert, Lanoka Harbor, N. J.; Sec., Miss Agnes L. Nicol, 1703 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, Pa.; Treas., Mr. C. W. Gabell, Jr., 6526 N. 13th St., Philadelphia, Pa. Trustees: Mrs. Sarah S. Black, Hightstown, N. J.; Mrs. Anna D. Bergen, Hightstown, N. J.; and Miss Emma E. Krementz, Newark, N. J.

THE SOUTHERN UNIVERSALIST ASSOCIATION

Organized at Camp Hill, Ala., July, 1925, as the successor to The Southern Universalist Young People's Institute.

The name under which the Universalist summer meetings were held at Chattanooga, Tenn., from 1919 to 1924, inclusive, was somewhat cumbersome and led to confusion at times. With the removal of the meetings to Camp Hill, Ala., in 1925, it was decided to change the name to The Southern Universalist Association. This enables the organization to broaden the scope of its work so as to include adults, especially in the missionary and lecture departments.

The Association sponsors an institute each summer which is educational, recreational and inspirational. It not only exists for the Universalist Church in the south, but for all religious liberals. It offers courses of study and lectures which make their appeal to all liberal Christians, and is the only institute of its kind, so far as the reports show, south of Mason and Dixon's line.

It trains workers especially for service in Sunday schools, young people's societies, and missionary organizations. Credits are awarded for faithful attendance and scholarship. A capable faculty, consisting of representatives of the General Sunday School Association, the Young People's Christian Union, the Women's Missionary Association, together with individual instructors selected for their ability to teach specified subjects, is engaged each season.

The officers for 1929–1930 are as follows: Pres. vacant; Director of the Summer Institute, and Vice-Pres., Mrs. Ladie Rowlett; Sec.-Treas., Miss Martha Langley, Camp Hill, Ala.; Trustees: Mrs. J. G. McGowin, Miss Mary Slaughter, Mrs. Malcolm White.

THE SCHOOL OF EVANGELISM, CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

A school for special training for the ministry for those unable to attend the regular theological schools of the Universalist Church.

Organized, 1917. Has the use of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial Church for study purposes.

Board of Management: Manager, the minister of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial Church; Vice-Manager, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., representing the Board of Trustees of the General Convention, Mrs. J. W. Vallentyne, Rev. Francis B. Bishop, D.D., M. O. Hill and Mrs. J. G. McGowin. Meets Chattanooga, June 21 to 29, 1930.

THE MID-WEST INSTITUTE

The Mid-West Institute of the Universalist Church is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois for the purpose of "promoting Christian culture and advancing the Universalist Church by means of conducting summer meetings." The first meeting was held in the summer of 1925 at the camp of the Joliet, Illinois, church.

At the present the institute sponsors the Y. P. C. U. Institute every summer. The idea is, as soon as it be judged proper, to sponsor the institutes of the General Sunday School Association and the Women's Missionary Society in the Middle West.

For the summer of 1930 the Young People's Institute will be held in Turkey Run State Park, Ind. The dates will be announced later.

The officers are: Pres., vacant; Vice-Pres., Rev. Sidney Esten, 4112 Graceland Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.; Sec., Mr. Oscar Vogt, 908 West 31st St., Indianapolis, Ind.; Treas., Miss Vesta Keach, Table Grove, Ill.; Trustees: Term expires 1930, Rev. R. Homer Gleason, Rochester, Minn.; Term expires 1931, Rev. Robert Cummins, Cincinnati, Ohio; Term expires 1932, Rev. Fred. Line, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Universalist Publishing House

The House was organized in 1862 and incorporated in 1872, and holds all its property for the benefit of the Universalist Church. It is managed by a Board of thirty Trustees, who are elected for three-year terms. Vacancies may be filled by the State Convention which the Trustees represented; such State Convention failing to fill said vacancies within one year, the Trustees shall do so at their next annual meeting thereafter.

Under a plan of reorganization which went into effect in May, 1922, there is a Board of Trustees consisting of thirty members, as follows: Massachusetts, twelve; Maine and Rhode Island, three each; New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, Ohio, Connecticut and Illinois, one each; elected by the Board of Trustees of the General Convention, six.

Directors: Pres., Prof. Arthur W. Peirce, Dean Academy, Franklin, Mass.; Treas., Mr. Arthur E. Mason, 24 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; A. Ingham Bicknell, Esq., 6 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; Mr. Arthur H. Britton, 8 Tahanto St., Concord, N. H.; Mr. Victor A. Friend, 32 E. Wyoming Ave., Melrose, Mass.; Mr. Nowell Ingalls, 30 State St., Boston, Mass.; Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., Boylston and Ipswich Sts., Boston, Mass.; Cornelius A. Parker, Esq., 14 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; Rev. Stanley G. Spear, 5 Stanmore Pl., Roxbury, Mass.

Betts, D.D., Syracuse. Vermont: Mr. R. L. Richmond, Rutland. Ohio: Mr. J. P. Mead, Kent. Connecticut: Mr. Charles B. Pinney, Stafford. Illinois: Rev. L. Ward Brigham, D.D., Chicago.

Elected by the Trustees of the General Convention: Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D., 4605 Cass Ave., Detroit, Mich.; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, Franklin Administration Bldg., Washington, D. C.; Mr. Arthur H. Britton, 8 Tahanto St., Concord, N. H.; Hon. Roger S. Galer, Mount Pleasant, Iowa; Hon. Robert W. Hill, Masonic Bldg., Salem, Mass.; Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D., Boylston and Ipswich Sts., Boston, Mass.

Manager: Rev. Harold Marshall, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

Clerk of the Corporation: Mr. Nowell Ingalls.

The net assets of the House are over $400,000, consisting of periodicals, books, plates, etc. It publishes and owns the titles and copyrights of one hundred and fifty volumes and "The Christian Leader" and "The Sunday School Helper Series." It is located at 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

Colleges, Theological Schools and Academies

LOMBARD COLLEGE

Lombard College was founded by a group of Universalists in Warren County, Ill., led by Rev. Charles P. West. Galesburg was selected as the site, and the college was granted a charter on February 15, 1851.

From the hour of its foundation as a "non-sectarian seminary of learning," Lombard has always been liberal and progressive. It has been coeducational from the start, and it was the second college in the United States to admit women as candidates for degrees on precisely the same terms as men, and it was the first college to grant the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity to a woman minister.

In the spring of 1928 the American Unitarian Association agreed to assist in the financial maintenance of the college, and since that date Lombard has been under the joint control of Universalists and Unitarians.

The college offers well-balanced four-year courses, modern in spirit and content, leading to recognized degrees in Arts and Sciences.

The beautiful location of the college, its buildings and equipment ample for 350 students, and its carefully selected faculty make it one of the strongest of the smaller colleges of the Middle West.

Expenses are as follows: Tuition per semester (two semesters per year), $100; board and room in the women's dormitory, $160 to $200 per semester.

The Board of Trustees: Roger S. Galer, M.A., LL.D., Chairman; Webb A. Herlocker, LL.B., Secretary; Frank D. Adams, D.D., Detroit, Mich.; Roger S. Galer, M.A., LL.D., Mount Pleasant, Iowa; Winifred Mason Huck, Chicago, Ill.; Julius Kespohl, Quincy, Ill.; George F. Patterson, D.D., Boston, Mass.; L. Ward Brigham, M.S., M.D., D.D., Chicago, Ill.; Lon R. Call, A.B., B.D., Louisville, Ky.; Webb A. Herlocker, LL.B., Galesburg, Ill.; William L. Holly, LL.B., Chicago, Ill.; Harriet F. (Mrs. Emmett L.) Richardson, A.B., Milwaukee, Wis.; Frieda K. (Mrs. Carl C.) Blankenburg, A.B., LL.B., Kalamazoo, Mich.; Charles Marshall Poor, Ph.D., Galesburg, Ill.; Gail Q. Porter, A.B., New Britain, Conn.; Curtis Williford Reese, Ph.B., Th.G., D.D., Chicago, Ill.; Sydney Bruce Snow, A.B., S.T.B., D.D., Chicago, Ill.; Omer N. Macpherson, L.H.D., Joilet, Ill.; Harold Marshall, D.D., Boston, Mass.; ex officio, George Gilman Davis, A.B., President.

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

St. Lawrence University was founded in 1856. It comprises four departments: the College of Letters and Science, the Theological School, the New York State School of Agriculture, located at Canton, N. Y., and the Law School which is located in Brooklyn, N. Y. These departments are independent in that they have separate faculties and funds. They are all under one administrative head, the president of the university.

Men and women are admitted to all departments. The instruction is thorough, and the mental training practical and efficient.

Officers of the University Corporation: President, Owen D. Young, LL.D., L.H.D., New York City; Secretary, Richard Collins Ellsworth, B.S., Canton; Comptroller, Jay Wesley Benton, Esq., Canton. Trustees: Rev. Alpheus Baker Hervey, Ph.D., Bath, Me.; Emily Eaton Hepburn, B.S., New York City; Nelson Lemuel Robinson, M.A., New York City; Rev. James Milford Payson, D.D., Canton; Addison Irving Bacheller, Litt.D., L.H.D., New York City; Lucia Elizabeth Heaton, M.S., M.D., Brooklyn; Charles Snow Brewer, B.A., Utica; James Franklin McKinney, M.A., Schenectady; Charles William Appleton, B.S., L.L.B., New York City; Owen D. Young, LL.D., L.H.D., New York City; Herbert Foster Gunnison, M.A., LL.D., Brooklyn; Rev. Harry Westbrook Reed, D.D., Watertown; President Richard Eddy Sykes, D.D., Canton; James Charles Dolan, Ph.B., Gouverneur; George Murray Holmes, Esq., Gouverneur; Jay Wesley Benton, Esq., Canton; Almon Wheeler Lytle, B.S., LL.B., Buffalo; Florence Lee Whitman, M.A., Cambridge, Mass.; Richard Collins Ellsworth, B.S., Canton; Cleland Ruthven Austin, B.A., Orange, N. Executive Committee: The President of the Corporation, Messrs. Payson, Benton, Ellsworth, Manley, Miss Lynde, President Sykes.

Finance Committee: Messrs. Gunnison, Appleton, Benton and Mrs. Hepburn.

Herring Library: Librarian, Helen Mary Dowd, Ph.B. The library, founded by the late Silas C. Herring, and embracing fifty thousand volumes, is contained in Herring Library and the Cole Reading Room.

THE COLLEGE OF LETTERS AND SCIENCE — Courses: The College of Letters and Science offers courses leading to the degrees of B.A., B.S., M.A., M.S., and M.A. in education. The last two years of each course are largely elective.

Calendar: The college year is divided into two terms. The second term will begin the second week in February. Commencement will be the second week in June. The first term of the succeeding year will begin the third week in September. Summer School begins first Monday in July.

Expenses: Tuition, $200; fees, $60; board from $8.50 to $10 a week. For catalogues apply to the Dean of the College, Prof. E. L. Hulett, M.A., LL.D.

Trustees of the Theological School: President, Heman Wright Morris, Rochester; Secretary, George Henry Bowers, Esq., Canton. Terms expire in 1930; George Henry Bowers, Esq., Canton; Rev. Frederick William Betts, D.D., Syracuse; John I. Zoller, Esq., Little Falls. Terms expire in 1931: Rev. John Murray Atwood, D.D., Canton; Rev. Richard Eddy Sykes, D.D., Canton; Rev. T. E. Potterton, D.D., Brooklyn, N. Y. Terms expire in 1932: Heman Wright Morris, Esq., Rochester; Rev. Fred Charles Leining, D.D., Syracuse.

THE CANTON THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL: Four courses of instruction are offered for students preparing for the ministry.

1. A three-year course for college graduates, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity.

2. A joint college-theological course that can be completed in six years. This is for students who purpose to prepare for the ministry when they enter college. It leads to the degree of B.S. or B.A. in four years and B.D. in six years. In the last two years of this course those taking it are graduate students, and their classes are for the most part separate from those of the undergraduates. This course saves one year of the time that would be required (seven years) if students were to take their seminary training after graduation from college. The majority of the students now in the seminary are pursuing this course.

3. A four-year course for those who have not had college training is given with diploma at graduation.

4. A rural ministry course. This is the same as the preceding, save the student is required to carry three term hours (throughout the four years) in approved courses in the School of Agriculture.

Special students are taken for shorter terms of study than the regular courses when their abilities and promise of usefulness in the ministry warrant.

EXTRA — THEOLOGICAL COURSES

In 1916 a two-year course of Religious Education for parish workers or ministers' assistants was added, and also one for the same term of study for Missionary Education. Each of these can be taken in combination with the regular college course, and all candidates for these who have not had a college education are advised to do this when possible. Diplomas are given at graduation.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Students for the graduate course must have had a regular college education. Candidates for the combined College-Divinity course in order to matriculate must be graduates of a standard high school. Those taking the other courses must have had such training as enables them to handle capably the subjects of the curriculum. The faculty of this school considers that a college education is the minimum requirement for every one entering the ministry today. All students in this seminary preparing for the ministry are either college graduates or in the process of becoming such. Any course in the Theological Department is open to any college student qualified to take it.

TUITION AND COSTS

No charge is made for tuition to members of the Theological School for subjects taken in any part of the University. But all theological students taking college work are required to pay the regular college fees (laboratory, athletic and library). These amount to from $20 to $25 a semester. Board and room average from $8 to $9.50 per week. Students may obtain assistance by loans from the General Convention, when needed, to the extent of $150 a year. There is also opportunity for energetic and self-reliant students to help pay a portion of their expenses by work in the village. A limited number of the students have regular student parishes. Textbooks are furnished the students.

CURRICULUM

The curriculum of this school has been shaped to meet the needs primarily of one who is to be a modern parish minister. The faculty has not hesitated to eliminate studies found in the traditional theological course if deemed without practical value to the minister. The aim in all instruction is to present each subject — not excepting theology — in the scientific spirit.

This is our oldest Theological School, having been founded in 1856. It has a substantial building for its exclusive use and an excellent theological library. It is fairly well endowed, but in order to meet its growing needs it is seeking at the present time $100,000 to add to its invested funds. For information and catalogue, address the Dean, Prof. J. M. Atwood.

THE BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL: A department of St. Lawrence University. The school has an able faculty and new building for the exclusive use of the Law School, at 373–381 Pearl Street. The tuition is $180. Catalogue may be obtained of the Dean of the Law School, Wm. P. Richardson, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE: The State of New York has established an Agricultural School as a department of the university. It has buildings and equipment costing $200,000. It is located adjacent to the college campus. An experimental farm of 200 acres is connected with the school, with modern farm buildings, including butter and cheese factory and greenhouse. The tuition is free to all residents of the state. Catalogues may be obtained from the Director of the School of Agriculture.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL: Offers graduate courses in education, and undergraduate courses in academic subjects and education. For catalogue address the Dean, Canton, New York.

TUFTS COLLEGE

This college is situated at Tufts College, in the cities of Medford and Somerville, Mass. It was incorporated in 1852, and opened for students in 1855. Departments: School of Liberal Arts; Jackson College for Women; Tufts College School of Religion and Crane Theological School; Pre-Medical School; Medical School (located in Boston); Pre-Dental School; Dental School (located in Boston); Engineering School; Bromfield-Pearson School, connected with the Engineering School; Graduate School. For catalogue, address the Registrar, Tufts College, Mass.

TUFTS COLLEGE SCHOOL OF RELIGION

This school is one of the co-ordinate departments of Tufts College. Students of the school are members of the college, enjoying its privileges and subject to its regulations. The aim of the school is to fit men to be efficient religious leaders in rural or city communities. Because of its proximity to Boston it gives unusual opportunities to its men for the study of social problems, the practice of social service and acquaintance with religious and social leaders. The new courses are being laid out with especial reference to preparing men for the active ministerial work of modern society, and special opportunities are given for preparation for community leadership, social service and church management.

ADMISSION

1. Tufts College School of Religion and Crane Theological School, while under Universalist direction, are open on equal terms to students of every denomination of Christians. Candidates unknown to the faculty must present satisfactory testimonials as to character.

2. Students holding a Bachelor's degree are admitted to a three years' course without examination, as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology.

3. Undergraduates who enter for a degree must conform to the regular conditions of admission to the School of Liberal Arts.

4. Special students, not candidates for a degree, may be admitted to such work as they are fitted to undertake.

OUTLINE OF COURSES

Recognizing that peculiar difficulties and radically new demands confront the Christian minister today, the School of Religion frankly seeks to adapt its discipline to the new conditions. This, quite naturally, has led to the adoption of a distinct and somewhat distinctive ideal or aim. While rigorously faithful to the fundamentals of a liberal culture, and alert to discover and foster special interests and gifts, the primary aim is practical rather than academic, — to turn out, not men distinguished for varied and curious learning, but men thoroughly equipped for moral and religious leadership.

Two courses are presented leading to the degree of S.T.B.: one of three years, for students who have already received a degree from an accredited college; and one of six years, for students who have taken at Tufts College a regular college course or its equivalent in combination with the courses required in the School of Religion. This combined work may be completed in six years, and the student may thus receive the two degrees of A.B. or B.S. and S.T.B.

Students working for the Tufts A.B. or B.S. degree may major in the School of Religion, and in four years obtain an excellent theological training.

Students with adequate preparation and marked personal qualities may enter for special courses and receive the general privileges of the school. For special excellence such may be given certificates for work performed. Courses in Religious Education, fitting for positions of parish assistants or community leaders in social welfare and religious education, are provided.

In the combinations of college and theological subjects, the School of Religion is trying out an interesting experiment. It offers men who enter the regular college as freshmen, a course the first year of which gives them an idea of what the modern ministry is. Thus during their first year they have a chance to learn if the ministry is really what they want for a life-profession. If they decide it is not, they can with no loss of time transfer to some other course. If they decide it is what they want and are fitted for, courses are made up from college and theological subjects in such a manner that students see the reason why they take each subject and its bearing on their professional equipment.

In this combination of college and professional work there is also a natural mingling of men eager for work in many lines, and students of theology escape the exclusiveness of the ordinary cloistered seminary.

DEAN ACADEMY

Dean Academy is a boarding and day school for young women and young men. It is situated in Franklin, Mass., about halfway between Boston and Providence, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and is easily accessible from New England, New York and the West.

The academy was incorporated in 1865, and takes its name from the late Dr. Oliver Dean of Franklin, who provided for its foundation with generous munificence. The main school building is a fine structure with every convenience and comfort for the maintenance of the school. It is lighted by electricity and heated by steam. The other buildings consist of a commodious gymnasium, the Ray Science Building, with well-equipped laboratories, and the Alumni Building, with recreation room, dormitories, swimming pool and infirmary. The endowment of over $350,000 enables the school to provide liberally the best instruction and a most comfortable home.

ham; Edward H. Rathbun, Woonsocket, R. I.; Adelbert D. Thayer, Franklin; Arthur E. Mason, Newton; Rev. W. C. Selleck, D.D., Riverside, Calif.; Prof. Frank G. Wren, A.M., Tufts College; Fred P. Chapman, Franklin; Arthur W. Peirce, Franklin; Rev. Harold Marshall, D.D., Melrose; Charles A. Whiting, Franklin; Rev. L. S. McCollester, D.D., Tufts College; Latimer W. Ballou, Woonsocket, R. I.; G. W. Sherman, Dennis; Harry T. Hayward, Franklin; J. Russell Whitmore, Boston; Charles A. R. Ray, Franklin; Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., Boston; Harold E. Sweet, Attleboro; President John A. Cousens, LL.D., Tufts College; Victor A. Friend, Melrose; Prof. Clarence P. Houston, Tufts College.

The courses of study are: English, four years; academic, four years; college preparatory, four years; technical preparatory, four years. A preparatory course of one year is arranged for those not fitted to enter the regular courses. Special attention is given to fitting students for college. Provision is also made for advanced courses for students who are graduates of high schools or academies. New and thoroughly equipped department of Domestic Science.

Terms, including all expenses of board, light, heat, instruction, but exclusive of special branches, such as music, painting, etc., per year, $500 to $600, according to size and location of room. For catalogue and information, send to Arthur W. Peirce, Litt.D., Head Master.

GODDARD SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

On September 18, 1929, Goddard Seminary opened its doors as a school exclusively for girls, — Goddard School for Girls, — and with an entirely reorganized staff is now running as a College Preparatory and Secretarial School of high standing for girls. Situated in the heart of the Green Mountains, at Barre, Vt., familiarly known as the granite center of the world, the school was founded over half a century ago by Universalists who were anxious to give the boys and girls an opportunity to obtain a practical and liberal education under conditions which would reproduce the home life as far as possible in boarding school. Originally both sexes were admitted, enjoying equal rights and privileges, and students of various races and creeds found a common home here. The aims and purposes of the new school are identical with those of the old; Goddard has, however, followed the trend of the times and decided to concentrate its attention on one of the sexes, and the plant and equipment seemed to the trustees to offer greater opportunities to girls than to boys, especially in the face of the much more active competition in the one field than in the other. There is at the present time no other high standard private school for girls in Vermont.

The buildings consist of the original structure, which is large and imposing, located upon a considerable elevation commanding a wide view of the Winooski Valley and the adjacent city, containing classrooms, administration offices, library, as well as the dormitory for the girls and a commodious hall, where chapel exercises are held daily, and social events; Thompson House, where self-boarding girls find comfortable quarters at low cost; Alumni Hall, containing the large dining room, kitchen, laundry, recreation room and rooms for the staff; the gymnasium, adapted for basket-ball and indoor sports; and the cottage which is now the home of the janitor.

The four-year courses include the College Preparatory, General Academic and Secretarial. There are also two-year and one-year Secretarial courses, requiring intensive work and offered only to those who are high school graduates, or who have had an equivalent training and are qualified to carry the work. The Secretarial Courses offer efficient preparation for responsible business positions, and the school has been successful in placing its graduates. The College Preparatory Course fits girls to enter any of the eastern colleges, either by examination or certificate. Courses are offered in Domestic Science, Music, Chorus Singing and Art.

The Music Department has always been a particular feature of the school, and offers opportunity for specialized work under a highly trained teacher in voice and piano. Chorus work is carried on through the Glee Club which gives public concerts and operettas. Music Appreciation Courses are required of every student.

Athletics are under the supervision of teachers specially trained who are regular members of the faculty. Games are arranged for students with other preparatory school teams and college freshmen. Schedules are also arranged for second teams when there is sufficient material.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY AND JUNIOR COLLEGE FOR GIRLS

This institution, the oldest active school in the denomination, is a boarding and day school of high standard. Its charter was granted in 1831 by the State of Maine, and in 1863 was amended so as to give the seminary the authority of a woman's college. The school was co-educational until the fall of 1925, when it opened as a Girls' School. Located in the suburban part of Portland, it enjoys the advantages of the city and country alike while the centering of railroad and steamship lines at Portland makes it easily accessible. The climate of Portland is invigorating and permits of outdoor life with full enjoyment during the entire school year.

The grounds are spacious. Hersey and Goddard Halls, the dormitories, are connected by the dining hall, and afford accommodation for about eighty pupils. Alumni Hall contains the principal recitation rooms, the laboratories of chemistry, physics, biology, photography, domestic science, and the cabinet of minerals, fossils, and zoölogical specimens. The other buildings are the McArthur Gymnasium, a dining hall, the Moulton Chapel, and the cottage, the home of the principal.

Two years' college work in the A.B. and B.S. courses are offered at Westbrook. Upon the recommendation of the faculty, one-year college students at Westbrook may enter the second year's work at several of the New England colleges. This course is also of service to those young people who desire an education beyond the high school, but do not wish the four-year college work. These students often continue their education in vocational schools. There is a dormitory for the college students.

The course of study in the preparatory school is carefully planned to allow a large freedom of selection, but at the same time to ensure each graduate a good general education as well as a preparation more than sufficient for admission to college. Special advantages in the way of advanced work are offered to graduates of other schools who wish to anticipate some of their college work. The courses offered are: four-year college preparatory, general, home economics. The departments of speech, art, drawing and painting, voice, and violin are under the instruction of most competent teachers.

This is the only school in the East to offer the Blanche Dingley-Mathews Piano Work. This department was organized in 1922, and has three teachers and a junior teacher department. In addition to private lessons, class work in harmonic ear-training and theory is taught. There is also opportunity, for those wishing to teach, to have training in the Dingley-Mathews methods. Mrs. Mathews claims to have eliminated drudgery from the study of the piano, to cultivate the love of music, and to develop talent from the very first lesson. Her claims are justified by the results of her work. The Visuola — "the lighted way" — has been added to the piano department equipment.

Organized, supervised exercise has its place in the well-balanced program of work and play at Westbrook. Riding horses and a riding master give opportunity for this healthful exercise. Tennis, indoor golf, archery, hiking, skating and snowshoeing are other attractions.

The regular expenses of the school are $1,000; $200 and $300 for day students.

SUFFOLK NORMAL TRAINING SCHOOL

The Suffolk Normal Training School, Mrs. Annie B. Willis, Principal, is located at Suffolk, Va. It is owned and controlled by the Board of Trustees of the General Convention of the Universalist Church, and is supported by said Board and other friends. It has no endowment; but any one who wishes to make a gift for such purpose may do so by advising the Principal or the Secretary of the General Convention. This is a Mission School, working for and among the Negroes. The courses of training offered are of Kindergarten, Primary and High School grade. Special attention is given to the training in Domestic Science. Boys and girls trained in this school readily find employment. Teachers: Mrs. A. B. Willis, Principal; Prof. J. W. Wilson, Vice-Principal; V. E. Jordan, Cora E. Palmer and Mrs. M. Graves. The Mission School is second to none.

THE DELOS H. THOMPSON HOME FOR AGED WOMEN

The Delos H. Thompson Home for Aged Women at Waldron occupies the homestead of the late Delos H. Thompson, who, at his death in 1909, also provided an endowment fund, the income of which helps to pay the expenses and the upkeep. The Home is under the control of the Universalist Convention of Indiana, the Board of Trustees being elected by the Executive Board of the State Convention, but it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. It was first opened for use in its present capacity on May 1, 1913, and has since been doing a splendid work. There are at present twelve guests. An endowment fund amounts to $32,136.29. Mrs. Della Beagle is the Matron in charge, and Mr. Melvin Beagle, Waldron, is the Superintendent.

DOOLITTLE UNIVERSALIST HOME FOR AGED PERSONS, INC., FOXBOROUGH

This is the legal title and location of a Home which had its inception in and its organization through the Massachusetts Universalist Convention. One of God's gentlewomen, Miss Sarah B. Doolittle, gave for the purpose the real estate which had been her home and the home of her parents.

The date of its incorporation was July, 1915, with the charter stipulation that "The corporation shall be to provide and develop a home for aged persons, particular preference being given to those of the Universalist faith."

The family consists of twelve residents, a matron, a resident nurse and a capable domestic helper, which is the capacity of the home. Its maintenance is dependent upon the generosity of those who feel that here is "a service in which God is pleased to make us fellow-workers with Him in the execution of His providential goodness."

A yearly income of $5,000 is needed, which must be provided by the income of a permanent fund, by membership (Annual, $1.00; Sustaining,

$10.00; Life, $100), and by contributions. The management of the Home is by a Board of Trustees, the present personnel being as follows: Pres., Rev. Charles Conklin, D.D.; Vice-Pres., F. I. Sherman; Clerk, Miss Katherine C. Bourne, Foxborough; Treas., Mr. Roscoe Pierce; Mrs. Marion W. Comey, Mr. Forest L. Bassett, Mrs. Samuel Noyes, Mrs. Arthur W. Peirce, Mr. Joseph L. UNITY SETTLEMENT HOUSE

Started in 1897 by the Church of the Redeemer as a social service agency, and has developed until, though now under the direction of Unity Settlement Association, it secures its support from the Community Fund through the Council of Social Agencies of the city, and also from Endowment. It occupies a three-story brick building with modern equipment for its varied social service activities. Under the direction of Miss Edna E. Towler, resident director, and a large corps of paid and volunteer workers, the following departments are carried on: Day Nursery, Infant Welfare Clinic, Dental Clinic, Pre-School Clinic, Employment Bureau, Personal Service Bureau, Clubs and Classes for boys and girls, Gymnasium, Swimming Pool and Showers, Americanization classes for men and women, summer playground and summer camp at Lake Independence. A new building for the Day Nursery and Dental Clinic has just been completed at a cost of $25,000.

THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM

Founded and incorporated in 1869 by Mrs. E. H. Chapin and others in honor of Rev. Edwin H. Chapin, D.D. It is managed by a Board of Universalist women, although it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. The Home family consists of one hundred members, composed of men, women and married couples of many denominations. The Home was first located in New York City, but since 1913 has occupied new and commodious buildings at Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y.

The Home has an endowment fund of $216,000, the interest of which is used toward the expenses of maintenance. The balance required for this purpose is secured from annual subscriptions and voluntary contributions of interested friends.

The management is in the hands of a Board of Trustees of thirty members. The officers of this Board are: Pres., Mrs. Horace E. Fox; Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. P. MacGregor, Miss Hattie E. JAPAN

The mission of the Universalist Church in Japan was established in the year 1890, and was carried on under the direction of a Committee of the Board of Trustees of the General Convention until October, 1917. The Board of Foreign Missions was established by a vote of the General Convention held in Worcester in that year, and has since had general supervision of all work of the mission. Under the direction of this Board the missionaries on the field are organized into a Mission Council for the conduct of the work in Japan. In 1925 a Co-operative Board was organized to control all direct church and Sunday School work. It is composed of an equal number of Missionaries and Japanese. Our property is held by a corporation organized in Japan. In addition to the work of the Board of Foreign Missions, the Women's National Missionary Association supports the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Dojin House, as well as co-operates in work in other places.

The present missionary force consists of the following persons: Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cary; Rev. and Mrs. Clifford R. Stetson; Miss M. Agnes Hathaway; Miss Georgene Bowen; and Miss Ruth Downing.

The following Japanese clergymen are in active service: Rev. Sempo Ito; Rev. Naoichiro Nagano; Rev. Aishi Terasawa; and Rev. K. Mizumukai. Dr. P. Tsuga is retired from active service.

The following summary will show the work of our Mission as it is at the present time.

TOKYO

Iidamachi. During 1927 the Barracks Church, built on the site of the original Central Church after the latter was destroyed by earthquake and fire in 1923, was taken over by the Tokyo Reconstruction Board. A new lot in the same part of the city was assigned to the Mission by this Board. On this lot has been erected the Ohayo Kindergarten, the money for which was raised by the women of Ohio. Kindergarten and Sunday School.

Central Church in Akasaka: Dr. P. Tsuga, pastor, has resigned, to take effect January 1, 1930. No one has as yet been called to succeed him. Building now being used is the first unit of the plant to be completed through the Five Year Program. Regular preaching services, Sunday School, kindergarten and social service work.

Blackmer Home: Miss Hathaway, Miss Bowen and Miss Downing. The Blackmer Home is supported by the Women's National Missionary Association, and furnishes a home with Christian surroundings for twenty-two girls who are students in the schools and colleges of Tokyo.

Dojin House. Built by an appropriation from the Million Dollar Drive: Miss Downing, Mrs. Matsu Yoshioka and a native worker in charge. Kindergarten, Sunday School and social service work.

Koishikawa Dojin Church. Pastor, Rev. Sempo Ito. Morning and evening services conducted by Rev. Sempo Ito, supported by the General Mission, meeting at Dojin House.

Missionaries House — home of Dr. and Mrs. Cary and family. Sunday School, young men's and young women's discussion classes, Clara Barton Guild and social center.

SHIZUOKA

Rev. Clifford R. Stetson, missionary, Rev. Aishi Terasawa, minister. Regular church services, Sunday School, kindergarten, a young men's organization, a young women's organization, and social service classes for older women. Missionaries' House — home of Mr. and Mrs. Stetson and family is a center of social and religious work.

NAGOYA

Rev. Naoichiro Nagano, minister. Regular church services, Sunday School, various forms of social service, including radio broadcasting by the minister.

OSAKA

Mr. K. Mizumukai, minister. Church services, Sunday School, kindergarten and social work carried on in rented building.

MISSION PROPERTY

The Mission owns the land and buildings in Tokyo of the Central Church, the Ohayo Kindergarten, the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Missionaries' House; in Shizuoka, the property of the church, school and kindergarten and a house for the missionaries. Funds from the Five Year Program will erect a Perin-Cate House for Young Men and complete the building of the New Central Church in Tokyo. There is urgent need for a building in Nagoya to enable the church to do its work.

All of the churches and the kindergartens in Japan are partially self-supporting. With the increased equipment and the larger contributions from the churches during the past few years, the work of our church in Japan has been put on a permanent basis.

The addresses of our different centers and workers in Japan are as follows:

Local Churches

In the following tables each church or parish is listed on two opposite pages, the general directory and constituency statistics appearing on the first and the financial statistics and the auxiliary organizations on the second page. The corresponding numbers in the columns on the left will serve to identify them. * Indicates that no report was received for 1930, and that names and figures have been taken from last report at hand. Churches having parsonages are indicated by † after the name of the church.

There are four columns of financial figures in the tables. These show the contributions of the churches in the Five Year Program, the first column indicating the total amount received from these churches up to September 30, 1929; the second, the amount received during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1929. These latter amounts are included in totals given in the first column.

On the books of the Convention all payments in the Five Year Program are distributed among the various objectives of the Program. The amount credited to Quota and Japan Mission from Five Year Program payments is indicated by §. Churches whose Five Year Program apportionments have been paid in full are indicated by ‡. Payments from all other churches are shown in the columns marked "Quota and Cent A Day" and "Japan Current".

For Alphabetical List of Ministers with full addresses see page 266. For Ministers not in Fellowship but preaching in Universalist or Federated Churches see page 279.

Universalist Profession of Belief and Conditions of Fellowship

I. The Profession of Belief adopted at the session of the General Convention at Winchester, N. H., 1803, is as follows:

Article I. We believe that the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments contain a revelation of the character of God and of the duty, interest and final destination of mankind.

Article II. We believe that there is one God, whose nature is Love, revealed in one Lord Jesus Christ, by one Holy Spirit of Grace, who will finally restore the whole family of mankind to holiness and happiness.

Article III. We believe that holiness and true happiness are inseparably connected, and that believers ought to be careful to maintain order and practise good works; for these things are good and profitable unto men.

II. The conditions of fellowship shall be as follows: (Adopted as an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the General Convention, at its session in Boston, Oct. 23, 1899).

I. The acceptance of the essential principles of the Universalist Faith, to wit: 1. The Universal Fatherhood of God; 2. The Spiritual authority and leadership of His Son, Jesus Christ; 3. The trustworthiness of the Bible as containing a revelation from God; 4. The certainty of just retribution for sin; 5. The final harmony of all souls with God.

The Winchester Profession is commended as containing these principles, but neither this nor any other precise form of words is required as a condition of fellowship, provided always that the principles above stated be professed.

II. The acknowledgment of the authority of the General Convention and assent to its laws.

Sixty-fifth Annual Report of the Board of Trustees

To the Members of the Universalist General Convention:

Your Board of Trustees presents herewith its 65th Annual Report for the period October 1, 1929, to September 30, 1930.

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD

Three regular meetings of the Board have been held during this year, October 22, 25 and 26, 1929, Washington, D. C.; November 18 and 19, 1929, New York City; April 28 and 29, 1930, Washington, D. C.

FELLOWSHIP

Reports from the Fellowship Committees of the State and General Conventions show the following items:

Licenses transferred	2
Licenses issued	32
Licenses issued—lay	5
Licenses issued to ordained clergymen	11
Full fellowship granted to ordained clergymen	8
Transfers granted	44
Transfers accepted	42
Dismissed with recommendation	19
Restored to fellowship	6
Ordinations denied	2

ORDINATIONS

Lawrence Wesley Abbott, Boston, Massachusetts, June 8, 1930; Edna Pearl Bruner, Canton, N. Y., June 8, 1930; Donald Bruce Ferguson Hoyt, Worcester, Mass., September 14, 1930; Carl Harold Olson, Kent, Ohio, December 1, 1929; Dorothy Tilden Spoerl, Bath, Maine, December 1, 1929; Phillips L. Thayer, Olinda, Ontario, July 31, 1929.

The following ministers in our fellowship have died during the year:

Charles Conklin
Thomas W. Critchett
Julian Stearns Cutler
Myron Lewis Cutler
Donald Marshall Flower
Frederick William Millar
Roderick J. Mooney
Henry Adams Parkhurst
Clarence Edgar Rice
Byron Gustavus Russell
Edwin Chapin Sweetser
Doris Annie Swett
Costello Weston

Of the above fourteen ministers who have died during this year, five were in active ministerial service.

FINANCES

The Treasurer's Report gives the detailed financial statement for the past year, with a list of Funds and Investments held by the Convention.

This report shows a deficit for the last fiscal year amounting to $12,530.10, the largest items of which are General Administration and Church Extension $1,207.92, Japan Mission $8,370.17, Educational $2,034.75. The accumulated deficit on September 30, 1930 totaled $28,475.26. It is true again this year that the largest part of the deficit results from the lack of contributions for the Japan Mission and the amounts appropriated for Theological School Scholarship loans in excess of the income available for this purpose. During the past five years the deficits in these two departments have totaled over $46,000.

Quotas for the past year have amounted to $14,655.76, or about $1,200 less than the previous year. Receipts from churches for the Japan Mission have been about $600 less with expenses practically the same as the previous year. Scholarship loans repaid were about $1,300 less and loans granted $250 more than the previous year.

During the last year annuities amounting to $2,700 have expired by reason of the deaths of the donors, and have been added to the permanent funds of the Convention. Bequests amounting to $9,600 have also been added to funds. The Ministers' Pension Fund has been increased by gifts and payments on Five Year Program in the amount of $5,937.64. The total of the funds now held by the Convention, the income of which is available for Ministerial Relief and Pensions, is $149,718.31.

Pension payments have been made each quarter to 58 ministers who have reached the age of 68 and have served in Universalist churches at least 25 years.

While this has been a difficult year, financially, for many of our churches, the Board would again call attention to the fact that all of the policies adopted by the Convention sessions could easily be carried out if all of our churches would do their proportionate share toward quotas and contributions for Church Extension work at home and abroad.

CHURCH EXTENSION

Considerable progress has been made in some of the churches which have been fostered through Church Extension Funds. Notable among these is the church at Oakland, California, which has purchased a residence which has been converted into a meeting-house and center of work. For the first time in its history this church has a permanent home.

A new church has been started in Floral Park, N. Y., under the leadership of splendid laymen and fostered by the New York State Convention. Good reports of progress are being received.

The Church of the Redeemer, Hartford, Conn., has sold its old building and is now engaged in putting up a new and modern structure in a fine neighborhood, with every promise of growth in numbers and service.

NATIONAL MEMORIAL CHURCH

The National Memorial Church in Washington, D. C., was dedicated at special services on April 29, 1930. This church is already making a place for itself in the city, and is becoming one of the attractions for visitors to Washington. The campaign for funds to cover the entire cost of the plant is still being prosecuted with an encouraging response from our people.

JAPAN MISSION

The work in Japan continues to develop, and new opportunities for service are constantly opening up. In Korea, our representative is securing a following so that we expect some interesting announcements of real progress may soon be made. Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Stetson and family, after a year's leave of absence, returned to Japan in September, 1930, and have again taken up their work in Shizuoka with some new projects in the vicinity. The Mission needs increased support by our people at home to allow the sending of additional workers and reaching out into new and promising fields.

FOREIGN RELATIONS

During the past summer, Dr. Walter Macpherson and Dr. Etz, representing the Convention, spent some time in Europe in arranging plans for the Good Will Tour of 1931. They attended a conference at Arnhem, Holland, which resulted in the reorganization in permanent form of the International Congress of Religious Liberals, which is now known as the International Association for the Promotion of Liberal Christianity and Religious Freedom. This Association has a permanent Secretary with headquarters in Amsterdam. Your Board has voted to aid this organization financially through an appropriation from the Golden Rule World Service Fund.

The Convention's representatives were everywhere welcomed in Europe, and received many invitations to speak on the faith we represent. Here is a rich field we have never cultivated, but which offers great opportunities for us to make a real contribution to the religious thought and progress of many nations.

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Acting upon the recommendation adopted at Washington for the establishment of a Department of Religious Education, plans have been carried out looking toward the co-ordination of all of the work of religious education carried on by the various organizations of the demonination, at the same time not interfering with the autonomy of these bodies as organized at present. Definite plans are being worked out so that this Department can make a real contribution to the progress of the whole church.

IN CONCLUSION

The members of your Board of Trustees are conscious of the many problems facing our church and all churches at present. However, they gladly acknowledge the increasing spirit of co-operation manifest throughout the church, and earnestly hope that out of the difficulties of the present will grow a more loyal, devoted and serviceable church for making real Christianity as a way of life for individuals and society.

Respectfully submitted,

For the Board of Trustees

Louis Annin Ames, Chairman

Roger F. Etz, Secretary

The Universalist General Convention

Directory—General Organizations

THE UNIVERSALIST GENERAL CONVENTION

The Universalist General Convention, having jurisdiction over the ecclesiastical organizations of the Universalist Church in the United States, Canadian Provinces, Japan and wherever else it has churches or missions, meets biennially. It is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York.

This Convention is composed, first, of its officers; second, of the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer of the several State Conventions in its fellowship; third, of the several State Superintendents; fourth, of all ordained clergymen in fellowship either with such a State Convention or with the General Convention, and, unless disabled by years or sickness, actively engaged in the work of the ministry; fifth, of delegates from each parish in fellowship, each such parish being entitled to two lay delegates,—one man and one woman. To be entitled to such lay delegates, every parish must maintain its legal existence and support public worship regularly and make a contribution on quota to the General Convention during each of the two years prior to the meeting of said Convention. At least four parishes must be organized and established in a state before a State Convention can be formed. In all states or territories where there is no Convention, the General Convention has original jurisdiction.

All laws relating to fellowship, ordination and discipline originate in the General Convention, and it is the final court of appeal in all cases of dispute or difficulty between State Conventions. It is an incorporated body, empowered to hold real and personal estate "to be devoted exclusively to the diffusion of Christian knowledge, by means of missionaries, publications and other agencies." In the interim of sessions the interests of the Convention are managed by a Board of Trustees.

The Denominational Headquarters are at 176 Newbury Street, Boston, Mass. The report of the Board of Trustees gives details of funds and work. The following are the officers of the Convention:

Pres., Rev. Frank D. Adams, D.D., 4605 Cass Ave., Detroit, Mich.; Vice-Pres., Rev. Barlow G. Carpenter, D.D., 300 South Los Robles Ave., Pasadena, Calif.; Mr. Theodore F. THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF SUPERINTENDENTS

The Council of Superintendents is an organized body composed of the General Superintendent together with the various regional and State Superintendents of churches.

Its purpose is to be of largest assistance to both parishes and ministers, well established churches and new movements, and to study and promote church administration in the most approved manner.

The State Superintendents are the pastors of the various State Convention Churches with which Universalists living in places in their states where there is no Universalist Church are affiliated. The General Superintendent is the pastor of the General Convention Church with which Universalists living in sections of the country where there is no State Convention Church are affiliated.

The following officers were elected at the 1930 session of the Council: Pres., Rev. R. F. Etz, D.D.; Vice-Pres., Rev. L. W. Coons, D.D.; Sec., Rev. Stanley Manning; Members of the Executive Committee: Rev. F. C. Leining, D.D.; Mr. Stanley C. Stall.

THE GENERAL SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION (incorporated under the laws of the State of New York), resulting from a widespread demand for inspiration and careful direction in the field of religious education, was organized at Chicago, Ill., in 1913. It has given constant support to the General Convention and its other auxiliary bodies, and has helped to develop a generation of Universalists well informed and loyal regarding all denominational enterprises. Its growth has been very rapid.

Executive Board: Pres., Rev. John M. Ratcliff, 108 Powder House Blvd., W. Somerville, Mass.; First Vice-Pres., Rev. Weston A. Cate, 347 Turner St., Auburn, Me.; Second Vice-Pres., Rev. Britton, 8 Tahanto St., Concord, N. H.; Hon. Roger S. Galer, Mount Pleasant, Iowa; Hon. Robert W. Hill, Masonic Bldg., Salem, Mass.; Rev. John Smith Lowe, D.D., Boylston and Ipswich Sts., Boston, Mass.

Manager: Rev. Harold Marshall, D.D., 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

Clerk of the Corporation: Mr. Nowell Ingalls.

The net assets of the House are over $400,000, consisting of periodicals, books, plates, etc. It publishes and owns the titles and copyrights of one hundred and fifty volumes and "The Christian Leader" and "The Sunday School Helper Series." It is located at 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

THE UNIVERSALIST HISTORICAL SOCIETY was organized at Albany, N. Y., in 1834 for the collection of facts, books and papers pertaining to the history and condition of Universalism. In 1877 the Society was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, but is still world-wide in its scope. It has a library of about 5,000 volumes, besides important manuscripts and papers. Donations of books and bequests are earnestly solicited to help make the library as complete as possible. Its library is at Tufts College. The Historical Society is adding constantly to its valuable collection of books, manuscripts and miscellaneous articles of denominational interest. Pres., Hosea Starr Ballou, Brookline, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Rev. Theodore A. Fischer, D.D., New Haven, Conn.; Sec., Vinton A. Sears, Sears Building, Boston, Mass.; Treas., Llewellyn D. Seaver, 17 Court St., Boston, Mass.; Librarian, Rev. Lee S. McCollester, D.D., Tufts College, Mass.; Asst. Librarian, Ethel Monroe Hayes, A.B., Tufts College, Mass.; Directors, George De Benneville Keim, New Jersey, Ralph W. E. Hunt, Maine, together with the officers.

State and Corresponding Secretaries represent the Historical Society in most of the states of the Union, in the British Provinces and in foreign countries.

The 96th annual meeting was held on May 27, 1930, at Tufts College. The President of the Society read a paper on one of the early and most generous benefactors of the College, and a leading proprietor of the Second Society of Universalists in School St., Boston, Silvanus Packard, 1789-1866.

In June 1930, Crane Theological School dedicated its new buildings, which include a new library room under Crane Chapel. There in a special room it is intended that there shall be locked cases in which the most valuable books and manuscripts of the Historical Society can be exhibited. To provide such additions, plans are already made for raising funds.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 26, 1931, in Boston, Mr. George De Benneville Keim is to read a paper at the 97th annual meeting on his distinguished ancestor, — the forerunner of Murray and Winchester as pioneer Universalists, — Dr. George De Benneville of Pennsylvania, born in London in 1704. Meetings of the Historical Society are open to the Universalist public.

New members are given a facsimile of the signatures of the first one hundred to sign our membership roll, beginning with Hosea Ballou, 1771-1852. Universalist laymen and women, as well as clergy, are eligible for membership. For life membership (cost $25) or annual membership (dues $1 annually), apply to Vinton A. Sears, Secretary, Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

FERRY BEACH PARK ASSOCIATION

National Universalist Summer Meetings were organized by the Rev. Quillen H. Shinn, D.D., at Ferry Beach, Maine, in 1901. The Ferry Beach property consisting of a fine beach, several hotels and fourteen acres of pine grove is owned by the Universalist General Convention and devoted to the interests of Universalist people in the summer-time. It is on the south shore of Old Orchard Beach, about four miles from the Old Orchard Railroad station and about fifteen miles south of Portland. The post office address is R.F.D., Saco, Maine.

Ferry Beachers are found now in all parts of the country. Practically every Universalist parish has representatives who have found Ferry Beach an inspiration and joy. Many churches, missionary societies, church schools and young people's organizations adopt a plan to raise funds during the church year to pay the expenses of one or more delegates to the various institutes.

The attendance last year was higher than for some years previous. Ample accommodations are furnished all who come in our splendid new building, Rowland Hall, or in the older buildings, The Quillen House, The Underwood, the Cottage or the Men's Dormitory. Improvements are made each year as funds permit. Plans under way by President Prescott will make Ferry Beach better able than ever before to successfully do its important and far reaching work. Universalists far and wide make Ferry Beach visits a summer pleasure.

Three forms of membership in the Ferry Beach Park Association are possible: Annual members pay $1 yearly; a life membership may be had for $25; and a patron membership may be had for $100.

Next season will be the thirtieth of the Ferry Beach Institutes. The management of the property and the hotels is in the hands of a Board of Directors elected at the annual meeting of the Association during the summer season. Dr. Shinn was the first President, and has been followed by a line of able and consecrated successors. The Secretary conducts the correspondence and business of the season, and is always present during the season to welcome arrivals.

The personnel of the Board of Directors for 1931 is as follows:

Pres., Mr. Eben Prescott, 230 Middle St., Braintree, Mass.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Carl A. Hempel, 40 Ocean Ave., Lynn, Mass.; Treas., Mr. Alvah Polk, 176 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.; Sec., Rev. Elmer D. Colcord, 126 So. 1st Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Members of the Board, Rev. Stanley Manning, 15 Elm St., Augusta, Me.; Mrs. William R. Rowland, Goddard School for Girls, Barre, Vt.; Mr. J. M. Johnson, Saco, Me.; Honorary Directors, Mrs. Celestine M. Gordon, New Bedford, Mass.; Miss Laura A. Jenness, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mrs. Quillen H. Shinn, Gloucester, Mass.

The 1931 season will be as follows:

Opening Week—July 11
Y. P. C. U. Week—July 18-25
Sunday School Week—July 25-Aug. 1
Missionary Week and Camp Cheery—Aug. 1-8
Ministers' Week—Aug. 1-8
Older Young People's Week—Aug. 1-8
Boy Scouts Camp—Aug. 8-22

Applications for rooms, in order to receive the best assignments, should be made early in May. Assignments are made on June 1. Annual dues, except in the case of Life Members, should accompany application made to the Secretary.

Institute programs are under the direct planning and control of the various denominational organizations. Student government is maintained during Sunday School and Y. P. C. U. weeks.

The curriculum of the Institute work includes Standard Courses which count as units of the Leadership Training Curriculum of the International Council of Religious Education, together with other courses covering a wide variety of subjects. A Ferry Beach diploma has come to mean the achievement of a valuable amount of work and the accomplishment of standard requirements as well as the bond of a happy vacation.

An annual booklet, "The Ferry Beacher," containing information about the various institutes and the coming season, is published the first of May. It will be sent gratis to anyone upon request. Copies are regularly sent to all annual members of the Association.

MURRAY GROVE ASSOCIATION

This association was organized August 24, 1886, at the Potter Memorial Church, Good Luck, N. J., to provide means, adopt and execute measures, for the preservation of memorials and property endeared to Universalists at Good Luck, N. J.; and for holding meetings thereat during each summer in the interests of the church at large. The Association is incorporated, and at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1930, owned assets worth over $40,000. In addition to this, an Endowment Fund of over $14,000 exists, the income from which is largely applied for current expense. Real estate amounting to 232 acres has been placed in the hands of the General Convention to be held in trust for the Association. On this property are located the Murray Grove House, the Potter Mansion, the Potter Memorial Church, the Ballou House and several smaller buildings. The capacity of the Murray Grove House has been increased to sixty-seven bedrooms by the erection of the 150th Anniversary Building and the new kitchen, both three stories high; also the water supply has been enlarged and an electric lighting and sewage disposal plant installed, requiring an expenditure, including furnishings, of over $25,000. The Potter Mansion has been restored and repaired and was formally dedicated by impressive services on Sunday, August 16, 1914. By an amicable arrangement, the Association has also the unrestricted use of the Old Potter Meeting House during the summer meetings. There has been recently turned over to the Universalist National Cemetery Association, Inc., a plot of land for its use. A series of constructive conferences and institutes are arranged here each summer by the General Sunday School Association, the Women's National Missionary Association, and the Y. P. C. U. Aside from its great historic value, strong emphasis is being placed by the management on the present-day value of the Institution toward the upbuilding of our Church. The annual membership dues are $1; life membership, $25; and patron membership, $100. Money received from life memberships is added to our Endowment Fund. Pres., Mr. James C. Krayer, 309 Kenmore Ave., Glenside, Pa.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Edwin M. Waller, 1210 Arrott St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Treas., C. W. Gabell, Jr., 6526 N. 13th St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Sec., Miss Agnes L. Nicol, 1703 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, Pa.; Field Sec., Rev. George E. Huntley, D.D., 1010 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.; Board of Managers, Miss Hattie E.

Miller, Valley Stream, N. Y.; Mr. G. A. Friedrich, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Emma E. Krementz, Newark, N. J.; Rev. Chas. E. Petty, Hop Bottom, Pa.; Rev. Robert Tipton, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. J. C. Wardell, Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. J. H. Blatter, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. Walter Gabell, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. Harold Marshall, D.D., Boston, Mass.; Mr. Henry W. Smith, Scranton, Pa.; Mr. Frank Smith, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Miss Helen Buckwalter, Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. John Sayles, D.D., Cornish, Me., represents the Universalist General Convention.

UNIVERSALIST NATIONAL CEMETERY ASSOCIATION, INCORPORATED

When Mrs. Bisbee first visited Murray Grove in 1920, during the 150th Anniversary Celebration, she made the suggestion to Dr. Bisbee that a cemetery be established there for Universalists from all parts of the Nation. Dr. Bisbee joined enthusiastically in the idea and so informed the Murray Grove Association, offering at the same time to purchase a lot where they both could be buried. There was unanimous approval of the project given by the Murray Grove Association, and a plot of ground was immediately laid out for the use of the cemetery. By strange coincidence, Mrs. Bisbee's remains were the first to be interred in this hallowed spot, and they were soon followed by those of her revered and sainted husband.

A name was adopted and a Cemetery Association incorporated on August 18, 1924, the charter being filed in the clerk's office of Ocean County, N. J., in Book 4 of Corporations, Page 277, etc.

A plan of the burial lots has been approved, and a nominal price established for them. All money received from the sale of these lots is held by the Trustees of the General Convention and the income applied towards the perpetual care of the graves. Full particulars may be had by applying to the secretary. The following are the officers and trustees: Pres., Mr. George W. H. Shinn, Hightstown, N. J.; Vice-Pres., Mr. Daniel Wilbert, Lanoka Harbor, N. J.; Sec., Miss Agnes L. Nicol, 1703 Sanderson Ave., Scranton, Pa.; Treas., Mr. C. W. Gabell, Jr., 6526 N. 13th St., Philadelphia, Pa. Trustees: Mrs. Sarah S. Black, Hightstown, N. J.; Mrs. Anna D. Bergen, Hightstown, N. J.; and Miss Emma E. Krementz, Newark, N. J.

THE SCHOOL OF EVANGELISM, CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE

A school for special training for the ministry for those unable to attend the theological schools of the Universalist church.

Organized 1917. Has the use of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial church for study purposes.

Board of Management: Manager, the minister of the Q. H. Shinn Memorial Church, Dr. John W. Rowlett; Vice-Manager, Rev. Roger F. Etz, D.D., representing the Board of Trustees of the General Convention; Miss Hazel Kirk, Rev. Francis B. Bishop, D.D., J. M. Fisher, Sr., and Mrs. J. G. McGowin. Meets June 1931.

THE SOUTHERN UNIVERSALIST INSTITUTE

This institute which is held each summer, is educational, recreational and inspirational. It not only exists for the Universalist Church in the south, but for all religious liberals. It offers courses of study and lectures which make their appeal to all liberal Christians, and is the only institute of its kind, so far as the reports show, south of Mason and Dixon's line.

It trains workers especially for service in Sunday schools, young people's societies, and missionary organizations. Credits are awarded for faithful attendance and scholarship. A capable faculty, consisting of representatives of the General Sunday School Association, the Young People's Christian Union, the National Women's Missionary Association, together with individual instructors selected for their ability to teach specified subjects, is engaged each season.

The officers for 1930-31 are as follows: Pres., Rev. John Rowlett, 1617 E. 14th St., Chattanooga, Tenn.; Vice-Pres., Rev. Ladie Rowlett, 1617 E 14th St., Chattanooga, Tenn.; Sec.-Treas., Gus S. Currier, Chattanooga, Tenn. Trustees: Mrs. J. G. McGowin, Mrs. Malcolm White, Miss Martha Langley, Mr. J. M. Fisher, Sr.

MID-WEST INSTITUTE

The Mid-West Institute of the Universalist Church is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois for the purpose of "promotion of Christian Culture and the advancement of the Universalist Church," by the means of conducting summer meetings. The organization was perfected in 1925 and held its first three meetings at Camp Kenmore, the camp of the Joliet Universalist Church, at Joliet, Illinois. The last two years they have met at Turkey Run State Park at Marshall, Indiana.

At present the Institute conducts its summer camp for the young people of the Middle West and is co-operating with the Y. P. C. U.

The Institute meets in July for a seven day camp. Their program is varied usually with four classes in the morning and recreation in the afternoon. An Indian tribe known as the "Tribe of Mid-Wes-Inn" offers excitement for new recruits and rewards for faithful tribesmen.

The park managed by the State consists of 1125 acres of beautiful virgin forest land cut with deep ravines and beckoning trails. Hiking, swimming, horseback riding, flying, tennis, golf, miniature golf and fishing are the out-door sports offered.

For the summer of 1931 we will be the hosts to the General Y. P. C. U. Convention in which case we will hold the Institute the week following. 43rd Annual Y. P. C. U. Convention, July 5-12—7th Mid-West Institute, July 12-19.

THE DELOS H. THOMPSON HOME FOR AGED WOMEN. The Delos H. Thompson Home for Aged Women at Waldron occupies the homestead of the late Delos H. Thompson, who, at his death in 1909, also provided an endowment fund, the income of which helps to pay the expenses and the upkeep. The Home is under the control of the Universalist Convention of Indiana, the Board of Trustees being elected by the Executive Board of the State Convention, but it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. It was first opened for use in its present capacity on May 1, 1913, and has since been doing a splendid work. There are at present sixteen guests. An endowment fund amounts to $33,636.00. Miss Estella Wehr is the Matron in charge, and Mr. Melvin Beagle, Waldron, is the Superintendent.

THE BETHANY UNION FOR YOUNG WOMEN. Located at Nos. 14, 16 and 18 Worcester St., Boston, is a benevolent institution under the auspices of the Universalists of Massachusetts. It was incorporated in 1889. Its object is to maintain a home for young women who are forced, by the keen competition of a large city, to work for small wages. Pres., Frank A. Dewick; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Eugene F. Endicott; Treas., vacant; Clerk, Joseph G. Lufkin; Supt. Miss Ruth E. Hersey.

DOOLITTLE UNIVERSALIST HOME FOR AGED PERSONS, INC., FOXBOROUGH. This is the legal title and location of a Home which had its inception in and its organization through the Massachusetts Universalist Convention. One of God's gentlewomen, Miss Sarah B. Doolittle, gave for the purpose the real estate which had been her home and the home of her parents.

The date of its incorporation was July, 1915, with the charter stipulation that "The corporation shall be to provide and develop a home for aged persons, particular preference being given to those of the Universalist faith."

The family consists of thirteen residents, a matron, a resident nurse and 2 capable domestic helpers, which is the capacity of the home. Its maintenance is dependent upon the generosity of those who feel that here is "a service in which God is pleased to make us fellow-workers with Him in the execution of His providential goodness."

A yearly income of $9,000 is needed, which must be provided by the income of a permanent fund, by membership (Annual, $1.00; Sustaining, $10.00; Life, $100), and by contributions. The management of the Home is by a Board of Trustees, the present personnel being as follows: Pres., Rev. Arthur W. Grose, D.D.; Vice-Pres., F. I. Sherman; Clerk, Miss Katherine C. Bourne, Foxborough; Treas., Mr. Roscoe Pierce; Mrs. Marion W. Comey, Mr. Forest L. Bassett, Mrs. Samuel Noyes, Mrs. Arthur W. Peirce, Mr. Joseph L. Sweet, Mrs. John E. Tweedy, Mrs. Wm. G. THE CHAPIN HOME FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM. Founded and incorporated in 1869 by Mrs. E. H. Chapin and others in honor of Rev. Edwin H. Chapin, D.D. It is managed by a Board of Universalist women, although it is non-sectarian in its ministrations. The Home family consists of one hundred members, composed of men, women and married couples of many denominations. The Home was first located in New York City, but since 1911 has occupied new and commodious buildings at Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y.

The Home has an endowment fund of $216,000, the interest of which is used toward the expenses of maintenance. The balance required for this purpose is secured from annual subscriptions and voluntary contributions of interested friends.

The management is in the hands of a Board of Trustees of thirty members. The officers of this Board are: Pres., Mrs. Horace E. Fox; Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. P. MacGregor, Miss Hattie E. JAPAN

The mission of the Universalist Church in Japan was established in the year 1890, and was carried on under the direction of a committee of the Board of Trustees of the General Convention until October, 1917. The Board of Foreign Missions was established by a vote of the General Convention held in Worcester in that year, and has since had general supervision of all work of the mission. Under the direction of this Board the missionaries on the field are organized into a Mission Council for the conduct of the work in Japan. In 1925 a Co-operative Board was organized to control all direct church and Sunday school work. It is composed of an equal number of missionaries and Japanese. Our property is held by a corporation organized in Japan. In addition to the work of the Board of Foreign Missions, the Women's National Missionary Association supports the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Dojin House, as well as co-operates in work in other places.

The present missionary force consists of the following persons: The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Henry M. Cary (in America on furlough); the Rev. and Mrs. Clifford R. Stetson; Miss M. Agnes Hathaway; Miss Georgene Bowen (in America on furlough) and Miss Ruth Downing.

The following Japanese clergymen are in active service: The Rev. Sempo Ito; the Rev. Naoichiro Nagano; the Rev. Aishi Terasawa; the Rev. K. Mizumukai; and the Rev. Yuji Souma. Dr. P. Tsuga is retired from active service.

The following summary will show the work of our Mission as it is at the present time.

Tokyo

Iidamachi: During 1927 the Barracks Church, built on the site of the original Central Church after the latter was destroyed by earthquake and fire in 1923, was taken over by the Tokyo Reconstruction Board. A new lot in the same part of the city was assigned to the Mission by this Board. On this lot has been erected the Ohayo Kindergarten, the money for which was raised by the women of Ohio. Kindergarten and Sunday school.

Central Church in Akasaka: Rev. Yuji Souma, pastor. Building now being used is the first unit of the plant to be completed through the Five Year Program. Regular preaching services, Sunday school, kindergarten and social service work.

Blackmer Home: Miss Hathaway, Miss Bowen and Miss Downing. The Blackmer Home is supported by the Women's National Missionary Association, and furnishes a home with Christian surroundings for twenty-two girls who are students in the schools and colleges of Tokyo.

Dojin House: Built by an appropriation from the Million Dollar Drive. Miss Downing, Mrs. Matsu Yoshioka and a native worker in charge. Kindergarten, Sunday school and social service work.

Koishikawa Dojin Church: Pastor, the Rev. Sempo Ito. Morning and evening services conducted by the Rev. Sempo Ito. Supported by the General Mission, meeting at Dojin House.

Missionaries House: Home of Dr. and Mrs. Cary and family. Young men's and young women's discussion classes, Clara Barton Guild and social center.

Shizuoka

The Rev. Clifford R. Stetson, missionary, the Rev. Aishi Terasawa, minister. Regular church services, Sunday school, kindergarten, a young men's organization, a young women's organization, and social service classes for older women. Missionaries' House—home of Mr. and Mrs. Stetson and family—is a center of social and religious work. Mr. Terasawa is editor of a monthly magazine.

Nagoya

The Rev. Naoichiro Nagano, minister. Regular church services, Sunday school, various forms of social service at two centers, one a restaurant serving meals at cost, including radio broadcasting by the minister. A monthly magazine is issued carrying short articles by leading men in all walks of life.

Osaka

Mr. K. Mizumukai, minister. Church services, Sunday school kindergarten, and social work in rented building.

Mission Property

The Mission owns the land and buildings in Tokyo of the Central Church, the Ohayo Kindergarten, the Blackmer Home, the Midori Kindergarten and the Missionaries' House; in Shizuoka, the property of the church, school and kindergarten and a house for the missionaries. There is urgent need for a building in Nagoya.

All of the churches and the kindergartens in Japan are partially self-supporting. With the increased equipment and the larger contributions from the churches during the past few years, the work of our church in Japan has been put on a permanent basis.

Addresses of our different centers and workers follow:

Local Organizations

The Directory of Local Organizations is divided into two sections, the first giving statistics and information about the church or parish organization with the names of ministers and officers, the second beginning on Page 82, giving the officers of the local auxiliary organizations.

There are four columns of financial figures in the tables. These show the contributions of the churches in the Five Year Program, the first column indicating the total amount received from these churches up to September 30, 1930; the second, the amount received during the fiscal year ending September 30, 1930. These latter amounts are included in totals given in the first column. On the books of the Convention all payments in the Five Year Program are distributed among the various objectives of the Program.

The Alphabetical List of Ministers with addresses will be found on Page 94. For Ministers not in Fellowship but preaching in Universalist or Federated Churches see Page 106.
